Thief River Falls was well-represented during the 2005 3M Championship Junior Pro-Am golf event at the TCP Course in Blaine. Minnesota high school golf coaches were instructed to submit a list of names to be considered for the event, and a random drew was held to select 36 players who would golf nine holes with the senior pros as part of TCP week activities. Thief River Falls' Brady Stanley and Lee Peterson were part of a foursome picked to play with Senior Tour golfer Bill Rogers, with their high school teammates Kyle and Kevin Lunke serving as caddies for the Aug. 2 outing. The group picture includes, from left, Kyle Lunke, Peterson, Rogers, Stanley and Kevin Lunke. Other Senior Tour golfers in the Pro-Am were Andy North, Bob Murphy, Mike Sullivan, Dana Quigley, Bruce Fleisher, Mark McNulty, John Harris and Jim Thorpe. Submitted photo.

TRF is 14U Class C consolation champ

Thief River Falls 14U girls followed a 10-game regular season softball schedule with a six-game run at the 2005 ASA-USA Minnesota Sports Federation Junior Olympic Class C state tournament July 29-31 in St. Cloud that ended with a consolation championship.

It was technically a seven-game post-season since Thief River Falls picked up a first round forfeit win.

That elevated the Matt Okeson-coached girls into the highly-competitive winner's bracket, where they were limited to just one hit in a 4-0 loss at the hands of Lake Crystal.

Thief River Falls was out-hit 12-5 and knocked out of the double-elimination championship round by Eveleth, 8-3.

That produced a ticket to the consolation bracket, where Thief River Falls beat Greenway 8-3, Eastview 11-8, Owatonna 7-5 and Detroit Lakes 5-2.

Thief River Falls banged out 36 hits and played error-free softball in the four consolation round games.

"It was fun to see the girls play that many games, and win, at the state level," said Okeson. "The pitchers threw strikes, we hit the ball, and we made the plays on defense. They did a nice job."

State tournament games were scheduled as seven-inning affairs, but a time limit ended Thief River Falls games against Greenway and Eastview after six innings.

State tournament wraps up season

■ Thief River Falls 18U softball team finishes 7-7

Runs were hard to come by for Thief River Falls during the 2005 ASA-USA Minnesota Sports Federation Junior Olympic Class B 18U girls state softball tournament played July 22-24 in Grand Rapids.

Thief River Falls pitchers gave up just five runs in three games, but they were backed by an offense that scored only three times.

A first round 2-1 loss to the Duluth Wild Things was followed by a 2-1 nine-inning victory over Hutchinson Area and a 2-0 loss to Duluth Thunder in loser-out play.

Thief River Falls finished the summer 7-7, with eight other scheduled starts weathered out.

The Duluth Wild Things trailed 1-0 before scoring twice in the top of the seventh to move on in the winner's bracket.

Thief River Falls' run came in the third inning when Kayla Gallagher singled to left, Jenny Grove put down a sacrifice bunt and Allyson Helling drove a two-out single to center.

Duluth won it when an error, base hit and stolen base put runners at second and third with one out. Thief River Falls pitcher Megan Berg came up with a strike-out for the second out and had two strikes on the next batter before an infield base hit between shortstop and third base scored the tying and winning runs. The ball was knocked down on the play, but trickled away as the runners sprinted toward home.

Berg, who struck out 10 in the first game, fanned 19 Hutchinson batters in the extra-inning marathon. Sixteen Thief River Falls batters also struck out, hiking the game total to 35.

After seven scoreless innings, the tournament tie-breaker came into play when teams start each half inning with a runner at second base – the last batter from the previous inning.

Both teams scored in the eighth. A sacrifice bunt by Berg and a drag-bunt single by DD Rambeck put Thief River Falls runners at the corners. Rambeck stole second. Hutchinson was in the process of issuing an intentional walk to Helling when a pitch sailed over the catcher's head for a run.

Hutchinson, however, tied it in the bottom of the eighth with a sacrifice bunt and a two-out single.

Thief River Falls won it in the ninth on a sacrifice bunt by Katie Pribula and a suicide squeeze bunt laid down by Berg that scored Amanda Timm on a close play at the plate.

Two Duluth Thunder runs in the bottom of the first stood up for a loser-out win that ended Thief River Falls' season.

A one-out single, triple and wild pitch produced the game's only offense.

"There was lots of great pitching and defense at the tournament, and we had both of them," reported Matt Okeson, Thief River Falls' head high school softball coach, who also directs the summer program. "Offensively we just did not get the big hit. But this was a great tournament for us to see what we need to work on for next spring."

Bowhunters ages 12 to 17 and firearms deer hunters ages 12 to 15 are reminded the Aug. 19 deadline for applying for most of the 2005 special youth hunts is fast approaching. The DNR began accepting applications July 1.

Archery hunts will be held Oct. 8-9 at Camp Ripley (150 permits) and Lake Alexander TNC Preserve in Morrison County (20 permits); Oct. 20-21 at Arden Hills Army Training Site A and Oct. 22-23 at Arden Hills Army Training Site B.

Firearms hunts will be Oct. 20-23 at Whitewater WMA Sanctuary (50 permits - participants may hunt by archery or firearms); Oct. 22-23 at Lake Bemidji State Park (25 antlerless-only permits) and at Rydell National Wildlife Refuge (20 permits); and Oct. 29-30 at St. Croix State Park (100 permits).

Applications for these hunts can be made at any Electronic License System vendor or at the DNR License Center in St. Paul. Applicants should tell the clerk they want to apply for a special youth archery hunt, license type 630, or a special youth firearms hunt, license type 631. A list of the specific hunt area numbers can be found on page 41 of the 2005 Hunting Regulations Handbook. Eligible hunters may apply for only one youth archery hunt and one youth firearms hunt. There is no cost to apply.

An additional firearms youth hunt has been added at William O'Brien State Park in Washington County for Oct. 15-16. This antlerless-only hunt corresponds with the Early Antlerless Season that will be taking place in the area at that time. Youth ages 12 to 15 must fill out a paper application available at the park or on the DNR Web site, www.dnr.state.mn.us, and mail the application to the park by Sept.1.

Local ATV Club Sponsors ATV Youth Safety Training Program

The North Star ATV Club from Thief River Falls and Roseau, along with RV Sports, Carver Performance and Huberts, are sponsoring a testing and operating day for the ATV youth safety training program on Saturday, Aug. 20, 2005 at 9 a.m. at Northland Community and Technical College - Thief River Falls. All youth, ages 12-15 who have completed the self training part of the program, should plan on attending this important hands on ATV safety training part of the program. To register, contact Peter Schoenecker at 218-681-9799, ext. 4008.

The ATV Youth Safety Training Program is a two-part program. The first part includes a computer-based self-training CD Rom that each student will complete at home with their parents' participation and involvement. The second part is a hands-on testing and operating day led by volunteer instructors that provides basic instruction and technique to students. Environmental education and awareness are included as a major part of this youth program.

Students will not be allowed to participate in a testing and operating day unless they have completed all of the requirements of the self-training course. However, youth already possessing the Youth Safety Certificate under the old safety program can take the testing and operating phase of the program by showing your certificate to the instructor.

A $15 fee is charged for all participants to the program. Safety program expenses are also partially subsidized from the ATV dedicated account in the Natural Resources Fund at the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

To complete the first part of the program you need to contact the DNR and request a training CD Rom. The DNR can be reached at 651-296-6157 or 888-646-6367. Once the first part of the program is complete, check out the DNR Web site accessible at www.dnr.state.mn.us/safety/vehicle/atv/index.html to check for the hands-on training schedule or come to the location as noted above on Aug. 20.

Students who complete this course and are between the ages of 12 and 15, will be able to operate ATV's larger than 90cc that are properly sized to the youth, otherwise they are restricted to a 90cc ATV.

The hands on youth safety legislation came about as a result of legislation proposed and advocated for by the All-Terrain Vehicle Association of Minnesota (ATVAM).

For more information on the ATV Youth Safety Program check the ATVAM Web site at www.atvam.org, or the DNR web site at www.dnr.state.mn.us/safety/vehicle/atv.

Contreras sentenced for attempted assault

A Warren teen was sentenced Tuesday in Marshall County District Court on an assault charge for attempting to hit a man with a shovel.

Isaac Contreras II, 18, received a stayed sentence of 12 months and one day in prison, according to the Marshall County Court Administrator's Office. Execution of that sentence was stayed for three-and-a-half years. As one of the conditions of that sentence, he was sentenced to six months in jail. He has already served that time in jail and was given credit for time served. He was also ordered to submit a DNA sample. Restitution has not been requested; however, it can be filed at a later date.

Isaac Contreras II

Contreras pled guilty May 24 to that charge. In a plea agreement, attempted murder charges were dismissed.

On March 28, Contreras tried to hit a man with a shovel. Using a knife, a 16-year-old Warren male then allegedly stabbed the man in the abdomen.

The man, who was visiting a residence along South Eighth Street in Warren, was hospitalized after the incident. The incident allegedly occurred after the juvenile got into an argument with individuals at the residence. The juvenile left the residence and returned with Contreras, when the alleged incident occurred.

Around noon Tuesday, Aug. 2, Ken Hockert of Thief River Falls was nearing the end of his second Bible reading marathon session. Hockert was at the desk and reading from the Bible at 4 a.m. for his first two-hour session at the Bible reading marathon in Thief River Falls this past week. The event was held in the gazebo at Floyd B. Olson Park. At this point, Hockert was reading Isaiah 36.

WoodMaster Furnace owners attend conference

Charles Gagner, president, and Stephen D. Larson, sales and marketing manager of Northwest Manufacturing, attended a conference July 26 in Bemidji to discuss the future of renewable energy in northwest Minnesota. The topic line-up included co-generation/biomass, biodiesel, ethanol, hydrogen, energy demands of the future and potential growth in the region.

"As a business owner who manufactures furnaces that can help homeowners dramatically reduce annual home heating costs, this is a conference we couldn't miss," said Gagner.

He added, "Hearing the speakers talk about alternative fuels like ethanol and learning about future energy demands is important to our business—and to growth in the northwest part of our state."

Keynote speakers at the conference included Al Christopherson, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau; Ralph Nordstrom of the Midwest Hydrogen Initiative; Jim Bensen, president emeritus of Bemidji State University; and Gene Goddard, Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development.

Scouts volunteer at Scandinavian smorgasbord

Most of the Karlstad fifth grade Junior Girl Scouts, and a Brownie and Cadet Girl Scout volunteered June 11 at a Scandinavian smorgasbord at Maggie's Catering in Roseau. They served as waitresses.

For their efforts, their troop received a donation from Maggie's Catering. It will help them with expenses next year when the fifth graders hope to go to the "Sleep with the Sharks" event at the Mall of America with the Pine to Prairie Girl Scouts.

Back Behind the Barn Boys to perform in TRF Saturday

Brady Anderson

Members of the group are very familiar to many area residents and include: Gene Lunsetter, Terry Ruud, Tom Bernstein, Randy Larson, Randy McMillin, and Mike Semanko. Kezar will be handling lights and sound.

Kezar may be talked in to performing for the event, too. During National Night Out in Thief River Falls on Tuesday, Kezar performed an original piece he wrote to celebrate the "Barn Again! Celebrating an American Icon" Smithsonian Traveling Exhibition, which is currently in Thief River Falls at the Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village. The composition is aptly named "Barn Again!"

There will be no parking at the National Guard Armory, but shuttle bus transportation will be available from the Arctic Cat parking lot.

Local students earn SCSU degrees

Local students graduated this spring from St. Cloud State University.

They included from Fosston – Beth Marie Vigoren, graduating cum laude with a bachelor of science degree; from Roseau – Andrew Lundhohm, bachelor of science degree; from Thief River Falls – Jamie (Kalsnes) Bakken, master of science degree and Teri Krogstad, graduating magna cum laude with a bachelor of science degree; and from Warren – Justin Hillier, bachelor of science degree.

Bituminous seal-coating scheduled to start this week

The Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) has announced the start of some preventive maintenance work in the form of bituminous seal-coating on various sections of state highways in northwestern Minnesota. The work was to have begun Wednesday.

According to Earl Hill, Mn/DOT project supervisor, the following sections of state highways are scheduled for seal-coating:

- Highway 32 from Fertile to the junction with Highway 2;
- Highway 92 from Bagley to Zerkel;
- Highway 72 from Baudette to 13 miles south;
- Highway 11 from five miles west of Baudette to Baudette;
- Highway 11 from Roosevelt to Williams; and
- Highway 313 from Warroad to the U.S./Canadian border.

Hill cautions motorists to slow down when entering and traveling through these work zones. Flaggers, along with pdot cars, will be used for traffic control.

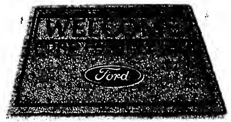
"Drivers can expect delays of 10 to 15 minutes in some situations, with speed reductions due to loose rock on the roadway," Hill said.

Mn/DOT expects the work to be completed by Aug. 17 depending on weather conditions.

For statewide road condition information, dial 1-511 or log onto www.511mn.org.

MCMA awards scholarship to Roseau student

The Manitoba Conservatory of Music and Arts (MCMA) recently awarded Kari Nelson of Roseau with the Donna Grescoe Scholarship Award for Senior Strings [illegible] at this year's MCMA's Scholarship Auditions.



Nelson, who will be a senior this fall, performed "Bela Bartok Romanian Folk Dances V and VI" as well as "Sonata III" by J.M. LeClair at the audition held at the conservatory in Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada.

The scholarship winners were featured in concert, and a banquet was given in honor of their achievements. Nelson will receive one-year of free tuition at the MCMA in the classical instruction of violin during her senior year.

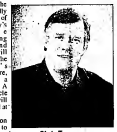
Arctic Cat to build new ATV fac[illegible] . Cloud

by April Schelnoha
Reporter



Arctic Cat announced Thursday that it will build an all-terrain vehicle (ATV) engine manufacturing facility in St. Cloud.

"It's a strategic decision to control our destiny," said Chris Twomey, Arctic Cat chairman and chief executive officer, in an interview Friday morning with the Northern Watch.

The decision to build in St. Cloud is not expected to impact current Arctic Cat employees. "Nobody will lose their job with Arctic Cat," said Twomey, who noted all ATV assembly will be completed in Thief River Falls.

Twomey noted several reasons drove Arctic Cat to pursue building a facility in St. Cloud. One reason, he said, included being closer to supplier-vendor partners for ATV engines. "The second reason was the larger workforce availability," said Twomey, who noted the company plans to eventually do machining at the St. Cloud plant.

The company plans to construct a 56,000-square-foot facility that may later be expanded to 200,000 square-feet. The site will initially be the home of the company's Engine Manufacturing Division, and employees will assemble the company's engines there, according to a press release. A 40-acre vehicle test track will also be located at the site.

Chris Twomey

Construction is expected to begin in 2006 and be finished at the end of that year. The plant is expected to open in 2007 and employ 50 people. That number may eventually increase to up to 150 people.

Arctic Cat began its ATV engine project in 2000 when it noticed its ATV suppliers saw the market differently than it did, Twomey noted. As a result, it designed and built its first ATV engine earlier this year.

Six to seven months ago, Twomey said, the company began looking at six to 12 locations for building another plant. It eventually narrowed down those choices and chose St. Cloud.

To construct the St. Cloud facility, Arctic Cat will receive several incentives, according to the press release. The company may qualify for the Job Opportunity Building Zone (JOBZ) program since the site is in a JOBZ. If so, it would receive local and state tax exemptions through 2015.

Arctic Cat will also receive a 10-year, interest-free $500,000 loan to construct the facility. The company the state of Minnesota will work either through the Minnesota Job Skills Partnership Program to determine what educational assistance may be needed.

In the press release, St. Cloud Mayor John D. Ellenbecker said, "Arctic Cat is exactly the kind of high-quality company we need to invest in to remain competitive and for our local economy to grow."

"Arctic Cat is a Minnesota success story," said Gov. Tim Pawlenty in the press release. "The company has grown into a leader in the powersports industry and ranks among the state's largest public companies."

Questions remain on passport issue

Baudette - If the federal government got any message from local residents Saturday, it was that an international border does not interfere with neighborhood relations.

U.S. Sen. Norm Coleman and Ann Barrett, managing director of passport service, were in Baudette Saturday afternoon to discuss the impact of the Western Hemisphere Travel Initiative that was announced in April by the State Department and Department of Homeland Security.

This initiative will require U.S., Canadian, Mexican and Bermudan citizens to have some sort of standardized identification when crossing international borders. This initiative will be phased in, affecting air and sea travel by the end of this year and land travel by 2008.

The urgent need for this legislation is to streamline the amount of identification that is being viewed at the ports of entry. Right now, there are too many kinds of documents, Barrett said. As an example, Barrett said there are more than 7,000 birth certificate-issuing agencies in the U.S. and they don't all use the same format or system.

She recommended that everyone should have a passport because passports can be used anywhere in the world; however, she was beginning to understand the impact on the people who live along the border. - Baudette Region, Aug. 9, 2005, by Penny Mio

County Board calls for bids on bridges, sets NVHH funds

Warren - Advertising for bids for replacement of a bridge and culvert crossing in the northwest part of the county was authorized by the Marshall County Board of Commissioners at its Tuesday, Aug. 2 meeting. The board also approved an appropriation, at the same level as in 2004, to North Valley Home Health for providing county health service.

Bids will be invited for replacing a bridge over Judicial Ditch 29 for County State Aid Highway (CSAH) 10, 11 miles northwest of Argyle and a culvert replacement for CSAH 4 over a coulee 12 miles west of Argyle. Engineer's estimates of the costs for the projects are $202,000 and $68,000, respectively, said Lon Aune, county highway engineer. Fall start of construction is planned with completion in 2006. - Warren Sheaf, Aug. 10, 2005

School Board hears from concerned parents on class sizes

Warroad - August's Warroad Board of Education meeting was filled with everything from large class sizes for the second grade to proposals of land sales and transportation issues.

Jon Cole reported to the board that there will be 86 students in the second grade this coming fall. "The federal limit for class size is 18, and the Minnesota statute is 17," he said. "I don't think that 29 students to one teacher is do-able. The board needs to look at one more teaching position."

The board will address this at a special board meeting in two weeks. - Warroad Pioneer, Aug. 10, 2005, by Marlene Schmitz

Goodridge School welcomes new principal

by David Hill
Editor

Tim Lutz grew up in the small community of Karlstad where both his parents were in education - his father, a principal for 31 years, and his mother an English teacher. When he graduated from high school, the last thing he wanted to do was to go into education and live in a small community.

Tim Lutz

There was in Lutz, a desire to travel and learn, qualities that at the time he had no idea would someday bring him back home and to a career in education.

Last May, School District 561 in Goodridge, hired Lutz to replace Elden Winge, who retired as principal of the small school located 20 miles from Thief River Falls in northwestern Minnesota.

After leaving Karlstad, Lutz attended Northland Community College for two years, then finished college with a major in English at Moorhead State University. At the time, he was considering entering the ministry. He served as a youth minister in Duluth and a camp minister, but only for a couple of years. He then entered the business world which took him to Washington, D.C., and then San Francisco, Calif. His marriage to Karyn Richards of Thief River Falls, daughter of Sheriff Charles Richards and his wife Lylian, and the lure of the smalltown life he enjoyed as a child, is what brought him back to the region.

It was at about this time that he realized he liked teaching so he went back to school and obtained his teaching certificate. He taught English at Norman County East for six years, and was a school counselor for another four years. While serving as a counselor he began thinking about becoming an administrator, which, he said, would allow him to have a greater impact on the sorts of things he'd like to change.

Last year, Lutz served as the principal at Warren-Alvarado-Oslo and he was offered a chance to return. But, the position in Goodridge came up and he wanted to do something more that would have an impact on academics. He described his first year at Warren-Alvarado-Oslo as good, but tough. He explained that although Goodridge was a much smaller school, the job of principal would offer him a chance to get closer to his roots and interests.

Lutz said he plans to spend his first year getting to know every single student in the school, challenging them to be the best they can be academically, and empowering staff to get excited about teaching. His short-term goals include spending the next few weeks looking at what has been done in the past and asking why. "Anything I face this year will be filtered through whether this is good for the kids," said Lutz.

School for public school students in Goodridge starts on September 1. In-service with teachers begins on August 29. Before then, Lutz said District residents and students will receive notices about the school calendar, transportation issues, orientation, pre-registration and other items of interest.

Lutz said he's excited about the start of school and hopes students and staff are just as excited.

Lutz and his wife Karyn have two children: a son, Jordan, who is a sophomore at Ada High School; and a daughter, Katharine, a fifth grader at Ada Elementary School. Karyn is a dietary consultant at a number of nursing homes in and around Norman County. His family plans to stay in Ada for the time being.

Lutz said his hobbies include camping, canoeing, running, lifting weights, and woodworking. At one time during his career, he and his wife operated a hot-air balloon service. Now, his family operates a family business called Rentertainment, which provides inflatable games. Lutz said they've been attending a lot of Centennials and other celebrations this year. It's this summer activity and as many days as possible at the lake that will help him recharge for what he hopes will be an exciting year.

Marshall Co. Board approves eminent domain resolution

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

During its Aug. 2 meeting, the Marshall County Board of Commissioners approved a resolution recognizing and supporting the use of eminent domain only as a last resort to acquire private property for a public project. The resolution also states that the use of eminent domain must be necessary to accomplish the general welfare of the citizens of the jurisdiction.

The Marshall County resolution was passed in response to the U.S. Supreme Court's June ruling, in "Kelo vs. New London," that stated New London, Conn., had the authority to condemn private homes and property for use in a private development project.

The case began in 2000, when the city of New London approved a development plan that called for the construction of a resort hotel, 80 to 100 new residences, office and retail space. The city also gave the New London Development Corp. authorization to use eminent domain, the right of the state to take private property for public use (the Fifth Amendment requires that just compensation be made), if necessary, to acquire property from residents in the Fort Trumbull neighborhood.

An older neighborhood that included property on the Thames River, the acquired property consisted of approximately 90 acres with 115 residential and commercial lots. The New London Development Corp. offered to purchase all 115 lots. All but 15 landowners accepted purchase offers. Exercising its right of eminent domain, the city ordered the development corporation to condemn the remaining 15 lots.

In its ruling, the Supreme Court also noted that states are free to ban the practice.

Marshall County Commissioner Delray Larson introduced the resolution to commissioners during the Marshall County Board's Aug. 2 meeting. The resolution was based on an Oregon resolution appearing in the official newspaper of the National Association of Counties.

"I felt I agreed with it and I felt the people in our county would agree with it – If you use eminent domain, you need to use it for its intended purpose," Larson said.

Larson feels the resolution will have little or no affect on area residents because most of its use is limited to larger cities.

The resolution lists acceptable use of eminent domain only as a "last resort for acquiring private property for a public project." According to Larson, it is intended to discourage the practice of government acquiring and selling land to increase its tax base.

"It would be like if they condemned land for Wal-Mart to be constructed," Larson said. "I don't think it's right. We want to make sure that when we condemn land

Local couple celebrates 70 years of marriage

by April Schelnoha

Marion and Alvina Cater pick on each other. They flirt. While listening to them, they seem like a couple of kids who have been in a relationship for years. Marion, 92, and Alvina, 88, will celebrate their 70th wedding anniversary this month.

"When she hollered, I jumped," Marion said about why their marriage has lasted as long as it has.

For Alvina's part, she said Marion always wants to be the boss, so she lets him think he is.

The Middle River residents were married Aug. 21, 1935 at First Evangelical Church in St. Cloud. Back then, Franklin Delano Roosevelt was president, and World War II hadn't yet happened.

The couple met a year prior to their marriage. "Where we met was at a birthday party," Alvina recalled about that time in the fall of 1934. It was a birthday party for Marion's friend. Alvina was also invited because her friend was that man's girlfriend. Months later, in February 1935, Marion and Alvina were engaged.

They were married six months later. Alvina wore a $10 wedding dress that her sister purchased for her at a St. Cloud store. At the time, Alvina's sister was making $5 a week at her job. Alvina still has the white satin, floor-length princess-style gown.

After their wedding, they went on a honeymoon to the Duluth area. They loaded their 1929 Model A with their clothes, which were packed in cardboard suitcases. One of the vehicle's doors leaked, and their clothes became wet.

Once they got home from their honeymoon, they settled in the St. Cloud area. It was the time of the Dust Bowl, and the couple eventually visited this area. What they saw was the opposite of what they had

Pembina Trail RC & D receives $25,000 grant

The Pembina Trail Resource Conservation and Development Council (RC & D), headquartered in Red Lake Falls, recently received a $25,000 Northwest Minnesota Foundation (NMF) grant for a project that will test fuels developed for a biomass gasification power plant.

This project takes on goals of both the Pembina Trail and the Gitchi RC & Ds. Using underutilized sources of biomass available in northwest Minnesota to locally produce an alternative source of energy. The project will test some of the biomass sources of fuel available in the region, convert it to a gas, and test the fuel as a source of energy.

Several Minnesota mills are considering installing a biomass gasification power plant. This power plant would use existing sawmill residue to produce electricity. The bark and sawdust byproducts from the milling process present an excellent economic opportunity to produce renewable power. Other fuel sources, such as sunflower hulls, wild rice, grain screenings and switchgrass, will also be tested as a means to compare resource materials from northwest Minnesota. The project will provide data to minimize the potential risk for installing a new renewable energy power plant.

According to NMF President John Ostrem, the project may open the door to other biomass-based opportunities and spin-offs. "Several industries within the northwest region already produce substantial biomass wastes that could potentially be used for energy production," he said. "The relatively small scale and reasonable installed costs of biomass gasifier plants that are currently available make them attractive for the smaller, decentralized industrial applications that are found throughout our region."

Producers reminded about LAP deadline

Sign-up for the Livestock Assistance Program (LAP) ends Sept. 9. The program provides financial reimbursements for 2003 grazing losses.

Eligibility is determined based on the number of livestock and amount of pastureland. The Kittson County Farm Service Agency (FSA) Office has not yet received authorization to issue payments on LAP applications which have been approved. The payments were scheduled to be released in early June but have been delayed.

Producers who have not yet filed an application are strongly encouraged to call the Kittson County FSA Office at 843-2692, extension 2 to set up an appointment.

Speak out and visioning for early childhood planned in Middle River

The recipes today are from one of my mother's old cookbooks - Modern Approach to Everyday Cooking (1966) by the American Dairy Association.

It is just about pear time, isn't it? Use some of those wonderful fruits to make this delicious snack cake:

PEAR GINGER CAKE

Pear Topping:
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup packed light brown sugar
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1/8 teaspoon cinnamon
2 cups thinly sliced fresh pears

Cake:
1/4 cup butter
1/3 cup sugar
1 egg
1/4 cup light molasses
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup instant nonfat dry milk
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/4 teaspoon salt
Whipped cream

To prepare topping, melt butter in 9-inch square baking pan. Combine sugar, ginger and cinnamon and sprinkle over melted butter. Arrange pears in rows over mixture in pan and set aside.

To prepare cake, in mixing bowl cream butter; gradually add sugar and beat light and fluffy. Beat in egg. Combine molasses, water and dry milk.

Sift flour, soda, baking powder, ginger, cinnamon, cloves and salt. Add to creamed mixture alternately with molasses mixture, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Spread over pears in pan.

Bake 40-50 minutes at 350 degrees. Invert on serving plate. Serve warm with whipped cream.

To use canned pears, drain a 1 pound can of pear halves, split each half lengthwise and arrange on butter-sugar mixture.

I know apple time is coming because the apples on my tree are just about ready for picking. They are the early kind, but are good for baking - If I have any left after the neighbors' kids get done throwing them around:

UPSIDE DOWN APPLE CAKE
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup packed light brown sugar
1/4 cup chopped nuts
3 cups peeled, sliced apples
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 cup butter
2/3 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/3 cup sugar
1 egg
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup buttermilk

In 9-inch square baking pan, melt 2 tablespoons butter. Sprinkle 1/2 cup of brown sugar evenly over bottom, then add nuts. Arrange apples in rows and sprinkle with lemon juice. Set aside.

In mixing bowl, cream 1/2 cup butter. Gradually add sugars and beat light and fluffy. Beat in egg.

Sift flour, baking powder, soda, cinnamon, nutmeg and salt and add to creamed mixture alternately with buttermilk, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Spread batter over apple slices.

Bake 40-45 minutes at 375 degrees, then place on wire rack and let stand 10 minutes. Invert on serving plate. Cut into squares and serve warm topped with whipped cheese topping (see below) or whipped cream.

Whipped cheese topping:
2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese
1/4 cup light cream (half and half)

Allow cheese to come to room temperature. In mixing bowl, beat cheese until fairly smooth. Gradually add cream and beat until mixture is smooth and fluffy. Frost cake.

We know the Dutch are good cooks, especially when it comes to things like crumb cake - try this one:

PENNSYLVANIA DUTCH CRUMB CAKE
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/2 cup butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup evaporated milk or half and half
1 teaspoon soda
1 egg, beaten
2 tablespoons molasses
1/2 cup raisins or currents

In mixing bowl, sift flour, sugar, salt and spices. Cut in butter as for pie crust until mixture resembles cornmeal. Reserve 1 cup of mixture for topping.

Combine lemon juice and evaporated milk. Add soda and stir to dissolve. Add to flour mixture in bowl along with egg, molasses and raisins. Stir until dry ingredients are moistened - batter will be lumpy. Place in greased 11x7 inch baking pan. Sprinkle reserved topping over it. Bake 35-45 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool in pan on wire rack. May serve warm or cool.

SOUR CREAM BANANA CAKE
1/4 cup butter
1 1/3 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
3/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup sour cream
1 cup mashed ripe bananas (2 medium)
1/2 cup chopped nuts

In mixing bowl, cream butter. Gradually add sugar and beat light and fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Add vanilla.

Sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add to creamed mixture alternately with sour cream, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Add bananas and nuts, mixing just enough to blend. Place in greased 9x13 inch pan. Bake 40-45 minutes at 350 degrees.

Frost with:
Quick Caramel Frosting
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1/4 cup evaporated milk or half and half
2 1/4 cups powdered sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

In 1-quart saucepan, heat butter and brown sugar over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar melts. Blend in evaporated milk and cool. Gradually beat in powdered sugar until of spreading consistency. Add vanilla and frost cake.

July claims for unemployment down 1.1 percent

Unemployment benefits filed in July dropped by 210 or 1.1 percent, on a seasonally adjusted basis, from one year ago, according to the Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, the number of initial claims filed in July increased over the month of June by 11.8 percent for a total of 23,610. Much of the increase is a result of claims filed by state employees during the government shutdown.

The industries that saw the biggest increases in claims were Government, Construction and Manufacturing, while Finance and Insurance, Administrative Support, and Educational Service experienced a decrease compared to one year ago.

"Despite the government shutdown, layoffs are down from last year and the economy is on track for continued job growth," said Commissioner Matt Kramer.

Acorns aren't ripe in July

A guy on the boat caught a northern the other day. Some of you who fish Lake of the Woods a lot probably don't consider this an earth-shaking event. And some of you who have fished Lake of the Woods with me a lot probably consider it some sort of a minor miracle that anything with fins actually made it over the gunwale. Whatever. Some of you can take that northern and, er anyway, this guy caught a northern.

There are two reasons for that fish to be significant. First, the guy who caught the fish had actually asked me as we left the dock that morning if I could find him a northern before day's end. He kind of blushed and acknowledged sheepishly that he'd never caught one. It was almost as if he was apologizing for the request, assuming that putting him on a northern was as simple and lowly a task as a walleye guide might ever stoop to performing. It seems like people always make those humble requests when the chances of fulfilling them are about as likely as a guilty verdict appearing in a California courtroom.

You see, that fish was also significant because they're pretty scarce this time of year. I'm sure I winced when he asked that, seeing as how I haven't slimed my way around a northern since the third week of June. Not even by accident! And I certainly wasn't about to cut into the walleye day with a time-killing excursion up some fly-infested river backwater to find a disappointing hammer-handle to satisfy this guy's private Make-A-Wish campaign. How was I supposed to find one in the middle of a million acres of open water? I think I mumbled something distinctly non-Christian under my breath and guaranteed the event, just like I do to anyone who asks me for something and then greases my palm with money.

The fact that we caught the fish had nothing to do with any method other than the sheerest of dumb, animal luck. We were fishing walleyes at the time, and when I slid the net under that northern, I paused at boatside to thank the Lord for once again, reestablishing my personal doubt as to his existence and to also wipe that ridiculous look of surprise from my slackened jaw. The guy who had requested and caught launched into a lengthy diatribe concerning my preeminent guiding skills and I did my best to look knowledgeable and worthy. I denied none of it. I think it just goes against your individual record as a "white lie" if you don't step in and correct a positive personal assessment from an outside source.

Catching a 30+ inch northern in the middle of the hottest stretch of summer is somewhat of a rarity. While their smaller brethren seem content to stay in the river and patrol the weedy edges, providing action for kids equipped with a daredevil or suspended minnow, the big boys spread out and disappear across the main lake. Happy to hang on the edges of cooler water, they probably blurp down the occasional greasy tullibee when a fit of hunger overcomes them. Otherwise, they're as hard to find as that neighbor who borrowed and broke your lawn mower.

And just when you've started to actually miss them, a mid-August cold front will roll the lake over and push the beasts back into pockets where they contact fishermen again. It really is as abrupt a re-arrival as a change of weather. And once they start, they're a regular daily event until the boats get pulled in late October.

And that's my point. Ask me for tulips in May or blueberries in July, neither in September, thank you. I'm not excited about sturgeon hunting when the river is boiling away at four to five miles per hour. Smallmouth and muskie are not a through- the-ice-event. Crappies in June? Ha! To every fish, (turn, turn, turn) there is a season (turn, turn, turn). (I think that's plagiarism.) And if you're looking for northerns in the hottest stretch of summer, and I mean nice northerns, don't ask unless that's a big bill or a bigger prayerbook you're pulling out of your pocket.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Support volunteers and safety programs

Minnesota is better and safer because of its volunteers. Though true in many respects, it is especially true because of Minnesota Department of Natural Resources' gun safety and all-terrain vehicle (ATV) and snowmobile safety programs.

Gun safety and ATV and snowmobile safety program volunteers donate many hours to the program and agree to undergo extensive training without expectation of receiving anything in return. They do so not only because they recognize the fact that their sports can be dangerous, but because they want the sport to continue to be enjoyed safely and responsibly for generations to come.

Safety training involves hours of training in the proper use and operation of guns and equipment, but the programs also include significant elements about a sportsman's responsibility to the environment and fellow outdoorsmen. The importance of these elements cannot be emphasized enough.

There is a public relations aspect to safety training. Not everyone supports guns, hunting, ATVs or have ever ridden an ATV or a snowmobile. In fact, enthusiasts and program volunteers increasingly see signs that they are in the minority, so it's important for the sports to have safe and courteous enthusiasts.

To a large extent, the public perception of hunting, snowmobiling and ATV riding as outdoor activities, will depend upon their enthusiasts. So, it is vital that educational efforts continue to reach enthusiasts, especially youngsters and others who are interested in participating in these activities. Volunteers will play a significant role in educating these individuals, and in shaping the future of the sport.

A recent news release from the DNR stated that "the backbone of the education section in DNR enforcement is the volunteer instructor. Without the many dedicated volunteers for each of the education programs managed by the division, there would be no education programs."

These volunteers are making a difference. In its recent news release, the DNR states, "The National Safety Council reports that hunting has fewer injuries per 100,000 people participating than football, baseball, cycling, volleyball, swimming, golf, tennis, fishing, bowling, badminton, billiards and ping-pong." With a continued emphasis on being safe and environmentally responsible enthusiasts, Minnesota's great outdoors will continue to be open to everyone.

Please continue to support and encourage volunteers and their efforts.

Mn/DOT schedules fog sealing

The Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) is alerting the public to the continuation of some preventive maintenance work on various sections of state highways in northwestern Minnesota, which were scheduled to begin Thursday, Aug. 11.

According to Earl Hill, Mn/DOT project supervisor, those sections of state highways that received a bituminous seal coating in the last week are scheduled for a process called fog sealing, which is applied after a seal coating. A fog seal is a light oil application intended to extend the life of the bituminous seal coating which was done earlier. Highway sections scheduled for this process include:

• Highway 32 from Fertile to the junction with Highway 2;
• Highway 92 from Bagley to Zerkel;
• Highway 72 from Baudette to 13 miles south;
• Highway 11 from five miles west of Baudette to Baudette;
• Highway 11 from Roosevelt to Williams; and
• Highway 313 from Warroad to the U.S./Canadian border.

Hill cautions motorists to slow down when entering and traveling through these work zones. Drivers will be guided through the work zones with the use of a pilot car.

Mn/DOT expects the work to be complete by Aug. 17 depending on weather conditions.

For statewide road condition information, dial 1-511 or log onto www.511mn.org.

Thief River Trap Club city class championship...

Robin Foster top shooter

Robin Foster made his way through a pair of tie-breakers Monday to win the 2005 individual city class championship shoot at the Thief River Trap Club.

Foster, Keith Leines, Howard Thorson and Al Steinhauer all turned in perfect scores during the regulation 50-target round.

Steinhauer and Foster hit another 25-straight in the first tie-breaker round that knocked Leines (24) and Thorson (22) out of the title picture.

Foster then out-shot Steinhauer 25-23 in the second tie-breaker to earn the title of city champion. It was his first-ever 100-straight.

With the edge in the first tie-breaker round, Leines beat out Thorson for the Class AA title.

Steinhauer's regulation 50-straight enabled him to compete for the city title, even though he was grouped in Class A, based upon regular season weekly average. While vying for the city championship, Steinhauer's score already assured him a Class A crown.

Cory Thorson finished with a 24-21 tie-breaking advantage over Ryan Hible to win the Class B title. Both shooters finished with a regulation round 47.

Kurt Nelson won Class C with a 46 and Tim Erickson took Class D with a 43.

Football, soccer clinics benefit MSHSL officials

■ Football session scheduled in TRF

In an effort to help officials get started in the sports of football and soccer, the Minnesota State High School League is once again sponsoring preseason training clinics at sites throughout Minnesota.

Registered officials from local officials associations will conduct classroom sessions, followed by on-field training at pre-season scrimmages. Veteran officials will "shadow" less experienced officials in these live scrimmage situations.

One of the football clinics will be held in Thief River Falls.

Lake of the Woods northern pike regulations...

DNR meetings in Baudette, Roseau

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources will hold three public open houses to solicit public comments on the existing northern pike experimental fishing regulation for Lake of the Woods and the Rainy River from Wheelers Point upstream to the Boise Cascade Dam in International Falls. This regulation also covers the Warroad River, Baudette River and Winter Road River.

The DNR will consider public comments in determining whether to extend, remove, modify or make permanent the experimental northern pike regulations. Currently, all northern pike from 30 through 40 inches must be immediately returned to the water; the possession limit is three, with only one over 40 inches. This regulation was implemented in 1996 following local concern by northern pike anglers about potential loss of trophy-sized pike. The main objective was to maintain the high-quality northern pike population in light of projected increases in fishing pressure.

A Baudette open house will be held Sept. 28 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the auditorium of Lake of the Woods High School.

An open house will be held Sept. 29 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the study hall room of Roseau High School.

In addition to local meetings, the public can also provide input during a Sept. 22 statewide open house at the DNR Central Office, 500 Lafayette Road in St. Paul from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

People unable to attend a public input meeting may submit written comments to Mike Larson, DNR Area Fisheries Office, 204 Main Street E, Baudette, MN 56623.

For more information, call the Baudette DNR Office at 218-634-2522 or e-mail mike.larson@dnr.state.mn.us. All comments must be received no later than Oct. 10.

DNR hunting regulations handbooks are available

Department of Natural Resources Hunting and Trapping Regulations Handbook, with information on Minnesota's 2005 seasons, new regulations and youth opportunities, is now available wherever hunting and angling licenses are sold.

Minnesota's first fall hunting seasons begin Sept. 1 with the opening of bear, mourning dove and early goose seasons in certain parts of the state.

"Hunters will notice new regulations affecting deer, pheasant, turkey and waterfowl hunting, to name a few," said Mike DonCarlos, DNR wildlife program manager. "We strongly encourage hunters to familiarize themselves with all the new regulations before the seasons begin."

Fold-out deer map, traditionally bound into the center of the book, is available separately this year. Removing the map from the book reduced costs and made the book easier to handle, DonCarlos said.

The 2005 Waterfowl Regulations Book, which contains waterfowl regulation information not available when hunting regulations handbook was printed, will be available later this month.

Note: Glacial Ridge National Wildlife Refuge is incorrectly listed on page 142. The refuge is open to hunting.

The recruitment and training of officials continues to be a high priority for the Minnesota State High School League and its member schools. New officials are always needed and welcomed. Anyone with background and experience in a particular sport is encouraged to consider becoming an official. The need for officials is at all levels of play - from middle school through the varsity level.

Soccer Clinics

Soccer clinics will be held Sat., Aug. 20, in Blaine, Duluth, Eden Prairie, and Rochester.

The clinics at Blaine's National Sports Center, Eden Prairie High School and Rochester Century High School will begin with classroom sessions at 7:45 a.m., followed by scrimmages at 9 o'clock.

The clinic at Duluth Public School Stadium will begin at 10:45 a.m., with the scrimmage following at noon.

There will also be a clinic at Benilde-St. Margaret's High School in St. Louis Park Tues., Aug. 23, at 6 p.m., also followed by a scrimmage.

Registration will begin 15 minutes prior to each clinic.

Football Clinics

Football clinics will be held at nine sites throughout the state Sat., Aug. 28. All clinic sites are at the local high schools and/or football practice fields.

Clinics at Detroit Lakes, Hermantown, Hopkins, Mahtomedi, Slayton's Murray County Central and Thief River Falls will start at 9 a.m., followed by scrimmages at 10 o'clock.

Clinics at Byron and Sartell will begin at 8 a.m., and the clinic at Mankato West will begin at 8:30 a.m., and in each case scrimmages will follow one hour later.

Registration will begin 30 minutes prior to the clinics.

All of the clinics are free and pre-registration is not required. Officials should come dressed to officiate games. Bring a whistle. Information about how to become a registered official and how to join local officials associations will also be provided.

"We have a constant need for new officials," explained League Associate Director Kevin Merkle, who directs the League's officials program. "We continue to add more teams, more sports and more participants, which increases the need for officials. Becoming a quality varsity official takes time, so it is important for officials to receive training and then begin working at lower levels in order to gain experience. Officials play a vital role in League-sponsored activities. Without quality officials it would be impossible to have the interscholastic contests that provide important educational experiences for our youth."

For more information about officiating, visit the League Web site at www.mshsl.org, or call the League office at 763-560-2262. Local high school athletics or activities directors may also be consulted.

Public meetings set for Upper Red Lake fishing regulations

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources will hold public open house meetings to solicit comments on special fishing regulation proposals for Upper Red Lake.

After a seven-year walleye harvest moratorium, walleye fishing is set to resume in the spring of 2006. In anticipation of high angling pressure and catch rates, regulations will need to be set conservatively to avoid excessive harvest.

Additionally, there is considerable interest in protecting the quality northern pike fishery that has developed.

Proposed regulations when walleye fishing resumes are as follows:

Walleye

■ 17-26 inch protected slot.

■ Possession limit of two, with only one over 26 inches.

Northern Pike

■ 26-40 inch protected slot.

■ Possession limit of three, with only one over 40 inches.

Local area open house will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. Sept. 15 at the Kelliher Community Center. The public is invited to drop in any time during this open house period. Area DNR Fisheries staff will be present to answer questions and record comments on these regulation proposals.

The public can also provide input during a statewide open house at the DNR Central Office, located at 500 Lafayette Road in St. Paul, Sept. 22 from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

For those unable to attend a public input meeting, written comments should be send to Gary Barnard at the DNR Area Fisheries Office, 2114 Bemidji Avenue, Bemidji, MN 56001. All comments must be received before Oct. 3, 2005.

Funds available for shooting range construction projects

Shooting range operators got a shot in the arm when the 2005 Minnesota Legislature approved $300,000 in grant money to build or improve firearms and archery shooting ranges throughout the state.

The Shooting Range Development and Rehabilitation Grant Program will provide $150,000 in matching grants from now until June 30, 2006, to applicants meeting eligibility requirements. Another $150,000 in matching funds will be available on July 1, 2006, through June 30, 2008. All funds will be available on an ongoing basis until fully dispersed. These funds are provided through the Legislative Commission on Minnesota Resources from its Environmental Trust Fund, which is derived from the state lottery.

The Minnesota Department of Natural Resources has administered the grant program since 1999. Shooting ranges provide a training area for students enrolled in hunter/bow hunter education programs. Shooting ranges also provide hunters and recreational shooters a safe location to improve shooting skills.

During this current grant period, there will be only one application for both archery and firearms-related projects. Applications are available for download from the DNR Web site: www.dnr.state.mn.us/grants/recreation/rangedev.

For additional information, contact Chuck Niska, DNR shooting range coordinator at 651-297-2449.

Mallard will be subject appearing on the 2006 state waterfowl stamp

Contest entries for the 2006 Minnesota Department of Natural Resources waterfowl stamp will be accepted beginning Aug. 22. Design entries must be received no later than 4 p.m. Friday, Sept. 2, at the DNR Wildlife Division office, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155.

Eligible entries this year will be limited to images of the mallard. Judging for the contest will be on Thursday, Sept. 8.

Revenue from stamp sales is dedicated to the development, restoration, maintenance and preservation of waterfowl habitat in Minnesota. The stamp art contest is open only to Minnesota residents and offers no prizes. Winning artists, however, usually issue limited edition prints of the artwork and retain the proceeds. A reproduction rights agreement, granting the DNR the right to use the design for the stamp image and other purposes, must be signed and submitted with the design to be considered eligible.

Stamp contest information is available on the DNR Web site at www.dnr.state.mn.us, or by calling the DNR Information Center toll free at 1-888-646-6367.

Fish consumption advisory explained by Minnesota DNR

Q: Every year the DNR and Minnesota Department of Health issue a fish consumption advisory that warns consumers of potential health issues. What happens if people eat too much fish?

A: Fish are a great source of protein, vitamins and minerals, and are low in saturated fat. However, any fish may contain harmful contaminants such as mercury or PCBs. Since it is not possible to see, smell or taste any of these contaminants the amount of fish consumed should be kept to a minimum to safeguard against potential health risks. For example, even a small amount of mercury can damage a brain that is just starting to form or grow. This is why young children, unborn and breast-fed babies are at most risk. Too much mercury may affect a child's behavior and lead to learning problems later in life. Mercury can also harm older children and adults, but it takes larger amounts before the effects are noticeable. Prolonged exposure may damage kidneys and the nervous system. It may also cause tingling, prickling or numbness in hands and feet or changes in vision. Exposure to PCBs during pregnancy may lower birth weight, reduced head size and delayed physical development; PCBs may also cause cancer. Additional information is available on the Department of Health Web site at http://www.health.state.mn.us/divs/eh/fish/index.html.

seen near St. Cloud – everything was green here.

"It looked like a little piece of heaven," Alvina said.

The couple moved to this area in 1938. They lived in Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire before moving to a small farm east of Middle River in 1941. "We were hard working farm people," said Alvina, who noted Marion was a jack of all trades.

Alvina worked as a cook in Middle River as well – first at Middle River School and then for Lutheran Social Service. Marion also worked as a manager at a lumberyard. They later owned a drive-in and hired personnel to work on their farm that had 135 cows.

The couple raised their three children at their farm, including Jan (Earl) Anderson of Stephen, Gary (Judie) of Bemidji and Glenn (Judy) of Grafton, Wis. Their family now includes nine grandchildren, 18 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandson.

Marion and Alvina also raised other kids when their own children grew up. "We were a licensed foster care home after our kids left home," said Alvina, who noted they were licensed for about six years and had about six kids in their home over that period of time. Some of them still visit the couple, and one told Marion he didn't know where he'd be without their help.

Over the years, the couple has slowed down. They moved into Middle River about 10 years ago. Alvina had a pacemaker put into her chest about two weeks ago on her 88th birthday. "I told the doctor, 'You gave me a heck of a birthday gift,'" she remembered.

Marion is hard of hearing, often asking guests to speak up or asking Alvina to repeat to him what the other person said. However, they still live in their own home and seem younger than 88 and 92.

They've also got their senses of humor. At one point, when Alvina told Marion it was her time to talk because he was telling a long story, Marion said jokingly, "See who's boss?"

Even for those who just meet Alvina and Marion, it's hard to envision where one would be without the other. Alvina credits their long marriage to "always doing things together" and deciding things together.

"We never did fight," said Alvina, who noted she never said they didn't argue.

Despite however many arguments they may or may not have had, Alvina said, "He's been a good husband."

"We learned to take things as they come, and it helped," Marion said.

That lesson has served them well over the years. They both grew up taking care of their siblings. Alvina's mother died when Alvina was a junior in high school. She kept house for her father and younger siblings while she was still in high school.

Marion's father died when Marion was young. Marion's mother eventually moved in with Marion and Alvina.

And Alvina has probably heard all of Marion's family stories since that time. Marion's mother used to tell family stories and now Marion has taken over that role.

"He's such a storyteller," said Alvina. "Other people come here [and Marion tells stories], but I've heard them for 70 years." She added that sometimes she could choke him after hearing his stories.

As a man who has known her for over 70 years and lived with her for most of that time, Marion said, "She's not really dangerous."

Area children were given the opportunity to meet "Cooper," Gold'n Plump's chicken mascot, at Hugo's on Wednesday. The stop at Hugo's was part of Gold'n Plump's tour of grocery stores and family oriented events throughout Minnesota.

that it's for public use and not for economic development to increase tax base."

Another Marshall County commissioner, Sharon Bring, said, "We basically looked at it as a concern that we didn't want people to be able to take land in mass doses."

Bring noted that eminent domain is a difficult issue. She hopes the resolution will discourage the condemnation of large portions of land, but admitted that there are situations when it is necessary. Using highway construction as an example, Bring noted that eminent domain is necessary for governments to obtain land for improvements, when right-of-way purchases were successful with all but one or two land owners, who are "holding out" for twice what was offered and accepted by others.

Residents' reaction to resolution

While the use of eminent domain to take private land for use in public projects remains rare in rural areas, like northwest Minnesota, there is a recent instance in Marshall County that has greatly upset some residents.

In 2000, the Middle-Snake-Tamarac-Rivers Watershed District (MTSRWD) introduced plans for the modern version of the Agassiz Valley Water Resource Project. It is described as a multi purpose project that combines flood control and environmental enhancement features in the Snake River sub-basin of the Red River basin. Unlike previous plans that encompassed between 300 and 600 acres, the current project occupies 2,600 acres of land in Marshall and Polk counties.

A May 9, 2002 letter describing the land acquisition process for the Agassiz Valley Water Resource Project, was submitted to The Times/Northern Watch, by Marshall County resident Jim Stengrim. Written as an update to the project's status by Ronald J. Adrian, MTSRWD engineer, the letter was sent to Department of Natural Resources Flood Damage Work Group Facilitator Don Buckout and Flood Damage Work Group co-chairs, Don Ogaar and Paul Swenson.

Stated in the progress letter, "The hearing is being conducted under the 'Watershed Act.' This procedure is being used in lieu of voluntary acquisition or eminent domain proceedings and is in reality a form of eminent domain. One of the expected outcomes of this hearing is that the (MTSRWD) Board of Managers will order the damages paid for the lands required for the project and the district will own the required properties."

Represented by attorney Eric A. Bartsch of the law firm Lindquist and Vennum, Stengrim and other owners of land condemned for the project are currently involved in litigation over the legality of the MTSRWD's use of eminent domain to obtain land for the Aggasiz Valley Water Management Project.

Stengrim, who noted that eminent domain was not used as a last resort when the MTSRWD attempted to acquire land for the Agassiz Valley Project, said he is pleased with the Marshall County Board's resolution, but doesn't feel that it has much strength.

"My feeling is that it's great, but what are they going to do to enforce it?" Stengrim said.

Noting that the resolution may encourage the state to redefine acceptable use of eminent domain, which may eliminate or significantly alter the practice of eminent domain, he added, "Don't ask someone else to do something that you won't do yourself."

Another area resident, Elden Elseth, Warren, is not a directly affected landowner, but describes himself as a concerned resident who may be affected by the project if it were completed. He too feels that the resolution is great, but limited.

"My wish is that they would be consistent with what they are doing and the resolutions they've approved in the past," Elseth said.

"I'm not against flood projects, per se, my concern is that things are done properly and people are treated fairly," Elseth said. "Condemnation should only be used as a last resort."

Both Larson and Bring said the MTSRWD Board and its Agassiz Valley Water Resource Project were not considered when introducing and approving the eminent domain resolution.

Calcium-rich foods can help women prevent bone loss

Researchers at Purdue University found that, in active women using oral contraceptives, consuming dairy products containing at least 1,000 milligrams per day of calcium prevented hip and spine bone loss associated with oral contraceptive use. The study was published in the July 5 edition of the Journal of Clinical Endocrinology and Metabolism.

It's estimated that 80 percent of women have used oral contraceptives, but taking the birth-control pill may prevent young women from reaching peak bone mass and increase their risk of osteoporosis later in life.

In the year-long study, 154 women ages 18 to 30 were randomly placed in one of three diet intervention groups: control (less than 800 milligrams of calcium per day), medium dairy (1,000 to 1,100 milligrams of calcium per day) and high dairy (1,200 to 1,300 milligrams of calcium per day). In all three diet groups, oral contraceptive users were compared to non-users. Bone mineral density measurements and three-day food records were collected periodically throughout the year.

At the end of the year, women using oral contraceptives and following the medium or high dairy diet had significantly higher bone mineral density in their hips and spines, compared to the low dairy group. Oral contraceptive users consuming low calcium diets were more susceptible to bone loss than non-users.

"The results of our study suggest it is very important that young women taking oral contraceptives get the recommended level of calcium – 1,000 milligrams – in order to optimize the development of bone," said Dorothy Teegarden, Ph.D., associate professor of foods and nutrition at Purdue.

The authors note that women using oral contraceptives could reduce their risk of osteoporosis by approximately 3 to 10 percent over one year by consuming adequate dairy foods.

Keep using E85... We'll grow more!

Hallock - With gas prices rising almost everyday, people are looking for a less expensive alternative fuel source. It just so happens that people will be able to find one right here in Kittson County.

This new fuel is E85, a popular fuel choice among those with flexible fuel vehicles (FFVs).

E85 fuel is a blend of 85 percent ethanol and 15 percent petroleum that is designed for use in FFVs. Ethanol can be made from virtually any starch feedstock, such as sugarcane, wheat or milo. Today, U.S. ethanol is produced mainly from corn, an abundant and renewable source.

One of the more favorable benefits to the average consumer is E85 is typically priced lower than gasoline.

Minnesota has led America in using ethanol-blended gasoline, a plus for local growers. - Kittson County Enterprise, Aug. 17, 2005

W/A/O Board OKs repairs to track at cost of $137,931

Warren - Rehabilitation of the athletic track at Warren/Alvarado/Oslo High School, at a bid price of $137,931, was approved by the W/A/O School Board at its meeting Aug. 8. In last week's discussion of the repairs and maintenance of the track, board members expressed concern about the high dollar outlay for the project, but, in the end, voted 3-1 to accept the sole bid submitted for the work. - Warren Sheaf, Aug. 17, 2005

Fiddling sensation Sierra Noble to head Chautauqua event

Red Lake Falls - Sierra Noble is known in the métis community as the 14-year-old fiddling sensation.

Noble will be the featured performer at the Association of the French of the North's celebration Saturday, Aug. 27 at Old Crossing Treaty Park. A light lunch, prepared by John St. Marie, will be served from 1 to 4 p.m.

Along with Noble's performance Aug. 27 will be two speakers. Professor Virgil Benoit of the University of North Dakota, Grand Forks, will interview Dick Dubord, Ph.D., retired professor, social worker and speaker.

Author Jim Dale Vickery will report on his trip to Batoche with the Manitoban Red River Métis Heritage Group, "Riding with the Métis." - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Aug. 17, 2005, by Carol Kankel

Fosston resident skydives for a cause

Fosston - As a nurse at MeritCare in Bemidji, Pam Larsen of Fosston has dedicated her life to helping others, but on Aug. 6, Pam took helping others to a whole new level. Pam, along with two coworkers, Dee LaDuke of Bagley and Erin Lowe of Bemidji, traveled to Fargo, N.D., and made a stand against sexual assault by skydiving 10,000 feet.

The two-mile high jump was for Operation Freefall, "the boldest, highest-altitude and most daring event organized to put an end to sexual assault." Each of the women raised $500 for the cause. - The 13 Towns of Fosston, Aug. 16, 2005

Three people were injured Thursday afternoon after a three-vehicle accident along Highway 59. All three people had minor injuries and were treated and released from Northwest Medical Center, according to the Minnesota State Patrol report. They included passenger Shentel Peige Megner, 18, Newfolden; driver William Browne Temple, 72, Lake Bluff, Ill., and passenger Jenice Buren Temple, 67. At the time of the accident, Kelsey Lynn Weleski, 17, Viking, was driving a 2001 Chevy Malibu northbound on Highway 59. She turned left into the path of William Temple, who was driving a 2002 Dodge van southbound on Highway 59. The force of the accident then caused the Temple vehicle to strike a 1996 Ford Taurus station wagon driven by Bhuvene Ganepethi, 52, Thief River Falls. Ganapethi was stopped at the stop sign and waiting to turn onto Highway 59. The Weleski and Temple vehicles sustained extensive damage. The Genepethi vehicle sustained an unknown amount of damage. The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 4:32 p.m. Thursday.

Plans progress for AmericInn

Construction of TRF hotel to begin this fall. Opening planned for 2006

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Plans are progressing for an AmericInn in Thief River Falls.

It is anticipated that construction will start on the hotel in late fall, said John Seibert, president of JCS Development in the Twin Cities and a partner in the Thief River Falls AmericInn. He expected that the hotel will be open in spring 2006.

"We're trying to move it from the back burner to the front burner," Seibert said about plans for the hotel.

The hotel will be built southeast of The Lantern, along Highway 59 Southeast, on property owned by Bill Morrow. The property is zoned commercial. Creating 15 to 20 jobs, the AmericInn will have a meeting room, pool and whirlpool. It will also have some suites geared toward corporate travelers. Some suites will also have fireplaces and whirlpools.

The AmericInn will be owned by Seibert, Morrow, and Morrow's son Dave. Bill Morrow is the primary investor. The three men are from the Minneapolis/St. Paul area. They may add a local investor.

Plans have been in the works for the past two years for a Thief River Falls AmericInn, but it was first announced in March that construction would begin later this year. With the state of the economy and Wal-Mart building a store in Thief River Falls, Seibert noted that now seemed to be the right time to build.

Local Minnesota Guard members to be deployed

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Many local residents will again say "so long" to their loved ones as area Minnesota National Guard soldiers will be deployed later this year. This time, the soldiers are being deployed to southwest Asia, which could potentially include Iraq.

"We'll get through it like we did before," said Thief River Falls resident Shannon Olson, whose son, David, is among those who will be deployed.

The soldiers who are in Co. B (Detachment 1) 2nd Battalion 136th Infantry in Thief River Falls recently received word that they would be deployed. As of this time, it is expected the deployment will be 18 months.

The soldiers are among the more than 2,600 Minnesota National Guard members who will be part of the deployment. The deployment is the Minnesota National Guard's largest overseas deployment since World War II. It has not been determined how many local Guard members will be part of the deployment.

"They will be supporting Operation Iraqi Freedom," said Pfc. Joe Roos with the public affairs office of the Minnesota National Guard. He added that they will be sent to southwest Asia, but the specific country has not yet been determined. Southwest Asia includes countries near the Persian Gulf. Iraq is located in that region.

Minnesota Guard members will depart the state in phases. The first group will leave Sept. 6 for training in Camp Shelby, Miss., Roos said. The soldiers will have six months of training. That training will include some time in Fort Polk, La.

Guard families have been briefed about the deployment. Olson said that the local soldiers will leave the first weekend of October for training.

It is expected that the soldiers will be in southwest Asia for a year, Roos said.

The local Guard members are part of the First Brigade Combat Team, which includes approximately 4,000 soldiers from Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, New Jersey and Utah. Some of those soldiers have already received their mobilization orders. Others will receive theirs within the next few weeks.

"Of course, we're all apprehensive," said Olson, who noted she was feeling good because the soldiers will be staying stateside for six months before they are sent overseas. During that time, she said, things may settle down in Iraq.

Yet that doesn't mean it won't be a hard time for families affected by the deployment. "It's going to be a long haul," Olson said.

The deployment has already affected Olson's family. Her daughter is getting married in November, and Olson made sure her son requested leave for the wedding even before he received his mobilization orders. As Olson said, she wanted family pictures with the entire family, and, with Iraq possibly in her son's future, there are no guarantees.

The deployment will be the unit's second in recent years. In September 2003, the unit was deployed to Bosnia and Herzegovina. It returned home seven months later in April 2004.

R.L. Watershed District gets project grants

The Minnesota Board of Water and Soil Resources has awarded $1 million in grants to local governments across the state for 35 conservation and natural resources projects and activities.

Included in those projects are two Red Lake Watershed District (RLWD) projects. One of those projects is RLWD Flood Reduction Project 60, which received a $50,000 grant. This project will include implementing Phase 1 of the Grand Marais Creek Subwatershed Project 60, which includes the construction of two impoundment sites in Polk County. During the summer of 2003, Gov. Tim Pawlenty announced his vision for a Clean Water Initiative and selected this project as a pilot project because this area faces challenges with flooding. This project builds off of the flood damage efforts that are an outgrowth of a mediation agreement reached between the state and local governments in the Red River Valley.

The other local project receiving a grant was the RLWD Ditch System Inventory and Mapping Project. Receiving a $25,000 grant, this project will develop a comprehensive Global Imaging System (GIS) based inventory of the large network of public drainage systems within the RLWD. It will convert historic hard-copy ditch information to a GIS-based system. This information will be used to increase the efficiency of water management throughout the large area covered by the RLWD.

The grants are competitive challenge grants provided through the state's Local Water Resources Protection and Management Program, which helps counties, watershed districts and watershed management organizations carry out priorities identified in county or watershed comprehensive local water plans. Local governments provide matching dollars for the projects.

Middle River Fire Dept. to receive new fire truck

Congressman Collin Peterson (D-MN) has announced that the city of Middle River has been awarded a $228,532 vehicle acquisition grant from the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's Assistance to Firefighters Grant Program (AFGP).

"These grant awards are crucial to our smaller fire departments that are in need of a new vehicle," said Peterson. "The fire department and their volunteers who cover the Middle River area are a vital part of the public safety. Area residents are fortunate to have a strong department in place."

The AFGP awards one-year grants directly to fire departments to support local firefighters and the services they deliver. For the 2005 program, Congress appropriated $650 million in direct assistance to firefighters to improve their effectiveness and to establish or expand fire prevention programs throughout the United States.

Applicants have to demonstrate financial need and articulate the benefits to be derived from the grant funds.

Legal quagmire ensnares former area man

▼ Rick Ness (seated), who grew up northeast of Holt, is in a legal quandary in Indonesia. The company for which he is employed, Newmont Mining Corporation, is accused of polluting a bay. As president director of Newmont's subsidiary in Indonesia, he is being forced to take part in the trial. The maximum penalty for the charges are 15 years in prison. Former Area man faces trial in Indonesia

Company's trial puts Rick Ness in the hot seat

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

A former local man is stuck in a legal quagmire in Indonesia. The company for which he is employed is on trial, and as its president director, he is part of the trial.

Rick Ness, who grew up northeast of Holt, is employed by Newmont Mining Corporation. Newmont, headquartered in Denver, is accused of polluting Buyat Bay in Indonesia.

The company is accused of "putting stuff into the bay without a permit," said Rick Kornfeld, Newmont's U.S.-based attorney. He added that the company is also accused of violating that same permit that the Indonesian government claims Newmont did not have.

Technically speaking, Ness is not on trial. However, as the president director of Newmont's subsidiary in Indonesia, he is forced to take part in the trial that began Aug. 5.

The maximum penalty for the offense is 15 years in prison. The indictment does not allege that Ness' actions or lack of actions caused the bay to be polluted, Kornfeld said. However, the police and prosecution claimed they needed to indict Ness. Ness' Indonesian lawyers disagreed.

On Aug. 5, the indictment was read into the record, and Ness and the company were able to make general statements, Kornfeld said. That is unlike the U.S., where that part would be covered before a trial actually began.

A hearing was expected to be held Friday about legal criticisms the defense has raised about the indictment, and the prosecution then had the right to respond, Kornfeld said. Those criticisms are similar to motions made by the defense during pre-trial hearings here in the U.S.

Another hearing is scheduled Sept. 9 during which time the judges are expected to make their ruling about the motions, Kornfeld said. At that time, the prosecution may have to "clean-up" the indictment, or the judges may reject the defense's motions and schedule witnesses' testimony.

In Indonesia, trials are typically held two days a week, Kornfeld said. The trial day lasts two hours in the morning and two hours in the afternoon.

With this case, however, it will be held one day per week. The trial had to be moved to the Governor's Office Complex for security reasons. As a result, the trial can only be held one day a week – when the governor is not working.

Five judges are hearing the case. If one of the judges is unable to attend a particular day of testimony, the trial may be further delayed.

Using the best case scenario, Kornfeld anticipated it may be several months before the trial reaches a conclusion. "If that happens, we expect [the trial] will take four to six months," he said.

The Impact

The Indonesian government has placed a travel ban on Ness. As a result, he was unable to leave the country to attend his

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Yummy things to eat these bountiful days of summer - and school is nearly upon us, too.

There's fresh corn in abundance now. Use some to make a spicy addition to your meal. The fritters are great with chicken, steak or any other grilled meat too:

PEPPER CORN FRITTERS

1 1/4 cups fresh or frozen corn (thawed)
1 cup finely chopped sweet red pepper
1 cup finely chopped green onions
1 1/4 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon cumin
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk
2 to 4 tablespoons oil

In bowl, combine corn, red pepper and onions and set aside. In another bowl, combine flour, baking powder, cumin, salt and pepper and stir into corn mixture. Gradually add milk, stirring until blended.

In skillet heat 2 tablespoons oil. Drop batter by 1/4 cupful into hot oil. Cook for 2 minutes on each side or until golden brown. Repeat with remaining batter, adding more oil as needed. Makes 13-14 fritters.

Those fritters would also taste good with this full-bodied supper soup, which has nutritional information for you too:

LENTIL BARLEY SOUP

1 medium onion, chopped
3/4 cup thinly sliced celery
2 clove garlic, minced
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 quarts water
1 (28 ounce) can diced tomatoes, undrained
1 (1.7 ounce) package vegetable soup mix
3/4 cup dry lentils
3/4 cup medium pearl barley
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 medium carrots, thinly sliced
1/2 cup reduced fat, shredded Swiss cheese, if desired

In large kettle, sauté onion, celery and garlic in butter or margarine until tender. Add water, tomatoes, soup mix, lentils, barley and pepper. Cover, reduce heat and simmer 20-25 minutes until carrots are tender. Ladle into bowls and garnish with cheese, if desired. Recipe makes 3 quarts, 12 (1 cup) servings.

Nutritional info: 1 cup (prepared with margarine and without cheese) equals 125 calories, 405 mg sodium, trace chol, 23 gm carb, 5 gm protein, 1 gm fat. Diabetic Exchange is 1 1/2 starch and 1 vegetable.

Want an easy cookie for the kids after school or that neighborhood get-together? Try this one:

BUTTERSCOTCH PECAN COOKIES

1 (18 1/4 ounce) package butter recipe cake mix
1 (3.4 ounce) package instant butterscotch pudding mix
1/4 cup flour
3/4 cup oil
1 egg
1 cup chopped pecans

Combine cake mix, pudding mix, flour, oil and egg, mixing well. Add pecans. Dough will be crumbly. Roll tablespoonfuls into balls and place 2 inches apart on greased baking sheets. Bake at 350 degrees for 10-12 minutes until golden brown. Cool 2 minutes on sheet before removing to racks. Recipe makes 4 dozen cookies.

Here's another after school treat that you can make in a hurry:

CRISPY FUDGE TREATS

6 cups crisp rice cereal
3/4 cup powdered sugar
1 3/4 cups chocolate chips
1/2 cup corn syrup
1/3 cup butter or margarine
2 teaspoons vanilla

Combine cereal and sugar in large bowl and set aside.

Place chocolate chips, syrup and butter in micro-safe dish. Microwave, uncovered, about 1 minute. Stir gently until smooth. Stir in vanilla and then pour over cereal and sugar in bowl. Mix well.

Place in greased 9x13 inch pan and refrigerate for 30 minutes. Cut into squares. Store in refrigerator. Makes about 3 dozen bars.

Pennington SWCD to hold work-group session

Over the next three months, Soil and Water Conservation Districts (SWCDs) across Minnesota will hold local work-group sessions and related meetings to gather public input on priorities for spending Minnesota's 2006 Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP) funds.

The Pennington SWCD will host its work-group session at 1 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 30 at its Service Center, 201 Sherwood Ave. S., Thief River Falls.

This year, Minnesota has spent $25.5 million in EQIP funds on a wide range of conservation projects on farming operations.

Local work groups consist of designated representatives, including Farm Service Agency County Committee members. In some counties, the local work-group meeting simultaneously serves as a public input meeting in which anyone may participate. In other counties, the group meets before or after a separate public input meeting that is often held the same day.

Minnesota Department of Agriculture Commissioner Gene Hugoson urges producers to participate in these important sessions.

"Although Minnesota's allocation of funds is still unknown, the local input from producers is vital for identifying and setting priorities for conservation work," Hugoson said.

Local work groups are a hallmark of the locally led approach to conservation that the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) adopted following passage of the 2002 Farm Bill. Under the locally-led approach, input from local work groups helps NRCS decide certain factors to be used in scoring EQIP applications. Results of the previous local work group process are posted on the Minnesota NRCS Web site at www.mn.nrcs.usda.gov/programs/eqip/eqip2005.html.

"Old mill wheel" will be grinding Aug. 28

The sound of a granite mill wheel will fill the air Sunday, Aug. 28 at Old Mill State Park in Marshall County.

The park, located between Newfolden and Argyle, will host Grinding Day when visitors can tour the park, see how wheat is ground into flour, participate in games, enjoy some refreshments and hear the old whistle blow at the historic Larson Mill in the park. From 1 to 4 p.m., volunteers will demonstrate the workings of the mill and how grain is ground into flour. Visitors will be able to sample fresh wheat bread and homemade jam thanks to the Friends of Old Mill State Park. Face painting, scavenger hunts and other old-fashioned pioneer games are planned for kids.

It was the Lars Larson family who homesteaded this area and built the mill that is the center of attention for this annual event. An actor portraying Lars Larson Jr. will greet visitors to the Larson cabin at the mill site and talk about his start in the new world. Visitors will be invited to step inside the settler's cabin to see what life was like in the late 1800s. Visitors also can take a guided nature hike out to the 120-year-old Scotch pines that were planted by Lars Larson Sr. between 1882 and 1884.

At the mill, Marshall County Historical Society volunteers will fire up the Case 359 steam engine, one of the few operational examples of its kind in the U.S., and start turning the granite millstones.

Visitors are invited to bring a picnic lunch to enjoy in the park or purchase food and refreshments from the Viking Volcanoes 4-H Club. Event visitors should park in the picnic area parking lot. Tentatively, the park plans to have horse-drawn wagons to bring people to the mill.

All programs are free and open to the public. However, a Minnesota State Park vehicle permit is required to enter the park. The cost for an annual vehicle permit is $25, and the cost for a day-visitor vehicle permit is $7. Permits can be purchased at the park office. For more information, call the park at (218) 437-8174.

Highway 89 overlay project to begin

The Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) is alerting the public to the start of a bituminous overlay project on an eight-mile stretch of Highway 89 from the Marshall/Roseau county-line to Wannaska, beginning Saturday, Aug. 20 (today).

"Shoulder grading and milling will begin Saturday, with paving scheduled to start on Monday, August 22," said Shawn Groven, Mn/DOT project engineer. "The project will cause some short-term delays as traffic will be guided through the work zone by a pilot car alternating the use of one lane."

Groven estimates the work to be complete by Sept. 2 depending on weather conditions.

Applications sought for livestock equip. loan program

The Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA) Rural Finance Authority (RFA) is now accepting applications for the Livestock Equipment Pilot Loan Program (LEPLP). The application process began Monday.

With preference given to applicants who have farmed less than 10 years, the pilot program will allow livestock producers to tap into existing RFA funds to help finance livestock equipment purchases. An applicant must be a Minnesota resident or an entity qualified under the corporate farm law. The applicant must also be the principal operator of a livestock farm.

MDA Assistant Commissioner Jim Boerboom said the equipment loans are modeled after existing participation loan programs.

"Producers are encouraged to initiate a loan application with their local agricultural lender," said Boerboom. "We are using existing resources to fund approximately 25 to 30 loans for eligible livestock producers."

The RFA will purchase 45 percent of the qualifying loan up to $40,000 with loans amortized up to seven years. Loans can be written for equipment for animal housing, feeding, milk production and waste management. The pilot loan program is not intended for refinancing purposes.

The LEPLP is one of the many financing tools administered by the RFA. The interest rate on the pilot program is not to exceed 3 percent with a payment option of interest only for the first two years of the loan.

For more information about the pilot loan program, contact the MDA's Gary Blahosky at 651-296-4985.

Third Annual Northern Minnesota Pintabian Show Aug. 27 in Roseau

The third annual Northern Minnesota Pintabian Show and Exposition is scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 27 at the Roseau Country Fairgrounds, Roseau.

The show will start at 9 a.m. and will include classes for Pintabians, Half Arabians and Arabians, in Halter, Western Pleasure, English and Games. There will be high point awards for each division and prizes for the high point 4-H horse and rider. Spectators are welcome.

Pintabians

The Northern Pintabian Futurity was developed in 2004. Any Pintabian or purebred Arabian stallion may be nominated. The stallion owner donates a breeding each year which is sold at the auction at the Roseau show. When the out-coming foal is a yearling, it may compete in a futurity halter class. All monies collected from the auction are put into a purse which will be dispersed between the winners. There are currently 13 Pintabian stallions entered.

A Pintabian (pin-tay-bee-an) is a horse with over 99 percent Arabian blood and tobiano markings, the result of crossing a 100 percent Arabian parent with a 99.21875 percent Arabian parent that includes the tobiano (toe-bee-ah-no) gene. All Pintabians carry the dominant tobiano gene, which produces a non-symmetrical pattern of large, irregular spots.

The well-defined spots cover the body randomly but cross the topline at some point between the ears and tail. The head is usually colored with white markings (such as star, strip, blaze, snip, etc.) common to those of non-spotted horses.

All four legs are generally white. All tobianos are unique and can range from a largely white horse to that with very little white; the ideal being that which is 50 percent colored and 50 percent white.

How the breed developed

Tobiano is a dominant spotting pattern, but to produce this type of horse, at least one parent must be a tobiano. Pintabians were developed by continually crossing tobianos back to purebred Arabians, until a relatively pure strain of spotted horses with nearly 100 percent Arabian blood was obtained.

Pintabians have a distinctive appearance which includes a head with a "dished" face and large, wide-set eyes. The neck is arched, the back short and strong, the hip relatively level, and the tail carriage high. They generally stand between 14.2 and 15.2 hands and weigh between 900 and 1,100 pounds.

The Northern Minnesota Pintabian Show and Exposition is sponsored by the Northern Minnesota Pintabian Breeders Inc. To obtain a show bill, contact Marlene Holte at 218-459-3367 or Kelli Hewitt at 218-762-6881 or email jhewitt@wiktel.com.

Visit www.pintabians.org for more information about the show. A free information packet about Pintabians can be obtained by calling 218-436-SPOT or by writing the Pintabian Horse Registry, Inc., P.O. Box 360, Karlstad, MN 56732.

Arctic Cat Race School set for October 29

The 14th Annual Arctic Cat Race School will be on Saturday, Oct. 29, at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls.

During the event, Arctic Cat race legend, and factory Arctic snowmobile engineer, Kirk Hibbert, along with his development team, will host various seminars for the 2006 440 Sno Pro and Factory Mod race sleds. This is an excellent opportunity to learn how to utilize the latest Arctic Cat set-up and technology advances, and to win race after race. All seminar times and locations will be announced during the morning welcome reception.

During the event, Arctic Cat will unveil its latest 440 Sno Pro. The 2006 Arctic Cat Sno Pro will outpace the competition with unmatched power-to-weight ratio in a chassis that will provide better cornering and suspension capabilities than any other race sled.

The Arctic Cat Race School is free of charge, but prospective participants are encouraged to pre-register by mailing in a registration, or by simply e-mailing dhaugen@arcticcatinc.com.

For those who indicated on the 2006 Sno Pro order forms that they will be picking up their stock and mod snowmobiles after the race school seminars conclude, there will be additional information, along with the pick-up forms given out at the race school.

Tours of Arctic Cat will be available throughout Friday, Oct. 28. Please enter through the main entrance of the factory and register at the front desk or call 218-681-8558 for more information and times.

A legacy lives on through Roseau Area Hospital & Homes Fund

Portions of this article are reprinted with permission from Mayo Magazine.

Maggi Adams

Almost three years ago, Maggi Adams' estate was bequeathed to the Roseau Area Hospital District and the Mayo Clinic. The Roseau Area Hospital District received over $500,000 designated for medical equipment, along with pieces of her original artwork.

With the money, a new diagnostic imaging system was purchased with some of the funds in 2004. This system is on the cutting-edge of technology in radiology, upgrading from the traditional film system to a digital image system. Very few rural hospitals are able to afford to purchase such a system. Maggi's generous gift made it possible for Roseau Area Hospital & Homes (RAHH) to be one of those few.

Last month, the Roseau Hospital District Board established a special endowment fund with $235,000 of Maggi's bequest for a Medical Equipment Fund, a restricted fund of RAHH Health Care Fund. This restricted fund provides direct financial support for medical equipment.

Fund Advisory Committee Chairperson Roger Helgeson believes that Maggi would be pleased with the decision to endow the remainder of her gift. "Our health facilities will be able to purchase and upgrade equipment well into the future, using only the earnings from this generous gift," he said. "We could not be more grateful to have received this gift, which will jumpstart the newly established fund."

Maggi was a woman with a passion for culture, art, books and nature. She was the daughter of Dr. David Knox Caldwell, a prominent St. Paul physician, and Mable Grace (McCluer) Caldwell, a homemaker. Her parents encouraged education and her love for books. This enthusiasm for reading and thirst for knowledge continued throughout her lifetime. She became a journalist, and met her future husband, Bill, while living in Rome.

Maggi and her husband, Bill, lived in Roseau for several years. Bill was editor-publisher of the Roseau Times Region, and Maggi wrote many feature stories and enjoyed painting after work.

After their retirement in 1983, Maggi began working on a children's book, now titled "Iggam's Dreams." Iggam, which is "Maggi" backward and the nickname her father gave her as a child, was the main character in the stories and was a reflection of the young Maggi. In 1997, Bill lost his battle with a lingering illness, and exactly five years after Bill's burial, Maggi passed away. Her book remained unfinished. In an effort to accomplish Maggi's dream of publishing a children's book, her friends compiled the stories and accompanying art and helped transfer them to the Roseau Area Friends of the Library/Writers' Workshop for publication.

Maggi left a legacy of art and stories to her community and a large will bequest to Mayo Clinic and RAHH. "Her generosity reflected the gratitude she felt for the quality of medical care her husband received from Mayo Clinic and Roseau Area Hospital," said Patrick Moren, friend of Maggi's for more than 30 years and executor of her estate.

The RAHH Health Care Fund was formed in December 2004 to provide financial support for health care related charitable and educational activities, projects or services. The fund will enhance the health care services provided in the Roseau County area. Those wishing to make memorials or gifts can designate them to support special projects like the medical equipment fund, hospice, nursing homes, or other general regional health care concerns. The funds are invested and administered by the Northwest Minnesota Foundation.

If interested in donating to the Health Care Fund, contact Milly Prachar, (218) 463-4311, or Deb Haugen, (218) 463-4314, at RAHH.

Senator LeRoy Stumpf Legislative Report

While the special session and partial government shutdown were frustrating, they were a lesson in democracy and proof legislators listened to the people they serve. I worked with colleagues from both parties to pass important legislation, and I remain committed to working for the public good and breaking down partisan barriers.

Now with the 2005 regular and special sessions behind us, here are some of the highlights:

What we achieved!

Education Funding

For the first time in three years, we are giving our schools a modest increase in funding. In our area, this will help offset the loss of funding due to declining numbers of students. Education is still our best investment in the future.

Health Care

The Senate Democrats fought hard to protect the MinnesotaCare health insurance program for working Minnesotans that the Governor proposed to dismantle -- 28,000 to 30,000 working families and farmers in northwestern Minnesota are premium-paying members in this program.

ATV Use

After some hard battles, the Legislature opened the state forests north of U.S. Highway 2 for ATV use.

Bonding

The Legislature passed a bonding bill that included funding that was extremely important to projects in northwestern Minnesota -- projects like rebuilding our communities from flooding disasters and funding of the Conservation Reserve Enhancement Program (CREP). The bill also includes $108 million to the U of M, and $156 million for MnSCU sfor classroom and facility construction, upkeep and renovation on campuses throughout Minnesota.

What wasn't achieved

Transportation

We were not able to convince the Governor to sign a transportation bill the Legislature passed (the Governor vetoed it). Now, many highway projects in northwestern Minnesota may be in jeopardy.

Arctic Cat's decision presents difficult questions

Behind the scenes, Thief River Falls city and business leaders worked hard to convince Arctic Cat to focus its expansion efforts in Thief River Falls. Last week, however, Arctic Cat announced its decision: It will build an all-terrain vehicle manufacturing facility neur St. Cloud.

For many residents and business leaders who were around for the tough years of the early 1980s, the announcement probably took their breath away. They remember the day Arctic Cat folded, and the effect that had on the community. That experience should remind us to ask what will be the future of Thief River Falls if the trends that led to Arctic Cat's decision begin to affect other local companies.

The Aug. 11 news release gives us a hint at what some of those trends and concerns might be. Arctic Cat CEO Chris Twomey said, "St. Cloud became the logical choice to expand its operations due to its Upper Midwest location, convenient access to major suppliers and well-educated workforce."

Without delving into what that statement "means" or speculating on whether that spells spin-off, it says they moved because of location, access to suppliers (maybe a transportation issue or two there), and ouch, the need for a well-educated workforce. Giving Arctic the benefit of the doubt, I suppose that could be a supply issue, too.

Enough. Rather than focus on the negative, let's focus on what needs to be done. Anyway, the bottom line is that Arctic Cat is not leaving the community, and this move may help it continue to prosper, and we want Arctic Cat to prosper. We want all of our businesses to prosper. So how can we respond in a wuy that makes it possible for our businesses and the community to prosper?

Change is constant. How many of you, who lived through the failure of Arctic Cat, would have predicted the success it is experiencing today? To recognize that change is a constant is the first step to answering how Thief River Falls can respond.

Community leaders in Thief River Falls should focus on the reasons why Arctic Cat decided to build in St. Cloud rather than expand in Thief River Falls. They need to develop a business plan or response that might be able to convince business owners considering a similar move not to move, but expand in Thief River Falls. They need to ask what can Thief River Falls offer to help business compete in today's worldwide competitive marketplace? They need to ask what can Thief River Falls offer to help attract and retain its best and brightest, or do to encourage them to return to their hometown?

The answers to these questions will be difficult to find. And, they will need help from you, too. Community leaders will need our ideas, insights and help as the community attempts to address these new questions and challenges.

It is clear that we will need to work hard to identify and take advantage of changes that loom on the horizon. From past experience, I am convinced that we can change, and that we can succeed.

We hope for the continued success of Arctic Cat because its success or failure affects so many in this community. Even though this community's economic base has undergone a significant diversification during the past 20 years, Arctic Cat's employment of roughly 1,500 in a community of 8,500 remains significant in the overall economic success of this community…and region. We hang on their words in the news release that "the company does not currently anticipate that its expansion in St. Cloud will affect employees at its Thief River Falls headquarters plant."

For Thief River Falls, Arctic Cat's decision is unfortunate in that more jobs - higher paying jobs, jobs that require a great deal of education - will benefit another community. Such jobs and personnel could have had a significant and positive influence on Thief River Falls. I have one question for state economic development leaders, who had a role in providing the incentives that made it possible for Arctic Cat to move: Is this the sort of economic development planned for and anticipated by the Job Opportunity Building Zone program?

Ultimately, the problems faced by Thief River Falls will be experienced by other communities in the region, too. So, it is in their best interest to learn from this community's experience.

Former Area man faces trial in Indonesia

18-month-old granddaughter's funeral.

"Of course, it has been hard on my family, especially when my granddaughter passed away suddenly, and I could not travel home to be with the family in a time of need," wrote Ness via e-mail in Indonesia.

Ness was not jailed in connection with the criminal case. "My father wasn't jailed, but he was brought in for questioning for 13 hours and was released due to health reasons," wrote his son Eric, a U.S. resident, in an e-mail from Turkey.

Some Newmont employees weren't as lucky. Five other Newmont employees spent more than a month in jail, Eric Ness noted.

"The good news is they are now free," Rick Ness said.

Despite that, the trial has been hard on Newmont employees. "The good news is that, as a group of employees, we are united," said Rick Ness. "We all wear a common pin everyday that shows solidarity for victory. These are fellow employees in Peru, Australia, Africa, Uzbekistan, Turkey, Canada, Mexico and the U.S.A."

Rick Ness, who attended high school in Newfolden and graduated in 1967, began working in Indonesia in 1979. He started working for Newmont in 1998. Rick Ness has spent the greater part of his life in that part of the world, he said. He; his wife, Nova; and one son live in Jakarta, the capital of Indonesia.

Rick Ness has traveled to Minnesota once or twice a year since he began living in Indonesia. Many of his relatives still live in this area. He and his wife still own a cabin in Angle Inlet.

Eric Ness last saw his father at Christmastime. "It was a really special time for us given that our family is spread out all over the world," he said. "I think that my dad was just happy to see all of us and just relax. I can't even remember the last time he got to take some time off."

History of the mine and the charges

Newmont operated the mine at Buyat Bay for about 10 years, Komfeld said. The mine was shut-down in August 2004 after it ran its course. Two months later, rock processing concluded at that mine.

The pollution allegations stem from North Sulawesi villagers who claimed they were affected by Minamata disease, a disease caused by mercury. However, Komfeld noted, the indictment does not indicate Minamata disease. Instead, he said, it lists "itchiness."

Various environmental groups, the World Health Organization, Australian and Japanese nonprofit organizations and the Ministry of Health in Indonesia determined there wasn't any pollution by Newmont, Komfeld said.

"What is interesting and has captured such high media attention in this case is that after a small group of people filed a civil lawsuit for approximately 500 million U.S. dollars, that same group also filed criminal charges – first claiming that pollution from mercury from our mine (a chemical that we do not use but found in the natural rocks in the area) caused death and sickness of the people," said Rick Ness. "Both the civil and criminal claims were withdrawn."

Yet, the case was given to the district attorney, who has proceeded to take the case to court.

"What has been the tragedy is that the local communities have been victimized as a result," said Rick Ness, who noted the villagers' "unfounded allegations" have meant that local fishermen have a hard time selling fish from that area even though fish from that location have been exported to foreign markets.

"The fish are fine," said Rick Ness. "In fact, they are some of the highest grades of fish in the world, but rumors can be damaging to the small fishing community and those involved in the fishing industry in the area."

Komfeld noted Ness and the company are "vigorously denying that anything criminal" happened.

Pvt. Joshua V. Johnson graduates from basic combat training

Army Pvt. Joshua V. Johnson has graduated from basic combat military training at Fort Sill, Lawton, Okla.

During the eight weeks of training, the soldier studied the Army mission and received instruction in drill and ceremonies, rifle marksmanship, weapons, map reading, tactics, armed and unarmed combat, military courtesy, military justice, physical fitness, first aid, Army history, core values and traditions, and special training in human relations.

He is the son of Gary and Carol Johnson of Hallock.

"Eighteen months is a whole lot longer than nine months," said Olson, who compared the time the unit spent in training and abroad for the Bosnia mission and what is expected for this next deployment. However, she noted that the community is good in supporting the Guard families during deployments.

For those families affected by the deployment, Guard Family Help at Home will again be in operation to help them out while the soldiers are overseas.

2006 NAP application deadline is Sept. 30

JoDell Poolman, Marshall County Farm Service Agency (FSA) executive director, reminds producers that the application deadline to file for the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) coverage of forages and grasses (alfalfa, canary seed, timothy, etc.) is Friday, Sept. 30.

"The NAP program provides financial assistance to producers affected by natural disasters," said Poolman. "NAP coverage is available only for crops that cannot be covered under the Federal Crop Insurance Program."

To be eligible for assistance, producers must apply for coverage prior to the deadline. In the case of perennial crops, such as reed canary, timothy and canary seed, the application deadline is Sept. 30 of each year. And, according to Poolman, there is a nonrefundable service fee of $100 per crop per county or $300 per producer per county. The service fee cannot exceed $900 per producer for all counties. Limited resource producers may request a waiver of service fees.

The NAP application deadline closing dates are as follows:

- Sept. 1 for value loss crops of aquaculture, Christmas trees, ginseng, ornamental nursery and turf-grass seed; controlled environmental crops of floriculture and mushrooms; and fall-seeded annual crops of rye and winter wheat.
- Sept. 30 for perennial forage crops – grass/legume seed, including alfalfa forage, mixed forage and grass forage; wild rice; and selected fruits and vegetables, including asparagus, rhubarb and strawberries.

To receive a NAP payment, the natural disaster must have reduced the expected production of the covered crop by more than 50 percent. "Losses are generally determined by the percentage of loss compared to the producer's actual yield history," said Poolman. "Lost production eligible for payment is paid at 55 percent of the value of the crop."

She added, "Producers interested in getting coverage for their NAP crops should stop by the county office as soon as possible to complete an application for their 2006 crops."

To remain eligible for NAP assistance, producers must make annual crop and production reports to their county FSA offices.

Poolman encouraged Marshall County producers to contact the FSA Office by calling (218) 745-4251 for additional information or to obtain NAP coverage.

Johanns reminds producers of CDP sign-up deadline

U.S. Agriculture Secretary Mike Johanns has urged farmers and ranchers to sign-up for the Crop Disaster Program (CDP) in advance of the approaching deadline.

"This program has helped thousands of producers recover from the devastating effects of severe weather in counties that have received a presidential disaster declaration," said Johanns. "I encourage all eligible farmers and ranchers to enroll in this program now before the sign-up period closes in order to participate and receive this valuable assistance."

For the CDP 2003 and 2004, the sign-up deadline is Sept 9. The CDP provides assistance to producers who suffered 2003, 2004 or 2005 crop losses as a result of damaging weather or related conditions.

Nearly $2 billion has been paid to producers since sign-up began in mid-March 2005. Producers can receive disaster benefits for crop losses for only one of the 2003 or 2004 crop years.

The Farm Service Agency (FSA) has also made other programs available to assist farmers and ranchers, including Federal Crop Insurance, the Emergency Conservation Program, the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program and emergency loans.

FSA's Web site (http://disaster.fsa.usda.gov/) provides producers with one convenient location for details on new and existing disaster assistance.

Producers with questions on the 2003/2004 CDP should contact their local FSA offices.

Head coach Guy Finstrom looked on as offensive coordinator Sean Huset had his picture taken by athletics director Deb Jacobson during Thursday's annual photo session for the Northland Community and Technical College football team at Lowell T. Swenson Field. School, newspaper and photo studio personnel used the opportunity to snap individual and team shots of the 2005 Pioneers. Northland opened practice Aug. 12 in preparation for a season that starts with a Saturday, Sept. 3, game at Fergus Falls.

Fergus Falls, not Rochester, has the early-season attention of the football coaching staff at Northland Community and Technical College as they wrap up Week 1 drills.

Minnesota Community College Conference teams started practice Aug. 12. For the past five years, the Pioneers' preseason work was geared toward a first-game match-up with traditional MCCC Southern Division power Rochester. In 2005, however, the opener will be against the Spartans instead of the Yellowjackets.

And the setting will be different, too. The Pioneers and Spartans will meet in a Saturday, Sept. 3, game at Fergus Falls. Those Northland vs. Rochester match-ups all occurred during the MCCC Kickoff Classic that opened the season for the league at a neutral, one-site location – the first four years at the University of Minnesota-Duluth, and last year the the new Husky Stadium on the St. Cloud State University campus.

The Kickoff Classic will now be held on Week 2 at St. Cloud. The Northern vs. Southern Division match-ups will include a Sept. 10 Northland vs. Ridgewater contest.

The Pioneers will play at Central Lakes Sept. 17 and make their home debut Sept. 24 against Minnesota West to complete their four games against Southern Division foes. The 2005 schedule doesn't include Rochester, a team Northland beat just once in their five Game 1 meetings.

Northland's five-game Northern Division schedule will feature games Oct. 1 vs. Vermilion; Oct. 6 vs. Itasca; Oct. 13 at Rainy River; Oct. 20 vs. Mesabi Range; and Oct. 29 at Hibbing.

Guy Finstrom begins his fifth year as Northland head coach with a simple goal: improve upon last year's disappointing 1-8 record. The Pioneers were 5-5 and a state playoff qualifier during his inaugural season here in 2001 and went 9-3 with an MCCC championship game appearance and an invitation to the Graphic Edge Bowl at the University of Northern Iowa in 2002. But a 4-5 finish in 2003 and the one-victory campaign in 2004 kept them out of the playoffs the past two years.

Seventy-two players on the Pioneers' preseason roster includes just 11 returning sophomores.

Lack of playing time should not be a problem for members of the 2005 Northland Community and Technical College volleyball team. With just eight players reporting for the start of practice, there is little chance of anyone being buried on the bench this fall.

Chelsea Fering, a middle hitter from Red Lake Falls, and Kelli Rutherford, a setter from Fisher, are the only sophomores on the roster. Rutherford was a Minnesota Community College Conference Second Team All-Northern Division pick and an MCCC all-state tournament selection in 2004.

The five freshmen on hand include Kelli Jo Ste. Marie, an outside hitter from Red Lake Falls, Whitney Halvorson, a setter/hitter from Newfolden (Northern Freeze); LeAnn Haugen, an outside hitter from Fertile-Beltrami; and three players with Thief River Falls addresses: middle hitter Jamie Dahlen, along with outside hitters Jill Lappegard and Jasmin Barth.

Missy Majerus begins her second year as Northland head coach. Jackie Huschle returns as an assistant.

Northland went 19-12, overall, last fall, including a 7-5 record in the Northern Division and a 3-2 third place finish at the MCCC state tournament in Thief River Falls.

The Pioneers will start the year with a trip to Buffalo, N.Y., for a Sept. 3 tournament. The home opener will be Sept. 7, vs. Itasca

DNR QUESTIONS

Q: DNR foresters have uncovered an outbreak of jack pine budworm in a number of northern Minnesota counties. What is jack pine budworm and how does it impact these trees?

A: Travelers to northern Minnesota counties of Beltrami, Becker, Hubbard, Wadena, Cass and Crow Wing are noticing the impacts of jack pine budworms. These tiny green caterpillars feed on pollen cones and young jack pine foliage during the spring, which causes needles to turn from green to a reddish-orange color and fall off. In addition to jack pines, there has been an unprecedented budworm outbreak on red pine trees in the same counties. These outbreaks occur naturally on six-year cycles, and in any given location, they typically spend two years causing defoliation before disappearing for another six or more years. Budworms can cause top-kill and cause tree mortality when the trees are old or under stress from drought, over-crowding or root system damage. Bio-rational pesticide treatments can help protect individual trees or trees on small tracks of land when caterpillars begin feeding in the springtime. Larger tracts of forest are best managed by rotation age, thinning and, if need be, by salvage. September is the best time to determine the amount of damage done to trees when all of the reddish-orange needles have fallen.

TRF team to play in Class E tournament

Digi-Key Gold team in the Thief River Falls Men's Slow Pitch Softball League is headed to the ASA-USA Minnesota Sports Federation Class E state tournament Aug. 27-28 in Hoyt Lakes.

A 3-3 finish at the 29-team District 7 tournament Aug. 13-14 put Digi-Key Gold into position to accept a state tournament invitation.

Seeded No. 15 in the district field, Digi-Key Gold was guaranteed a top-six finish by starting the tournament with a 10-8 Saturday victory over a Mahnomen entry, an 8-4 Saturday afternoon win over Thief River Falls Arctic Cat/RV Sports and a 21-7 Sunday morning conquest of Thief River Falls' Kwik Strip II.

Three straight Sunday losses knocked Digi-Key Gold out of the state tournament, but with one of the qualifiers unable to make the trip, the Thief River Falls squad was offered the spot, and quickly accepted.

Members of the Digi-Key Gold team include manager James Hirst, Jonathan Pream, Jason Gums, Jeff Issendorf, Bill Puppe, Jake Anderson, Aaron Arlt, Dustin Arlt, Darin Marshik, Andy Brateng, Paul Burmeister, Casey Skjerven and Josh Jensen.

Other Thief River Falls Class E District 7 entries were Thief River Falls Chiropractic, Digi-Key Red and Mille Lite.

Area residents found ministry in retirement

by Keith O. Axvig
former publisher of the Gazette in Red Lake Falls

Keith and Linda Axvig, formerly of Red Lake Falls, are now co-founders of SONshine Ministries, a nondenominational ministry founded to work with Mexican pastors and help provide a better life, better education, better employment, better housing, and first and foremost, to help the Mexicans find salvation through Jesus Christ. (Submitted photo)

Keith and Linda Axvig, formerly of Red Lake Falls, have new jobs. Keith, the former publisher of the Red Lake Falls Gazette and the Volts and Jolts, and Linda, a housewife and artist, have now taken on responsibilities of a ministry called SONshine Ministries.

The Axvigs have always been active churchgoers but had no idea at the time of their retirement that they would someday be leading a ministry.

The Axvigs were members of the Evangelical Free Church in Thief River Falls. Linda was also an active member of the Christian Women's Organization of Thief River Falls.

The Axvigs, who live in the Brainerd Lakes Area during the summer and in Harlingen, Texas during the winter, moved from Red Lake Falls in 2001. In November of 2002 Keith retired from the newspaper business and the Axvigs headed for South Texas.

In the last ADK by KDA column Keith wrote for the Morrison County Record in Little Falls, he quoted someone who once said: "Life is our gift from the Lord. What we do with our life is our gift to the Lord."

In their retirement, the Axvigs really planned to golf and do all the other things that retired people do when they go south for the winter. However, they started working with a mission group that went into the poor areas of Mexico.

The Axvigs become more and more involved with working with the poor and with pastors in the dump grounds and squatter's camps. They were asked to take over the ministry after the first year. They declined and had several reasons for making that decision.

The second year they continued to work with the same mission group but also felt they wanted to work more directly with Mexican families and Mexican pastors. They started going into the Mexican dumpgrounds and Mexican squatter's camps of Matamoros, Reynosa and Rio Bravo themselves. Other Winter Texans started asking if they could ride to Mexico with them and also offered to help, bringing food and other items.

Everett and Arlette Kompelien, Thief River Falls, who also winter in Harlingen, Texas, have been on mission trips into Mexico with the Axvigs. Everett is the former president of Hartz Foods Company. Arlette is the former owner-operator of the Klothes Kloset in Thief River Falls.

The third year the Axvigs continued to go into Mexico, driving their own seven-passenger vehicle. They pulled a 5 x 8 trailer loaded with clothing and supplies from Minnesota. They started working with a pastor from Matamoros, a pastor who runs a soup kitchen in Matamoros, a pastor from Rio Bravo, and a pastor from Reynosa.

"What are you going to call your new ministry?" a friend from South Dakota asked. The Axvig's answer: "We are not starting a ministry."

Last winter, a couple from Brainerd, came to Harlingen to see what the Axvigs were doing in Mexico. They purchased 16 large packages of food to take to 16 families. They also met many of the pastors and families the Axvigs were working with.

The Mexican people also moved into their hearts and they suggested that a ministry be formed and go through the legal process of becoming a 501C3 organization, which would give the ministry a nonprofit status and contributions would be tax deductible.

The couple from Brainerd, Dan and Pat Schulist, also asked if they could be co-founders of the ministry.

Linda came up with the name "SONshine Ministries." After a state and federal search, by an attorney in the Twin Cities, the name SONshine Ministries was allowed.

SONshine Ministries is a nondenominational ministry founded to work with Mexican pastors to help provide a better life, better education, better employment, better housing and, first and foremost, to help the Mexicans find salvation through Jesus Christ.

The mission statement of SONshine Ministries is: To love our brothers and sisters with Christ-like love, to help local pastors share the Gospel, to promote education and commerce and to share the blessings with others."

The new ministry is based on Romans 12 10-13: Be devoted to one another in brotherly love. Honor one another above yourself. Never be lacking in zeal but keep your spiritual fervor, serving the Lord. Be joyful in hope, patient in affliction, faithful in prayer. Share with God's people who are in need. Practice hospitality.

"We have many miracles that we can tell. One Sunday night, at 10 p.m., a businessman from Brainerd was a guest in our home. He told us that the Lord had laid it on his heart to give us a van and for us to give the van to a Mexican pastor. Thirty-eight hours later a Mexican pastor called us and said they had been praying that the Lord lay it on someone's heart to give them a van. We told the pastor that the Lord was one step ahead of him," Linda explained.

This same pastor, in the same telephone conversation, said he also needed shoes. Six days later a lady from Cross Lake came with 75 pairs of shoes.

The van and shoes were delivered to the pastor in Reynosa, Mexico by the Axvigs and the man who donated the van Aug. 22.

"When we went to Mexico in August, we pulled a 5 x 8 trailer and a 6 x 12 trailer. The van and both vehicles we used to pull the trailers were full. A Nisswa couple who live in San Antonio, Texas, in the winter, will pull another 6 x 12 load to San Antonio in October and the Axvigs will have another load for the 5 x 8 trailer in November.

"We've had to rent a storage shed in Harlingen because it'll take several weeks to get all this stuff into Mexico. We have a lot of beds, mattresses, sewing machines and furniture also," Keith explained.

The SONshine Ministry budget includes financial aid for five pastors; school aid for 10 children; groceries for as many families as the budget will allow; school supplies; Bibles; Christmas presents; help with starting small businesses; building projects; and disaster projects.

"We just returned from Love Island, which is about 50 miles down coast from Brownsville, Texas. Love Island was about wiped out by Hurricane Emily. We were able to give a donation of money to help buy building materials," Keith explained.

"I remember my grandpa, over 50 years ago, pounding his fist on the kitchen table after church saying 'those preachers always want money.' Well, everything takes money. Groceries for the people living in a dirt-floor shack in the dump grounds cost the same for them as it does for us. They pay the same price for a dozen eggs or for a chicken. However, they eat mostly rice and beans," Axvig continued.

These people don't have a heat bill, don't have a water bill and don't have an electric bill. It's usually hot so they don't need heat (however the temperature was in the low 30's last Christmas Eve) and most people don't have running water or electricity so they don't have these bills.

"Since we know very little Spanish, we really depend on our interpreter and the pastors who can speak a little English. We want to keep in mind that winning souls for Jesus Christ is our number one mission. Food, clothing, education, jobs, businesses and better housing, is also an important part of the mission but not as important as salvation," Linda added.

"We have in trust the Lord in financing all of these projects. It all takes money. Food costs money, medicine costs money, Bibles cost money, education costs money, construction materials costs money. I think everyone gets the picture," Keith also added.

"We really need prayer support and if anyone finds it in their heart to donate to SONshine Ministries, that would be great. In fact, if anyone is in south Texas, give us a call and we'll take you into the dump grounds and squatter's camps of Mexico," Keith said.

Anyone wishing to make a tax deductible contribution to SONshine Ministries can do so by sending a check to SONshine Ministries, 18127 Hartley Dr., Brainerd, MN 56401.

Anyone wishing a brochure or wanting more information on SONshine Ministries, call Keith or Linda Axvig at 218-829-9791. The Axvigs address from November to March is: 1900 Grave Ave. #163 Mary, Harlingen, TX 78550. Phone 956-428-3155. Cell phone 218-831-3064.

As part of their ministry, SONshine Ministries, Keith and Linda Axvig, former Red Lake Falls residents, now living in Brainerd, provide assistance to poor families in Mexico. (Submitted photo)

Tony Kozojed receives safety award

by David Hill
Editor

Tony Kozojed has seen the results of careless or thoughtless misuse of firearms and believes safety training programs are very important.

Thursday, July 28, Kozojed was recognized for 30 years of dedicated volunteer service to firearms safety training in Minnesota.

Kozojed probably knows better than anyone what happens when people are careless with firearms. He served a long and distinguished career in the Minnesota State Patrol, that included being Chief State Patrol Officer in Minnesota from 1991-1993. On Thursday night, however, he was honored for his role as a firearms safety instructor.

Kozojed recalls that in 1974 or 1975 while working out of Warren as a State Patrol officer, Harry Sayler convinced him to become a firearms safety volunteer. In 1979, he relocated to Marshall where, as it turns out, the firearms safety coordinator had passed away. Kozojed took over the program. In 1984, he moved back to the area, and since then, has been actively involved. He modestly describes his participation as - only as one of the many.

The first firearms safety class in Minnesota was taught in August of 1955. That was just the start of what has since become an important program and rite of passage. Currently, there are over 5,700 instructors in Minnesota and over 1 million people have completed the program. Over 23,000 students participate in the program each year.

It's a very time consuming program because of all the bureaucracy, record keeping, deadlines, announcements, and demand for volunteers, said Kozojed.

Kozojed said he appreciated and acknowledges the award, but really feels that the people who are organizing the program - like Jim Counter in Thief River Falls - are doing the majority of the work. He also acknowledged his wife, who he said, handled much of the paperwork required from him.

While gently pushing aside the credit and cudos and giving credit to others, Kozojed strongly believes in the program.

"Having seen careless or thoughtless misuse of firearms, I believe the safety program is very helpful," said Kozojed.

Kozojed mentioned that while described as firearms safety course, it is also much more. Class topics include firearms maintenance and safe handling skills, but it also includes discussions of hunting and shooting laws and ethics, game care, and muzzle loading and archery.

It's a good marriage between safety and responsible sportsmanship, said Kozojed.

Mike Ramstorf, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Conservation Officer, said "The success of the program relies heavily on the dedicated volunteers like Tony, who donate their time and outdoor expertise to make our kids and future outdoor hunters safe."

Ramstorf noted that the program isn't just for youth who plan to become outdoor hunters. He said he encourages all parents to enroll their children in the program. The focus is firearms safety, but it is so much more. Ramstorf added that because hunting is so popular in northwestern Minnesota, the odds are that sometime in their future, residents will come in to contact with firearms, so it's important that they learn and know firearms safety.

The Pennington County Sportsman's Club plays a pivotal role in the firearms safety program.

Brent Waale of the Pennington County Sportsmen's Club stated, "The Pennington County Sportsmen's Club is proud to have volunteers like Tony among our ranks of approximately 15 active firearm safety instructors in the Thief River Falls area. Our program serves approximately 100 students a year in spring, summer and fall courses from the Pennington County and surrounding area. This year, we are proud to count ourselves among the countless volunteers throughout the state of Minnesota who serve under the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources program during its 50th anniversary in 2005. With the help of volunteer instructors such as Tony, the Pennington County Sportsmen's Club and Minnesota Department of Natural Resources have reduced the firearm fatality/accident rate to near zero in the past few years, while instilling in our area youth, a sense of sportsmanship, ethics and conservation, as well as safe hunting practices."

Waale added that it is the goal of the Pennington County Sportsmen's Club to continue to provide an effective firearm safety program for area youth.

Kozojed said he plans to continue to participate in the program as a volunteer. With help from volunteers like Tony Kozojed, the safety program will continue to turnout good, ethical hunters and keep the sport safe for future generations.

For more information about the firearms safety education program, go to www.dnr.state.mn.us and click on the Education and Safety Icon or take the link from the Pennington County Sportsmen's Club homepage at penn-co-sportsmens-club.freeservers.com.

Back to School

Some changes are in store for some area school districts

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Summer vacations are winding down, and the school year will soon be rearing its head. Most local school districts are starting the new school year Sept. 1. Several area school districts have been completing maintenance projects this summer in anticipation of students, and several have hired new teachers.

Badger School District (ISD 676)

School starts Sept. 1 in Badger, and a few new teachers will be joining the district. Mike Coltom will teach industrial technology, replacing Clint Gilbertson. Gilbertson is the district's new dean of students. Kathy Englund will work as the district's new music teacher. She will split her time between Badger and Tri-County school districts.

Goodridge School District (ISD 561)

On Sept. 1, Goodridge students will be starting school. They won't be seeing any new teachers, but they will have a new principal, Tim Lutz.

Greenbush/Middle River School District (ISD 2683)

Greenbush and Middle River students begin the school year Sept. 1. Angela Hughes is the new family and consumer education teacher, and Nathan Johnson is the new industrial technology teacher.

Grygla/Gatzke School District (ISD 447)

Grygla and Gatzke students will see a remodeled library when they return to school Sept. 1. The library has become enclosed and will include new furniture. It will also feature more Internet connections. There are no new teachers in the district this year.

Kittson Central School District (ISD 2171)

Kittson Central students start school Sept. 1. The high school has two new teachers this year – Kyal Brandt in math and Kim Jones in science.

Marshall County Schools (ISD 441)

Marshall County Schools begin classes Sept. 1. Megan Kolden, who will teach math, is the only new teacher.

Oklee School District (ISD 627)
Plummer School District (ISD 628)

Oklee and Plummer school districts will have a number of changes this year. Plummer will hold the classes for kindergartners through sixth graders. In the past, that school held classes for the districts' kindergartners through eighth graders. Oklee will hold classes for the districts' seventh through 12th graders. The districts begin classes Sept. 1. John Horgeshimer is the new music teacher for both Oklee and Plummer districts. Margo Peterson is the new safe school specialist for both districts.

Red Lake Falls School District (ISD 630)

Classes start Sept. 6 in the Red Lake Falls School District. There will be no new teachers at the district.

Roseau School District (ISD 682)

In the Roseau School District, students will be seeing several new things when they arrive for classes Sept. 1. The Roseau Parent Teacher Organization and Roseau School Board have funded new playground equipment. The Roseau High School (RHS) Student Council has provided a granite RHS monument for the front yard of the school. Besides those additions, the district welcomes Aja Niedorf as a science teacher and Andrew Lundholm as a math teacher.

Stephen/Argyle School District (ISD 2856)

Students will see the same familiar teachers in the Stephen/Argyle School District when they start classes Sept. 1.

County Board OKs floodplain permit for unit trains at Argyle

Warren - A conditional use permit allowing the construction of a 110-car grain unit train loading facility and elevator in the Middle River floodplain about a mile north of Argyle was approved Monday by the Marshall County Board of Commissioners at a continuation of the meeting recessed from Tuesday, Aug. 16.

Approval of the permit followed a public hearing on the application for a conditional use permit submitted by MarKit County Grain LLC, a partnership between four local elevators and the Archer-Daniels Midland and Benson-Quinn grain companies.

The permit relates to the use of 11,130 cubic yards of fill to elevate the site for a wheat and soybean elevator and rail car loading facility and associated approach roads for the facility, which is to be constructed in Sections 3 and 4 of Middle River Township, beginning this fall. The 171-acre site is west of Highway 75 and the Burlington Northern Santa Fe Railway tracks and north of 330th Street Northwest. - Warren Sheaf, Aug. 24, 2005

Yields are not good for county grains

Hallock - The county's small grain harvest is about 30 percent complete, and yields are not good.

Kittson County Farm Service Director Kelly Turgeon said for most growers, yields have been anywhere from single digits (eight to 10 bushels per acre) to 30 bushels per acre.

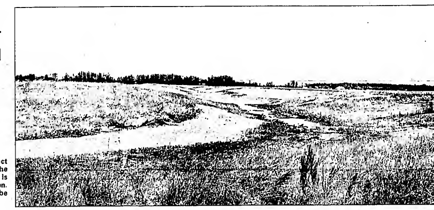
"There have been a few low 40s," said Turgeon. "Normally, we'd like to raise a 50-bushel crop. There is a lot of wheat this year that is averaging in the 20-bushel range." - Kittson County Enterprise, Aug. 24, 2005, by Cindy Stewart

Badger residents discuss petition against possible bar

Badger - A significant number of Badger residents met Aug. 16 to discuss the petition they have been taking door to door.

The petition, which presently has approximately 70 signatures, is being presented to Badger residents one door at a time in a fight against the possible development of an on-/off-sale liquor store/bar and grill/dance hall that is being considered.

The proposed liquor establishment would be on a commercial lot within the city limits.



In an open forum discussion at Twins Corner Cafe in Badger, folks aired their concerns and brainstormed possible avenues that could be explored as they searched for a resolution. - Roseau Times-Region, Aug. 20, 2005, by Timothy Holmseth

City Council discusses need for more crosswalks on Hwy. 11

Warroad - At the regular Warroad City Council meeting Monday night, the need for more crosswalks across Highway 11 near Warroad Clinic was brought up. With the fourth graders now attending the middle school, crosswalks are needed. City Superintendent Dana Klos said that state permits will probably be needed, and he will check into those permits. - Warroad Pioneer, Aug. 24, 2005, by Marlene Schmitz

Warren flood-control project nears completion

$18 million Snake River flood-control project to protect city from future flooding

▶ Due to various project requirements, seeding of the Snake River division project is in various stages of completion. The $18 million project may be completed by November.

Project could be done this fall

by David Hill

In 1996 and 1997 alone, the city of Warren suffered three major floods that caused $12.7 million in damage. That was the so-called straw that broke the camel's back.

On Oct. 26, 2001, groundbreaking took place for the $18 million Snake River flood control project that would provide the city with the flood protection it needs. On Tuesday, Aug. 16, local dignitaries and representatives of the Red River Watershed Management Board and Middle-Snake-Tamarac Rivers Watershed District, toured the nearly completed project.

Warren Mayor Dick Nelson said he was very happy - happy that the project is nearly completed, happy that it will provide 100-year flood protection, and happy that citizens will no longer be mandated to purchase flood insurance. Nelson explained that 90 percent of the city of Warren is located within the 100 year flood plain. The yearly flood insurance cost for a home valued over $100,000 is over $1,000. In addition, homes located within the flood plain must adhere to strict rules and regulations. As one example of what that means, Nelson pointed to an apartment complex that clearly shows that the ground it sits on is four to five feet above normal street level. Because of the additional costs associated with those rules and regulations, many construction projects have been put on hold until the diversion project is completed.

The flood control was the result of a cooperative relationship between the city of Warren, the Middle-Snake-Tamarac Rivers Watershed District and the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS). Of the $18 million cost, the city of Warren was responsible for $321,200 - $6.2 million came from non-federal costs, and $11.8 million in the form of federal funds. The non-federal project costs are being paid for by funds the city of Warren and the Watershed District obtained from state grants, and special assessments which may be made against benefited properties and other funds.

The flood control project which provides 100-year flood protection to the city, includes a diversion channel which is four and one-half miles in length, has an average depth of about nine feet and a 5 to 1 slope. Ron Adrian, former engineer for the Middle-Snake-Tamarac River Watershed board, noted that the spoil along the floodway gives the city additional flood protection. Nelson and Adrian admit that not everyone was happy when the location of the project was announced. People rarely are pleased when their property is being used for public projects.

Diane Ista of Ada and the Wild Rice Watershed District, who toured the project Tuesday, said communication is very important. Ista, a

The Snake River looks quiet and peaceful now, but it hasn't always been so. In 1996 and 1997 alone, the city of Warren suffered three major floods that caused $12.7 million in damage.

Prepare students for a changing world. That's what Dr. Willard Daggett told the 1,100 teachers from throughout northwestern Minnesota who attended a Northwest Service Cooperative-sponsored event Wednesday, Aug. 24, at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls. Daggett, president of the International Center for Leadership in Education, is a nationally acclaimed speaker and author.

Teachers need to prepare students for a changing world

Public schools are not failing.

That was one of Willard Daggett's first statement before a crowd of 1,100 teachers attending a Northwest Service Cooperative presentation at the Ralph Engelstad Arena, Thief River Falls, on Wednesday, Aug. 24.

Schools are not failing, said guest speaker Willard Daggett. There's more rigor and more tests. However, said Daggett, the world that our children are growing up in is very different than the world we grew up in.

Daggett's cautionary observation and what teachers and administrators are supposed to do about it was reflected in the theme of his presentation - "Preparing Students for a Changing World."

Daggett is president of the International Center for Leadership in Education, author of numerous books about learning and education, textbooks, research studies and journal articles. He has spoken to hundreds of thousands of educators and education stakeholders in all 50 states. Daggett inspires his audiences both to embrace what is best about the education system and to make the changes necessary to meet the needs of all students in the 21st century.

If America has the best public education system in the world, then Minnesota is among the best. But, challenged Daggett, "is great good enough?"

In looking at the best high schools in the nation for explanations of why they are so good, 30 outperforming high schools, from the 46,000 in the United States, were selected. No Minnesota high school made the cut. Why? Daggett challenged the audience to look at their schools with the same critical eye and ask why, and who's the problem, and why aren't our really, really good schools, good enough?

For an explanation as to why this was important, Daggett examined several different areas, beginning with globalization.

Daggett said most, if not everyone in the room understood the significance of 9-11, but our perception of the world is rather narrow. Not everyone knows the significance of 11-9-89, when the Berlin Wall fell, or the importance of China, India embracing democracy and or free enterprise systems. It can be explained rather simply - they want what Americans have and often take for granted.

The impact of these countries embracing free enterprise and significant advances in technology that allows for instant communication can be seen in a number of fields. Many jobs that were filled by Americans have fled to these countries where they can pay workers cents on the dollar. And as they grow and begin to prosper the more they emphasize education and the

This is the time that appetites need a bit of persuasion. These recipes will help you with that. Most of the recipes are from the Order of the Eastern Star, Winslow Chapter 182, Thief River Falls, and their 1982 cookbook, "Stars in your Kitchen."

You will love this hot/sweet accompaniment with any type of meats, and it is great with your favorite sandwich:

PEACH OR PEAR CHUTNEY
4 quarts finely chopped, peeled peaches or pears
1 cup seedless raisins
1 cup chopped onions
1 to 3 cups packed brown sugar
1/4 cup mustard seed
2 tablespoons ground ginger
2 teaspoons salt
1 clove garlic (optional)
1 hot red pepper
5 cups vinegar

Combine all ingredients and cook slowly until thick, about 40 minutes. Stir frequently to prevent sticking. Pour, boiling hot, into hot, sterilized pint jars, leaving 1/4 inch at top. Process 10 minutes in boiling water bath. Makes about 7 pints. For a milder chutney, remove seeds from hot pepper.

For instance, a sandwich like this one would be great with that chutney:

HAM SALAD ON RYE
1 cup ground, cooked ham
1/4 cup diced celery
1/4 cup pickle relish
1/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 teaspoon horseradish
10 slices buttered rye bread
5 slices Swiss cheese
5 slices tomato

Combine ham, celery, relish, mayonnaise and horseradish. Chill.

Spread on 5 slices of bread and top each with a slice of cheese and a tomato. Sprinkle with salt and top with remaining bread.

This tasty treat is good for you, and you can have it even if you are watching your diet:

PEACH FROZEN YOGURT
2 cups fresh (or frozen) unsweetened sliced peaches, thawed
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1/4 cup sugar
2 cups (16 ounces) reduced fat vanilla yogurt

Place peaches in a food processor or blender. Cover and process until pureed. Set aside.

In small saucepan, sprinkle gelatin over cold water and let stand 1 minute. Stir in sugar, cook and stir over low heat until gelatin and sugar are dissolved.

In a bowl, combine yogurt, peach puree and gelatin mixture until blended. Pour into ungreased 9 inch square dish. Cover and freeze 3-4 hours or until partially set.

Cut into pieces and place in a mixing bowl. Beat on medium speed until smooth. Transfer to freezer container. Cover and freeze until firm, about 2 hours. Recipe serves 6.

Oh, yes, this would make one rich, delicious, wonderful dessert:

NEW ORLEANS PECAN BARS
Crust:
1 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup softened butter or margarine
1/3 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 cup finely chopped pecans

Set oven to 350 degrees. Combine flour, baking powder, butter, brown sugar and pecans. Work mixture until it is crumbly. Press into lightly greased 7 x 11 inch baking pan. Bake 10 minutes.

Topping:
2 eggs
3/4 cup dark corn syrup
1/3 cup packed brown sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup broken pecans

Beat eggs well. Add syrup, brown sugar, flour, salt and vanilla and beat a little. Pour over baked layer in pan and sprinkle with broken pecans. Bake an additional 25 to 35 minutes. Cool before cutting.

Area airports receive funding

Senator Norm Coleman has announced that four local airports in northwest Minnesota have received a combined $1.3 million in federal grants from United States Department of Transportation's Federal Aviation Administration (FAA). Specifically, the grants will be awarded to airports in Long Prairie, Crookston, Thief River Falls and Baudette to upgrade their airport facilities through a variety of different projects.

"I am pleased that these individual airports have received this important funding," said Coleman. "In Greater Minnesota, local airports play an important role in both economic development and community accessibility. This funding will go a long way toward making necessary improvements to these specific airports and I applaud the FAA for recognizing the importance of these grants in Minnesota."

According to Coleman's office, the funding is as follows:

• $332,500 for Todd Field in Long Prairie for the installation of a runway vertical/visual guidance system and the construction of eight unit T-hangars
• $166,775 for Crookston Municipal Kirkwood Field to acquire snow removal equipment, improve airport drainage and perform runway rehabilitation
• $142,500 for Thief River Falls Regional for an updated airport master plan study to show needed future development
• $703,932 for Baudette International to provide for taxiway and aircraft parking improvements to increase pavement strength and parking area during peak traffic periods

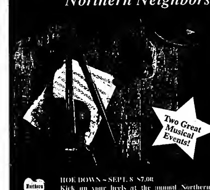
Area writers welcome as free workshops resume in Roseau

At their monthly session at Roseau Public Library on Sept. 19, Monday afternoon from 2:45-4:45 p.m., Roseau Area Writers' Workshop participants will respond to recent writing by any group members who bring short examples of their writing for friendly constructive criticism. They will also discuss published tips from several well-known professional authors.

Writers who submitted stories, poems, anecdotes or essays intended for "Regional Ramblings – 05," will be able to see "dummy pages" of works selected and formatted for publishing in mid-October. The special 10th anniversary edition of "Regional Rambling," titled "Reminiscing," is packed with drawings and writing by area adults and students. (Suggestions for a theme for the 2006 issue will be welcome.)



Compiling, publishing and distribution of 4,000 copies of "Regional Ramblings-05" is made possible in part by a grant from the Minnesota Legislature channeled through the State Arts Board and Northwest Regional Development Commission / Arts Council. Roseau Area Arts Association is providing a small grant too. Library Friends are also very grateful to business sponsors who have generously advertised in "Regional Ramblings" throughout these ten years.

People may feel free to come late or leave early as their schedules require. Writers/parents who don't have babysitters available may bring children old enough to quietly entertain themselves while adults work nearby. Plenty of children's books are handy.

The September group will decide on the best day and time for future monthly sessions (October – April, with the exception of December.) Participants should bring their 2005-06 calendars. All area adults interested in increasing or improving their writing are encouraged to attend any or all sessions in the new season's series. Previous participants have come from many locations in Roseau County and neighboring counties and as far away as Rainy River, Ontario, Canada.

Are you looking for truth? Maybe something real? Well, first face the facts. Are you one of these? Do not deceive yourselves; no fornicators, idolators, adulterers, no sexual perverts, thieves, misers, or drunkards, no slanderers, or robbers will inherit God's kingdom (1 Cor 6:9-10).
Come to LuFave Park to declare publicly on September 10, 2005 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. to be water baptized unto repentance of religious prejudice, doubt, religious hypocrisy, religious idols (like angels, Mary, etc.) love of money and other things that are not of God to turning to faith in Christ Jesus. It's God's kindness that leads us to repentance. Because if we reject God's mercy all that's left is judgement.

Dear Friends.

We are writing to you for several reasons. The first and most important is to thank you on behalf of all the abandoned, unwanted and often abused animals we have cared for these past years, for the interest, concern and support you have shown.

Our Humane Society incorporated in 1997, with $41 in the checkbook. Since then, as the result of money we have acquired from donations, memberships and many nickel and dime fundraisers, we have established an active humane society, have established a shelter and have found homes for over 1800 animals. We lease the land for our shelter for one dollar a year, due to the generosity of Judi Bruggeman.

This letter is coming to you at a critical time, as our memberships and donations are considerably down and our expenses are up. Our primary mission at the beginning was to get to the point where we do not adopt out an animal that is not spayed or neutered. I am pleased to report that this is now the case. In addition, all animals have received the required shots prior to adoption. Our $50 adoption fee doesn't cover even half of these costs. We are also currently raising funds to provide much needed modifications to our buildings. We received money from the Hartz Foundation that is in a restricted account for expansion/modification, so we can not use that money for operation expenses or general/emergency medical care for our animals. So, we rely on your continuing support for our day to day operating expenses.

We need your help. Your membership or donation is more important than ever to our continued survival. Would you consider renewing your membership or making a donation? Would you also consider volunteering some time with us? Thank you again for your past support.

Engelstad Trust sells Imperial Palace in Las Vegas for $370 million

The Ralph Engelstad and Betty Engelstad Trust has sold its Imperial Palace Hotel & Casino in Las Vegas for $370 million. Ralph Engelstad, who died in 2002, was a Thief River Falls native who donated money for the Ralph Engelstad arenas in Thief River Falls as well as Grand Forks, N.D.

Harrah's Entertainment Inc. purchased the hotel and casino. Its purchase agreement only pertains to Imperial Palace operations in Las Vegas.

The Imperial Palace will continue to operate the Las Vegas property until the transaction closes. Harrah's anticipates the acquisition will close by year-end, subject to the receipt of customary regulatory approvals. There are no plans for substantial operational changes at the Imperial Palace in the near-term once ownership has been transferred.

The Imperial Palace features a 52,000-square-foot casino and a 2,640-room hotel. It occupies an 18.5-acre site on the world famous Las Vegas Strip, situated between Harrah's Las Vegas and the Flamingo, across the Strip from Caesars Palace.

"In memory of Ralph, we would like to convey our thanks to all the Imperial Palace employees for the wonderful years you gave to the Imperial Palace," said Betty Engelstad, Owen Nitz and Jeff Cooper, trustees of the Ralph Engelstad and Betty Engelstad Trust, in a press release. "We look forward to continuing working together in the ordinary course of business until we get ready to make this transaction."

"We are actively investing in a wide-range of opportunities that will provide growth beyond what we expect to achieve as a result of integrating the recently acquired Caesars business," said Gary Loveman, chairman, chief executive officer and president of Harrah's, in a press release. "This acquisition enhances Harrah's position in Las Vegas, enabling us to offer our customers the most inspiring array of entertainment and gaming options available in the heart of the Las Vegas Strip – the intersection of Flamingo Road and Las Vegas Boulevard."

Harrah's currently owns six properties on 275.5 acres in Las Vegas. It now owns or manages through various subsidiaries more than 40 casinos in three countries, primarily under the Harrah's, Caesars and Horseshoe brand names.

Greenbacks for Greenbacks

I re-upped my guiding contract the other day. After a few months of often contentious bargaining, a long-term agreement was signed. The management at the resort and I worked hard together to make this thing happen. I was hoping for a long-term deal and I guess the timing was right. I certainly don't look forward to hashing another one of these out and I guess that's why I signed the lengthy pact. I realize that the details of such goings-on are often kept away from public scrutiny, but since I'm here to inform and enlighten, I felt it appropriate to put the facts out there for you to see. It is, after all, really a matter of public record anyway and available to anyone who wants to dig a little deeper than the average width of a daily newspaper.

I signed what I like to believe is a hefty contract. Seven years of commitment for $49 million. That number might stun some of you, but this is a high-profile profession mired amidst a reasonable period of public affluence. Yes, I know that it's only a seasonal, six month a year gig, but I'm at the top of my game and, therefore, deserve the top level of compensation. It's a short lifespan on the water, the average guiding tenure of less than six years reflecting the grueling emotional and physical toll taken by the occupation. Those $7 million per year certainly mirror my personal pledge to continue to perform at the highest standards I've established up to this time and I understand that should I fail to meet those minimums, a renegotiation would be in order. I would never accept money that I've failed to earn.

Which brings me to an interesting contractual watershed. If I not only meet the management's expectations as to performance, but also actually exceed those levels, am I entitled to ask for more? I realize that $49 million sounds like a lot of money to most Lake of the Woods County residents, but is it legally and ethically enough to compensate me for my efforts? Let's look at the numbers.

For the past six years, I've succeeded in averaging 37.8 fish per day. Now, that's not what I've actually brought back to the dock, that's everything with fins that slipped over the gunwales at some point. The ratio of keepers to fish caught is about half, or 18.1 fish put in the cooler per day. I've mustered up approximately 61 shore-lunches a year over that span, re-tied at an annual clip of 347 sinkers and spinner combinations, listened to the same punch-line 63 times and laughed, lent out my personal raingear roughly seven times each season, and I've yet to lose a guest. These contracts, you can see, are not signed on simple good faith and promise. That's why we earn the big bucks.

So, if I were to exceed the corporation's hopes for the 2006 season, would I not be well within my rights to ask for more? If, for instance, I could bump that total catch average up above the 40 mark or if I went over the 75 shore lunch level, wouldn't it only be fair that I get more? How about if I actually went out and bought extra raingear for my guests or taught them the very same knots that I was employing, would that be adequate cause for re-negotiating my contract? What if I allowed the 64th re-telling of the "game-warden and dynamite" joke to bring tears to my eyes, what then?

Or, perhaps, since the money is inevitably dug from the pockets of the guests themselves, is it reasonable to alert them to the possibility that they might be responsible for that extra outlay on a daily basis? If I point out, right up front at dockside at 8 a.m. that 37.1 fish should flop into that boat today, then the sight of 45 green-scaled, wiggling creatures across the deck should also bring the sight of more wrinkled green-backs across my palm, shouldn't it?

Or am I being paid to simply put forth my best effort possible, regardless of the successes that might accompany that exertion? Is this seven-year, $49 million agreement merely arranged and motivated by historical numbers, but actually inked by present day commitment?

I'm not trying to be greedy, I'm just trying to get my fair share. I'm willing to take input on the subject, as I've yet to arrive at a personal direction. Any ideas can be sent through my agent.

Cost-Share Program has funding available

The Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District (SWCD) has over $10,000 in funding available through the state Cost-Share Program. This money is for conservation practices.

Cost-share assistance applications are taken on a first-come-first-served basis. The program is open to individuals, groups or units of government. Maximum cost-share is 75 percent in high priority areas.

Approved practices are:
• Erosion control structures
• Stripcropping
• Diversions
• Grassed waterways
• Filter strips
• Sediment basins
• Streambank, shoreland and roadside protection
• Field and farmstead windbreaks
• Animal waste control systems
• Critical area stabilization

New practices are for sealing unused wells (the sealing and permanent closure of a water well no longer in use) and for field windbreak/shelterbelt renovation (widening, partial replanting, releasing, removing and replacing select trees and shrubs to improve an existing windbreak or shelterbelt).

If an upcoming project fits this category, contact the SWCD office as soon as possible to get the request submitted.

Depending upon the practice, cost-share assistance may be used in conjunction with the Environmental Quality Incentives Program or other cost-share programs, providing the total cost-share in a project does not exceed the allowable limit (in most cases, 75 percent).

Other cost-share assistance is available to Marshall County residents through the Marshall County Consolidated Conservation (Con-Con) funds and to Beltrami County residents through the Red Lake Game Fund (Con-Con funds) cost-share program.

More information on the state Cost-Share Program or on local cost-share programs can be obtained at the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD Office or by calling (218) 294-6144.

State records first West Nile death of year

An elderly southwestern Minnesota resident has died after being infected with the West Nile virus.

The death from West Nile encephalitis is the first to be reported in Minnesota in 2005. The woman had been hospitalized since early August. To date, there have been 11 West Nile cases reported in Minnesota. Last year, 34 cases were reported along with two deaths.

"We are saddened by this loss, and our sympathies are with her family," said Dr. Harry Hull, Minnesota state epidemiologist. "This death clearly reminds us that infection with West Nile virus can be very serious, even life-threatening, particularly for the elderly and people with chronic health conditions. It's very important that everybody take measures to protect themselves from mosquito bites."

Minnesota is still in the period of the highest risk for West Nile virus, from August through September, said David Neitzel, an epidemiologist with the Minnesota Department of Health. "This death occurred in an area of the state that we know has a higher risk of West Nile infection, underscoring the need for people in western and central Minnesota to be extra vigilant about prevention until the end of the mosquito season."

The threat of any one person becoming ill with West Nile virus is extremely low, according to Hull. For those who do become infected, West Nile rarely results in severe illness. Most people will experience a less severe form of the disease or no symptoms at all. Fewer than one out of every 150 people who become infected will become severely ill with encephalitis, which is an inflammation of the brain.

The elderly are at the greatest risk of developing encephalitis from a West Nile infection. The fatality rate for those who develop encephalitis is around 10 percent.

Symptoms of the illness usually show up two to 15 days after the person has been bitten by a mosquito carrying the West Nile virus. Symptoms include headache, high fever, muscle weakness, stiff neck, disorientation, tremors, convulsions, paralysis and coma. People who suspect that they may have West Nile virus should see a physician.

Key competencies in schools are?

Globilization seemed to be an unusual topic for a discussion on education, but there it was and Dr. Willard Daggett was making a pretty good point about its importance.

Daggett, president of the International Center for Leadership in Education, and author of several books and articles, gave a presentation to over 1,100 teachers from northwestern Minnesota attending a Northwest Service Cooperative-sponsored event in Thief River Falls Wednesday, Aug. 24. The title of Daggett's presentation was "Preparing Students for a Changing World," and he made a pretty good point about the importance of globilization.

Interestingly, the previous evening I listened to a story about world events and how citizens of the United States lack understanding and respect for anything not American. The commentator noted that many Americans can't even point to a map and identify Iraq, or even find London on a map. I wondered how many Europeans could find Thief River Falls, Minn., on a map. Judging by the response I get when talking with people from outside the tri-state region, not many Americans can either. In any event, the commentator noted that about 80 percent of Americans do not even own a passport.

Upon checking that statement, I couldn't find any official Web site that could confirm that figure. However, in 2004, the United States issued 8,825,410 passports, which was a significant increase. A quick check of other sources report that between 75 to 80 percent of Americans do not own a passport. That puts an interesting perspective on recent calls for U.S. citizens to have passports to cross the Canadian border.

If meant as a criticism of citizens of the United States, I recall my recent conversation with a French citizen who finds the distance between cities and states in the U.S. staggering. He couldn't imagine traveling over 600 miles - the distance to my hometown - by car, or even 250 to the Twin Cities. In fact, distances of that length in Europe would probably put the traveller in a different country, thus the need for passports. So, the criticism that the United States as being too insular based on ownership of a passport, would have to be taken with a grain of salt. I think we can all think of many more reasons why people don't own a passport.

Nevertheless, Daggett makes a good point - our world is changing. More and more, countries are turning to democracy and more importantly, free enterprise. Many of those countries are rather populous - China, India, Russia, Eastern Europe. To citizens of the United States, one economic impact of this fact is being measured in lost jobs. These large markets and instant communication made possible by the advent of changes in technology mean many jobs in America are shifting to foreign countries where people will do the same job for cents on the dollar.

Daggett said he believes this nation is too naive about what is happening in information technology, biotechnology, and nanotechnology and their impacts on children's lives and on America's ability to be competitive in the global economy. "Our schools are so engrossed in trying to solve the problems of the day, and there are many, mostly imposed from outside the system, that they cannot see the bigger issues."

The bigger issues forcing change, of course, are larger markets and advances in technology. The question, then, is how to compete, and how to prepare children to compete in this every changing world?

Daggett believes evaluating information and contextualized decision making will be key competencies. "My fear is that our schools are so focused on today's battles - teaching to the tests - that our students are not receiving the education they need for the world in which they will live," said Daggett.

No doubt about it, the world is a much different place today than it was when we were growing up, and even a much more different place than when our parents were growing up. The assumption that because we've managed to adjust to those changes, we'll be able to survive these changes may not be enough. As Daggett noted, "We need to look closely today at how and what we teach, and we must be prepared to recognize how that mix needs to change."

How will we accomplish that? It won't happen without a lot of thoughtful discussions, that's for 'sure.

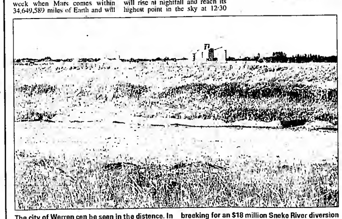
Mars approaches Earth in August

Submitted by Charles Samuelsun



Mars is approaching Earth in August and will be the closest to Earth than it has been in the last 5,000 years. It can easily be seen with the unaided eye alongside the moon in the eastern sky after 11 p.m. this week and for the next couple of weeks. On Saturday, Aug. 27 (today), Mars will be the closest to Earth, and after that, Mars will slowly move away.

The encounter will culminate this week when Mars comes within 34,649,589 miles of Earth and will be seen as a bright red star on the right side and slightly below the moon in the eastern sky after about 11 p.m.

Mars' magnitude will be -2.9, and it will appear 25.11 arc seconds wide at a 75-power magnification. It can easily be seen with the naked eye, and one can see the red color. It will rise in the east at about 10 p.m. and will reach its azimuth at about 3 a.m.

By the end of August, when the two planets are the closest, Mars will rise at nightfall and reach its highest point in the sky at 12:30 a.m.

Earth is catching up with Mars in an encounter that will culminate in the closest approach between the two plants in recorded history. The next time Mars may come this close to Earth is in the year 2287. Due to the way Jupiter's gravity tugs on Mars and affects its orbit, astronomers can only be certain that Mars has not come this close to Earth in the last 5,000 years, but it may be as long as 60,000 years before this happens again.

The city of Warren can be seen in the distance. In the foreground is the nearly completed Snake River diversion project. In 1996 and 1997 alone, the city suffered three major floods that caused about $12.7 million in damage. In 2001, groundbreaking for an $18 million Snake River diversion project began. The project, which directs flood waters through a diversion south of the city and includes a dry impoundment east of the city, may be completed sometime in November.

Wednesday, Aug. 24, Dr. Willard R. Daggett addressed over 1,100 teachers from throughout northwestern Minnesota at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls on the topic, "Preparing Students for a Changing World." Daggett, president of the International Center for Leadership in Education, is a nationally acclaimed speaker and author.

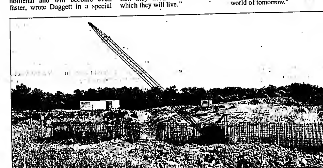
quality of products and services they provide improves.

Students need to be prepared for a changing world.



U.S. society and the world in general are also undergoing fundamental change, said Daggett. Daggett pointed to a growing list of examples. For example, to achieve a 25 percent penetration rate in U.S. homes, it took 35 years for the telephone, 26 years for television, 16 years for personal computers, seven years for the Internet, and three years for personal digital assistants (PDAs).

The rate of change has been phenomenal and will become even faster, wrote Daggett in a special paper he prepared for the event. "Yet, even with all these changes, if Rip Van Winkle woke up today, he would be comfortable in most American classrooms."

"Our schools are so engrossed in trying to solve the problems of the day, and there are many, most imposed from outside the system, that they cannot see the bigger issues," wrote Daggett.

Daggett is convinced that the solution will be to teach youth to evaluate and contextualize information. "My fear is that our schools are so focused on today's battles - teaching to the tests - that our schools are not receiving the education they need for the world in which they will live."

In his final thought, Daggett stated the following: "We are entering an era of rapid change. The future will be much different from the past. Our definitions of educated and literacy from the 20th century may not apply to the same degree in the 21st. Other skills needed for the adult roles that our students will assume may be quite different, too. We need to look closely today at how and what we teach, and we must be prepared to recognize how that mix needs to change. The question is: How will schools accomplish this? There is no easy fix or pat answer to this questions, but we must pursue it - honestly and courageously - in order to prepare our students for the world of tomorrow."

The diversion control structure for the Snake River floodwaters diversion project is quickly taking shape. Tuesday, Aug. 16, representatives of the Middle-Snake-Tamarac Rivers Watershed District provided representatives of the Red River Watershed Management Board and other local dignitaries with a tour of the project.

High school volleyball opener is Tuesday

Five starters return to TRF line-up

A veteran group will be on the floor Tuesday when Thief River Falls opens its 2005 high school volleyball season at home against Crookston.

The Prowlers return four full-time starters and a part-time regular from a young team that went 8-18 a year ago.

"We've got some experience, and we have some depth," confirmed Tammy Sparby, who begins her third year as Thief River Falls head coach.

Outside hitter Jessica Gustafson, right-side hitters Shawna Rogalla and Becca Larson, along with setter Hailey Stokke, all started on a regular basis last fall. Gustafson, Larson and Stokke are seniors; Rogalla is a junior.

In addition, junior middle hitter Lauren Daniels did get some starts in 2004.

Gustafson was the team's top hitter a year ago. Sparby figures the athletic Rogalla will take on some additional attack load and Stokke has the experience to quarterback the 6-2 offense as setter.

Junior middle hitter Sara Michaels played C squad last year, but has elevated her game to the varsity level, where she gives the Prowlers some additional size and strength at the net.

Sparby won't hesitate to call on seniors Chasity Johnson, Steph Brekke and Kjelsy Loeffler or junior Mandy Thompson to fill holes. Sophomore Kayse Lee and freshman Brittney Wiseth give the Prowlers additional bench strength. At 6-1, Wiseth is the team's tallest player.

Wiseth and Lee will also get in game time at the junior varsity level, where they will be joined by Hannah Kainz, Kelly Thorstad, Brittney Odberg, Kassi Gunderson, Franny Twistol, Marissa Lillestol, Sammy Dicken and Lauren Dondelinger.

"We're not real big again this year, but we've some some experience, and we have some depth," offered Sparby.

TRF swimmers debut Monday

Thief River Falls girls have two things going for them heading into the 2005 high school swimming season: numbers and experience. With a large, veteran team in the pool, head coach Lacy Knott says the Prowlers should be a major factor in both the North Border Conference and Section 8A meets this fall.

Knott, who was co-head coach with Dawn Couette in 2003 before inheriting the title in solo fashion last year, is working with 34 girls in grades 6-12. "This year's team is the largest since I started coaching here," she pointed out.

The Prowlers lost only two seniors to graduation off a team that won the 2004 Section 8A True Team title.

"The team will be a strong contender in the section this year," predicted Knott. "The girls have set their sights high and hope to repeat as True Team section champion in October and to move up from their third place finish at the Section 8A meet in November."

There are five seniors on the 2005 roster, including captains Allyson Helling in the sprints, Katie Pribula in the distance events and Casey Engelstad in the 100 breaststroke. All three finished in the top eight in those events in Section 8A last year.

Stephanie Liden and Danielle Meunier join their classmates in the senior ranks.

Junior April Peterson won the 100 backstroke and was a top-eight finisher in the 100 freestyle at the 2004 Section 8A championships.

"We also have several young swimmers who really stepped up last year and will be counted on again this year," offered Knott, who said freshmen Kailey Bakken and Janessa Hansen, along with eighth Dani Simenson, had "outstanding seasons" in 2004.

Rest of the Prowlers' roster includes juniors Ashley Meunier and Madison Sorvig; sophomores Bethany Bates, Roshan Pederson, Jodie Roy; freshmen Katie Aandal, Corissa Kruse, Jami Lee, Hannah Waswick; eighth graders Madeline Aandal, Lorissa Craigmile, Anne Hook, Whitney Lian, Krystal Roy, Lacey Stennes; seventh graders Emi Bakken, Emily Blue, Gracie Daniels, Kelly LaSalle, Bailey Sorvig, Meghan Jones, Mariah Steenerson; plus sixth graders Joy Feragen, Maura Nelson and Morgan Numedahl.

The Prowlers open the season Monday at the Detroit Lakes Invitational, but they won't make their home debut until Tuesday, Sept. 13, when Roseau and Detroit Lakes will visit the Franklin Middle School pool for a 5:30 p.m. double-dual.

Prowlers have a new cross country coach

■ TRF opens 2005 season Monday

Two weeks after 30 runners in grades 6-12 greeted new Thief River Falls cross country coach Rick Karboviak for the start of workouts, the Prowlers will be running in their first 2005 meet Tuesday when they line up for the 11 a.m. Moorhead Invitational.

The program's 17 girls and 13 boys include senior captains Jade Kilen and Evan Jones.

Jones is the lone senior on the boys roster. Melvie is joined by Kirsten Melvie and Sierra Dyrdal from the Class of 2006.

A fitness and sports performance trainer at Northwest Medical Center, Karboviak is a North Dakota native who graduated from Finley-Sharon High School and Mayville State University. He also coached in his home state as an assistant with the Cooperstown boys and girls cross country teams in 2001 and 2002 before stepping down due to career moves.

Karboviak got the opportunity to coach again when Cortney Christensen resigned following the 2003 season after two years with the Prowlers.

"I'm excited to get back into it," said Karboviak. "I told the team and their parents that a new era is starting with the 2005 season. Being a new coach, it's a fresh start for them."

In addition to the three seniors, the girls' turnout for cross country includes juniors Blakely TwoTeeth and Brooke Rundell; sophomores Chelsey Knutson, Katie Walrath; freshmen Sara Sisler, Chelsea Sorteberg, Toni Sorteberg; seventh graders Austyn Anderson, Emily Robson; plus sixth graders Megan Bergland, Olivia Kilen, Emily Jones, Harley Alby and Paige Thune.

Jones' teammates on the boys' roster include juniors Mark Campbell, Matt Olson and Tim Sayler; sophomores Trent Nelson, Jim Worker; freshmen Jordan Engen, Brett Hanson; eighth graders Michael Dyrdal, Travis Carlson; along with seventh graders Connor Hutton, Brendan Skime and Jacoby Bergeron.

"Right now, we're just trying to find out where we're at as a team," noted Karboviak. "We're a relatively young team, but also full of fire. We have a lot of team chemistry that I see already. We have some experienced runners who help out the new ones a lot."

The annual Thief River Falls Invitational will be held Monday, Oct. 3, at the Thief River Golf Club. The Section 8AA meet will be run Oct. 27 in Moorhead.

"I expect us to perform well as we peak towards the region meet at the end of October," said Karboviak.

As a new coach, Karboviak will introduce an incentive-laden twist to the Prowlers' regular season practices by offering a "floating jersey" spot that will complete the weekly varsity line-up. "The junior high and junior varsity squads will use our speed days as tests for this spot," he explained. "The top runner gets to run varsity if they earn the blue jersey, which is like the famous yellow jersey that the Tour de France winner wears."

With so many runners vying for those varsity spots, the "floating jersey" concept is expected to spice up the speed days, according to Karboviak. "It should be fun and exciting to see everyone push each other," he said.

spots. Junior Amanda Hoard and sophomore Mauri Gonsorowski played at No. 1; senior Sarah Mattison and junior Michelle Noreen were at No. 2.

"I think if I were to use one word to describe this year's team, it would be potential," said Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanestad. "I really believe that this team has the ability to be in the section final at the end of the year. But it will take the highest level of commitment from all of the girls. We definitely have the physical ability, but we will have to make some big improvements in our focus, confidence and team cohesiveness."

Junior varsity players include sophomores Mallory Asp, Janae Hoffer, Laura Heschke and Lindsay Johnson, along with freshmen Hannah Anderson, Brenna Boyd, Courtney Aune, Julie Piche, Cheryl Nelson, Kendra Pederson, Chelsie Weeding and Jessica Hutchinson.

"We will not be a team that can throw out the same line-up in every match and come up with a win," noted Hanestad. "Our girls will have to be able to play both doubles and singles and play well at both. We should have a balanced line-up with good depth."

Hanestad welcomed Gary Laidley to his coaching staff this fall. Laidley will work with the junior varsity and Corey Thorson directs the middle school program.

"Gary will be a great addition to our staff," said Hanestad. "He coached our boys middle school team for six years and played a big part in the success that our boys are enjoying. I believe he will have the same impact on our girls program."

This is the Snake River off-channel impoundment inlet on the Snake River. The impoundment, which is part of the floodwaters project, is located about 11 miles east of Warren. Tuesday, Aug. 16, several local and area dignitaries toured the project, which is nearing completion.

Work on the Snake River floodway inlet near Warren is progressing rapidly. Tuesday, Aug. 16, representatives of the Middle-Snake-Tamarac Rivers Watershed District provided representatives of the Red River Watershed Management Board and other local dignitaries with a tour of the project, which is nearly complete. The $18 million diversion project and impoundment, may be complete by November.

farmer herself, said that if she had to give up some land to protect the rest of the community, she would. In such situations, she said, if people could only see what all the money was building and what it will do for them, there's a better chance they would understand.

Nelson said that when the project is completed he would like to hold a ceremony and invite the public on tours of the project.

Much of the diversion project has been completed. The diversion control structure on the Snake River is currently under construction. The project coordinator noted that the massive structure will contain over 400,000 pounds of steel and 1,237 yards of concrete.

The flood protection plan also includes construction of an off-channel floodwater storage structure about 11 miles upstream of Warren. The impoundment is designed to store 6,800 acre-feet of water and it provides partial control of the flow for 57 square miles. Adrian said it could hold water for as long as 26 days, but he estimated that the control structure would release 90 percent of the stored waters in 10 days or less. At the control structure end of the impoundment, the bank is 22 and one-half feet high, but there is no dike on the east side of the impoundment where floodwaters flow into the impoundment.

Angus Oslo Impoundment

The tour also included a visit to the Angus Oslo site #4 project south and east of Warren, and a visit to the proposed Agassiz Valley project.

As the group pulled up to the site, ducks took flight. A golden eagle perched on a nearby post was observed by the group, and in a distant tree, a bald eagle was also observed.

The Angus Oslo site #4 in Brandt Township of Polk County, has become prime wildlife habitat, but its purpose is to divert floodwaters from judicial Ditch 25-2 into a diked area that holds it until downstream channels can accommodate the flow. The volume of storage is sufficient to store the runoff from a 100-year flood. The 2000 estimated cost of the project was $2,520,000, 32 percent of which ($800,000) came from a grant from the State of Minnesota Flood Damage Reduction Program, the remainder ($1,720,000) was paid by the Red River Watershed Management Board Funds, and 15 percent from the District's project fund. Up to the primary spillway the project can store 4,500 acre-feet of water.

Agassiz Valley Project

The Agassiz Valley Water Resource Management Project has been in the news lately, as individuals opposed to the project have written several letters to local and state officials as well as local newspapers. Planning for the project began when the Watershed board was approached by representatives of seven townships about the need for additional flood protection. If constructed, the project, which would be located near the Audubon Sanctuary, would provide total floodwater storage of 10,670 acre-feet or 6.4 inches of runoff. It would cover approximately four sections of land in McCrea and Comstock Townships in Marshall County, and Brislet and Helgeland Townships in Polk County. The drainage area of the project would be 31.5 square miles. It would also include prairie and wetland areas. The total cost has been estimated at $6,500,000. In addition to providing significant flood control benefits, project leaders believe the project would provide substantial habitat and water quality benefits, too.

The Middle-Snake-Tamarac River Watershed District has come under fire for plans that may include farming-for profit part of the land included in the project.

Representatives of the District and Adrian explained that the purpose of the project is to provide flood protection.

Several years ago, lobbyists and legislators secured legislation making it possible for watershed projects to be kept on the tax rolls and thus ensure that counties don't lose valuable tax dollars.

Project leaders stated that if any portion of the project is farmed either by conventional farming or by harvesting prairie grasses, plans call for the funds to be used for project maintenance, thus reducing taxes.

Representatives of the Red River Management Board felt the project is a good project and will provide flood protection for area residents for years to come.

Rural property owners threatened by landslides may get assistance

Red Lake Falls - During a public hearing Aug. 23, county commissioners listened to a preliminary report presented by grant writer Joan Abercrombie detailing a proposed grant that may provide funding for rural property owners threatened by landslides and "earth-slumping" problems.

The grant funding, if awarded, could provide up to $600,000 in buyout monies for affected homes. The rural project differs from the recent city buyout in that participation will be voluntary and there will be no relocation benefits.

According to the grant writers for the county, this is a last-ditch effort for affected property owners as other funding sources simply do not exist at this time. - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Aug. 31, 2005

County asks for state's help

Baudette - The Lake of the Woods County Board members have asked for the state's help in regards to the Williams Area Community Center building. The board members are sending a letter to the state fire marshal and state health inspector to come and look at the building and determine if it can be salvaged.

The board members also passed a resolution, taking a stand on passport requirements at the border. At the board's meeting Aug. 16 at Northwest Angle, residents stated that the federal government's proposed passport rules will negatively affect their businesses.

In addition, many of the board members said that they didn't think that requiring passports would make the border more secure. The resolution will be sent to federal elected officials and the Managing Director of Passport Services, Ann Barrett. - The Baudette Region, Aug. 30, 2005

Hardees closes Aug. 31

Roseau - After over a decade of serving the residents of Roseau, Hardees has closed its doors.

The decision was made by the restaurant's upper management after a variety of factors were considered, according to Judy Neumann, who manages the local fast-food restaurant.

Hardees closed Aug. 31. - Roseau Times-Region, Aug. 27, 2005, by Timothy Holmseth

Parents speak out about Accelerated Reader program

Hallock - The goal of the Accelerated Reader (AR) program at Kittson Central is to help students develop a love of reading. That's been its goal since its inception in 2000.

LeRoy Hoekstra, Kittson Central Elementary School dean of students, told school board members Aug. 25 that the program was never designed to teach a student to read. That is not its function.

The AR program was part of the agenda at the Kittson Central School Board meeting Aug. 25.

Parents of Kittson Central students who are currently struggling with many reading fundamentals discussed their concerns about the AR program and asked board members to look into how the program is affecting students. - Kittson County Enterprise, Aug. 31, 2005, by Cindy Stewart

Black bears' visit attracts attention

▼ Varn Wittenberg of the Thief River Falls Police Department struggles with one of the three bear cubs local law enforcement officials saved Wednesday, Aug. 31.

Officials capture and move three bear cubs

Reports of bears within Thief River Falls are unusual and so attract a great deal of attention. On Wednesday, at about 9:15 a.m. police received a report of a bear in the 1000 block of North Dewey.

In a densely populated area of the community, Police found a black bear weighing just over 200 pounds in a tree. It was displaying aggressive behavior. After considering several risk factors, law enforcement killed the bear.

After dispatching the sow, officers conducted a search of the area and discovered three cubs, which were also in a tree just south of where the sow had been. With the assistance of Utilities Department Employees and a boom truck, officers were able to capture the three cubs. The cubs were placed in a covered cage and given a jar of peanut butter, which a nearby resident provided.

A Minnesota Department of Natural Resources official who was on hand to provide assistance, stated that he thought the three cubs could survive on their own.

Later, officials said they had successfully transported the three cubs to an area inside Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge.

Information about black bears can be found at the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Web site and other sites. According to the DNR Web site, there are roughly 30,000 black bears in Minnesota. An adult black bear generally weighs between 250 and 300 pounds and stands two to three feet at the shoulders. Bears lead solitary lives except when females are rearing their young, or when concentrations of food bring bears together. It is omnivorous, eating anything that resembles food in looks, smell, or taste. In 1999, Minnesota hunters harvested 3,620 black bears.

Testimony ends in civil commitment hearing

Judge to decide whether sex offender should be committed

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

The decision of whether to civilly commit a Thief River Falls man is now in the hands of a judge. Cary Allan Leas, 38, will have to wait until at least October to hear Judge John Roue's decision.

For three days this week, Roue heard testimony on whether Leas, a convicted sex offender, should be civilly committed. That testimony ended Thursday in Pennington County Probate Court.

The civil commitment hearing stemmed from a petition filed shortly before Leas was scheduled to be released from prison in April. Pennington County Attorney Dave Olin and Minnesota Attorney General Mike Hatch filed a petition to civilly commit Leas as a sexually dangerous person and sexual psychopathic personality. Since that petition was filed, Leas has been incarcerated at the St. Peter Security Hospital.

Leas was in prison for violating the conditions of his release for a 1998 conviction for first degree criminal sexual conduct. That charge stemmed from the repeated inappropriate touching and anal intercourse of a female under the age of 10.

Leas was released from prison after being sentenced to 86 months. As a result of the Minnesota statute, he served two-thirds of his sentence – 57-1/3 months – with credit for time served. Most of Leas' sex offense disclosures occurred while he was in sex offender treatment after he was released from prison. His disclosures listed approximately 40 victims of sex crimes, the majority for which he was never charged.

Almost two years after being released from prison, Leas was sent back to prison in December 2004 for violating the conditions of his release by using cocaine.

With regard to the civil commitment hearing, written arguments from the Minnesota Attorney General's Office and Richard Sather, Leas' attorney, have to be submitted by Sept. 30. After that time, Sather and Angela Helseth, special assistant to the attorney general, will have one week to respond to each other's arguments. After that time, Roue is expected to make his decision. He will have several reports and pieces of testimony to consider, including testimony from licensed psychologists as well as Leas and others.

Psychologists testify

Three licensed psychologists testified as to whether Leas should be civilly committed. Two testified Wednesday that he should be civilly committed as a sexually dangerous person and sexually psychopathic personality, and one testified Thursday that he should not.

Cury Leas

Dr. Linda Marshall was appointed by the court to make a recommendation. She interviewed Leas and had her colleagues administer psychological assessments to Leas. Helseth called Marshall to the witness stand.

"My opinion is that he does meet criteria for commitment as a sexually dangerous person," Marshall said.

She added, "It is my opinion also that he does meet the criteria for commitment as a sexually psychopathic personality."

Marshall cited that her reasons for Leas' civil commitment included his history of multiple, different sex acts as well as the fact that his history of committing sexual offenses spans 20 years.

On cross-examination, Sather

Everybody's Market in TRF

Great American Block Party and market set for Sept. 10

Saturday, Sept. 10 will be a jam-packed day for some local residents. The 21st Annual Everybody's Market, as well as a pie contest and the Great American Block Party, will be held that day in Thief River Falls.

Everybody's Market

Everybody's Market will be held downtown and in Floyd B. Olson Park that day from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Crafters, food booth vendors, flea market vendors, garden produce vendors and vendors with baked goods are sought for the market. The cost is $20 for a booth, which can be paid at the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce. The event will be held outdoors – rain or shine.

If a person wants to set up a booth in front of a business, he or she should call the business owner to receive permission prior to setting up the booth. Applications for Everybody's Market are being taken at the Chamber. For more information, call the Chamber at 681-3720.

TRF Women of Today pie contest

Local residents will also be able to enter the Thief River Falls Women of Today (WOT) pie contest during Everybody's Market. A panel of judges will determine the winners of the contest.

Any type of pie is welcome as long as it is homemade. The recipe must be included with the entry on judging day.

The contest is open to people of any age. The cost is $2, payable to the Thief River Falls Women of Today. An entry form, which will be available at The Times, Hugo's, SuperOne, the Thief River Falls Public Library, Arnold Avenue Store, Erl's Market and the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, is also needed. The fee and entry form may be submitted the day of the contest.

Kids under the age of 16 are also eligible to enter the under-16 cookie contest, which will be held that day as well. Cookies must be baked from scratch. Entries must include the recipe. Youth under the age of 16 may also enter the pie contest. A $2 entry fee and an entry form are required to participate in the cookie contest.

Cash awards will be presented to the top three entries in each group. The first place winners in each group will have their winning recipes published in The Times.

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge prepares for Sept. 17 open house

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge, located near Middle River, will host its annual open house Saturday, Sept. 17 from 1 to 5 p.m. Duck banding will be among the activities scheduled that day.

During the open house, eastside refuge roads will be open for wildlife viewing along with the standard Habitat Drive (four miles), which has interpretive signs. Attendees will also be able to take part in wetland bubbles and enter the underwater wonderland of wetlands and never get wet. Participants will also be able to check out a unique view through the eyes of a tadpole. What does it eat? What eats it?

In addition, participants will be able to band monarch butterflies if they are able to catch them. They will also be able to see a display about monarch butterflies. This fall, small delicate wings will carry millions of butterflies, some over 2,000 miles to Mexico.

At 2 p.m., a dedication ceremony of wildlife observation/photographic blind will be held. Robby Stenson, Eagle Scout candidate from Troop 59, built it. This requires a short walk through the wood to the site.

From 3 to 4 p.m., participants will be able to learn what happened to the moose population in northwest Minnesota. Biologist Gary Huschle will give a talk on the results of the northwest Minnesota moose study that was conducted from 1995 to 2000. For this presentation, meet in the green quonset hut.

From 5:30 p.m. to whenever the last duck is banded, participants will be able to band ducks. This portion will be cancelled if it is too wet (raining).

Newfolden Evangelical Free Church celebrates centennial

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

"On the Foundations of the Past We Build for the Future," is the theme of the Newfolden Evangelical Free Church's 100th anniversary celebration, which will be held Sept. 2-4. Events have been planned throughout the weekend, including numerous musical performances, speakers and special programs that will commemorate the congregation's 100 years as a church.

The church's beginning

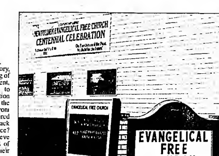
In June 1905, under the leadership of Samuel Tunheim, a building committee consisting of John Lokstad, Lars Bjorsness, Olaus Larson, Lars Mattison, J.J. Schei and Ole Kleppe unanimously decided to adopt the "Mission House" design of John Kringlen for the construction of a church within the village of Newfolden.

The first Building Committee Meeting minutes, translated from Norwegian, stated that there would be no basement constructed under the mission house. Stone for the foundation would be purchased from John Carlson for $5 per cord. Olaus Larson was chosen to purchase lime and be responsible for the foundation. Iver Orphus and Larson were chosen to travel to Thief River Falls to sign a building contract with John Kringlen.

The church was constructed on a temporary foundation in 1905. Tunheim, the man that led the building committee, was named the church's first pastor. He served that position until his death in 1918.

God moved the church

In 1930 the Ladies Aid sponsored the installation of a basement. The church was lifted on to a temporary beam foundation to prepare for the excavation of a basement. Most of the congregation was excited about the prospect of a new basement, but they were not pleased with the church's existing location, citing that it was too close to the street.



As stated in the church's history, "One night, prior to the beginning of the excavating for the basement, God permitted a strong wind to blow from just the right direction and angle, with the result being the moving of the church building from its undesired location to its desired location, several feet further back from the street. Coincidence? Perhaps, but we prefer to believe that God, in hearing the desires of his people's hearts, answered their prayers."

The church remained in its new wind-blown location throughout its existence. It served the congregation for the next 42 years.

Changes in language, affiliation

Norwegian was the official church language for the first 32 years. That changed in 1937, when the secretary's minutes were recorded in English. Also in 1937, the church started assessing

The Newfolden Evangelical Free Church will celebrate its 100th anniversary this weekend. Festivities began on Friday with an opening service and seventh through 12th grade youth event at Marshall County Central High School. The celebration will conclude on Sunday with a closing service concert performance by Four Him.

Maybe you have an abundance of zucchini in your garden this year. Today we'll have some recipes from the Area Extension office of Wells, Foster and Eddy counties. Pick your zucchini when they are five to seven inches long, when they are tender and the seeds are small. Zucchini is a fair source of vitamin A & niacin, a good source of vitamin C, and it is low in sodium. One cup of cooked zucchini has only 35 calories.

A deli-cooked chicken can be used to make this delicious dish:
CURRIED CHICKEN-ZUCCHINI SALAD
1 chicken, cooked and chilled
4 teaspoons flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon honey
1/2 teaspoon curry powder
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup chicken broth or bouillon
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 clove garlic, minced
2 medium zucchini, cut into matchstick-sized strips
Salad greens

Remove meat from chicken and cut into strips or cubes (or just shred). Refrigerate.

In small saucepan, combine flour, salt, curry and pepper. With whisk, stir in honey, chicken broth, milk, vinegar and garlic. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until dressing is thickened. Cover and chill.

Just before serving, combine chicken, zucchini, onions and dressing. Toss well. Arrange on salad greens. Recipe serves 6 with 165 calories per serving.

These would make a great breakfast this weekend:
ZUCCHINI GEM MUFFINS
3/4 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 large egg
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup salad oil
1 cup grated, unpared zucchini, loosely packed
1/4 cup raisins, chopped fine
1/4 cup chopped walnuts

Stir flour, baking powder, soda, salt and nutmeg. Beat egg, sugar and oil, then add flour mixture, zucchini, raisins and nuts. Stir only until dry ingredients are moistened.

Fill buttered muffin pan cups 2/3 full. Bake at 350 degrees for about 25 minutes.

Make a big batch of these delicious bars for the kids to enjoy after school:
ZUCCHINI BARS
3 eggs
2 cups sugar
1 cup oil
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 cups grated zucchini
2 teaspoons vanilla
3/4 cup raisins

Mix beaten eggs, sugar and oil. Mix dry ingredients together, then add to first mixture. Add zucchini, vanilla and raisins. Pour into greased and floured 9x13 inch pan.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Zucchini Bar Frosting:
3 tablespoons butter
1 cup brown sugar
6 tablespoons milk
2 cups powdered sugar.

Melt butter. Add brown sugar and milk and boil 1 minute. Add powdered sugar until spreadable.

Here's a quick meal you can make with your zucchini - use it as a main dish or as a side dish with your favorite meat or fish:
ZUCCHINI WITH CHEESE
3-4 cups young tender zucchini, sliced
1/2 cup grated cheese of your choice (or 5-6 slices of Velveeta cheese)
3 tablespoons butter
1 cup seasoned croutons

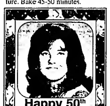
Cook or steam zucchini in water in covered saucepan until done. Remove from heat.

Place in serving dish and place cover on for a few minutes. Add cheese and replace lid on dish and let stand until cheese melts. Meanwhile, melt butter and croutons and sprinkle over cheese in dish. Serve immediately.

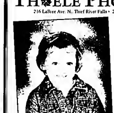
This is a large recipe you can make for a bunch of hungry diners:
ZUCCHINI CASSEROLE
2 quarts sliced or diced, unpeeled zucchini
1 large onion, chopped
1 1/2 pounds lean hamburger
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 cup sliced carrots
1 (7 ounce) package seasoned stuffing croutons
1/2 cup butter, melted
1 can cream of chicken soup
1 cup dairy sour cream

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease 4-5 quart casserole or small roaster. Set aside.

Cook zucchini and onion in small amount of salted water until they change color. Drain, reserving liquid.



Cook and stir hamburger until browned. Add salt and pepper.



Prepare stuffing croutons according to package, using 1/2 cup melted butter and 1 1/2 cups reserved zucchini/onion liquid. Combine carrots, soup and sour cream. Fold in zucchini and onions.

Spread half of meat on bottom of prepared casserole dish. Top with half of crouton mixture, then all of vegetable mixture, remaining meat and remaining crouton mixture. Bake 45-50 minutes.

Lots to see and do at the Northland Threshing Bee

There will be lots to see and do at the 41st Northland Threshing Bee near Strathcona Sept. 10 and 11. Threshing of oats and corn will be featured this year, but there is much more to this annual event.

In addition to the threshing, there will be lumber, lath and shingle shaving demonstrations, plowing demonstrations, gas engines on display, blacksmithing and other farm activity demonstrations.

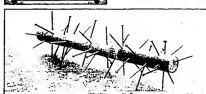
The show is located three miles north of Strathcona on Highway 32 and five and one-half miles east on Roseau County Road 8. Admission is $3 per day with a free souvenir button. Children under 12 are admitted free of charge.

The featured tractor this year is the Minneapolis Company. Visitors are welcome to bring tractors - of any color - to join in the parades that are held at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. each day.

Visitors are also invited to visit many restored buildings. A very primitive log schoolhouse - the first Grasslake school - and a more "modern" school, the Benwood schoolhouse, will be open to tours.

Other buildings on display include: the Palmville Community Church, where a service will be held at 9:30 a.m. on Sunday, a very small log home, which served as a home for three generations; a larger log house that was built by a bachelor and lived in for many years; a small building that will display post office items from the Strathcona Post Office; and, the Country Store, where baked goods, and craft items will be sold.

In the demonstrations building, volunteers will be showing how bread was baked in a wood stove. And, they will be weaving rugs, quilting, making sauerkraut, rosemaling, spinning, and making fry bread.



The mini-museum at the site will have antique displays. There will be other displays and a toy show at Ed's Shed.

What would a threshing bee be without food? Several food vendors will be at the threshing bee. The United Free Youth group will be serving pancakes on Saturday morning at 8 a.m., and the Lion's Club will serve breakfast on Sunday starting at 7 a.m. The Grass Lake and Green Acres 4-H clubs, the Scandinavian Kitchen with two cars, and Oof-da Tacos also will make available a variety of meals, ice cream, candy, pop and popcorn.

Area musicians interested in sharing their talents are also invited. Please call 218-781-2670. Individuals interested in selling items at the flea market and wish to reserve a spot in the building, should call 218-528-3749 or 218-781-2866. Vendors wishing to sell items outside, do not need to make a reservation.

There's always lots to see and do at the Northland Threshing Bee. Bring the youngsters and show them how the pioneers settled this area.

We wish to express a sincere thank you to all who came to our 70th wedding anniversary celebration, the lovely cards & many gifts. A special thanks to our family who provided the nice lunch. Greetings & hugs from family and friends made this a day we will always cherish.
Thank you kindly & God's blessings,
Marion & Vina Cater

Christmas Rule # 44- Be Careful What You Wish For, Cause You Might Get It

The other night I giggled at a Jewish comedian as he made fun of Hanukkah. His unhappiness with the traditional winter holiday was its eight-day duration and the way such a lengthy span paled in comparison with its one-day Christian equivalent of Christmas. More presents, perhaps, he conceded, but certainly less value. Sure, he said, eight days worth of gift-giving may sound great from the outside, but would you rather have a single 10-speed bike or seven pencils and a gum eraser? And not only did the extent of the festival allow the mercenary proceeds to diminish, but its glorified scope also took away from the emotional impact. It's hard for a kid to keep a mind-numbing adrenaline buzz going for even two or three days, much less an entire eight. Heck, after five days it was almost like going to school. The Christians seemed to understand, he said, that such an overwhelming wave of greed and capitalism could only be sustained for a 24-hour period. Presents, food, television specials, all finely orchestrated to culminate in the revelry of a single day. Any more would most certainly be less.

So, I understand that the deer-hunting season for this zone has been extended by a week. My initial reaction is one of great joy, an almost Christmas-like rapture. I love the deer-hunting season. I enjoy the anticipated touch of winter that accompanies at least a few of the crisp mornings, sending me scurrying a little early to the warm confines of my pick-up truck. I like the unexpected wave of late season heat that inevitably arrives and challenges me to hunt with fewer clothes in November than I wore to fish at times in August. I take great pleasure in sitting and thinking, and even greater pleasure in sitting and shooting. I'm especially fond of sitting and thinking and shooting and hitting, though should that happen with any more regularity than it does now, I might find myself jaded to the process. I guess that means I also enjoy missing or even not shooting on occasion.

And all that is a lot to look forward to. And it's a lot to try and cram in a tiny eight-day event. (I know, it's always been a nine-day season, but I normally take Wednesday off to recoup and remember what it's like not to be deer-hunting.) I enjoy it enough to take the week off from work and arrange visits to extended family around it.

So, now deer hunting season is to be a 16-day event. Hooray! An extended Christmas-like event. Let's sing carols and hug like Rudolph's on the roof right now! Could there be anything better?

Well, maybe. I'm a little concerned about the lengthened season. I've always worked hard to squeeze such a bunch of fun into eight days, is it possible to fit it into 16? Am I expected to keep up the same level of infantile lunacy with a loaded gun that I've achieved in seasons past? Is it humanly possible to go 16 sleepless nights in a row as I anticipate the next morning's hunt or to wear the same pair of long underwear for that same duration because I'm convinced that they're "aired out"? Will I be able to muster the enthusiasm to withstand -16 degrees Fahrenheit for two consecutive hours without budging an eyelash if I know that I can go home to a warm bed and try again when the weather changes? Can I still achieve such a heart-thumping, almost painful level of adrenaline when that big buck wanders near and I know that if he doesn't come close enough, that he might next week? If I shoot and miss, will I feel the abysmal, self-pitying low that accompanies a once-a-year opportunity lost? And if I shoot and hit, will I revel as loudly and strongly as I did when I knew that such a short and challenging window of annual endeavor shackled my efforts?

So, now deer hunting is a 16-day event. I think I'll be really excited about that when the time gets a little closer. And if, by chance, I don't have time to get excited about it right away, I'm pretty sure I'll be pumped up by the second weekend. Or maybe the third. I just hope they don't extend the season by another week next year, cause then it would interfere with Hanukkah. And if those two events ran together, well, heck it'd be really hard to get excited again by Christmas.

Thank you to everyone who sent us beautiful cards/gifts on the occasion of our 50th wedding anniversary. A big thank you to our family for all their work to make our party such a success.

Make sure your hurricane donation goes to the right people

The images of the devastation caused by Hurricane Katrina in Florida are probably dredging up a lot of bad memories from the flood of 1997. Many area residents can no doubt empathize with the victims.

In the next days and weeks, area residents may be called upon to respond to the demand for assistance. In other instances, area residents may wish to provide financial assistance, but which one to choose.

Several organizations are responding to the crisis. The responders include the American Red Cross, Church World Service, Convoy of Hope, New Orleans Area Habitat for Humanity, Salvation Army, Noah's Wish, and many more. Officials are warning, however, that there may be some groups that aren't out to help anyone else but themselves. They suggest that if you wish to make a donation to make sure you do the following:

• Identify your preferences - Disaster relief comes in many forms, so think about which activities you want to support;

• Focus on the mission - Look at each charity's description and its literature and/or find the non-profits in your area that you trust;

• Look at how the charity defines its goals and evaluates its own performance;

• Avoid charities that won't share information or that pressure you;

There are other helpful tips out there. Local officials would suggest that you don't give cash, but write a check and never give out personal banking information. State officials and charities are also asking that people donate money, not food, clothing and other supplies.

Local charity reports and other helpful tips for donating to this crisis can be found at the Minnesota Charities Review Council at www.cremn.org.

Crookston hitter Allie Schumacher drove the ball past Thief River Falls defenders Lauren Daniels (10) and Mandy Thompson (8) during Tuesday's season-opening high school volleyball match. The Prowlers beat the visiting Pirates 3-0.

TRF starts volleyball season with three close wins...

Prowlers edge Pirates

A close sweep might seem to be a contradiction in terms, but it best described a Thief River Falls season-opening high school volleyball win over Crookston Tuesday. The minimum six points separated the two teams as the Prowlers beat the visiting Pirates 25-23 three times.

"It's nice to win the close ones," smiled Thief River Falls coach Tammy Sparby. "Last year, we didn't do that. It's a real confidence booster."

Early trouble put Thief River Falls in a 7-1 Game 1 hole. The Prowlers battled back, but didn't take the lead until a Lauren Daniels kill broke a 20-20 tie.

Becca Larson found a hole in the Crookston defense for a 22-20 edge, and after the Pirates scored, Larson came through with a spike for a 23-21 advantage.

Crookston tried to hang on, but it ended on a cross-court kill by Jessica Gustafson.

Thief River Falls had the early edge in second game, 7-3, but starting at 14-14, the teams swapped points on six straight serves.

It was still tied at 23-23 on a kill by Crookston's Jenny Isaacson, but the Pirates' next spike attempt went into the net and Daniels scored on a put-back to cap the Thief River Falls win.

Game 3 featured more of the same when a Macy Hanson block gave the Pirates a 22-21 lead; a Daniels kill tied it at 22-22; and a Crookston hitting error gave the Prowlers a 23-22 edge.

Hanson beat a blocker to keep Crookston in a 24-23 game, but Daniels picked up the final point to complete the sweep.

"We need to clean it up a little bit, but it was a good start," offered Sparby.

The Prowlers substituted freely throughout the match. It gave a number of players an opportunity to compete for spots, but it also made it hard to pick up some momentum, acknowledged Sparby. "We need to work on things, but I like what I saw," she said.

Thief River Falls won the junior varsity match 25-16, 26-24.

TRF 7-0 winner at EGF

Two duals and two 7-0 wins for Thief River Falls during the early portion of the 2005 girls high school tennis season. The Prowlers matched an Aug. 24 shutout against visiting Grand Rapids with a Tuesday sweep at East Grand Forks.

Ashley Leister, Kassi Sparby, Mauri Gonsorowski and Sarah Michaels were singles winners.

Doubles victories came from Sarah Larson-Amanda Hoard, Kelly Hanson-Michelle Noreen and Chelsea Daley-Kristine Sletten.

All seven decisions were in straight sets. The Green Wave never won more than three games in any set.

"I thought the girls were very focused and business-like in their matches today," said Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanestad. "We served and returned better than we have in previous matches, and that helped us control the points."

■ TRF runners open season at Moorhead meet

First race of the 2005 season for the Thief River Falls boys and girls high school cross country teams resulted 11th place finishes for both squads Tuesday during the Moorhead-hosted Battle of the Border Invitational at M.B. Johnson Park.

Moorhead boys and Fergus Falls girls won team honors. Justin Tyner of Brainerd and Hanna Grinaker of Detroit Lakes were the individual winners.

"We got a good test of where we are at as individuals and as a team with our conditioning thus far," said first-year Thief River Falls coach Rick Karboviak. "We were right on pace for the first portions, and now we need to hang onto the pace to continually perform better."

Number one Thief River Falls runners were Evan Jones, 32nd in the boys race, and Brooke Rundell, 65th in the girls competition.

"I was pleased with our performances today, and look forward to next week's tune-ups at Wadena (Tuesday) and Roseau (Thursday)," offerd Karboviak. "We got a lot of the first-race jitters out of the way, and the first-timers have some experience and feel for race day."

Cyclones 3-on-3 winners

Cyclones of Thief River Falls won the men's high school/adult division in the Thief River Falls 3-on-3 basketball tournament Aug. 20 at the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

Incorrect information given to The Times/Northern Watch listed the Cyclones as the second place team. Members of the winning squad were Jonquin Westerman, Aaron Strandberg, Barry Peterson, Juan Rials and Mike Drees.

The event, featuring male and female age group divisions, was a joint effort through Seven Clans Casino Hotel & Water Park, Black Cat Sports Bar & Grill and Backlot Sports from Williston, N.D.

Northwest Region has four graduates of DNR Conservation Academy

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources announced that the 2005 class of conservation officers have now taken up posts at stations across the state. Four of those officers where assigned to areas in the Northwest Region, including Fosston, Cass Lake, Warroad and Roseau.

The officers were dispatched to their stations Aug. 10 after graduating in April from the 12-week-long DNR Conservation Officer Academy and completing field training over the summer.

"The Northwest Region will be home to four outstanding new officers," said Northwest Regional Enforcement Supervisor Captain Roger Tietz. "These are top-shelf officers who will serve the DNR and local communities well."

The areas these officers will serve include several that haven't had conservation officers stationed for several years, according to Tietz. "The stationing of these officers helps us fill the gaps we've had in Enforcement coverage for some time in this region."

Tietz said he hopes the region can fill its remaining three vacancies, and be fully staffed, with recruits from next year's CD academy.

Pat Znajda, Area 112 (parts of Kittson, Marshall and Roseau counties) comes to the DNR with 18 years of law enforcement experience, 15 of which were with the Minnesota State Patrol (seven of those as a criminal investigator).

Tom Wahlstrom, Area 114 (eastern Roseau and western Lake of the Woods counties) was raised in the Deer River area. He comes to the DNR with a criminal justice degree from Bemidji State University, experience with the Leech Lake Tribal Police, and a lifelong love of northern Minnesota hunting and fishing.

Dan Malinowski, Area 132 (Mahnomen and eastern part of Polk counties) has 21 years of law enforcement experience, including five years as a Beltrami County deputy and 12 years as an investigator for the Polk County Sheriff's Department.

Tim Collette, Area 175 (northern Cass County), after leaving a 20-year career in the forest products industry, completed a natural resource law enforcement program at Central Lakes College in Brainerd. A native of the Brainerd-Nisswa area, taking this law enforcement position fulfills a life-long dream to work with the DNR.

The DNR graduated 18 officers from the 2005 academy at Camp Ripley, which trains officers on all aspects of law enforcement work in the natural resources field. Training sessions at the academy included confiscations and forfeitures; warrants and exceptions; emergency vehicle operation; self-defense; watercraft laws; recreational vehicle safety and regulations; game identification and enforcement; hazardous materials; crime scene management; and evidence collection.

During the 12-week field training over the summer, officer trainees worked one-on-one with experienced conservation officers to gain on-the-job training for natural resources management and law enforcement-related activities. Now that they are stationed, each new officer is responsible for enforcing Minnesota's natural resource-related laws in an area encompassing approximately 600 square miles.

Lauren Daniels of Thief River Falls (10) got the ball past Jenny Isaacson of Crookston in first-game action during Tuesday's volleyball match in the Lincoln High School Gym. Daniels led the Prowlers with 10 kills in a 3-0 season-opening win over the Pirates.

Sacred Heart rally beats MCC, 38-31

Marshall County Central saw a 21-8 first half lead turn into a 38-21 loss to East Grand Forks Sacred Heart Thursday in season-opening Nine-Man high school football.

The visiting Nordics had a 13-0 lead on a 6-yard first quarter touchdown pass from Andy Kragness to Nick Haven, a 16-yard second quarter run by Nick Johnson and a Haven conversion kick.

Ben Pribula scored from a yard out for the Eagles, but a 27-yard run by Johnson and a Kragness-to-Spencer Peterson two-point conversion pass provided the Nordics with their two-touchdown halftime advantage.

Sacred Heart went ahead 22-21 on third quarter touchdown runs by Pribula and Ryley McMahon, then completed the comeback in the fourth quarter with a Dan Soeby touchdown run and a Pribula touchdown pass to Kevin Voeller.

Johnson gained 115 yards on 15 carries to lead the Nordics' offense. Soeby netted 141 yards on 20 carries for the Eagles. The two teams combined for 713 first-game yards.

The Nordics were hit by eight penalties for 100 yards. The Eagles were flagged six times for 40 yards.

Marshall County Central will face Kittson Central Friday, Sept. 9, in the Nordics' 2005 home opener at Newfolden.

Mustangs win 26-0 first-game shutout

Kyle Vettleson ran for one touchdown and passed for two more Thursday to lead Red Lake County Central to a 26-0 Nine-Man high school football win over Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke. The 2005 season opener for both teams was played in Goodridge.

After a scoreless first quarter, a 2-yard Dale Rystad run kicked off a three-touchdown second quarter for the Mustangs.

Vettleson scored on a 5-yard run and connected with Nathan Whalen for a 42-yard touchdown pass as the Mustangs' lead climbed to 20-0 at halftime.

A 53-yard third quarter Kyle Vettleson to Andrew Vettleson touchdown pass completed the scoring.

"We had a lot of breakdowns," reported Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach John Wilebski. "We've lost some kids this year. We're really young. We're going to make mistakes."

The Blue Devils did net 292 yards on 28 rushing attempts, led by Brady Olson with 132 yards on 10 carries. Anthony Gast finished with 83 yards on 11 attempts and Justin Wiseth had 77 yards on just seven carries.

Hunters asked to not shoot radio-collared bears

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources is asking bear hunters not to shoot radio-collared bears.

According to bear research biologist Dave Garshelis, the DNR is currently monitoring about 40 radio-collared bears. Most reside in the area of the Chippewa National Forest, some are near Camp Ripley Military Reservation, and a few are in the vicinity of Voyageurs National Park. However, during the fall, bears may travel 50 or more miles from their normal area.

"We recognize that in some situations a bear hunter may not be able to see a radio-collar before making the shot," said Lou Cornicelli, DNR Big Game Program coordinator. "We emphasize that taking a radio-collared bear is still legal. However, we are asking hunters to try to cooperate with research efforts and avoid shooting them whenever possible."

Most research bears have blaze orange collars so they will be more visible to hunters. Any hunters who do shoot collared bears are requested to call the Minnesota DNR Wildlife Research Office in Grand Rapids at 218-0327-4146.

Northern Lights SON to showcase Melissa Lee photographs

Visitors are welcome to join the area Northern Lights (Nordlys) branch of Sons of Norway at North Star Apartments in Roseau at 7 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 10. The program will feature Melissa Lee, rural Roseau, who will project photographs on a wall screen and tell stories about her summer in "Awesome Scandinavia."

Lee, a recent graduate of Roseau High School, took a course in Modern Icelandic through the University of Minnesota. The first three weeks of the program took place in Minneapolis where students learned language basics, including pronunciation, common phrases and a small vocabulary. During the second part of the program they studied at the University of Iceland in Reykjavik. In addition to further language instruction, they visited museums, made two excursions into the countryside and listened to lectures on Icelandic culture.

After Lee had completed her course, Roxanne Lee (her mother) joined her in Reykjavik. Together they traveled throughout Iceland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden. Melissa was happy to be able to explore her roots by visiting relatives and the farms from which all of her great grandparents originated.

Non-Norwegians are welcome. (No blood tests or birth certificates are required.)

The Roosters will perform Saturday, Sept. 10 as part of the Great American Block Party in downtown Thief River Falls. The group performs from 8 p.m. to 12 a.m. as the event's headliner.

congregation members $3 a year or a load of wood to be used for heating.

Another major change came in 1945, when the congregation decided to affiliate with the Norwegian Evangelical Free Church of North America. One year later, the congregation said goodbye to its pastor, Thorvald Mybrer, who served the congregation for 27 years.

The church changed its affiliation again in 1950, this time under the leadership of Pastor Ernest Vick. During Vick's ministry, the Norwegian Evangelical Free Church of North America merged with the Swedish Evangelical Free Church of North America to become the Evangelical Free Church of North America. The new organization was divided into districts, with the Newfolden Evangelical Free Church (NEFC) located in the North Central District.

The NEFC saw more change in the coming years. The church basement was remodeled in 1952 and in 1953, using a $7,000 loan, the church moved its old mission building in Holt to Newfolden to be used as a parsonage. Now the church had a 44-by-28 home to be used by its pastors for years to come.

New construction

The NEFC welcomed Earl Eveland as pastor in 1966. He would serve the congregation for 27 years, overseeing the church during its largest construction project. Early in Eveland's service, the congregation was discussing expansion. The dilemma was whether to construct an addition to the 61-year-old existing church building, or build new. It was eventually decided that building new was the way to go and the congregation purchased land adjacent to the existing church from Hjalmer Haugen.

The new building hosted its first service on July 9, 1972. Myrtle Skyberg and Bob and Carol Dahl were received as new members. The new building's dedication service was held on Sept. 3, 1973.

Further expansion was discussed at the NEFC's annual meeting in 1980. The church needed additional space for Sunday School rooms and storage. A building committee consisting of Larry Bjorsness, Merle Bjornrud, Lowell Hogberg, Earl Waterworth, Beverly Lindstrom and Eveland, spearheaded the church's addition. Construction was completed in 1981 on the south side of the original structure.

Talk of the church's most recent expansion began in 1998, and soon after, a 6,150 square-foot addition was built. Peggy Gunderson, Kelly Dahl, Judy Likstad, Pastor Gary Barrett and Janice Olson served as committee members, along with Larry Bjorsness, who headed the committee.

Church pastors

Nine pastors have served the congregation during its 100-year history. The following pastors have led the Newfolden Evangelical Free Church: Samuel Tunheim, 1905-18; Dedrick Kilen, 1918-19, 1946-47; Thorvald Hyhrer, 1919-46; Ernest Vick, 1947-55; Julius Hoseth, 1955-60; Clifford Anderson, 1960-66; Earl Eveland, 1966-93; Floyd Dalzell, 1993-94; and Gary Barrett, 1994-present.

What began in 1905 as a simple mission house with no basement or additional space for storage has become a church with more than 20 rooms for worship, Sunday School and fellowship. In the eyes of its 150-member congregation and the city of Newfolden, it's a symbol of what community togetherness is all about.

Everybody's Market in TRF Sept. 10

The winning entries in both categories will be auctioned off to raise money for a yet-to-be-determined local charity. The remaining entries will be sold by the cookie or slice. Entries will not be returned as this is a fundraiser.

For more information, contact April Scheinoha at 681-7185.

Great American Block Party

The Great American Block Party will include a street dance, food stands and a beer garden on LaBree Avenue in downtown Thief River Falls. Saddle Tramp will perform from 6 to 8 p.m. and followed by The Roosters from 8 p.m. to 12 a.m. With five musicians in the band, Saddle Tramp performs country music. Performing since 1994, The Roosters are based out of Fargo, N.D. The group mostly performs country music.

Admission is $5 at the gate. Attendees are encouraged to bring their lawn chairs.

In the event of rain, the event will be held at the Pennington County Fairgrounds.

Testimony ends in civil commitment hearing

asked whether Leas had participated in sexual activities in prison.

Marshall responded that Leas did not, but she noted Leas was not sexually attracted to men.

Sather also referred to Marshall's use of actuarial tools to assess Leas' risk for re-offending. He noted some states do not allow actuarial measurements to be used in court due to their unreliability. Marshall said that did not surprise her, but she noted that gave more credibility to a psychologist's judgment.

Helseth also called Dr. Jim Alsdurf to the witness stand Wednesday. Alsdurf was hired by the state in order to determine whether to file the petition to civilly commit Leas.

Sather objected to Alsdurf testifying. He noted the Minnesota statute did not provide for the person making the initial assessment for civil commitment to testify. However, he noted that was up to the court to decide.

Sather also noted Alsdurf was not on a witness list and that if the state was able to have Alsdurf testify, Leas should be able to have an expert testify. Helseth countered that Sather knew of Alsdurf's involvement in the case from the beginning and that Leas already had an expert who would be testifying. Roue denied Sather's motion.

After that motion was denied, Alsdurf testified that he found Leas to be sexually dangerous and a sexual psychopath. He listed Leas' "long history of sexual offenses."

Alsdurf also noted that Leas "continues to report sexual arousal from children as recently as" Jan. 12.

"I think he is certainly an unsuccessfully treated sex offender," said Alsdurf, who noted Leas lacked remorse about one of his victims even after he was in sex offender treatment for three years.

While cross-examined by Sather, Alsdurf admitted that having an opinion about civil commitment and testifying about that opinion could be, in Sather's words, "relatively lucrative."

Sather later called Dr. John Austin to the witness stand. Austin was chosen by Sather's office to review Leas' history, interview Leas and come up with an opinion as to whether he should be civilly committed.

Referring to an actuarial tool to measure Leas' likelihood to re-offend, Austin said, "Mr. Leas' score was in the low range, the authors' so-called low range."

Austin added that it was his opinion that Leas was "not likely to engage in future acts of harmful sexual conduct."

Austin also referred to Leas' time "offense free" between his probation violation for using cocaine and his resulting re-incarceration – a time period of almost 22 months. Austin noted Leas "doesn't suffer from utter lack of control" of his sexual impulses, and therefore Leas cannot be sexually dangerous if he were able to live "offense-free" for that time period.

Sather later asked whether anyone has ever successfully completed sex offender treatment at St. Peter Security Hospital, where Leas would go if he were civilly committed.

Austin replied that he had no data to respond to that question. However, he said one person had a provisional discharge from St. Peter, but was later sent back.

While being cross-examined by Helseth, Austin said Leas' likelihood to re-offend could increase if he uses mood-altering substances on a regular basis.

Leas testifies

Helseth called Leas to the witness stand. Leas spent a total of nine hours Tuesday and Wednesday on the witness stand. Leas recalled the physical and emotional abuse he suffered at the hands of his stepfather who has since died.

Leas also recalled being sexually abused by someone he called a friend of the family. At the time, Leas said, he was 6 or younger. The perpetrator, who was a teenager at the time, was never charged or prosecuted for the offense.

In addition to his drug use as a juvenile and later as an adult, Leas testified about stealing items when he was in those age groups. He also said he was charged with assault in the past and for violating a restraining order.

"I thought going to treatment was to make me better, not to be vilified," Leas said about his disclosures of sexual offenses and the possibility of civil commitment that may have resulted from his disclosures.

"Mr. Leas, do you believe you should be committed as a sexually dangerous or psychopathic personality?" Helseth asked.

"No," Leas replied.

When questioned by Helseth, Leas admitted he may have forced sex with adults three to four dozen times. He said he may have said that many because he could not remember the exact number. That number would enable him to pass a polygraph test to complete sex offender treatment, he said.

About sexual activity with drunk or unconscious women, he said it could have been 100 times that he engaged in those activities. Again, Leas said he may have said that many in order to pass a polygraph test.

Leas also testified about the abuse that landed him in prison. He talked about repeatedly inappropriately touching and having anal intercourse with a female under the age of 10. Over time, he recalled, she tried to squirm away from him or begged him to stop. He did not.

"I still have sexual thoughts about children," said Leas. "I still recognize myself rating children on a sexual basis."

However, he told Helseth he thought he could contain his sexual impulses if there were an available victim.

Leas admitted to other unusual sexual activity, including bestiality when he was a juvenile. He admitted to some peeping-tom activities as well.

Leas testified that he used marijuana daily. He said he also used methamphetamine, cocaine and valium. He was sent back to prison for failing a drug test.

About the relationship between his drug use and sex offenses, Leas said they were related to the extent of happening in the same time frame. "You can't blame one on the other," he testified.

Sather asked Leas how being a victim of abuse affected him. "It affected my level of trust for a lot of people," said Leas. "It takes me a great deal of time to develop trust for anybody."

When asked by Sather, Leas noted he did not use weapons and did not tie up his victims.

Others testify

Among the others testifying was the mother of one of Leas' victims. Given that her daughter is a victim of a sex crime and the mother is a victim of Leas as well, the Northern Watch has chosen not to use her name.

The mother testified she discovered her daughter was repeatedly sexually abused by Leas after her daughter was playing with other kids. The victim talked about "playing games" with Leas. Another parent then informed her about what her daughter said.

"They said something was going on, and I should take her to the hospital or somewhere to see what was going on," recalled the mother, who Leas was charged with physically assaulting prior to that time.

The sexual abuse has affected the girl ever since that time. The mother recalled her daughter threw such temper tantrums when she was younger that others would have to hold her down and release one of her limbs at a time.

When she discovered Leas was going to be released from prison, the girl was scared, her mother testified. "We went to Menards and bought new door locks."

The girl, who was under the age of 10 at the time of the sexual abuse, hangs quilts over her bedroom windows. After hanging a quilt over her bunk bed, she sleeps on the lower bunk.

Leas' victim has undergone counseling since the sexual abuse, the victim's mother testified.

The victim also spent time at a juvenile training center after being charged with vandalism. It was the same place to which Leas was sent after committing an offense when he was a juvenile.

Leas' mother, Renette Engen, testified Thursday that she did not know about the sexual abuse Leas suffered. "I guess if I would've known, I would've tried to get help for him then," said Engen, whom Sather called to the witness stand.

Engen later testified about the changes she witnessed in her oldest son after he was incarcerated at Lino Lakes. "He talked about God and reading the Bible," said Engen, who testified Leas took his grandmother to church in Plummer after he was released from prison.

He also seemed to care about his behavior, noted Engen, who later mentioned a letter Leas sent to her while he was in prison. She testified Leas apologized in the letter for his actions.

"Maybe you people don't believe in God, but I do," said Engen, who noted God changed Leas' heart.

On cross-examination, Engen said her son did not tell her that he still has sexual thoughts about children. She also stated she did not know about any of his sexual offenses until he was charged and then convicted in 1998. Engen testified she learned about more of Leas' sexual offenses when she copied documents for him for the civil commitment hearing.

John Yingling also learned about Leas' sex offenses. Sather called Yingling, a licensed marriage and family therapist, to the witness stand Thursday. Yingling works full-time in sex offender treatment at Upper Mississippi Mental Health Center, and one of his clients was Leas.

"Cary was probably more narcissistic than the norm, more arrogant than the norm, and I'd probably say more sarcastic than the norm," said Yingling about Leas' personality when he began treatment.

Sather asked whether that meant Leas was destined to not complete sex offender treatment. Yingling said no.

Yingling further testified Leas appeared remorseful about his actions that led to his conviction.

"I think he's capable of successfully completing [sex offender treatment]," testified Yingling. "Whether he would, I don't know."

Mike Amble, an Intensive Supervised Release (ISR) agent with the Minnesota Department of Corrections, testified Thursday as well. He was one of three ISR agents assigned to Leas.

During ISR, a sex offender is limited in the activities he or she can do and whom he or she can see. Over Leas' yearlong ISR, those limitations were gradually lifted as they are with other complying offenders.

However, at one point during ISR, another ISR agent found a pornographic movie with a rape scene in Leas' possession, Amble testified. He noted that agents determine on a case-by-case basis whether something is pornographic. In Leas' case, he testified, it was.

Several Northern Pride employees who used to work with Leas also testified Thursday. Sather called all of them to the witness stand. Patty Wasley, a former co-worker whose daughter dated and lived with Leas, said she was never concerned about her daughter's involvement with him.

Susan Nelson, a Northern Pride employee who works in human resources, said she would hire Leas again if she had any job openings.

Sharon Wold, a Northern Pride packaging line supervisor, testified Leas "seemed to get along with people." Yet, she noted he got into a confrontation with another employee when he first started his second stint of employment there. However, Leas and the other employee got along after that.

Sather also called Rhonda Walton, Leas' former neighbor and later landlord, to the witness stand Thursday. She said, "Cary was a very kind person. I never had a problem with him whatsoever."

Walton noted her kids had contact with Leas both when she was his neighbor and later landlord. She said her kids often went to Leas' home and never had inappropriate contact with him.

Also called to the witness stand Thursday was Al Melbye, a part-time Pennington County deputy sheriff. Melbye escorted Leas to and from the courtroom throughout the civil commitment hearing. He also supervised Leas during breaks in testimony.

Melbye, who was called to the stand by Helseth, testified about comments Leas had made Wednesday and Thursday to him. He said he told Helseth about the comments after Leas had made them.

Melbye testified Thursday that Leas made a comment Wednesday during a cigarette break that a reporter "looked nice," but Melbye said he wasn't directly quoting Leas. At the time, the reporter was walking past the two of them. She was one of several reporters covering the hearing.

In addition, Melbye testified about another comment Leas made Thursday morning. The two of them saw a female walking, and Melbye testified Leas said something to the effect that he could watch the female walk for a while. "I said to him, 'You do realize why you're here?'" said Melbye, who noted Leas emphasized they couldn't tell the female's age.

On cross-examination, Sather said other men make comments about attractive women. He asked Melbye why he told Helseth about the comments.

Referring to the civil commitment proceedings and Leas' history of sex offenses, Melbye said, "I did not know what relevancy it had, but it struck me as something she had to have."

County Board sets preliminary levy for 2006 at $3.8 million

Warren - A 2006 net levy of $3,822,691 was approved by the Marshall County Board of Commissioners at its Tuesday meeting. The levy amount is considered preliminary because while the levy will be certified to the state by Sept. 15, it could be reduced as budgets are adjusted and finalized, however, it cannot be increased.

The levy is based on the following proposed levies: revenue fund, $3,088,478; road and bridge fund, $600,000; social services fund, $1,123,330; and bonded debt fund of $109,130. These four amounts total $4,920,938, which is offset by $1,098,247 of state aids to the county, leaving the net levy of $3,822,691.

The 2006 net levy shows a 6.277 percent increase over the 2005 levy, the same percentage increase in the net levy as approved last year.

While the net levy will, potentially, be higher in 2006, the county tax rate will decline slightly, from 52.78 percent to 52.335 percent, based on estimated county tax capacity. - Warren Sheaf, Sept. 7, 2005

Mitch Bernstein appointed sheriff

Red Lake Falls - In June, Red Lake County commissioners learned of Sheriff Les Arlt's decision to retire from the Red Lake County Sheriff's Department. They decided to appoint Deputy Mitch Bernstein as interim sheriff until the election in November 2006. Bernstein will begin his duties as interim sheriff Oct. 1.

Bernstein grew up in the Grygla-Gatzke area, where his parents still reside. After graduating from high school in Grygla, he attended Northland Community College in Thief River Falls. He continued his education at North Dakota State University in Fargo, N.D. In January 1997, Bernstein was hired as a deputy for the Red Lake County Sheriff's Department. - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Sept. 7, 2005, by Tawnya Norman

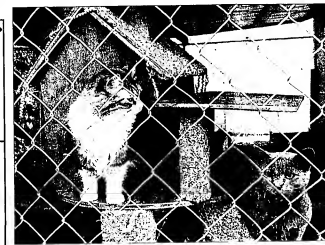
That's what happened 70 years ago when 26 members of the class of 1935 gathered for their class picture.

Like every class before them at Hallock High School, they stood proud in their caps and gowns, and smiled for the photographer.



Emmett Berg was there; he was class valedictorian. R.C. Nelson was there, too, as were Ruby Sorenson and Wilbur Lindgren.

"There we stood in the hottest place in town, posing for our photo, and we all thought it was being taken and there was no film in the camera," Nelson remembered.

These four Hallock residents, along with Merice Blide of Lake Mills, Wis., are the only remaining members of the class of 1935.

And they had a reunion of sorts Aug. 28 at the Hallock Senior Center. - Kittson County Enterprise, Sept. 7, 2005, by Cindy Stewart

Fundraiser begins

Providing a temporary shelter for pets is a never-ending task. Pennington County Humane Society is in the process of a major fundraising project. Since 1999, the nonprofit organization has adopted out 1,800 pets. These cats are among the many animals in need of a permanent shelter. For more information about how you can adopt a pet or make a donation to the organization, call 218-681-8045.

Humane Society keeps doors open with your support

by David Hill
Editor

The Pennington County Humane Society started in 1997 with nothing and members discovered that its hard work keeping the organization from going back to nothing.

The organization, consisting initially of a few concerned citizens, only wanted to provide a suitable shelter for abandoned pets and advocate responsible ownership. They started out with nothing.

Vicki Heckman, who served as the organization's president for many years, said thanks to Judi Bruggeman, they were able to lease some land and shelter. "We wouldn't have anything without Judi allowing us to lease her land for $1," said Heckman.

The organization had a pole barn renovated and began providing a shelter for pets that were either abandoned or left at the shelter by individuals who could no longer provide a home for pets.

Since 1999, the organization has adopted out over 1,800 pets.

It's a huge success story that affects a large portion of northwestern Minnesota - as far north as Roseau, in fact.

While the organization has been able to pay its bills, the rising costs of food, heat, and electricity, along with other costs, such as emergency medical care for the animals, are forcing the organization to a a month-to-month existence.

The Pennington County Humane Society advocates responsible pet care, which includes spaying and neutering pets. Unfortunately, not everyone is a responsible pet owner, and the number of abandoned pets remains constant.

Heckman said that if the pet is old enough, the Humane Society

Central Boiler joins recovery efforts

Donates more than $30,000 to Hurricane Katrina relief

In response to the recent disaster, Central Boiler/Central Fireplace announced Tuesday that they would donate to Hurricane Katrina relief funds. It will contribute $1 for every regular hour worked by each employee and $1.50 for every overtime hour worked during the month of September.

Dennis Brazier, CEO, said, "This method allows all employees to play a part and gives them a sense of ownership of the donation."

The manufacturer currently has 160 employees. The estimated contribution amount is expected to be more than $30,000, which will be utilized to aid victims and to provide critical assistance to the areas affected by Hurricane Katrina.

This contribution, based on hours worked by employees, comes at a time when Central Boiler is hiring more employees and increasing production in effort to keep up with sales. During the month of August, Central Boiler/Central Fireplace broke every sales record previously set.

"It is exciting because August isn't typically a record setting sales month for us," Brazier said. Record fuel prices, which started climbing in late May, have had a direct effect on sales. Many people are realizing the need for an alternative way to heat their homes due to fuel price increases. Energy costs are a major household or business expenditure, especially in harsher winter climates.

Scotty Torgerson publishes "Jacob Goes to the Moon"

by April Schelnoha

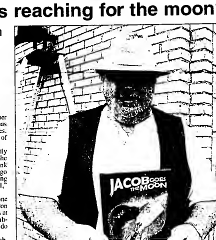
As a father of six and grandfather of two, Scotty Delray Torgerson has probably told countless stories. Now, others will be reading one of his stories.



The Grygla resident recently published "Jacob Goes to the Moon," a story about three skunk brothers who build a spaceship to go to the moon. "It's about working together and achieving a goal," Torgerson said.

"Jacob Goes to the Moon" is one of two children's books Torgerson has written. The other, "Christmas at Bear Paw Creek," has not been published. "I don't know if I'll ever do the other one," Torgerson said.

Even though he recently published "Jacob Goes to the Moon," Torgerson wrote the book 10 to 15 years ago. The book sat for years – not quite finished. That was until Torgerson let Jodi Mutnansky read it. Mutnansky encouraged him to publish it.

Upon finishing the book and finding people to illustrate and lay-out the book, Torgerson decided to

Thief River Falls

Don't duck out of the Annual VIP Duck Race

"I'm sorry, we don't allow pets in the store," was one comment offered in jest to a volunteer dressed up in a duck costume. It was one of many comments the volunteer received last week while selling raffle tickets for Violence Intervention Project's Third Annual Duck Race.

The Third Annual Duck race will take place this weekend at Hartz Park in Thief River Falls. To gear up for the event, a duck selling raffle tickets, visited local businesses this week.

The purpose of the event is to raise funds for Violence Intervention Project's (VIP) Umbrella Tree program, which provides a safe place for separated or divorced parents to exchange their children with no contact between adults. This makes the transition less stressful and allows for a more positive focus on the children. The program also provides supervised visits for non-custodial parents and their children. This program is utilized by many families in the seven-county region and is often included in court orders as a safety precaution for families.

The "duck" waddled to several locations on Wednesday selling tickets. People joked around, and several quacked at seeing a duck pass by. While waddling into Ben Franklin, the duck was told: "I'm sorry we don't allow pets in the store unless they're on a leash or in a cage." At Dakota Clinic, a witty elderly man said, "I'm sorry, mental health isn't open today."

The quips didn't discourage the duck. And the quacks and quips didn't hurt sales, either. Each raffle ticket number corresponds to a number on the bottom of a plastic duck. The ducks will be dropped into the Red Lake River from Hartz Park at 4 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 10. Prizes from the winning ducks include Chamber Bucks, a weekend getaway with Minnesota Viking'sTickets, two tickets and transportation to a concert in Grand Forks, N.D., and 50 other prize packages.

The Duck Race also benefits the Kiwanis Club's efforts to improve Northrop Park.

While the race starts at 4 p.m., there will be "Ducky" games for kids in the park starting at 3:30 p.m.

Lining up for the Great American Block Party and Everybody's Market

Don't Miss The Fourth Annual Great American Block Party on LaBree Avenue in downtown Thief River Falls on Saturday. Performing for crowds will be Saddle Tramp and The Roosters.

Bring your lawn chairs and dancing shoes. The excitement gets underway at 6 p.m. with Saddle Tramp. The Roosters will close out the evening beginning at 8 p.m.

In addition to great music, there will be food stands and beer gardens. For a $5 admission fee, you'll be able to enjoy this great line-up of entertainment.

Everybody's Market

Shoppers don't need an invitation to visit Thief River Falls on Saturday, but the Chamber of Commerce is reminding shoppers that it'll be a great day for shopping in Thief River Falls on Sept. 10. On that day, vendors will be selling crafts, baked goods, vegetables and wares on the streets and in Floyd B. Olson Park during the 21st Annual Everybody's Market on Saturday. Most of the vendors will be selling their products from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce has prepared a list of vendors for Everybody's Market. Vendors, the type of goods they're selling and the location of their booths during the event are as follows: Thelma Thomas, crocheted items and garden veggies, in front of Penneys; J&M Crafts, Mary Rohde, wood and metal items, in front of J.C. Penneys; Lou Ann Sirjord, quilts and pillows, Ben Franklin; St. Clement's Catholic Church, Betty Gonsorowski, baked goods, jam, jellies and vegetables, Lori's Hallmark; Sharron Keen, crocheted and handmade items, Ben Franklin; Bethany Lutheran Church, Carol Hammer, baked goods, garden

If you haven't noticed, it's apple season, and I have some interesting apple recipes for you. This is from a cookbook I got from Bunny at The Times. Remember Bunny at The Times? I still miss having her there even though I see her now and then.

Make yourself a breakfast smoothie with an apple - yummy and nutritious:

WAKE UP DRINK

1/3 to 1/2 cup yogurt
1 banana
1 cup orange juice
1 apple, cored and chopped (unpeeled)

Place all ingredients in blender and blend. Recipe serves 6.

Squash will soon be abundant too, so make this dish for a special fall meal:

CIDER BAKED ACORN SQUASH

2 medium acorn squash
1/2 cup apple cider
1/4 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon cinnamon
1/8 teaspoon mace (optional - sniff it to see if you would like it)

Slice squash in 1 inch circles and remove seeds. Place in 15x10 inch baking pan. Pour cider over squash.

Combine remaining ingredients and sprinkle over squash. Cover with foil and bake at 325 degrees for 45 minutes or until squash is tender. Serves 6.

I bet this tasty sauce would also be good on pork or fish:

CHICKEN WITH APPLES AND ONIONS

6 skinless chicken breast halves
1 cup sliced onion
1 tablespoon olive oil
2 cups sliced tart apples
1 tablespoon margarine or butter
1 1/2 cups apple juice
2 tablespoons honey
1/2 to 1 teaspoons salt

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Place chicken breasts in shallow baking pan. In skillet, sauté onions in olive oil until tender. Add apples and sauté for 1 more minute. Pour onions and apples over chicken.

Melt margarine or butter, then combine apple juice, honey, salt and melted butter and pour over chicken and vegetables. Bake 45 minutes or until chicken is cooked through. Serves 6.

(If desired, double marinade and thicken with cornstarch or flour to make a thicker gravy for chicken, potatoes, rice or other.)

This would be great for breakfast as well as an after-school snack, and this recipe makes two large loaves so you can have one for now and one for later:

INDIAN PUMPKIN-APPLE-SAUCE BREAD

2/3 cup butter or shortening
4 cups brown sugar
1 cup crushed pumpkin, cooked
4 eggs
3 1/2 cups flour
1 cup apple juice
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup nuts, chopped
1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
2 tablespoons soda
1 cup applesauce

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating all together well. Stir in applesauce and pumpkin.

Sift dry ingredients together and add with apple juice. Stir in nuts and pour into 2 greased bread pans. Bake for 1 hour at 350 degrees.

Use a canned filling for these bars, or cook up some apples to make your own "pie filling":

APPLE RAISIN BARS

Crumb Mixture:
2 cups flour
2 cups oats (quick cooking)
1-1/2 cups sugar
1-1/4 cups butter
1 teaspoon soda
Filling:
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup chopped pecans
20 ounce can apple pie filling
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg

In large bowl, combine all crumb mixture ingredients. Stir until well mixed. Reserve 1 1/2 cups crumb mixture. Press remaining crumb mixture into ungreased 9x13 inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15-20 minutes.

Meanwhile, combine all filling ingredients and stir well. Spread over hot crust, then sprinkle with reserved crumbs. Return to oven for 25-30 minutes. Cool completely before cutting. Makes 3 dozen bars.

Something really yummy for dessert tonight:

APPLE CRISP PIZZA

Pastry for a single crust pie
2/3 cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
4 medium apples, peeled and cut into 1/2 inch slices
Topping:
1/2 cup flour
1/3 cup brown sugar
1/3 cup rolled oats
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup softened butter
1/4 to 1/2 cup caramel ice cream topping or apple dip
Vanilla ice cream, if desired

Roll pastry to fit a 12 inch pizza pan. Fold dough under rim of pan or flute edges.

Combine sugar, flour and cinnamon. Add apples and toss. Arrange apples in a single layer in a circle pattern to completely cover the pastry. Combine first 5 topping ingredients and sprinkle over apples.

Bake at 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes, until apples are tender. Remove from oven and immediately drizzle with caramel. Serve warm with ice cream.

Volunteers urged not to appear at Camp Ripley

Minnesota Emergency Operations Information Center is requesting donated items for hurricane victims.

Organizations coordinating donations are asking Minnesotans to provide the following items for hurricane survivors: non-perishable foods that preferably can be opened without a can opener and do not need to be cooked (pop-top cans of soup, granola bars); personal hygiene products (toothpaste, toothbrushes, shampoo, soap, deodorant, toilet paper); baby formula, diapers, baby wipes; new clothing and outerwear (jackets, gloves, hats). All sizes of clothing are needed; used and old clothing will not be accepted. Cleaning items are also needed (in smaller containers, not jugs). Books and toys for people staying at Camp Ripley are also being accepted.

Hope for the City, a primary donation service, is also requesting 200 new baby strollers, 200 playpens and 200 cribs.

Volunteers or donations are not accepted at Camp Ripley. The requested goods will be delivered to Camp Ripley by organizations coordinating the donations. Individuals and groups should call the United Way 211 helpline for donation information.

Hope for the City is organizing approximately 32 semi-trailer loads of donated items and will distribute to Camp Ripley as needed. Due to the influx of donations, Hope for the City asks people to coordinate donations with local community and church groups, which will organize deliveries to Hope for the City for sorting and distribution.

Hope for the City donation drop-off locations are: Edina Realty locations at 6800 France Ave.; 150 Lake St. West, Wayzata; 2803 Lincoln Dr., Roseville; 1250 Yankee Doodle Rd., Eagan; 13603 80th Circle North, Maple Grove; and 520 Commons Dr., Woodbury. These locations are open through Sept. 11 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Donations are also accepted at the Mall of America north parking lot, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. through Sept. 11.

It's been a few years

Agassiz Swedish Heritage Society to host pea soup supper Sept. 22

Swedish pea soup and an evening of music are on the agenda for the upcoming Agassiz Swedish Heritage Society (ASHS) Thursday, Sept. 22, at 5:30 p.m. at Messiah Lutheran Church in Roseau.

Providing the music will be the Pine Grove Choristers of the Pine Grove Lutheran Church of rural Roseau.

A special report on their experiences at the Swedish Language camp this summer will be given by cousins Dawn and Olivia Comstock of Roseau. Agassiz Swedish Heritage Society provided half of their tuition scholarships.

Well known artist, Frances Karlsson of Roseau will display her paintings. In addition to the traditional yellow pea soup, the meal will feature Swedish dark bread and pudding. It is a national custom in Sweden that on Thursday, pea soup is served in many homes and restaurants. This stems from the Catholic era, from 1000 to 1540 A.D., when one was supposed to fill up on soup made with pork before fasting on Friday. Lutheranism is now the official religion, however the custom continues.

A freewill offering will be received for scholarships given by ASHS for the Swedish language camp.

ASHS board member Jane Comstock of Roseau is organizing the event. President June Mosbeck of Red Lake Falls is extending a cordial invitation to anyone of Swedish or non-Swedish decent, who is interested in attending the event. Messiah Lutheran Church is located at 502 Ninth Ave. N.E. in Roseau. Some streets are presently undergoing repair work, so the route to the church may not be direct.

MAELC grants available for agricultural education

The Minnesota Agricultural Education Leadership Council (MAELC) is accepting grant applications for the improvement of agricultural education across Minnesota. MAELC will be awarding up to $98,000 in new grants under two separate grant programs.

The MAELC Innovation Grants program will have $65,000 in funding available.

Additionally, the Program Improvement Grants will provide $33,000 for high schools and post-secondary programs emphasizing agricultural education in their classroom. All grant applications are due to MAELC Offices by Oct. 25.

The Program Improvement Grant program is a joint effort on behalf of MAELC and the Minnesota Association of Agricultural Educators (MAAE) to help with the grassroots efforts for the improvement of local agricultural education programs.

Tighter budgets make these grants even more viable for the improvement of agricultural education in Minnesota. Grant applications should be innovative in nature and focus on partnerships within ones community. Emphasis should also be placed on the impact the grant will make in their school, community, or organization.

MAELC invites all non-profit organizations that work with agricultural education to apply for a grant. Organizations eligible include schools, colleges, community organizations, FFA chapters and 4-H clubs. Since its establishment, MAELC has provided over $1.5 million in competitive grants, scholarships, sponsored projects and awards.

Grant applications can be obtained online at www.maelc.state.mn.us. Hard copies of the grant applications can be obtained by contacting MAELC offices at 612-624-6256, or e-mailing Ulrika Speckman, MAELC Program associate, at speck006@umn.edu

Hurricane survivors to arrive in MN on Sept. 13

Up to 500 survivors could arrive as part of 21-state relocation plan

FEMA has notified the Minnesota State Emergency Operations Center (SEOC) that Minnesota is scheduled to receive hurricane survivors on Tuesday, Sept. 13. The state can expect a maximum of 500 survivors to arrive then, but FEMA emphasizes that the number of evacuees and arrival date is subject to change.

FEMA has developed a relocation schedule for 21 states, including Minnesota. The schedule begins today and continues through Wednesday, September 14.

"Minnesota is prepared and ready to welcome hurricane survivors," says Michael Campion, commissioner of the Department of Public Safety. "Our state is committed to helping these survivors through this difficult time. The response across Minnesota, from volunteers to state officials to our National Guard, has been overwhelmingly positive."

State officials continue to request that Hurricane Katrina survivors who have already self-evacuated to Minnesota contact the State Emergency Operations Center (SEOC) hotline at 651-297-1304, 1-800-657-3504, TTY 1-800-657-3822.

Survivors will be asked if they have registered with FEMA, Red Cross and their local county social service agency. Survivors will be asked of their immediate needs, and needs of their sponsor organization/family.

NCTC produces a variety radio show

This year, a joint venture between the Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) Music Department and NCTC Pioneer Radio will be presented Sept. 15 at 7 p.m. in the NCTC auditorium and in listeners' own homes. Yes, listeners can hear performances by college and local performers by tuning into Pioneer 90.1 or seeing them in person as the magic happens.

This will be the first event of its kind at NCTC, and with listeners' support and involvement, there are plans to make this a biannual event. The second event for this school year is planned Feb. 16. To participate, call Travis Ryder at (218) 681-0791 to sign up with any radio-friendly act.

Acts currently planned for this event are mostly NCTC students at this time, but there are also community members involved. Community performers scheduled for the evening are the Robber River Boys with Mike Sorteberg, Jay Fomey and Milo Ballingrud. The Would Picks have also been invited.

NCTC students scheduled to perform are the Northland Chamber Choir, performing a couple of lighter pop numbers; Anthony Diaz on acoustic guitar as well as a bluegrass group that he has formed; vocalist Jackie Keogh; and classical piano by Jonathan Kays. The NCTC music faculty, including Vanessa Martell, Catherine Hagen and Linda Samuelson, are also scheduled to perform a couple of entertaining numbers as well as an opera selection to change it up a bit.

Performers are encouraged to keep the Feb. 16 date in mind and call Linda Samuelson, NCTC music director, at (218) 681-0733 and get themselves or their groups booked for an evening of fun.

Hospital Association to conduct annual meeting

Northwest Medical Center (NWMC) Association will hold its annual meeting beginning at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 13, in the Summit Room of the Best Western in Thief River Falls. The primary business to be conducted during this meeting will be the election of two directors to serve three-year terms on the board of directors. Lyle D. Hanson and Jodie R. Torkelson have been nominated to fill those terms.

The NWMC Board of Directors Nominating Committee is charged with the responsibility of nominating candidates who will most effectively serve the hospital and its mission of satisfying the community's healthcare needs now and into the future. The Nominating Committee placed Hanson and Torkelson's names into nomination for the three-year terms. No nominations were received through the petition process outlined in the Association's bylaws.

The annual meeting will also include various reports from officers and committees. Presentations on obstetrics and the NWMC Life Fitness Center will also be delivered. This will be another opportunity for the Association's membership to meet NWMC's new chief executive officer, Chris Harff. Harff will give a brief presentation. Michael Bass, M.D., chief of medical staff, will also give a presentation.

In addition, NWMC will be offering blood pressure checks.

Registration for the meeting will begin at 5:30 p.m. in the swimming pool area adjacent to the Summit Room. The polling booths will open at 5:30 and close at or about 7 p.m. There will be no absentee or proxy balloting allowed. To be eligible to vote, an individual must be a member of the Association, and vote in person.

NWMC has announced that it hopes to distribute the April 30, 2005, NWMC Annual Report in the Northern Watch by the end of September 2005.

Middle River area residents attend visioning session

About 25 Middle River adults and many children met for supper on Aug. 16 at the Middle River School. A magic show for the children followed, while the adults met for a discussion/visioning session on early care and education.

The evening was sponsored by the Marshall County Early Childhood Initiative, coordinated locally by Sharon Noethe and countywide by Sheree Setterholm. The Early Childhood Initiative brings funds to the Middle River community from the Northwest Minnesota Foundation, so that all of Middle River's youngest children receive the opportunities, care and learning they need to reach school ready to thrive. The community has a chance to plan projects together to make this happen in Middle River.

The visioning session brought out the following ideas and others concerning early care and education.

• "We have good resources available for mental health services for families. We need to get the word out and break down barriers to using them."

• "We could use more resources to encourage good infant-toddler mental health (social-emotional development) so the children grow up more stable, with self-control and are able to form good relationships.

• "We worry about the effects of alcohol abuse in the family, poor nutrition, childhood obesity and drugs as they impact young children."

• "We see the benefits of programs such as Head Start, Early Childhood Family Education (ECFE), School Readiness and good quality childcare. We want all children to have access to these things.'

• "We would like more programs for parents and very young children, 0-3 years, and to find ways to encourage parents to attend."

• "We would like to have more law enforcement officers in our communities. It seems that there are just not enough to cover the whole area."

• "We think Head Start and ECFE could benefit from more combined programming and that families would benefit as well."

• "We want parents to be able to get to know each other better through informal parent networks."

• "We know there is not enough childcare and think it would be good to have a childcare center in addition to more quality childcare."

• "We would like more activities for families and more speakers for parents and caregivers on child development and parenting."

The next meeting of the Middle River Early Childhood Initiative will be Thursday, Sept. 15, at the Middle River School beginning at 6:30 p.m. Childcare is available, but no supper will be served.

Something for everyone

Mergansers are a type of duck that God invented so that hunters don't actually have to hit something in order to record a kill in the field. Really. Mergansers will die even if you don't hit them with a single steel pellet. Now, that's not as good as it sounds when you consider that if you bag a merganser you're probably under some ethical pressure to take the thing home and eat it. And, while I normally cringe when I think of biting into a roasted duck and grinding my molars across a bee-bee, when it comes to merganser, odds are pretty good that the bee-bee will be the best part of the eating experience. And if you haven't actually hit them, then the opportunity to taste steel between your teeth is lost. Simply put, they eat fish and taste like crap. No, not carp, crap. But they're horribly easy to kill and they look like a mallard when they lumber past your decoys in the early morning light, doing their best to hide that pointed beak that identifies them as something that Mother Nature should keep to herself. They usually arrive in flocks of four or five and when you swing the barrel of a 12 gauge across their flight path and fire but a single shot, most, if not all, will fall. Every time. No kidding. As a matter of fact, if you simply stand up and yell "Bang!" at the top of your lungs, one or two will drop dead. Try it. Better yet, don't. 'Cause then you'd have to eat one.

I took a crack at some "sporting clays" this past week, thinking the shooting would be an appropriate warm-up for the fall's hunting seasons. "Sporting Clays" are an imaginative variation on skeet shooting. Clay pigeons are presented in various fashions to resemble different wild game situations. For example, long, flat passing shots are similar to what a duck hunter might encounter with decoy-shy bluebills. Walking shots at "birds" going away replicate a pheasant flight. Pairs of clay pigeons arcing out and down together have a distinctly quail feel. Rolling and bouncing clays along the ground are called rabbits, for obvious reasons. A round is 50 targets, fired at in four shot sequences. It's intended to be casual, competitive, and fun. And it is...until you actually have to shoot at the stupid things.

These are horribly fragile targets. Hey, they're made of clay. The boxes they come in actually have "Fragile-Handle like Eggs" stamped all over them. Sometimes they even break just from the force of the spring-loaded thrower arm as they're jettisoned across the grass in front of you. (No, they don't let you count those in your score). You'd think it would be a no-brainer. All it takes to break them in half is one bee-bee from the load of 80 or 90 that's spewing out of the barrel of your shotgun. One stinking bee-bee. This means that, after my first round, approximately 4,487 bee-bees fell unfulfilled into the anonymous tundra backing the sporting clays range. That's a score of 13, you Bozo, do I have to spell it out?

Four "mallards" managed to descend unmolested into the short popples at the edge of the range. A half dozen "pheasants" cackled their way to freedom at the expense of my outdoor ego. Several "teal" whistled happily past the end of my impotent gun barrel before sliding quietly into a thick patch of field weeds. Four "rabbits" darted mere feet beyond my boot-tips before disappearing into the sedge by the creek. I felt as though I was auditioning for the role of Elmer Fudd in a Bugs Bunny revival. Under, over, behind, ahead. Everywhere, it seemed, but on. I was glad my dinner didn't depend on what I was hitting, as it would have in the field, though the amount of pride I had to swallow would have made getting anything else down an impossibility.

And when I finished the round and my score of 13 was greeted with giggles and catcalls, I felt it was my right to demand shots at one more set of targets. If this was, after all, a true effort at replicating the situations that a hunter would encounter in the wild, then it should be complete. Not all wild game is as difficult to put a bead on as a speeding teal or a bounding rabbit. Determining the lead on a down-wind bluebill or the elusive path of a darting quail are some of the more difficult tasks that a day in the field usually present. What about the more basic of outdoor acts?

I stuffed two more shells into the 12 gauge, "Now, let's finish up with a couple of those 'mergansers.'"

Waterfowl group plans Youth Hunt event

A child's first hunting experience can be a formative event. Members of the Wild Goose Chapter of the Minnesota Waterfowl Association know that a successful hunt doesn't necessarily mean bagging game, so they've decided to do their best to make sure some area youngsters enjoy their first hunting experience.

The Wild Goose Chapter of the Minnesota Waterfowl Association will be sponsoring a special event for youth interested in participating in Youth Waterfowl Hunting Day on Sept. 17. Interested youth and parents need to contact the club to sign up for the limited number of spots.

This is the second time the Wild Goose Chapter in Middle River has sponsored a youth hunt. Over a dozen youth signed up for the first successful youth hunt.

On Sept. 17, Wild Goose Chapter committee members will take young hunters (age 15 and under) hunting for the morning. A parent or guardian must accompany any child that does not yet have a Hunter's Safety Certificate. Youth who have completed the Hunter Safety course need to bring their certificates with them.

Interested participants need to bring their own gun. The Wild Goose Chapter will provide decoys and fields to hunt on. Parents are welcome and encouraged to bring along a camera or camcorder. Photos will be taken in the Middle River City Park by the community's newly constructed statue that was constructed by chapter members.

The organization will be providing a breakfast after the hunt for all participants, including parents and guardians.

There is a limit to the number of youth the organization is capable of taking on this hunt. To sign up for the youth hunt, contact a Wild Goose chapter member: DelRay Beito at 222-3043 or 222-3791, or Wayne Johaneson at 681-2074, or Scottie Peterson at 222-4444 or 222-3469.

The youth hunt and breakfast is free to all participants.

Chapter Fundraising Banquet

The Wild Goose Chapter of the Minnesota Waterfowl Association will hold its annual fundraising banquet the evening of Sept. 17. Contact any member to purchase tickets: Josh Veselka, Mike Brazier, Wayne Klemetson, Dennis Blazejewski, Ryan Johnson, Matt Schaumburg, Joel Huener or Paul Telander.

The chapter mission is to give youth the opportunity to experience the outdoors. Remember, "a successful hunt does not necessarily mean bagging the game, as it is having a gratifying experience being outdoors."

Report cards give passing grades to region's public schools

While there are many problems with the No Child Left Behind Law (NCLB), it has focused the efforts of educators. Math, reading and writing remain critical components of NCLB, but educators are also being challenged to modify methods of teaching and to reach out to more students. It's a difficult challenge, especially so when classroom numbers fluctuate, and the gap in knowledge and skill between students of the same age continues to grow. Nevertheless, results from recent state report cards show that area schools and teachers have embraced the challenge.

State report cards that were recently released, and are available to anyone with access to a computer, provide the public with the tools to check on the progress of their schools. (The Web site is www.education.state.mn.us.) Those report cards provide a great deal of information that citizens might find helpful.

You might be pleased to learn that all of the school districts within our readership area met standards for Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). Some area schools reported exceptional results from Minnesota Comprehensive Assessments. With five stars being the highest, Greenbush Elementary School received four stars in reading and five in math. Greenbush-Middle River Junior High scored five in reading and four in math. Middle River Elementary scored five stars in reading and three in math. Newfolden Elementary scored five stars in both reading and math. Oklee elementary scored five stars in math and four in reading. Franklin Middle School and Challenger Elementary School in Thief River Falls received four out of five stars in reading.

The trick, or rub, is the increasingly challenging standards, which means that making the grade will continue to be more difficult. In fact, unless there are changes in NCLB, there will come a point when most schools cannot make the grade.

Educators have little choice. They must rise to the challenge. In Thief River Falls, Superintendent Irv Peterson stated in his Aug. 31 column, that there are tremendous opportunities for students in the District, and "we are working every year to increase and improve those opportunities." He added, that "No Child Left Behind, the federal education law, mandates that we provide excellence for all our students and that we demand high quality from all our students. We are embracing that challenge in our district."

From the results listed on the state education Web site, I do not doubt that superintendents and teachers throughout the region are embracing the challenge.

Minnesota Governor Tim Pawlenty stated recently that "Over the past two-and-a-half years we have established clear and rigorous standards, set high expectations and brought accountability to our schools. The results show that the hard work of Minnesota educators is paying off with real and measurable improvements in the classroom."

I encourage you to check the results, and as citizens, I urge you to continue to demand excellence from your schools, but most importantly, I urge you to visit with your child's educators. It should be obvious to everyone that parents have a significant impact on a child's education. A solid foundation in education begins at home.

Mustangs sweep Thief River Falls in volleyball, 3-0

Red Lake County Central picked up its first win of the season and Thief River Falls was tagged with its first loss Tuesday when the Mustangs swept the Prowlers 3-0 in a high school volleyball match played at Plummer.

After losing matches against Lake of the Woods, currently the No. 1-ranked Class AA team in the state, and Fosston, the defending Class A state champion, in Week 1, the Mustangs won three close games against the Class AAA Prowlers, 25-19, 25-22, 25-21.

Red Lake County Central rallied from a 14-7 Game 2 deficit to take a 2-0 lead that provided the momentum for the sweep.

Thief River Falls opened the 2005 season last week with a 3-0 win over Crookston.

"We played well," said Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray. "It was a good win after losing those first two. We missed too many serves, but our defense picked up over our performances against Lake of the Woods and Fosston."

The Mustangs' attack featured 14 kills by Courtney Halvorson and 30 assists by Betsy Winkler.

"We could have played much better," offered Thief River Falls coach Tammy Sparby. "We were concentrating so much on defending Courtney Halvorson we forgot about our offense. We didn't play aggressively, and that was frustrating."

Thief River Falls won the junior varsity match 25-20, 25-10 for a 2-0 start to the 2005 season.

Scoring

■ Kills - (TRF) Becca Larson 7, Sarah Michaels 7, Jessica Gustafson 6, Shawna Rogalla 6; (RLCC) Courtney Halvorson 14, Brittany Gustafson 8.

■ Assists - (TRF) Halley Stokke 10, Beth Marben 6; (RLCC) Betsy Winkler 30.

■ Aces - (TRF) Jessica Gustafson 3, Shawna Rogalla 3, Beth Marben 2; (RLCC) Jill Rewertz 3.

The 2005 opener for the Gators marked the debut of new head coach Stacy Dahl, who succeeded Christine Adrian in a position Adrian held for the past eight years. Dahl moved up from the assistant ranks.

Scoring

■ Kills - (Roseau) Amy Broten 10, Sada Puckett 7, Tonya Timmerman 7, Shantel Janisch 5; (B/G-MR) Jessica Peterson 6, Kaley Makash 6, Liz Schonkay 3.

■ Assists - (Roseau) Katie Longlie 23; (B/G-MR) Reggie Wollin 10, Cassy Campbell 8.

Itasca teammates Joslin Geisler (4) and Andi Deutsch (10) combined on a block against Northland hitter Amber Stirling during Wednesday's Minnesota Community College Conference volleyball match in Thief River Falls. The Vikings beat the Pioneers 3-0.

Itasca 3-0 volleyball winner vs. Pioneers

A nearly-flawless performance by Itasca and a mistake-prone outing by Northland added up to a one-sided 3-0 win for the visiting Vikings Wednesday in Minnesota Community College Conference volleyball.

It took just 64 minutes for Itasca to complete the 30-17, 30-16, 30-13 sweep in the 2005 Northern Division opener for both teams.

"Itasca didn't make mistakes," explained Northland coach Missy Majerus. "I don't want to take anything away from them – they played very well – but we definitely beat ourselves."

Itasca, 5-0 overall, dominated. The Vikings turned a 10-5 lead in Game 1 to a 20-11 spread and was never challenged. They had leads of 10-3 and 20-9 in both the second and third games.

Northland had a dozen service errors and just as much trouble receiving the serve.

"I think it was a case of first home-game jitters," offered Majerus, whose team began the year with an 0-3 tournament appearance the previous week in Binghamton, N.Y. "We've got kids playing different positions, and we've got a lot of young kids who were nervous playing at home for the first time."

A Northland Northern Division homestand continued with a Friday night match against Vermilion and a noon contest today (Saturday) vs. Mesabi Range.

Jill Leppegaard of Northland put the ball in play with this serve reception during Wednesday's college volleyball match against Itasca.

NCTC Scoring

■ Kills - Amber Stirling 4, Kelli Jo Sto Marie 4, LoAnn Haugen 3.

■ Assists - Kelli Rutherford 12.

■ Aces - Amber Stirling 1, Angie Oegner 1.

■ Digs - Kelli Jo Sto. Marie 10.

NCTC starts with rally, win

An injury to starter Chris Blanchette opened the door for Calvin Tolliver, and the freshman quarterback from Atlanta made the most of the opportunity, leading Northland to a come-from-behind 40-31 season-opening win over host Fergus Falls Saturday in Minnesota Community College Conference football.

Northland trailed 17-0 when Tolliver stepped under center in the second quarter. He scored on a 1-yard run and threw a 35-yard touchdown pass to Michael Hall as the Pioneers closed the gap to 17-14 at halftime.

The two teams swapped leads in a back-and-forth second quarter. A second one-yard touchdown by Tolliver gave the Pioneers their first lead, 20-17, but Wes Stettner answered with an 8-yard scoring pass to Chris Ohren to put Fergus Falls back on top 24-20.

Davon Gillmore hit the end zone from a yard out to give Northland a second lead, 28-24, only to have Stettner hook up with Ohren again, this time on a 12-yard pass, as the Spartans regained a 31-28 edge at the quarter break.

Northland's defense kept Fergus Falls off the scoreboard in the final quarter, and the Pioneers' offense continued to roll as Deonte Lewis and Steve Stene scored on runs of 1 and 5 yards, respectively, to cement the win.

Tolliver was 7-for-10 passing, good for 160 yards and a touchdown. He was intercepted once.

Lewis, a freshman running back from Milwaukee, had a 14-carry, 171-yard rushing performance.

Danny O'Neill (Hancock, Ia.), Chris Lee (St. Louis) and Alfred Boyd (Northlake, Ill.) had interceptions for the winners, with Lee also blocking a punt that set up a Northland touchdown.

The Pioneers are on the road again today (Saturday), but it's a neutral site 2:30 p.m. match-up with Ridgewater at St. Cloud State University as part of the annual MCCC Kickoff Classic.

Prowlers run in W-DC meet

An opportunity to run against new opponents was part of the draw for the Thief River Falls boys and girls high school cross country teams Tuesday as the Prowlers competed in the Wadena-Deer Creek Invitational on the Whitetail Run Golf Course.

The boys' team title went to the host Wolverines. Fergus Falls girls also took home a team trophy.

There were 13 full teams in the boys varsity portion of the event, 12 in the girls line-up. Thief River Falls trailed in the field in both races.

Individual winners were Doug Jasken of Long Prairie-Grey Eagle and Hanna Grinaker of Detroit Lakes.

Tim Saylor and Chelsea Sorteberg were the Prowlers' top runners.

Thief River Falls' Brendan Skime was the individual winner in the boys junior high race.

First-year Thief River Falls coach Rick Karboviak was frustrated with placing and scoring mix-ups at the finish line that failed to produce official times for many competitors, but said the Prowlers ran well. "It was a tough field on all ends, and we all got better in some way today," he said. "I was pleased with our team's performance. Our girls varsity stuck together well, and helped each other out. Our boys put up a great effort, too, with most getting better times and noticeably stronger kicks at the end."

The first place run by Skime highlighted the Thief River Falls results, according to Karboviak. "Our junior high teams ran real strong," he said. "Brendan really cranked it out and tested himself well. I was proud of his effort."

Roseau race is latest stop for TRF runners

Thursday's Roseau Invitational was the latest stop for the Thief River Falls boys and girls high school cross country team.

Although the Prowlers finished back in the pack, Thief River Falls head coach Rick Karboviak was satisfied with his team's performance at each level. "We ran much stronger in today's race, and mostly everyone carried themselves well," he said.

Led by Moses Heppner, Warroad took both team and individual titles in the varsity boys race. Kelsey Aune and East Grand Forks duplicated that feat for the varsity girls.

Brendan Skime of Thief River Falls won his second straight junior high race. Thief River Falls was a second-place team finisher in the girls junior high competition.

"Our junior high squads got a big boost of confidence today," noted Karboviak, who mixed his varsity and junior varsity line-ups against a smaller, more localized field. "We've been racing mostly southern teams. Now we have had a look at the northern ones."

The Prowlers will work on maintaining their early-race speed over longer distances in practice, explained Karboviak, whose team has just one meet next week – Monday at Warroad. "Based on everyone's 1000 meter average splits, we are steadily improving on that end of things," he said. "We made it through a tough three days of running, with two meets mixed in, so next week should allow us to build on what we've accomplished so far."

With top challenger Northern State Bank already turning in a five-man 242, Leines stepped up as the final shooter for the Red Lake Falls squad needing to break 48 of his 50 targets for a tie and 49 for an outright win. He finished with a 50-straight.

Teammate Darryl Cymbaluk also had a 50, while Leroy Christianson and Art Klipping both hit 49 and Earl Strand had a 46 to round out the five scores that counted in the team total.

Top teams in the regular season First and Second Half point standings qualified for the team championship.

Wildlife conservation grants available

Approximately $1 million in grants will be available to protect Minnesota's fish and wildlife species with the greatest conservation needs, according to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

Cities, counties, universities, conservation organizations and individuals are eligible to apply for the grants, which must address one or more priority conservation actions identified in the DNR's draft Comprehensive Wildlife Conservation Strategy.

"Our goal is to work proactively to keep wildlife off the endangered species list," said Lee Pfannmuller, director of the DNR Division of Ecological Services. "In past years, funding tied to this program has been used for Blanding's turtle research as well as restoring Karner Blue Butterfly and Henslow's sparrow habitat."

The grants, which typically range from $25,000 to $200,000, require a 50 percent match with non-federal funds. Total project costs range from $50,000 to $400,000.

Eligible project activities for the program include surveys, research, habitat management, population management, monitoring, land acquisition and technical guidance. Projects focused on wildlife education or recreation are not eligible. The deadline for proposals is 4:30 p.m. Oct. 3. All projects require a DNR liaison and must be completed by Dec. 31, 2007.

Electronic proposals are encouraged. A hard copy may be submitted, but a disk containing the proposal in MS Word must also be included. Submit proposals to: Lee A. Pfannmuller, DNR Ecological Services, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4025. Proposals may not be submitted by fax.

To obtain a copy of the Minnesota State Wildlife Grants Program Request for Proposals, visit the DNR Web site at www.dnr.state.mn.us or call the DNR Information Center toll free at 1-888-646-6367. A copy of the draft Comprehensive Wildlife Conservation Strategy is available at http://www.dnr.state.mn.us/cwcs/feedback.html.

Local drivers probably did a double-take when they saw wind turbine blades like this one traveling on rail cars en route to Rusk Lake, Saskatchewan, Canada. The train carrying this end other blades traveled through Thief River Falls June 25. More trains carrying wind turbine blades and generators will travel through the city until December. (Submitted photo)

Canadian Pacific brings wind power to the prairies

Harnessing wind power is fast becoming a popular way for Canadian power generation companies to provide environmentally friendly power solutions. Canadian Pacific Logistics Solutions (CPLS) is playing its part to feed the demand for wind power through a multi-million dollar transportation deal recently signed with Vestas Canadian Wind Technology.

Vestas, a leading provider of wind turbines in North America, is creating an 84-structure wind farm at Hak, Saskatchewan, Canada. To build the wind farm, the company must bring the European-manufactured equipment needed for the project to the prairies. That is where CPLS and Canadian Pacific Railway come into play.

Until December, CPLS will facilitate the move of seven trains, each filled with dozens of blades and generators, called nacelles, from the Port of Houston to Hak. Traveling over rail, each 67-car train will carry the equipment to build 12 wind turbines. Those trains have traveled through Thief River Falls.

David Walker, CPLS business development manager, said moving the wind turbine equipment required careful planning. "If you've ever seen a wind turbine, you can appreciate the magnitude of the task we are faced with – each blade alone is 125 feet long."

Claus Justesen, Vestas transport coordinator, is pleased with the solutions offered by CPLS. "The service will enable Vestas to service its customers in Canada in a timely and cost-efficient manner as well as eliminate numerous obstructions to roadway traffic."

The wind turbine equipment will be combined with Saskatoon-manufactured towers and erected to create an 84-structure wind farm at Rusk Lake, Saskatchewan, Canada. The movement of the blades and nacelles began in May. Six other trains will follow in three-week intervals until all the equipment has arrived at its destination.

Fall Gathering of Cluster I Women scheduled

Riverside Lutheran Church of Wannaska will host the Fall Gathering of Cluster I Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. The gathering will be held Saturday, Sept. 17 beginning with coffee and registration at 9 a.m. There is a $5 registration fee and $5 charge for lunch.

"Autumn Leaves" is the theme for the day and also the topic of guest speaker Bev Slevin of Roseau. There will also be special music, socialization time, hymn sings and a short business meeting, which will adjourn at noon when a luncheon will be served.

Deer hides help wildlife habitat purposes

With archery season right around the corner, consider what you will do with the hide of your harvested deer. Options abound where you can trade the hide for a cheap pair of gloves or a small knife. Instead, why not look for a donation box that says "Hides for Habitat" and contribute to Minnesota Deer Hunters Association's efforts for acquiring and restoring public hunting land.

In 2004, MDHA's Chapter volunteers worked hard to collect over 46,000 hides and raised more than $219,000. Those hides made it possible for MDHA and its Chapters to donate two new 80-acre wildlife management areas that will be open to public hunting.

To make the most of this donation opportunity, some simple guidelines will ensure the highest quality rating of donated hides.

• Remove the hide quickly: Hides are most easily removed when the carcass is fresh and preferably warm. This minimizes the amount of cutting required. Gauze game bags are available from most local sporting goods stores and should be placed over the meat to protect it from dirt and insects during travel and until butchering.

• Pull hides, do not cut: "Pulled" hides provide higher returns than "cut" hides. "Pulled" hides are removed from the deer with minimal knife use and simply pulled off the carcass. "Cut" hides most often have scores or cut marks and holes in them that blemish the tanned hide, reducing the value.

• Hides only: Hides need not be fleshed or scraped. Do not include any heads, feet, or lower legs with your hide donation. The hide is the only portion of the deer that MDHA Chapters can use.

• How to donate: 45 of MDHA's 61 Chapters participate in the Hides for Habitat Program, so finding a local donation point is easy. Simply roll the hide and tie it up or place in a paper bag (plastic bags speed spoilage), and drop it in a box that says "Hides for Habitat!" For the drop box location nearest to you, visit MDHA's Web site at www.mndeerhunters.com or call 800-450-3337, ext 12.

Minnesota Deer Hunters Association is a nonprofit conservation organization dedicated to perpetuating deer hunting heritage in Minnesota by focusing on habitat, legislation, and education.

Humane Society keeps doors open with your support

will have it spayed or neutered, which costs them about $100, on average. From experience, they've learned that an adoption fee of about $50 is about all that the market will bear, which means they have to pick up the additional cost.

Heckman said the organization has a good working relationship with veterinarians in the Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls area, but the organization's veterinarian expenses still amount to about $1,000 per month. The organization has applied for lots of grants, but many have been denied because the organization does not have a veterinarian on staff to provide medical treatment to animals they have in their care. There are lots of other expenses, too. Heckman said the only way they are able to keep the doors open is through memberships and donations. Right now, she said, the bottom line is that the Humane Society needs to raise money to keep operating.

Throughout the year, the Humane Society sponsors several fundraising events, such as: an annual rummage sale at the Curling Club; change boxes at convenience stores; membership drivers; donations from individuals and organizations; and maybe even a penny war at local schools.

The organization keeps a low profile, but it's always looking for new members and volunteers. Volunteers often show up on weekends to help walk and exercise pets, but volunteers are welcome anytime.

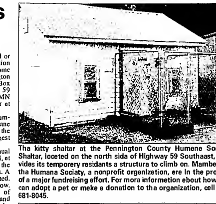
Dawn Williamson, operations manager, noted that there are some misconceptions about the facility. One of the misconceptions out there that bothers them the most is that most of the donations pay for administrative expenses. Williamson said administrative expenses amount to a small percentage of the total cost of operating the facility.

Although the Pennington County Humane Society meets the definition of a no-kill shelter, members realize that there may be medical reasons why a pet cannot be kept alive. Aggressive pets may also be unadoptable.

The shelter accepts pets from a wide area, but most of the animals that arrive at the shelter come from the Thief River Falls Animal Pound. Williamson said they have a very good relationship with local police, especially Tim Miller, and a good relationship with local veterinarians.

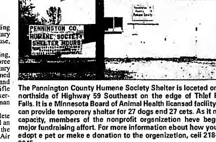
The facility is also a Minnesota Board of Animal Health licensed facility. It can hold up to 27 dogs and 27 cats. Williamson said an inspector conducts unannounced inspections and has never found a violation or a problem at the facility. As of last week, the facility had 21 dogs and close to 27 cats.

The Humane Society is also beginning to get underway with its latest project: a building expansion to house new animals in an isolation area in order to prevent sick animals from spreading an illness to the general population; an area to interact with pets before adoption; and, space for storage and equipment. Monies given by individuals, grants from the Hartz Foundation and Springsteen Foundation are being held in a restricted account to be used only for this special project.



There's a corp of about 10 members who do much of the work, but there are great many more who help make it possible for the shelter to continue to operate. Heckman and Williamson would love to have more members and volunteers join the ranks of responsible and caring pet owners and members.

How you can help



The Pennington County Humane Society is planning a number of fundraising events. It recently sent a newsletter to members and several other individuals encouraging them to renew their memberships and or make a donation. For information about the organization or to become a member, contact the Pennington County Humane Society at P.O. Box 64, 15598, U.S. Highway 59 Southeast, Thief River Falls, MN 56701; or call 218-681-8045; or at its Web site: www.pawstrf.org.

Rummage sale. The annual rummage sale benefiting the Humane Society will be on September 10. the one-day event is the biggest fundraiser for the organization.

Burger feed. The First Annual "Woof-Stock" will be October 14, at 7 p.m. The burger feed will be at the Eagles Club in Thief River Falls. A free-will donation will be accepted. Raffle tickets are being sold now. The winner of the first prize of $1,000, second prize of $300, and third prize of $200 will be announced at this event. All proceeds will go to the operations of and expansions project.

The kitty shelter at the Pennington County Humane Society Shelter, located on the north side of Highway 59 Southeast, provides its temporary residents a structure to climb on. Members of the Humane Society, a nonprofit organization, are in the process of a major fundraising effort. For more information about how you can adopt a pet or make a donation to the organization, call 218-681-8045.

The Pennington County Humane Society Shelter is located on the northside of Highway 59 Southeast on the edge of Thief River Falls. publish it himself.

"For every book that wants to be published, there's a million standing in the way," said Torgerson about why he decided to publish it himself.

He should know. Torgerson has written songs for six albums and recorded over 60 songs, so he knows what it's like to be waiting in the wings while someone else's work is chosen.

Torgerson is glad he chose to finish and publish his work. "It feels wonderful," he said.

Even though it took him several weeks to write this book, Torgerson is not sure whether he will write and publish another book. "I'll have to see how this one goes," he said.

But Torgerson enjoys the process of writing – whether it be a song or book. Noting he usually writes until he can't anymore, he said, "It's always fun when you get an idea."

The $8.50 book is available at Erl's Market, Gemini Java and Petro Pumper in Thief River Falls, and at the Grygla Co-op Store.

Ring lost in Alaska found 20 years later in Goodridge

Journey of this ring begins in 1981 in the community of Goodridge

by April Scheinohn
Reporter

Sometimes life is stranger than fiction, and two Goodridge families recently realized that when a missing class ring returned from Fairbanks, Alaska.

The journey began in 1985. At that time, Doug Horachek was working at a logging company in Fairbanks. While there, he lost his Goodridge High School class ring. After returning home, he eventually began dating Heidi, who he would later marry. Since they were dating, she had asked if she could wear Doug's class ring on a necklace. It was then that Doug realized he had lost his class ring.

"It wasn't official back then," Doug joked about the status of his relationship with Heidi.

Twenty years later, the ring reappeared in an unlikely place. Sheri Lallier, who lives about four miles from Doug and Heidi, was cleaning a shed on her family farm. Sheri moved back to her family farm a month ago with her husband, Andrew, and their two children.

"We were cleaning stuff up because we had a few renters out there," Sheri said.

As Sheri was moving a garbage bag, the bag broke open. She looked closer and found a class of 1981 ring. Sheri put the ring in her pocket and didn't give it too much thought.

Sheri eventually told her husband about the ring, and they looked at the ring to determine who owned the ring. Andrew noted they had seen the initials "DAH" inside the ring.

Sheri mentioned the ring to her father. They grabbed a calculator to figure out how old the owner would be. Since she had grown up in the Goodridge area, Sheri racked her brain as to who owned the ring. She eventually thought of Doug because he was about the age of someone who would have graduated in 1981. Andrew noted that the middle initial of "A" could stand for Adam, which also happens to be the name of Doug's son.

Andrew, Sheri and their two kids, Shayla and Zadin, drove to Doug and Heidi's home. They quizzed Doug without him realizing why they were quizzing him.

"First of all, we asked you your middle name," Sheri recalled while talking to Doug days later. Doug responded that his middle name was Adam.

Sheri then asked whether Doug graduated in 1981. "Then she says, 'Did you lose something when you were in high school,'" Doug recalled.

Sheri then pulled the ring out of her pocket. "He just about went through the roof," Sheri remembered.

The ring featured Doug's birthstone as well as the year of his high school graduation coming out of a

Business makes hunt a little less challenging

Snake River Outfitters donates hunt to 14-year-old hunter

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Dylan Connors, 13, Wilmington, Ohio, will celebrate his 14th birthday hunting in northwest Minnesota, courtesy of Snake River Outfitters. Dylan, who will hunt with his father, Dale, is the winner of a Physically Challenged Bow Hunters Association (PCBA) drawing that rewarded guided hunts to two contest winners. Dylan's prize is an all expenses paid bow hunt, donated by Snake River Outfitters of Viking.

The guided hunt will also be the first official hunt for Dylan, who was born with Duchenne's Muscular Dystrophy, a rapidly progressing form of muscular dystrophy that often leaves a patient incapacitated by adolescence. Because of the disease, he is confined to a powered wheelchair and will be forced to use a crossbow during the upcoming hunt. He doesn't plan on that keeping him from bagging a deer.

"I'm looking forward to time with my dad and me together, meeting the people up there, shooting a deer and experiencing what it would be like to hunt," Dylan said. "I'm just looking forward to a good time."

The hunt will be Dylan's first official outing, though he has tagged along with his father during past hunts.

The outing will mean a lot to his father Dale too, who noted, "I'm looking forward to it as an experience to last a lifetime."

Dale explained that his son's form of muscular dystrophy is one of 40 some forms of the disease. The disease is recessive and affects males only. Affected patients rarely live to age 30 and treatments are

State conservation officer returns from duty in Louisiana

Erskine - Twenty conservation officers from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, including Stuart Bensen of Erskine, were among the first to deploy and render aid to victims of Hurricane Katrina. They returned Saturday after assisting Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries personnel with rescue efforts in New Orleans. Officer accounts coincide with descriptions of news reports that compared the destruction to a war zone.

The conservation officers did urban search-and-rescue and delivered water, food and ice in the hurricane-ravaged city. Team members worked 16-hour days on the missions. - Erskine Echo, Sept. 15, 2005

New communications tower installed in Red Lake Falls

Red Lake Falls - Sept. 6, Dan Dowers and Jim Hulteen of D & J Radio of Thief River Falls installed a new communications tower next to the courthouse.

Lightning strikes and age had taken its toll on the old antenna that had been located on the roof of the courthouse. The old tower and system had been plagued with problems, which decreased efficiency in communications and responses.

The new tower has greater functionality and will be better grounded to prevent lightning damage.

The radio tower is the initial broadcast point for paging and communicating with all branches of emergency services in Red Lake County: sheriff's deputies, the Red Lake Falls Fire Department, the Red Lake Falls ambulance, Plummer Fire and First Responders, Brooks First Responders and Oklee Fire and Ambulance.

Sheriff Les Arlt and Deputy Brad Johnson wrote the grant request for the 2005 Office of Domestic Preparedness communications grant and were awarded $39,022 for Red Lake County. That money, combined with the nearly $11,000 awarded to the county from the E-911 fund, will pay for communications equipment upgrades. - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Sept. 14, 2005, by Tawnya Norman

Commissioners discuss jail expansion

Hallock - Kittson County commissioners gave their permission to Sheriff Kenny Hultgren to progress with a possible jail expansion at the courthouse in Hallock.

Hultgren met with commissioners Sept. 6. He presented a summary of the last four-and-a-half years of cost savings associated with the jail being a 90-day hold facility versus a 72-hour hold facility previous to 2001.

When Hultgren presented the request to make the jail a 90-day hold facility, he told the commissioners it would save the county money. It so happens he was right.

In 2003, the jail held 72 prisoners and operated $39,000 under budget; in 2004, it held 89 prisoners and was $35,000 under budget. - Kittson County Enterprise, Sept. 14, 2005, by Cindy Stewart

INSTANT PIANO FOR HOPELESSLY BUSY PEOPLE

Some music teachers may not want you to know this, but you don't need years of weekly lessons to learn piano.

In just a few hours, you can learn enough secrets of the trade to give you years of musical enjoyment. How do we do it? While regular piano teachers teach note reading, piano pro-fessionals use chords. And you can learn all of the chords you'll need to play any song in this one session. Any song. Any style. Any key. If you can find middle C and know the meaning of Every Good Boy Does Fine, you already know enough to enroll in this workshop. Total beginners can request a free pamphlet by sending a SASE to Innovative Keyboard Instruction, 1019 N. Plymouth Court, Gilbert, AZ 85234. (This class was formerly called the "Pop Piano Workshop.")

Sickle cell guidelines will help ensure proper emergency treatment

Emergency care providers now have a tool to help them give the best possible care to Minnesotans with sickle cell disease. A new two-page checklist, the Sickle Cell Disease Emergency Guidelines, helps emergency care providers meet the unique medical needs of patients with sickle disease during emergency room visits.

The Minnesota Department of Health (MDH), together with the Minnesota Hemoglobinopathy Collaborative (a group of healthcare professionals and community members interested in the care of people with sickle cell disease), developed the guidelines to ensure that patients will receive the attention and care they need when they visit emergency departments.

Emergency care providers may be unfamiliar with sickle cell disease and unaware of the special needs of these patients. The serious nature of the patients' problems may not be readily visible, and in some cases, the patient may not see a doctor immediately. If emergency care providers are unfamiliar with the condition, deciding how to treat the pain may take longer.

The guidelines are a two-page checklist that emergency staff can use to make visits go more smoothly. "The availability of a concise tool for emergency physicians to use in helping them care for their patients will be welcomed and valuable addition," said John Hick, an emergency physician at Hennepin County Medical Center.

Sickle cell disease is one of the most common inherited diseases. It affects at least 500 Minnesotans, primarily of African ancestry. About 20 babies are born with the condition every year in Minnesota. People with sickle cell disease have abnormal red blood cells that can cause excruciating pain, organ damage and other serious medical problems. Because of severe pain and the risk of life-threatening complications, patients with sickle cell disease may often seek emergency medical care.

"Having these emergency guidelines has the potential to alter the entire emergency room visit. This will not only change the way parents and caregivers are communicated with, but most importantly, it will allow the patients to be cared for far more efficiently and effectively," said Raenell Blaylark, the secretary of the Sickle Cell Disease Advocates of Minnesota and mother to a 9-year-old son with sickle cell disease.

"These guidelines will help providers across the state continue to give state-of-the-art care to Minnesotans with sickle cell disease," said Stephen Nelson, a hematologist at Children's Hospitals and Clinics of Minnesota. "Also, the guidelines delineate differences between adults and children with sickle cell disease; this will help ensure appropriate care of children in sickle cell emergencies."

Over the years, improved treatment of patients with sickle cell disease has resulted in fewer emergency room visits. However, because of the nature of sickle cell disease, patients will continue to come to emergency rooms with new symptoms or severe pain.

"These patients are at risk for life-threatening complications," said Minnesota Health Commissioner Dianne Mandernach. "Seeing patients quickly and recognizing symptoms can help decrease serious health problems caused by sickle cell disease. The Sickle Cell Disease Emergency Guidelines will improve the healthcare of Minnesotans."

Sickle cell disease is one of more than 50 disorders detected by newborn screening in Minnesota. Early detection and treatment are important to the health of those with the disease. The guidelines and information about newborn screening can be found on the MDH Web site (www.health.state.mn.us/divs/fh/mcshn/nbsprov.htm) or by calling the Newborn Screening Program at 1-800-664-7772.

Saddle Up for St. Jude hospital September 24

The Roseau Range Riders Saddle Club is sponsoring the Sixth Annual Saddle Up for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Trail/Wagon Ride. The event will be held Saturday, Sept. 24 at Benis Hill Campground. Registration is at 9 a.m., and the ride will begin at 10 a.m.

Riders and participants get donations from sponsors for the ride. All proceeds from the ride will be directly donated to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. In the past four years, about 80 participants of the Saddle Up event have raised a total of more than $12,000.

At St. Jude, scientists and physicians are working side-by-side seeking a better means and all the causes, cures and prevention of leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, sickle-cell anemia, pediatrics, AIDS and other diseases that kill children. All the findings are shared with doctors around the world to ensure that children everywhere will benefit from the Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

The hospital is an internationally recognized biomedical research center dedicated to finding cures for childhood catastrophic diseases. The hospital's work is supported through funds raised by the American Lebanese Syrian Association Charities (ALSAC). All St. Jude patients are treated regardless of their ability to pay. ALSAC covers all costs of treatment beyond those reimbursed by third-party insurances and total costs for families who have no insurance.

For the local event, camping is available free of charge at Benis Hill Campground. Local sponsors will provide lunch on the trail for all participants. The ride is open to anyone who would like to participate (teams/wagons or single horses). Saturday night supper will be served by Café 89 of Wannaska. The dinner includes roast pork, meatballs, mashed potatoes and gravy, dinner roll, and dessert. The cost is $8 per plate.

For more information and to get sponsorship forms, or to make a donation, call Darlene Danielson at (218) 463-2877.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere
email: lacours@mncable.net

End of summer cooking is often end of the garden, too. Here are some ways to use that garden produce.

Serve your freshly caught fish in this tasty dish:

FISH CHOWDER

6 bacon strips, cut into 1 inch pieces
2/3 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
3 medium potatoes, peeled and cubed
2 cups water
1/2 cup chopped carrots
2 tablespoons minced fresh parsley
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon dill weed
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 pound fish fillets, cut into 1 inch chunks
1 cup half and half

In large saucepan, cook bacon until crisp. Remove bacon and set aside. Discard all but 2 tablespoons drippings and sauté onions and celery in remaining drippings until tender.

Add potatoes, water, carrots, parsley, lemon juice, dill weed, salt and pepper. Simmer until vegetables are tender, about 30 minutes. Add fish and bacon and simmer 5 minutes or just until fish flakes with a fork. Add cream and heat through.

Make lasagna quick and easy without having to boil those dog-gone slippery noodles:

NO COOK NOODLES LASAGNE

1 (15 or 16 ounce) container Ricotta cheese
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 eggs
2 (26 ounces each) jars pasta sauce
1/2 cup water
1 (16 ounce) package lasagna noodles, uncooked
1 pound hamburger or sausage, drained
4 cups (1 pound) shredded mozzarella
1 teaspoon dried parsley
1/4 teaspoon basil, or as desired
1/4 teaspoon oregano, or as desired

In bowl, combine Ricotta, Parmesan, eggs, parsley, basil and oregano, mixing well. Mix pasta sauce with the water. Brown meat and drain well. It may be combined with pasta sauce, if desired, or put on in a separate layer.

Grease large lasagna pan. Spread 1 cup pasta sauce over bottom of pan. Top with half of the uncooked noodles, half of the cheese mixture, half of the meat (if not mixed with the sauce), half of the pasta sauce, half of the mozzarella, then repeat layers, topping with the mozzarella.

Cover dish tightly and bake 1 hour, until hot and bubbly. Let stand covered at least 15 minutes.

For those of you who have a garden filled with green beans yet, here is another delicious way to serve them:

GREEN BEAN DISH

6 bacon strips, cut into 1/2 inch pieces
2 pounds fresh green beans
3 tablespoons brown sugar
1/2 cup water

In large skillet, cook bacon over medium heat until crisp-tender, about 5 minutes. Add beans, brown sugar and water. Stir gently and bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 15 minutes or until beans are crisp-tender. Remove to serving bowl, using slotted spoon.

Take advantage of all the tasty fresh fruit now and serve with this dip that tastes great with everything:

CREAMY CARAMEL DIP

1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese, softened
3/4 cup packed brown sugar
1 cup (8 ounces) sour cream
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 cup cold milk
1 (3.4 ounce) package instant vanilla pudding mix
Fresh fruit

Beat cream cheese and brown sugar until smooth. Add sour cream, vanilla, lemon juice, milk and pudding mix, beating well after each addition. Cover and chill at least 1 hour. Makes 3 1/2 cups of dip.

And speaking of dips, this tasty salsa uses less sugar, salt and fat than some. Try making it with your fresh garden tomatoes:

FRESH SALSA

4 cups chopped peeled fresh tomatoes
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1 to 4 jalapeno peppers, seeded and finely chopped
1 tablespoon olive or vegetable oil
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon ground cumin
1 teaspoon salt, if desired
1 garlic clove, minced

In bowl, combine all ingredients, mixing well. Let stand about 1 hour. Serve at room temperature. Recipe makes 3 1/2 cups.

This year's concert series features five guest conductors, all finalists in the symphony's national search for a new music director. The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tickets ($17/$12/$5) are available from the Chester Fritz Box office at (701) 777-4090.

The symphony features the following Thief River Falls residents: Jan Klopp (bassoon), Bonnie Hallett (violin), Ben Willis (bass), Derek Druse (viola) and Kristin Buckley (principal flute).

The first guest conductor/finalist is Lawrence Golan, currently director of orchestral studies, professor of conducting and conductor of the Lamont Symphony Orchestra and Opera Theatre at the University of Denver's Lamont School of Music. Golan is noted for his success in bringing classical music to new audiences and founded the Atlantic Chamber Orchestra for that purpose. He has served as principal guest conductor of the Bolshoi National Opera and Ballet Theatre of Uzbekistan in Tashkent, and music director/conductor of the Portland Ballet Orchestra.

Appearing with Golan, internationally acclaimed pianist and recording artist Vladimir Viardo will perform Beethoven's "Piano Concerto No. 4." Viardo was born in the Caucasus Mountains near the Black Sea. He first received international acclaim in 1971 after winning the "Gran Prix" and "Prix du Prince Rainier" in the Magueritte Long-Jacques Thibaud Competition held in Paris. In 1973, he was the top prize winner at the Van Cliburn Competition, where he also won a special prize for Rachmaninoff and Contemporary Works. Viardo has performed at the Lincoln and Kennedy centers, Carnegie Hall, Concertgebouw and the Great Hall of the Moscow Conservatory. He has appeared as a soloist with Zubin Mehta, Lorin Maazel, Sergiu Comissiona, among many others. Viardo is in high demand both as a teacher and performer and will conduct a master class at Hughes Fine Arts Center on Friday, Sept. 20, which is free and open to ticketholders of the Oct. 1 concert.

The third work on the program will be the North Dakota premiere of a new work by contemporary composer J. Mark Scearce entitled XL.

Art displayed at Roseau Library

The current art exhibit at Roseau Public Library features nine framed collages by Focus Corp, Roseau.

Admission is free. All exhibits can be viewed during regular library hours Mondays through Fridays. Doors open at 9:30 a.m. and closes at 3 p.m. Mondays. On Thursdays, the library is open until 6 p.m. It closes on other days at 5:30 p.m.

The Focus Corp collages will remain on display at the library until the end of September. The show opened in late July. In mid-July, Focus Corp Collages were also exhibited at Art in the Park.

Focus clients under the guidance of local artist Julie Elick begin the creative group process by making paper in a variety of colors and textures. When the paper has dried, it is cut or torn into many sizes and shapes, which are then arranged into impressionistic collages. Many of them depict clusters of growing plants and flowers. Some turn out to be floral bouquets. Often, actual dried flowers, leaves, etc. become part of the design. The color schemes are always attractive.

The next area artist to be featured in the exhibit series will be Karen Bugevik. Her pottery show will open in October.

The library's temporary location is in the "old" Geroy Building, known as the Roseau Business Center in the months following the flood of 2001. It is located on the eastside of Roseau, north of Highway 11, across from Lund's Furniture.

Man flees after crashing vehicle into squad car

A Red Lake Falls man is still at-large after allegedly crashing his pickup truck into a squad car while eluding a Red Lake County deputy after a domestic disturbance Tuesday night.

Philip Michael Weiland, 57, is 6 feet 2 inches tall. He weighs approximately 225 pounds. Weiland is considered to be armed and dangerous. He should not be approached by the public.

If readers know his whereabouts, they should call the Red Lake County Sheriff's Office at (218) 253-2996 or Polk County Sheriff's Office at (218) 281-3207.

Weiland allegedly fled from a Red Lake County deputy after a domestic disturbance was reported at approximately 9:59 p.m. Tuesday in Dorothy. The deputy, Kevin Brevik, questioned the accuser and was told Weiland, the alleged perpetrator, had left the scene prior to Brevik's arrival. Weiland then allegedly drove past the residence in a 1999 Dodge pickup truck.

Brevik pursued the Weiland vehicle. Weiland allegedly attempted to elude Brevik while Brevik pursued him on approximately 12 miles of various county roads, according to the Red Lake County Sheriff's Office (RLCSO).

Brevik then parked the Ford Crown Victoria on the shoulder along 140th Street Southwest, which is the Red Lake/Pennington County line. Weiland then made a U-turn and crashed his pickup truck head-on into the squad car at about 10:46 p.m. Tuesday, according to the Minnesota State Patrol report.

The squad car was totalled and disabled. Brevik suffered bumps and bruises. Weiland allegedly fled the scene in his totalled pickup truck and headed west into Polk County. Deputies later located his vehicle in a ditch near the intersection of 140th Street Southwest and 240th Avenue Southwest in Polk County. Weiland is still at-large.

Red Lake County Attorney Dan Geller is reviewing the case. The case remains under investigation by the sheriff's offices in Red Lake County, Polk County and Pennington County, as well as by the State Patrol.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Will passports provide us with more protection?

Presently, there is a proposal to require all citizens to provide passports upon crossing the border. Clearly, the times we live in require enhanced border security. We must all concern ourselves with what measures best support that need - walls, armed guards, bomb-sniffing guard dogs, tracking devices, passports or some sort of biological identification markers. I seriously doubt whether requiring passports would deter a terrorist from crossing the border or that such a proposal would provide us with any sort of enhanced protection.

Northwestern Minnesota citizens have even stated that the Western Hemisphere Travel Initiative (WHTI) could burden legitimate travel between the United States and Canada. From his public meetings on the subject, Sen. Norm Coleman stated that "While the National Intelligence Reform Act clearly requires enhanced U.S. border security, including documentation that more clearly denotes identity and citizenship, the possible requirement of passports as opposed to other forms of identification could create undue hardship and burden on legitimate interstate travel between the United States and our neighbors."

Over the years, travel to and from Canada has been relatively easy. Other than a few disagreements over fishing limits, the relationship between Canada and northwestern Minnesota has been a good one. One could even argue that the relationship between northwestern Minnesota and Canada is closer than the relationship northwestern Minnesota shares with the state capital. Regardless, a considerable amount of commerce crosses the border, and the requirements of the WHTI could seriously hamper border crossings that are vital to our economy.

Additionally, one might argue that WHTI poses an undue burden on citizens of northwestern Minnesota, and unfairly restricts their freedom. Quite simply, few people possess a valid passport. In 2004, the United States issued 8,825,410 passports, which was a significant increase. A quick check of other sources, however, shows that between 75 to 80 percent of Americans do not own a passport.

You may have opinions that add to or differ from mine, and so I encourage you to comment on the WHTI. Citizens will now have until Oct. 31, 2005 to provide input on the plan, which would require all U.S. and Canadian citizens to have a passport or one of a limited number of other accepted security documents that establishes the person's identity and nationality to enter or re-enter the United States. The requirements will take effect for travel between the U.S., Mexico and the Caribbean beginning on Jan. 1, 2007, and for travel to and from Canada beginning on Jan. 1, 2008.

Those wishing to comment on the proposal may access the Federal e-Rulemaking Portal at www.regulations.gov and follow the instructions for submitting comments. Further information on the proposal can also be found at www.travel.state.gov or www.dhs.gov.

LETTERS

To the Editor:

Your article, "Canadian Pacific brings wind power to the prairies," (Northern Watch, 9/10/2005; Page 10) and the accompanying picture were very interesting and raise a number of issues. It is unfortunate this wind power electric generating equipment is only passing through Minnesota on the way to Canada where it will be installed in Saskatchewan, rather than being erected right here in Minnesota.

Minnesotans would be further ahead if state legislators would make an investment in alternative sources of generating electricity rather than polluting our environment with coal fired generating plants and bio-mass plants.

The main stumbling block is that the present private-for-profit power generating industry owns our state legislators, whose influential lobby is second only to the private-for-profit healthcare industry. The Canadians got rid of private-for-profit healthcare years ago. And the Saskatchewan and Manitoba governments have successfully owned and operated huge power generating industries for many more years. Saskatchewan is on the cutting edge of wind power technology. Why hasn't Minnesota cashed in on wind energy rather than throw tax dollars away on outdated, polluting, natural resource wasting, power generation; and on hair-brained schemes that have farmers growing corn on some of the most fertile farmland in the world to fuel gas guzzling vehicles rather than growing food to feed a hungry world?

Former Minnesota Gov. Floyd B. Olson warned Minnesotans that they would pay a very heavy price for power generation remaining in the hands of private-for-profit corporations. We are now paying through the nose because legislators failed to heed Olson's warning.

Thousands of good-paying jobs could be created by manufacturing wind turbines right here in Minnesota. Why did Saskatchewan have to go to Europe to buy their wind generators? They could have purchased this equipment right here in Minnesota if legislators would establish a publicly-owned power energy industry such as had been recommended by socialist Olson. The people of Saskatchewan and Manitoba have popularly elected socialist governments, publicly owned power generating industries, and public healthcare, along with good paying jobs. Dairy farmers in Manitoba grow corn to feed their cows while making a good living milking them. Canadian-owned trains roll over tracks transporting everything from grain to taconite and now wind generating equipment, as Minnesotans get poverty wage jobs mining peat out in the Big Bog or working in casinos without any rights.

Thank you for publishing this small picture and story. Was it printed on Canadian paper?

Simulcast broadcast in Warroad October 7 and 8

Best selling Christian author Beth Moore will deliver a message to an estimated 50,000 women on October 7 and 8, 2005 in New York City. Local residents will have the opportunity to see the popular Christian speaker live in Warroad.

Through a partnership between LifeWay Church Resources and Woodland Bible Church, a simulcast will broadcast live via satellite from Continental Airlines Arena in East Rutherford, New Jersey (New York). Over 400 churches across the U.S., including Woodland Bible Church, are participating as host churches.

The simulcast event is in conjunction with the Living Proof Live event in East Rutherford, N.J. While an estimated 4,000 will be live in East Rutherford, simulcast technology is able to reach more than 10 times as many women across the nation.

"This event is not about Beth Moore or a local church but a life changing gathering of local women from across the nation and Canada as Beth teaches us from God's Word. You don't have to drive far to experience this unique opportunity and you won't be disappointed," stated Gwynn Conrad, a Warroad Beth Moore Bible Study facilitator.

LifeWay Church Resources is a division of LifeWay Christian Resources, an organization committed to helping people and churches know Jesus Christ and seek his kingdom by providing Biblical solutions that spiritually transform individuals and cultures. State fire marshal issues ruling on Warren fire

The Minnesota state fire marshal has issued a ruling on an Aug. 4 fire at Elm Crest Motel in Warren after which a person was found dead.

The fire was "incendiary in nature and caused by someone igniting combustible materials on the northside of room 121," Marshall County Sheriff Herb Maurstad read from the report, which he received Thursday. He added, "No accidental causes could be found for the fire."

Mark W. Krueger, 34, St. Paul, was found dead in the hotel room. A preliminary autopsy report indicated that Krueger died from smoke inhalation, Maurstad noted. He added that Krueger was awake when the fire happened.

Krueger was found after smoke and flames were reported at the hotel at 7:14 p.m. Aug. 4. The hotel-room door was locked and barricade, Maurstad said.

Regional strategic energy plan completed

The Northwest Clean Energy Resource Team (CERT) has completed its regional strategic energy plan. For the next two years, it will work to turn its project priorities into reality.

The plan noted three project priorities for this region: ground source heat pumps, small-scale biomass power plants and biogas digesters at agricultural processing facilities.

Based on those priorities, the group has determined the following activities were among those activities that are achievable by 2010:

- Development of additional large wind turbines at sites such as the White Earth and Red Lake Indian reservations.
- Increased usage of biodiesel via public transportation switches to biodiesel.
- Construction of an ethanol plant in the region to help meet growing demand spurred by the 20 percent ethanol mandate and other states dropping methyl tertiary-butyl ether as a fuel oxygenate in favor of ethanol.
- An increase in the efficiencies of ethanol by using biomass for production rather than natural gas.
- Development of a plan to utilize biomass fuels such as switch grass, wood waste and/or willow and alder. Learn how people handle the material – pellets, etc.
- Educating children about the value of conservation, energy efficiency and renewables.
- Developing energy efficient affordable housing.
- Co-fire combined cycle turbines with biodiesel (and ensure co-firing counts toward meeting the renewable energy objective).

The group determined the following activities are achievable by 2015 to 2020:

- Installation of a fourth wind generator at Moorhead
- Rail connection between the Twin Cities and Fargo, N.D.
- Conversion of Conservation Restoration Program lands to produce energy crops.
- Development of a facility that uses locally produced biomass – switch grass, willow, alder, timber slash, etc.

The plan indicated other emerging opportunities include cellulosic ethanol and renewably-harvested hydrogen.

According to CERT, the project is designed to give citizens a voice in energy planning by connecting them with the technical resources necessary to identify and implement community-scale energy efficiency and renewable energy projects. The project began in fall 2003. CERT members have been active in each of the state's seven CERT regions. Teams include between 30 and 200 stakeholders representing area local governments, farmers, utilities, colleges, universities, businesses, and environmental and economic development groups.

$490,278 physical education grant awarded

Minnesota legislators have been notified of a $490,278 grant awarded to the Northwest Service Cooperative on behalf of 19 partners in the Northwest Minnesota Council of Collaboratives. Total project costs will approach $668,000. Grant partners will provide the cash and in-kind match to fully fund the Prairie Winds Physical Education project. This grant is renewable for up to three years for a total award of approximately $1.5 million.

The grant was awarded to provide services in 18 school districts in the following counties: Kittson (Lancaster, Kittson Central and Tri-County school districts), Marshall (Greenbush/Middle River, Marshall County Central Stephen/Argyle and Grygla/Gatzke school districts), Norman (Ada/Borup, Norman County East and Norman County West), Polk (Fisher, Climax/Shelly, Fosston, Fertile/Beltrami and Crookston) and Red Lake (Oklee, Plummer and Red Lake Falls school districts), as well as the Red River Juvenile Center in Crookston.

The grant partners will work together to provide additional physical development training opportunities for students most at risk for unhealthy lifestyles. The programs will utilize outdoor natural settings in which to carry out physical activities that can be pursued over the students' lifetimes.

The Prairie Winds Initiative includes strategies and community based activities that will emphasize the need for physical education programs that stress enjoyable participation in lifetime physical activities such as walking, biking, and dancing, snowshoeing, cross country skiing and not just the traditional competitive sports.

Goals of the Prairie Winds project are to increase the percentage of students actively participating in physical education activities, to increase the percentage of students making progress toward meeting state standards, and to foster and support healthy lifestyles and positive social and cooperative behaviors that will persist into and throughout adulthood. Activities at the Juvenile Center will emphasize enjoyable participation and will help students develop the knowledge, attitudes, motor skills, behavioral skills and confidence needed to adopt and maintain physically active lifestyles that will ultimately decrease their physical aggression and increase their self-esteem and decision-making skills.

TRF swimmers rebound at Bemidji event

Prowler girls' swim team captured second place at the Bemidji Girls Invitational on Sept. 10.

"The girls had an overall great meet after a rather disappointing finish on Thursday against Park Rapids," said Thief River Falls Coach Lacy Knott. "Our relays swam very well. The 400 free relay had to beat Hibbing by two places to move into second. They swam a season best time and just got outtouched at the wall by Bemidji," said Knott.

Knott mentioned performances by Ashley Meunier and Kailey Bakken. "Both had season best times in both of their events." But Knott gave credit to the entire team for the second place finish. "The team really stepped up in the second half of the meet, moving all the way from sixth place early in the meet to a second place finish."

Team scores - 1. Bemidji Lumberjacks 455, 2. Thief River Falls 295, 3. Hibbing 283, 4. Detroit Lakes High School 262, 5. Mesabi East 247, 6. Moorhead High School 213, 7. Warroad Warriors 182, 8. International Falls 137, 9. Crookston 128, 10. Fosston/Bagley 113, 11. Lake of the Woods 6

Prowlers girls tennis team rises to the challenge

The win for Thief River Falls girls' tennis against Moorhead at Crookston on Monday, Sept. 12, was a big win for Thief River Falls in terms of sub-section seeding.

"I have to give Moorhead a lot of credit. They played a great match," said Coach Troy Hanestad. "Our doubles teams really controlled their matches and Ashley (Leister) came up big by playing a flawless third set tie-break in her match," said Hanestad. He added, "We were close in the three singles matches we lost, but I thought we competed very well."

But Hanestad was even more impressed with the team's play against Crookston.

"This is a team that played in the State Class A tournament last year and only graduated one singles player. Although we were unable to finish the match, we were actually ahead in all of the matches at one point, but one. The level of play in the matches was outstanding, and I think our kids caught a glimpse of the type of tennis they are capable of playing."

LHS Girls' Tennis team copes with heat, and humidity

Whether the girls were there to play or not, the weather played a significant role in the outcome of the girls' tennis team's back-to-back matchup against Fergus Falls and Wadena in Fergus Falls on Saturday, Sept. 10.

"We were happy with our play on Saturday, for the most part," said Tennis Coach Troy Hanestad. "I thought the girls handled the windy and hot conditions well; although, I think a couple of the girls were out of gas at the end of our second match with Fergus. Playing back-to-back matches was a lot to ask in Saturday's heat. I really like the way our team goes after the ball. The girls are very offensive, and at this point, if we can raise our consistency as a team we will be tough to beat," said Hanestad.

LHS Prowlers earn shutout road victory

by Mike Lundgren
Sports Editor

Thief River Falls scored on its first five possessions en route to a 41-0 Friday (Sept. 9) high school football win over Hibbing at Cheever Field.

The Prowlers marched the opening kickoff downfield and scored on a 9-yard Jon Drees touchdown run, then after forcing a first-possession Hibbing punt, put together another touchdown drive that was capped by a 3-yard Michael Benedict run.

Back-to-back interceptions deep in Hibbing territory set up a 20-yard Michael Fomey touchdown pass to Alex Carlson and a 9-yard Benedict touchdown run for a 28-0 spread at the end of the first quarter.

Benedict scored his third touchdown of the night on a 60-yard second breakaway that helped hike his game total 206 rushing yards.

The Prowlers' 35-0 halftime lead stayed intact until Aaron Langan broke loose on an 82-yard fourth quarter touchdown run.

Results put both teams at 1-1 for the year. The Prowlers lost to Crookston 42-20 in the opener; the Bluejackets beat Virginia 10-7.

"We physically got after them," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Munun. "The defense played very, very well. Any time you get a shutout, it's important."

Thief River Falls ran for 411 yards against the Hibbing defense. "Offensively, we finished - something we didn't do against Crookston," mentioned Munun.

The early lead led to wholesale Thief River Falls substitution as the game wore on. "A lot of kids got a lot of playing time," noted Munun, who handed out plenty of post-game praise. "The offensive line, defensive line and linebackers all played well," he said.

Both teams lost players to injury. Standout Hibbing lineman Evan Osterhaudt went down on the first play of the game, and the Prowlers' Drew Kjono suffered a broken ankle that will sideline him the rest of the year.

It was the 2005 North Country Conference opener for the Prowlers and Bluejackets.

Karlstad Healthcare Center to receive national award

Reflective of the national movement within the long-term care profession that has improved quality care for the frail, elderly and disabled, Karlstad Healthcare Center (KHC) will receive a Step I award for quality achievement from the American Health Care Association (AHCA) and National Center for Assisted Living (NCAL). KHC is one of 122 facilities in the country to achieve this level of recognition within the AHCA/NCAL Quality Award program, demonstrating an extraordinary commitment to a systematic process to achieve continuous quality improvement.

"The AHCA/NCAL Quality Awards are the single most prestigious recognition of quality within the long-term care profession," said AHCA/NCAL President and Chief Executive Officer Hal Daub. "This facility's achievement places it at the forefront of organizational and performance excellence, where the mission of exceptional care for the elderly is understood and vigorously pursued."

Daub added, "Karlstad Healthcare Center's achievement shows that dedicated front-line caregivers, administrators, nurses and physicians – in the face of daunting challenges within long-term care – are demonstrating their commitment to quality of care and meeting patients' needs." The Quality Awards are part of AHCA/NCAL's Quality First initiative, a covenant for healthy, affordable and ethical long-term care.

AHCA/NCAL Quality Awards consist of an entry level, Step I Award; a more rigorous Step II Award; and the comprehensive Step III Award. Following the series of developmental steps that make up the award process, providers gain knowledge and skills to help them better serve their residents. Recipients at the Step I level demonstrated an organization-wide commitment to a resident-focused vision and mission statement, conducted customer satisfaction surveys and had data to demonstrate that customer expectations were being met.

The AHCA/NCAL Quality Award is modeled after criteria from the Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award, the nation's premier recognition for quality achievement. The AHCA/NCAL Award recognizes commitment to a continuous quality improvement process at nursing facilities, assisted living residences and residences for persons with mental retardation or developmental disabilities. The facilities selected have made customer satisfaction and quality outcomes their top priority.

The national presentation for award recipients is planned during AHCA/NCAL's Annual Convention and Exposition Oct. 16-19 in Las Vegas.

globe. Then he looked inside. Seeing his initials imprinted inside the ring, he knew the ring was the one he had lost 20 years ago.

"I was just absolutely astounded," Doug said.

"I don't know how I thought it was you," Sheri said to Doug about a week after she returned the ring to him.

"It's so hard to believe," said Doug. "I never thought I'd see it again."

Then Doug told Sheri and Andrew that he had lost the ring in Alaska. "That just floored me," Sheri said.

What also floored Sheri, as well as Doug, Heidi and Andrew, was that Heidi's class ring looked similar to Doug's class ring. Heidi had never seen Doug's ring before it made a return appearance in Goodridge. They went to different high schools; she went to high school in Oklee. However, her ring had the same stone. It also had the year of her high school graduation – also '81 – coming out of a globe. Doug noted it was one of 12 designs available that year for class rings from Jostens.

Doug doesn't know who brought the ring back to Goodridge. However, he and Sheri determined who may have transported the ring from Alaska to Goodridge.

Another Goodridge resident, Mike Cullen, also worked in Alaska. Mike rented a home from Sheri's family from August 1991 until midsummer 1997. That home was on the property where Sheri now lives. Mike, though, said he doesn't recall finding or transporting Doug's class ring to Goodridge.

Another renter lived on the rental property from 1997 until Sheri moved back to the property a month ago. Ironically, the manufactured home where Mike once lived is now used for storage – on Doug and Heidi's property.

Doug and Sheri thought Mike had brought the ring home to give it back to Doug and then misplaced it before giving it to Doug, who at the time lived in the Roseau and Malung area.

Doug can't believe the ring was finally found in Sheri's shed many years after it was brought back to Goodridge. "There's just no reason why it should still be there," Doug said about the ring.

Sheri can't believe she found it. She said, "That ring would've been in our burn pile if that bag didn't break open."

Schools make plans for referendums

referendum for $806.24 per pupil would be canceled. That amount would then be added to the $487 per pupil amount for a total request of $1,293.24.

Roseau School District (ISD 682)

In the Roseau School District, a referendum will be on the ballot. It is seeking an additional $374 per-pupil for 10 years. Currently, the district has a $126-per-pupil referendum. That referendum will expire in six years. If approved, the new referendum is expected to raise $558,000 for general operating expenses.

Warroad School District (ISD 690)

Warroad School District voters will see a referendum on their ballots. The district is asking for an additional $473.26 per pupil for 10 years. Currently, it has a $126.74-per-pupil referendum that will expire in 2012. If approved, the new referendum is expected to raise $676,472.

Win-E-Mac School District (Erskine, ISD 2609)

Voters in the Win-E-Mac School District will see both a school board election and referendum on their ballots.

Four seats are up for election in the district. The following five people are running for the four-year terms: Lynette Kaster, incumbent; Aaron Neubert; Scott Revier, incumbent; John Ross, incumbent; and Lee Tradewell, incumbent.

An operating levy referendum will also be on the ballot. If approved, the $800-per-pupil referendum will generate approximately $470,000 if the district maintains its current enrollment, according to Superintendent Dan Parent. The referendum would span 10 years.

This is the Snake River Outfitters bunkhouse. Like a typical fishermen's cabin, it contains living space and bunkbeds for four hunters.

Business makes hunt a little less challenging

limited. Still, Dylan battles the disease with regular physical therapy and procedures like a surgery he went through earlier this year to improve his posture.

"It's a shame – good kids like himself and his friends are stricken to this," Dale said. "It's not right."

Snake River Outfitters

Dale and Dylan will arrive at Snake River Outfitters on Oct. 1 and after a day of preparations, will begin their hunt on Oct. 3. All lodging, meals and transportation will be provided by Snake River Outfitters, located in rural Viking.

"We want to make this a special deal for Dylan," said John Borg, co-owner of Snake River Outfitters. "We're hoping we can get him a deer in the first couple of days."

As guests Dale, Dylan and a crew from the hunting show, Adventure Bound Outdoors (ABO), will stay at the Snake River Outfitters' bunk house. The house includes two sets of bunk beds, two couches and living space that is intended for a group of four, though the camp itself has hosted as many as six.

While staying at Snake River Outfitters, hunters are given little to worry about. All meals are included in the week's hunting cost and each meal is served in John and Cindy Borg's home.

"We try to feed them as much wild game as we can, Borg said." "Breakfast is all you can eat and at the end of the day, when the dinner bell rings, supper is on the table. All they have to worry about is hunting."

After breakfast its out to one of the many sites pre-scouted by Borg and fellow guide, Kane Martell.

"What I usually do is get them set up in their stands and then we'll (Borg and Martell) go monitor what the deer are doing, Borg said." "That way we're covering more ground."

Guided hunts

Father and son groups like Dale and Dylan Connors make up a large portion of Snake River Outfitters' business. They offer a discount for groups of four, families and parent-child groups. Rates can be obtained from the Snake River Outfitters Web site, www.northern-hunt-guides.com.

Besides the flat rate, Snake River Outfitters offers a discount for groups of four and families. All hunters must be at least 12 years of age. While a few fathers have taken advantage of the special rate to introduce their son or daughter to the sport, Borg said it is more often the mid to upper 20s aged son taking his father hunting. Hunters have traveled from New York, Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, Idaho, New Jersey and Pennsylvania to name a few.

Adventure Bound Outdoors

Adventure Bound Outdoors (ABO), a hunting show with an eight-year non-interrupted run on the Outdoor Channel, will be filming Dylan Connors' hunt to be featured in a 2006 episode. Professional hunter Tammy Koenig and a camera crew will be filming additional footage for the show.

"We're hoping we can get him a deer in the first couple of days, then they'll fill out their week hunting on their own," Borg said.

"That would be the best of both worlds," said Terry Thompson, ABO general manager. "We could fill two segments and Dylan could get his first deer."

Thompson said staffers typically film unique hunts, but use their own staffers in segments. The trip to Snake River Outfitters will allow ABO to film both its own bow hunting footage and a unique feature on Dylan Connors. ABO covers approximately 50 hunts of various type per year, producing 26 original shows.

A few local businesses have offered assistance with the hunt. They include Universal Screenprint, UBC, Tall Tales Taxidermy and Winter Road River Taxidermy have offered assistance to the sponsored hunt.

"Dale and his son have a great deal of expense already," Borg said. "It's also Dylan's birthday, so we're donating a jacket from Universal Screenprint. It's supposed to be a once in a lifetime experience and that's what we're aiming for."

The Snake River Outfitters' bunkhouse has a definite outdoors feel to it. Most of the bunkhouse walls are lined with outdoor-themed decorations like these three buck mounts.

Gov. Pawlenty at Roseau groundbreaking event

Roseau - Roseau couldn't have ordered a better day for an official groundbreaking ceremony. The sun was shining down as a new page was turned, signaling the beginning of a new era in Roseau.

This date is officially going down as the day that Gov. Tim Pawlenty joined forces with the city of Roseau to put the shovel to the ground which will be the home of the new City Center in Roseau. - Roseau Times-Region, Sept. 17, 2005, by Jeanette Sjaaheim

Hallock Library project begins this fall

Hallock - It's only been about two years and the hopes and dreams of those participating in making a bigger and better library in Kittson Co. are finally coming true.

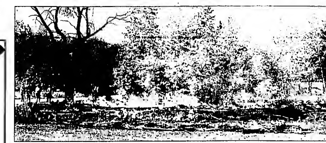
With more than $100,000 from fundraising, another $15,000 from the city of Hallock and the grants the group has received of around $69,000, the Hallock City Council proceeded with approving a resolution to accept the lowest bid for library renovations at its monthly meeting Sept. 6.

Local contractor Bakken Construction was the low bidder for the remodeling of approximately 1,925 square feet with a base bid of $119,000. - Kittson County Enterprise, Sept. 21, 2005, by Louise Money

Marshall County Board awards contracts

Warren - A contract for replacement of road culverts was awarded to low bidder Goulet Construction of Warroad by the Marshall County Board of Commissioners at its Tuesday meeting. Commissioners also endorsed state approval of a Job Opportunity Building Zone (JOBZ) near Argyle.

The highway work involves replacement of culverts on County Roads 4 and 10. The contract was awarded to Goulet after bid opening showed the contractor had submitted the lowest bid, $282,851.17.



Commissioners approved a resolution encouraging the Minnesota Dept. of Employment and Economic Development to approve an application for a tax-free zone under the JOBZ program. The application is being submitted to the state by Northwest Regional Development Commission of Warren on behalf of North Valley Grain LLC in Middle River Township near Argyle.

North Valley Grain (NVG) will be a 50-percent owner of a railway unit train grain loading facility proposed for construction north of Argyle. NVG is a cooperative made up of grain elevators at Humboldt, Hallock, Argyle and Alvarado. The county board approved issuing a special use permit for the project Aug. 22. - Warren Sheaf, Sept. 21, 2005

Badger Council says no to liquor license

Badger - Badger residents Ally Jackson and Joyce Gunderson, liquor license applicants and prospective owners of Ally's Bar and Grill, and approximately 30 other interested parties were present at last week's Badger City Council meeting.

The council unanimously voted against the issuance of a liquor license to Gunderson and Jackson. - The Tribune of Greenbush, Sept. 21, 2005, by Mavis Gonshorowski

Fire destroys Highlanding Town/Dance Hall

Fire destroyed the Highlanding Town Hall and Dance Hall Thursday morning. Goodridge Fire Chief Dale Henson said it was suspected the fire was electrical in nature. By the time Goodridge firefighters arrived, the south one-fourth of the building was engulfed in flames. "There just was nothing we could do," Henson said. The fire was reported at about 10 a.m. Thursday, and firefighters were on the scene for about two-and-a-half hours. Red Lake Electric was called to the scene to disconnect electric wires that had been connected to the now-destroyed building and a transformer about 50 feet away. As a result, Henson said, one or two homes were without power for a few minutes. The dance hall was the last major structure standing in the township, Henson noted. Henson's father, who performed in a dance band for 25 years, had played hundreds of dances at the hall, Henson noted. Another major structure – the creamery – was razed in June to make way for a new town hall, which hasn't yet been constructed.

Roseau herds test positive for bovine TB

The Minnesota Board of Animal Health (BAH) announced Tuesday that Roseau County cattle from two operations that bordered the first bovine tuberculosis (TB) infected herd have tested positive for bovine TB. Nineteen herds in five counties, including Roseau, are under quarantine.

Two beef cattle herds were quarantined and whole herd tests were conducted after a neighboring operation tested positive for bovine TB in July. Both operations have cattle on pastureland that borders that of the TB-positive herd. Four animals tested suspect for bovine TB in late August. Tissue samples were submitted to the National Veterinary Services Laboratory in Ames, Iowa, where a diagnosis of bovine TB was confirmed. With these fenceline contact herds, Minnesota has detected bovine TB in three beef herds in Roseau County.

The bovine TB control protocol for continued eradication calls for the depopulation of any infected herds. The United States Department of Agriculture is working on the details of depopulating these infected herds with support and cooperation of the herd owners. State and federal officials have already begun tracking animal movements into and out of these operations. The newly detected herds are smaller operations with minimal animal movement.

BAH Executive Director and State Veterinarian Dr. Bill Hartmann said the board has finished tracking cattle movements into and out of the first TB-infected herd.

"If bovine TB is out there, it is

Parasites and weather cause moose decline

There was a time when moose sightings were almost as common as sightings of whitetail deer. Today, seeing one is so rare it almost requires a report to the local newspaper office. Unfortunately, sightings may become even more rare.

Results of a study initiated in 1995, indicate that climatic changes combined with increases in deer numbers and parasite transmission rates may have rendered northwest Minnesota inhospitable to moose.

Saturday, Sept. 17, Gary Huschle, Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge biologist, presented a summary of a moose research project initiated in 1995. The purpose of the study was to investigate the reasons for the sharp decline in moose numbers during the early 1990s.

The study examined three areas: Red Lake Wildlife Management Area in Beltrami Island State Forest, Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge, and Viking-area agricultural lands up to and including Thief Lake Wildlife Management Area. Study subjects included approximately 152 radio-collard moose, and 84 dead moose that biologists were able to examine thanks to the reporting efforts of the public.

Heroes come in many shapes and sizes

Megan uses her voice to bring neighbors to the rescue

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

When Vickie Rislov next talks about heroes with her second grade class at Viking Elementary School, she'll have to mention her heroes, Megan, Sheron and Don.

On Aug. 12, the Thief River Falls resident was outside cleaning her home's windows. At about 11:15 a.m., she was cleaning the last window when she fell straight down to the ground. She landed in such a way that her right leg was at an angle at which it should not be. Vickie tried to step forward with her leg, but she was not able to do so, and she was home alone with Megan, her dog.

Nearby, workers replacing the siding on a neighbor's home were listening to loud music. "I thought, 'Oh gosh, no one will be able to help me,'" recalled Vickie, who thought no one would be able to hear her.

Yet, she yelled for help anyway. "I just started yelling, 'Please help me,'" Vickie remembered. Megan barked whenever Vickie yelled for help. No one came to help them.

"I did it louder, 'Please help me, help me,'" Vickie recalled. Megan barked even louder. They waited for help for 10 or 15 minutes.

Next-door neighbors Sheron and Don Stewart had just returned home from the Fitness Center and from visiting Don's mother. Sheron thought she could see a tomato in her garden, so she decided to go outside. "I went in the garden and heard Megan barking," she remembered.

Megan wouldn't stop barking. "I wondered what was going on," said Sheron. "I thought I heard someone say, 'Help me,' but I'm not sure."

Sheron walked over to Vickie's

Wild turkey enthusiasts gobble up news

Minnesota DNR, National Wild Turkey Foundation and UND to study release of wild turkeys

by David Hill
Editor

Wednesday, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources announced that it would be releasing and studying two flocks of wild turkeys in northwestern Minnesota. Officials met with interested residents at Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls Wednesday evening to gauge their interest and listen to their concerns.

The research project proposal calls for the release of 25 hens and seven to 10 Eastern wild turkey males at each site. One site has been tentatively identified as being in Red Lake County along the Red Lake River. The second site has been tentatively identified as an area along the beach ridge near the Town of Rosewood in Marshall County. The exact release site has not been identified. Officials stated that they would be seeking permission from landowners to release the turkeys on their property, and permission for researchers to have access to the property while they study the birds.

Site selection was based on a number of criteria, such as knowledge of wild turkey habitat, diverse cover, slope, and moisture. Eight general sites were looked at.

The two-year study seeks to answer a number of questions, particularly how much further north from their ancestral range can the birds survive.

John Williams, area wildlife manager for the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR), said interest in translocating wild turkeys in this part of the area has been building. While there have been sightings of turkeys in the area, there are no wild turkeys in this area. Those that do exist probably escaped from turkey growing operations, or are pen-raised birds that were released, a practice that is strongly discouraged because it is rarely successful but also because it is illegal.

Sharon Goetz, wild turkey biologist for the DNR, said this region of the state is not within the historic range of the wild turkey. Though the range has been gradually spreading north, the historic range is mostly in southern Minnesota.

According to the DNR, pioneers arriving in Minnesota did report

I would like to thank all the acts of kindness from family, friends, and people I have just begun to know. All of the cards, food, gifts and words of comfort are greatly appreciated by me, my husband, and children. A special thank you to those who organized, brought food, and all who attended the evening of my benefit at Bethlehem Lutheran Church in Newfolden.

My church circle will be in charge of serving for funerals next month, so I'd better get prepared. Any of the following bars or cakes would be great to serve to a bunch, and the kids would love to come home to them after school, too.

This is a slightly different recipe for one of my family's favorite bars - trust me - they're delicious:

GRAHAM COCONUT TREATS

3 eggs, lightly beaten
1-1/2 cups sugar
1 cup butter
4 cups miniature marshmallows
3 cups graham cracker crumbs (about 48 squares)
3/4 cup flake coconut
3/4 cup chopped pecans
1-1/2 teaspoons vanilla

In double boiler, combine eggs, sugar and butter. Cook and stir over boiling water until mixture thickens and reaches 160 degrees. Remove from heat and cool.

Add remaining ingredients, mixing well. Spoon into greased 9x13 inch pan. Refrigerate at least 2 hours before cutting into squares. Recipe makes 3 dozen bars.

This would make a nice, big batch of bars to serve. They would also be easy to carry with a sturdy topping:

MOCHA BARS

2 eggs
1 cup vegetable oil
1 cup cold coffee
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups flour
2-1/2 cups packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
Topping:
1 cup chocolate chips
3/4 cup chopped nuts

Beat eggs, oil, coffee and vanilla. Combine flour, brown sugar, salt and soda and add to coffee mixture. Beat smooth. Pour into greased 10x15 inch jelly roll pan.

Bake at 374 degrees for 30-35 minutes or until top springs back when lightly touched. Sprinkle with chocolate chips and nuts. Cool before cutting.

How about an easy pan of bars with a mix for the base:

CHEESECAKE BROWNIES

1 package German chocolate cake mix
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup butter, melted
1 cup chopped nuts
Topping:
1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese, softened
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine cake mix, egg, butter and nuts, mixing well. Press in greased 9x13 inch pan and set aside.

Combine topping ingredients in another bowl and beat smooth. Carefully spread over batter in pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 30-35 minutes or until golden. Cool before cutting. Store in refrigerator.

You'll love eating your applesauce this way:

SPICY APPLESAUCE CAKE

2 cups flour
1-1/2 cups sugar
1 tablespoon cocoa
1-1/2 teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon each of cinnamon, nutmeg, allspice and cloves
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
2 cups applesauce
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1/2 cup chocolate chips
1/2 cup nuts
1 cup raisins
Topping:
1/2 cup chocolate chips
1/2 cup nuts
2 tablespoons brown sugar

To make cake, combine dry ingredients in mixing bowl. Add shortening, applesauce and eggs and beat until well mixed. Stir in chocolate chips, nuts and raisins. Pour into greased 9x13 inch pan.

Combine topping ingredients and sprinkle over batter. Bake at 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes until cake tests done.

A bundt cake is always good for a crowd, and this one is moist and chockful of tasty treats:

GOLDEN CHOCOLATE CAKE

1 package yellow cake mix (no pudding in mix)
1 (3.4 ounce) package instant vanilla pudding
1/2 cup vegetable oil
1/2 cup water
4 eggs
1 cup sour cream
3 chocolate candy bars (1.55 ounces each), chopped
1 cup semisweet chocolate chips
1 cup chopped pecans
1 cup shredded coconut
Powdered sugar to dust, if desired

Combine cake mix, dry pudding, oil, water and eggs. Beat on low speed for 30 seconds, then 2 minutes on high. Blend in sour cream and stir in candy bars, chocolate chips, nuts and coconut. Pour into greased and floured 12 cup tube pan.

Bake at 350 degrees for 60-65 minutes or until toothpick inserted near center comes out clean. Cool in pan for 15 minutes before removing to wire rack. Cool completely. Chill before slicing. Dust with powdered sugar if desired.

RLF fugitive, wife face charges

A Red Lake Falls fugitive wanted on a charge of attempted murder has been apprehended after a week on the lam. His wife has been charged with aiding an offender.

Phillip Michael Weiland, 57, was apprehended Tuesday without incident at his home in Dorothy, according to the Red Lake County Sheriff's Department. Weiland's wife, Linda, has been charged with aiding an offender.

Phillip Weiland

Weiland had been on the lam since Sept. 13 after a domestic disturbance was reported at his home, according to Red Lake County Sheriff Les Arlt. He was found after Red Lake County and Polk County deputies searched his home. They had searched his home prior to Tuesday and had searched other places as well.

Upon responding to the Sept. 13 report of the domestic disturbance involving Weiland and a family member, a deputy interviewed the alleged victim and witnesses. At that time, Weiland allegedly drove past the residence. Deputy Kevin Brevik then pursued Weiland for approximately 12 miles on various county roads as Weiland attempted to elude him. Brevik parked his squad car along 140th Street Southwest, which is the Red Lake/Pennington County line. Weiland then allegedly made a U-turn and crashed into Brevik's squad car. The squad car was totalled, and Weiland then fled in his totalled pickup truck, which was later found near the intersection of 140th Street Southwest and 240th Avenue Southwest in Polk County. Weiland had fled on foot.

Weiland faces charges of first degree attempted murder, second degree assault, fleeing in a motor vehicle, domestic assault by strangulation, domestic assault and interference with a 911 call. Both Weilands made their initial court appearances Thursday.

Hallock man sentenced for sex offense

A Hallock man was sentenced Tuesday in Kittson County District Court on a charge of second degree criminal sexual conduct.

Duane Allan Houkom Jr., 57, received a stayed sentence of 21 months in prison, according to Kittson County Attorney Roger Malm. As a condition of that stayed sentence, he was ordered to serve 180 days in jail. Houkom was also ordered to serve at least 25 years on probation. He was ordered to undergo a sex offender evaluation and register as a sex offender. Houkom was ordered to pay restitution as well as fees and fines.

Duane Houkom Jr.

In July, Houkom pled guilty to the charge. In a plea agreement, two counts of fifth degree criminal sexual conduct were dismissed.

The criminal complaint stated that Houkom caused a female individual who was under the age of 10 at the time to inappropriately touch him in the summer of 2003. The incident occurred at Houkom's home in Thompson Township in Kittson County. On at least two occasions that summer, Houkom also exposed himself to the girl while she was at his home.

The charges stem from an April 13 report to the Kittson County Sheriff's Department from a family social services agency.

No injuries reported after accident Wednesday

No injuries were reported after an accident Wednesday afternoon in Thief River Falls.

At the time of the accident, Idella Corrine Rewertz of Plummer was driving a 1990 Chrysler LeBaron eastbound on Highway 1, in the right-turn lane. She had not activated a right-turn signal, according to the Minnesota State Patrol report. Cody John Crapeau of Thief River Falls had stopped his 1993 Mercury Topaz on Barzen Avenue. Thinking that the Rewertz vehicle was going to turn right, Crapeau pulled out of the intersection, and the vehicles collided.

Rewertz's vehicle sustained moderate damage, and Crapeau's vehicle sustained minor damage. The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 2:10 p.m. Wednesday.

The 2006 Pennington County Fair in Thief River Falls will be July 11 through 16. That announcement came following a meeting of the Pennington County Fair Board Association on Monday.

During the meeting, the board also decided to change its midway rides and games provider. Following a general dissatisfaction with the number and condition of rides at the 2005 Pennington County Fair, the board decided to go with Todd Armstrong Shows of Las Vegas, Nev., for the 2006 show. Todd Armstrong Shows has a vast variety of thrill rides such as the Inverter and Himalaya, along with family favorites such as the Giant Wheel and Tilt-A-Whirl, plus a complete kiddy land with rides like the Carousel and Dizzy Dragons. More information about Todd Armstrong Shows can be found at its Web site www.armstrongshows.com

The annual meeting of the Pennington County Fair Association will take place on Monday, Oct. 17, 2005, at the Pennington County Courthouse.

Daniel Boorstin Strikes Again

Referring to Daniel Boorstin's 1971 Pulitzer Prize winning book, "The Americans: The Democratic Experience," seems like a fairly dry way to start an outdoors column about Lake of the Woods. Boorstin's claims to fame, after all, root themselves in the intellectual, written, indoor texts of the Library of Congress where he served as the nation's chief librarian for more than a decade. He was, however, more in touch with the pulse of the American public than such a prestigious position might suggest. For example, when once asked about his insatiable urge to put a pen to paper, Boorstin responded he simply "wrote to discover what I think, after all, the bars aren't open that early." I get the distinct feeling that I met the honorable Chief Librarian somewhere north of Roosevelt on a deer-hunting Saturday night, several years back, don't you?

Anyway, in "The Democratic Experience" Boorstin explains how the settling of America was accomplished by the "undifferentiated man," someone who knew a little about a lot, but was a specialist at nothing. He could clear land, but was nothing near a logger. He grew crops, but could not consider himself a farmer. He hunted and fished, but was proficient at neither. He was a diplomat, as he pushed westward, but not a career politician. His multiplicity of talents was a result of necessity, not of choice. The settling of America could only come at the hands of a man who knew a little about all of the potentials around him, but had not the opportunity to be expert at any of them. Hence, Boorstin's "undifferentiated man."

The "undifferentiated man" would have fished September well on Lake of the Woods (you had to have known this wasn't going to be a history lesson). There is no discernable "specialty" available out there right now as the fish kick and mull their way around the middle and edges of the deeper basins, undertaking occasional forays into the shallows and sporadic migrations through the river channels. They seem motivated by no single food source and apathetic towards communal living. In short, pick a pattern and be prepared to change it frequently.

An early morning of slow jigging in the current will provide the soft-handed bait fisherman with enough for a lunch. An artificial plug or a fast moving spinner rig trolled along the weeds can put a couple more fish in the cooler before the sun gets to midday heights. For those with a stronger constitution, try a "flipping" drift straight through one of the thicker, broader weedbeds, much like the Florida bass anglers do. Twenty-inch walleyes on a vertical five feet of line can make largemouth look tame!

Drop the riggers down after noon in the deepest regions of the flats and you can keep the action going. If you want to maintain your purist attitudes, forego the downrigging and drift your way around the anonymity of the mud with a crawler harness and a positive attitude. When the sun gets a handwidth off the treetops, slip back into the current or speed-troll your way along a reef-top. You'll get some fish literally everywhere, and you'll get a lot of fish no place.

It is not that the fishing is slow. On the contrary, an "undifferentiated angler," employing a lot of American ingenuity and a bunch of Democratic diversity will put not only eye-popping numbers into the boat in September, but will find an impressive amount of size. June forces fishermen to content themselves with action, acknowledging that the true 'hogs' won't come out till the water warms. The present month, however, rewards imagination with as good a shot at a trophy as any calendar date.

And there you have it, a good reason to head out and fish this month before the fish re-enter the river and pursue a one-dimensional approach to survival. Test all your skills before testing them will become merely practice. See how good all your "undifferentiated" walleye talents are. After all, as Daniel Boorstin said, "Knowledge is learning you didn't know what you didn't know."

Mn/DOT proposes to construct new radio tower south of Warroad

The Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) is notifying the public of its intent to construct a 330-foot radio tower south of Warroad in the Cedarbend Township area of Roseau County.

The construction of the tower is necessary to provide two-way radio coverage and microwave radio connectivity for the Allied Radio Matrix Emergency Response (ARMER) radio system. The ARMER system is being implemented as directed in Minnesota Homeland Security legislation adopted by the Legislature in 2004.

In accordance with Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) rules, the tower will require an aircraft warning light system to be installed at the top of the tower. A medium intensity white strobe light will be used for daytime illumination and a red beacon light for nighttime illumination. The tower will be galvanized gray in color, three-legged and free standing (no wires).

In addition to meeting FAA rules, Mn/DOT will assess how the tower will affect historic, archaeological and natural resources in the area as required by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).

Anyone having questions or concerns regarding this project should contact Dwight Mylrer or Mike Hogan at Mn/DOT. Mylrer can be reached in Bemidji at (218) 755-2908, and Hogan can be reached in St. Paul at (651) 296-7421. Written comments can be sent to Mike Hogan, Mn/DOT – MS730, 395 John Ireland Blvd., St. Paul, MN 55155. All comments must be received by Oct. 14.

seeing wild turkeys. By the turn of the century, the wild turkey had disappeared from Minnesota. The first successful stockings of wild turkeys occurred in 1973. Within 25 years, the state's wild turkey population has grown from a few birds to more than 30,000. In 1978, hunters bagged 94 birds. Recent figures indicate that hunters are now bagging 5,000 wild turkeys each spring.

While individuals attending the meeting may of been interested in hunting the game bird, Williams reminded them that this is strictly a research project. After two years, the success or failure of the project will be revisited.

According to Dick Kimmel, DNR wild turkey biologist, the state generally likes to see 200 birds in an area before opening a hunting season, and then the number of permits issued is very conservative.

Plan Participants

The research project is a cooperative effort between the DNR, and the National Wild Turkey Federation. It will enlist the support of volunteers from local chapters of the Wild Turkey Federation (there are chapters in Grygla, Thief River Falls, and Crookston), and student researchers from the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks, N.D.

Goetz said they will attempt to trap the birds for the project sometime between January and March in southern Minnesota when birds will come to bait. The birds will then be quickly transported to the area. Radio transmitters will be fitted to the birds so researchers can follow their progress. While in the region, researchers will study survivability, mortality rates, food sources, recruitment, and range expansion. During the second year, birds that died during the first year will be replaced.

It is not unusual for wild turkeys to stray from the release site. Kimmel said their experience has shown them that if there is good habitat they'll stay in the area, or return to it. Generally, they stay within a three- to four-mile area.

An individual attending the meeting expressed some concern about transplanting the birds during the winter and the availability of food.

"If it looks like food they'll eat it," said Kimmel. Kimmel said food is a concern, but from his experience and knowledge of turkeys, he said they'll eat just about anything. He would like to see some standing corn plots, but he's aware of what the large deer population in the area would do to standing corn.

There is no intention on the part of the DNR to maintain food plots.

Kimmel and Goetz are more concerned about snow depth. Findings indicate that winter survival rates are higher at sites with food plots. Predation is also another major concern. Experience tells them though that if released birds make it through the first winter, their survival rate goes up.

Joe Cannella, regional director of the National Wild Turkey Federation, said they were represented at the meeting to support the discussions. "We're very interested in seeing what happens."

Cannella also noted that in the past, volunteers had been helpful in transporting birds. He said that as the project develops there may be other areas in which members may be useful. He encouraged them to make themselves available.

Cannella can be reached at 218-327-8931, or Trknorth@uslink.net.

Straddling the border and stirring the passport pot

Last week, an area resident contacted me about the proposal that would require U.S. citizens to have passports to cross the Canadian border. I got the impression that he liked the general gist of my editorial which encouraged area citizens to comment officially, and criticized the proposal by pointing out some of its inadequacies; however, he said it missed the mark by not pointing out the difficulties of citizens who live along the border.

There's so much more at stake, he said.

The border has always been a rather nebulous place. It lacks walls, machine-gun toting guards, dogs and concertina wire. Other than an office building and toll-booth-like structure, one would be hard-pressed to define exact location of the border. It's kind of like crossing a time line - unless you have a Global Positioning System unit and a map, you won't know you've crossed it until someone tells you you crossed it.

People who live on the border may be from different countries, but they live in harmony and share services. For example, when there's an emergency and someone needs an ambulance, the closest ambulance to the location of the emergency responds.

Apparently, ambulance services along the border frequently cross the border in response to emergencies, taking their patients to the nearest hospital, which logically is sometimes in the United States and sometimes in Canada. What would happen under the proposed rule change? What would happen if the wife of a patient being transported by ambulance decided to follow? Will she be required to stop at the border, provide a passport, submit to a search and other delays?

What, asked the caller, would happen if a wedding party were to cross the border? It happens. Apparently, it happens rather frequently.

People who live in communities along the border, straddle the border. They shop, work and live just as we do. Will they all be required to travel to a border crossing station and submit a passport and themselves for inspection every time they need to go to the grocery store, or to work? What about students who attend the Northwest Angle School? Will they be required to provide passports every day they attend school?

The point our caller was trying to make is that there's more at stake here than commerce and money. The day-to-day lives of citizens who straddle the border will be interrupted and disadvantaged by this proposal. "I suppose," the caller said, "the next time I go to Rainy River to buy shoes I'll need a passport."

Citizens will now have until Oct. 31 to provide input on the Western Hemisphere Travel Initiative. The requirements will take effect for travel between the U.S., Mexico and the Caribbean beginning on Jan. 1, 2007, and for travel to and from Canada beginning on Jan. 1, 2008.

Those wishing to comment on the proposal may access the Federal e-Rulemaking Portal at www.regulations.gov and follow the instructions for submitting comments. Further information on the proposal can also be found at www.travel.state.gov or www.dhs.gov.

Heroes come in many shapes and sizes

home. She found Vickie on the ground and knew right away that Vickie's leg was broken. "Your foot doesn't go one direction and your knee doesn't go another direction," Sheron said.

When Sheron approached Vickie, Megan was jumping back and forth over and on Vickie's leg. She wouldn't let Sheron touch Vickie, and whenever Vickie moaned, she would bark.

Sheron went home, told Don what had happened and called 911. Sheron and Don then stayed with Vickie and Megan until the paramedics arrived.

An ambulance arrived shortly after the 911 call. "[Megan] kept trying to protect me," said Vickie. "She wouldn't let them touch me. She wanted to go in the ambulance."

Don and Sheron had to put Megan inside Vickie's home. She wouldn't stop barking even as the ambulance personnel put Vickie in the ambulance.

Vickie was taken to Northwest Medical Center, where an x-ray was taken. Her right leg had been broken in three places – the tibia, fibula and kneecap. She was then taken to Altru Hospital in Grand Forks, N.D.

Since that time, Vickie has undergone two surgeries. Two metal plates and about 15 screws have been placed in her leg. She had her 58 staples removed Sept. 15.

Vickie has physical therapy three times a week to get her knee and ankle to move. "I can't walk on this leg for three months," she said.

Vickie was shaking and dizzy when Sheron found her. Vickie was not sure how long she would have been conscious if help hadn't arrived. If it hadn't been for Megan, Don and Sheron, she figures she would have been laying outside for five hours until her family came home from the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association golf tournament.

Sheron credits Megan for letting her know something was wrong with Vickie. "I think Vickie was in so much pain she couldn't yell real loud," said Sheron, who noted she wouldn't have known anything was wrong if Megan hadn't been "barking and going bananas." She added that she and Don did what anyone else would've done.

Sheron joked that she and Don won't be going to the Fitness Center anytime soon because that's where they've returned from whenever a neighbor needs their help. Last time, neighbors Mark and Jean Larson had a house fire. Don, who is retired, has said he needs to go back to work because there has been too much excitement since he's retired, Sheron said.

Following her injury and surgeries, Vickie tried to go back to teaching, but she didn't think she'd be able to teach in a wheelchair or bopping along with a walker. In the meantime, a substitute teacher is teaching her class.

While she recovers, Vickie is spending a lot of time with Megan. That time together is only strengthening the bond the two share. Megan has always been protective of Vickie. "I had cancer two years ago, so she's always been by my side all the time," Vickie said.

At night, Megan sleeps next to Vickie's injured leg. Vickie said, "She's just been a sweetheart."

And Megan was quick to protect Vickie's leg when a photographer came near it while trying to photograph Megan.

Her helpfulness and the fame associated with it haven't gone to Megan's head. "I don't know if she knows she's a star," said Vickie, who noted Megan was probably confused when she wasn't able to ride in the ambulance that took Vickie to the hospital. Megan usually takes car trips with Vickie and her family.

However, one can assume Megan wasn't confused when she received a "thank you" for her efforts. After all, there aren't many dogs that would refuse half of a ribeye steak.

RLF resident honored for outstanding achievement

Diane Sauve, Red Lake Falls, was recently honored for outstanding achievement by the HomeMakers Idea Company at the organization's 2005 national convention.

The 2005 convention was titled "The Best Show in Town" and was held in Chicago in early June. Sauve received the following awards during the convention: Top 10 in Show Averages, and Circle of Hearts.

"Diane has enjoyed great success in 2005, and she is among our shining stars," said Madolyn Johnson, the founder and CEO of The HomeMakers Idea Company. "This is a well-deserved award, and I'm sure Diane has big plans for 2006."

Sauve has worked for the company since May 1, 1996.

"I think one of the reasons I've found success with the HomeMakers Idea Company is because I truly believe in its mission: 'simplifying lives, beautifying homes and building people one home at a time,'" Sauve said.

our job at the Minnesota Board of Animal Health to find it and eliminate it," said Hartmann. "As a result of the initial investigation, there are 19 Minnesota herds under quarantine in Beltrami, Goodhue, Polk, Marshall and Roseau counties. Five herds have completed the required testing and been removed from quarantine."

The state of Minnesota has been involved in TB eradication programs since 1917, with the last known case in 1971. Bovine TB caused by the bacteria Mycobacterium bovis is a respiratory disease of cattle. It is a chronic, slowly progressive disease that does not spread easily. Infected animals may be capable of transmitting an infection to other animals even if they appear healthy. In a cooperative eradication campaign by the livestock industry and animal health officials, the U.S. has all but eliminated bovine TB.

Exposure to bovine TB through the milk or meat supply is extremely unlikely, according to the BAH. Meat inspectors check all cattle entering the marketplace for signs of the disease before and after slaughter. Any animal showing these signs is withheld from the food supply. In addition, adequate cooking destroys the bacteria.

For more information on TB and investigation updates, visit BAH's Web site (www.bah.state.mn.us).

Huschle noted that the death of graduate student Eric Cox and pilot Grant Coyour, June 11, 1999, on the last call production flight of the study, was a great set back to getting the data analyzed and put into publication. Huschle said Cox had compiled a huge amount of data. That data was turned over for completion to Dr. Warren Ballard of Texas Tech University, who has vast experience working with moose and predators in Alaska.

The study examined a great many possible factors that might explain the decline in the moose population. Death of moose examined by research was attributed to many causes, including liver flukes, disease/starvation, predation, brain worm, vehicle collision, poaching, natural accident and starvation.

Deaths attributed to brain worm and vehicle collision were much higher for the non-radioed animals, probably because these animals were found by the public, rather than by radio tracking.

Hunting was also examined and determined not to be a likely cause of population decline. Hunting had been at a very low rate - three to 25 percent per year, and only every other year. The research showed that the population usually grew in years after hunting seasons. Hunting seasons were closed in 1996 and yet the population has not recovered.

Bull to cow rations were also never below 50 percent, which means there were an adequate number of bulls in the herd.

Researchers looked at age, and from the data were able to infer that the age structure of the herd was skewed toward younger age classes. There were relatively few old cows and nearly all males were less than five years old. The lack of a high percentage of prime breeding ages (four to seven) suggested a declining population to researchers.

Fecal and blood samples were collected, and pregnancy rates checked. A low pregnancy and twinning rates in northwest Minnesota suggested a nutritional limitation, so they studied forage and browse.

The following is information provided directly from the study summary:

Low pregnancy rates were directly correlated to low bone marrow fat and low blood condition index. The blood condition index was based on the blood samples that were collected when the animals were captured. Bone marrow fat was determined by taking a sample of bone marrow from the leg bone of dead moose. Bone marrow fat was lower for moose dying of natural causes than for those dying from accidents (vehicle collision, poaching and other natural accidents) implying that malnutrition contributed to moose mortality. Moose that eventually died within 18 months after capture had body condition index ratings of poor at the time of capture, indicating that the malnutrition was a long-term chronic condition. This type of malnutrition is consistent with a parasite-mediated condition.

Liver samples were taken from dead moose to determine concentrations of 19 minerals and trace elements. Analysis of 106 liver samples revealed deficient levels of copper and selenium (based on threshold levels for domestic cattle and compared to several other moose studies). Copper deficiencies in livestock have been shown to contribute to low reproductive rates and may have an influence on low reproduction in northwest Minnesota moose. The analysis, however, failed to find any correlations with apparent causes of death or other factors. In Sweden, the affects of acid rain on copper and molybdenum relationships resulting in cooper deficiency has been proposed as one of the plausible causes for moose population decline which resembles northwest Minnesota's moose decline. Researchers believe one of the plausible causes of the moose decline in Sweden is a viral disease. Tissue samples of moose from northwest Minnesota were sent to Sweden, but the same virus was not found in the samples.

Survival rates. Compared to other populations in Alaska and Canada, cows and yearlings in northwest Minnesota had lower annual survival rates, but calves had a higher annual survival rate (the chance of living for one more year). The adult cows in northwest Minnesota had an annual survival rate of 79 percent compared to 75 to 94 percent in other studies. Calves had an annual survival rate of 66 percent compared to 2 to 27 percent in other studies. In most other places predators play a significant role in calf mortality but it was only 4 percent in northwest Minnesota. The difference in the annual survival rate for calves is very significant. A moose calf in Northwest Minnesota has a 66 percent chance of surviving to be a yearling, where a moose calf in Alaska or Canada only has a 20+ percent chance of becoming a yearling. Whatever is limiting the population in northwest Minnesota is not affecting calf survival.

No CWD. Blood serum was checked for leptospirosis and brucellosis. There were no positives for brucellosis. There were differences between the study areas for leptospirosis, but no correlations to pregnancy status or pathology. Brains that were submitted to the Veterinary Diagnostic Lab, North Dakota State University, were examined for Chronic Wasting Disease (CWD). No CWD was found.

There were no correlations between deer population and the decline in moose population, however, liver flukes, brain worm and winter ticks are deer parasites that have adverse affects on moose. During the time period of this study winter ticks were counted on skin samples but did not appear to have caused any mortality. Liver flukes and brain worm were a major apparent cause of death and may have been an even larger part of mortality as they may have contributed to the unidentified disease and starvation and the unknown deaths.

So, said Huschle, the big question is what could have changed since 1984 that would make the above mortality factors more prevalent?

Climatic factors based on data from a weather station near Norris Camp were examined for changes in the past 41 years that may have affected these mortality factors. The results are graphed in the figures below. Correlations were not found between population change and precipitation or snow depths, however, population decreases often occurred the year after summers with higher mean summer temperatures. Winter and summer temperatures in the past 41 years have increased by about 12-degrees Fahrenheit and 4 degrees Fahrenheit, respectively and the growing season has lengthened by about 30 days. Other moose research has shown two temperature thresholds for moose. March temperatures above 23-degrees Fahrenheit and September temperatures above 57-degrees Fahrenheit require moose to expend energy to keep cool. Since the peak moose population year in 1984, there have been more years when March and September mean temperature exceed these thresholds than between 1960 and 1984. Warmer temperatures may have contributed to increased energy demands for moose to keep cool causing a disruption of energy balance. While the exact mechanism involved in this response is not understood, the additional heat stress may accentuate poor body condition due to parasite induced chronic malnutrition, resulting in lower reproductive rates that may also be impaired by copper deficiency.

The study concludes that the decline of the moose population in northwest Minnesota does not appear to be from causes that management actions can change. Until the climatic factors that are making the moose range shrink to the North are reversed we will probably see fewer moose in northwest Minnesota.

Alma Free Lutheran Church to celebrate 125th anniversary

Alma Lutheran Church, rural Argyle, has the distinction of being the second congregation organized in Marshall County. That organization took place on October 12, 1880 and the name taken was Middle River Congregation.

Eighteen single men and heads of households were listed in the charter membership. The first pastor at Alma was the venerable home mission pastor Christian Saugstad, who served until 1885. He lived over 40 miles away, in Crookston. The Ladies Aid, Busy Bee, Young People's Society and Sunday School were organized in 1893.

Little is known about where the early services of the congregation were held, but they were likely in the homes of members and schoolhouses. A frame church, 26-by-40 was erected in 1893, although not fully completed for several years.

The present church was built in 1961 with ground breaking on May 21 of that year. The men and women of the congregation built the church with Norval Torkelson of Warren, as the head carpenter. Dinners were served by the ladies of the congregation during the main building project activities. The meals were prepared and served in the basement of the old church. The new church was dedicated in 1962 and the old church moved to Settler's Square in Warren, where it may be seen.

The heritage of this congregation was Norwegian and Swedish, with their ancestors coming from both Norway and Sweden. Since that time however, the church membership includes other nationalities as well.

The Middle River Congregation has had several names since it was organized in 1880. In 1884 it was decided to name the church the Middle River Norwegian-Swedish Evangelical Lutheran Church. In 1918 their established name became the Middle River Lutheran Congregation.

In 1959 the name Middle River Lutheran Free Church was changed to Alma Lutheran Church. The reason for the change was because people looked for the church in the Middle River area, rather than rural Argyle. Later, when they joined the Association of Free Lutheran Congregations it was changed to Alma Free Lutheran Church.

For many years Alma was in a five-point Lutheran Free Church parish with Bethlehem, Bethania, Folden, and Westaker, all of Newfolden. In 1963 it entered the American Lutheran Church, and associated with Bethlehem. Having voted not to join the new Evangelical Lutheran Church of America (ELCA) church body in 1988, they were accepted into the Association of Free Lutheran Congregations that year and then became a two-point parish with Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Argyle. In 2004 Alma and OSL dissolved their two-point parish each going on their own.

Alma Lutheran Church gave strong support to the establishing of Galilee Bible Camp in Lake Bronson, in 1953-1954. In entering the AFLC's Northwestern Minnesota District again in 1988, the members have resumed that interest and support.

Alma Free Lutheran Church is celebrating its 125th Anniversary on October 1 & 2. "Onward by God's Grace" based on Ephesians 2: 7 - 8 is the theme. Pastor of Alma is Rev. Dennis Gray. He has served the congregation since October 1, 2004. Alma is located eight miles east and two miles south of Argyle at 28098 300th St. NW, Argyle, MN.

Local man sentenced after large amount of marijuana found

A Goodridge man was sentenced Thursday in Pennington County District Court on a drug charge after a substantial amount of marijuana was found at his residence.

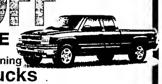
Lonnie Watne

Lonnie LeRoy Watne, 50, pled guilty to an amended charge of third degree controlled substance crime. He was originally charged with first degree controlled substance crime. In a plea agreement, he was sentenced to 21 months in prison and ordered to pay a $5,000 fine instead of forfeiting five acres of land.

The criminal complaint indicated approximately 236 pounds of marijuana were found at Watne's Star Township residence. However, Watne and his attorney disputed the amount, but noted it was a "substantial amount" during a plea hearing in July. However, both the state and defense agreed that the marijuana filled 16 garbage bags.

Originally, Watne would have received a stayed sentence of 21 months in prison. However, at the plea hearing, he said he did not want to deal with probation as he travels out-of-state for his music gigs.

The charge stems from an Oct. 4 report from the Boundary County, Idaho, Sheriff's Department. Authorities there reported that Watne was in possession of a large amount of marijuana.



The confiscated marijuana is worth an estimated street value of $1 million, a Pennington County deputy sheriff said in October.

When authorities laid out the wet marijuana at the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center, it spanned an estimated area of 25 feet by 9.75 feet by 1 foot.

Providence 3-0 winner over winless Pioneers

A Wednesday trip to Canada failed to change the fortunes of the Northland Community and Technical College volleyball team.

The Pioneers' season-long losing streak hit nine matches with a 30-9, 30-21, 30-16 loss to Providence College at Otterburne, Man.

"We played poorly in Games 1 and 3," acknowledged Northland coach Missy Majerus. "We led most of the way and played well in Game 2."

Northland returned to Minnesota Community College Conference play with weekend matches at Hibbing Friday and at Rainy River today (Saturday). Five of the nine Northland losses have been to Northern Division opponents.

The Pioneers' next home match will be Sept. 30 vs. Rainy River.

Prowlers talking trash

by Mike Lundgren
Sports Editor

Members of the Thief River Falls cross country program were doing a lot of trash-talking Wednesday. No, not the in-your-face, boisterous, self-hype that shows a lack of respect for an opponent. Instead, the trash the Prowlers were throwing around was the real stuff – garbage collected during a special practice run designed by head coach Rick Karboviak.

Cross country coaches are always trying to convince their runners they are having "fun" while racking up practice miles. Putting a positive spin on hard work is an ongoing challenge.

Karboviak's latest idea to help drum up mid-week practice enthusiasm was the 'Junk Miles Marathon' that combined preparation for upcoming Prowler Invitational with community service.

"The kids needed something fun and different to do on their runs through town, and I had noticed on our runs how much trash is around the streets," explained Karboviak.

The coach divided his varsity, junior varsity and junior high boys and girls into four, five or six-member squads. Each group was given 30 minutes to complete an assigned route and return with their booty – bags of litter collected along the way. Points were earned for paper, plastic, glass and 'miscellaneous' items like wood or rubber. Winning boys and girls teams were rewarded with sports drinks supplied by Karboviak.

When tabulated, the 30 runners had collected 445 paper items, 52 cans, 182 plastic bottles and 92 miscellaneous products.

The project was a huge success, according to Karboviak, who said: "I figured we would get two benefits out of a run like this: our team has fun cleaning up the town so it looks nicer for our invitational coming up, and it makes the running go by a lot quicker when you have something else to focus on."

Karboviak and his team are looking forward to running in front of family and friends at the Monday, Oct. 3, Prowler Invitational. The event, featuring varsity, junior varsity and junior high races for boys and girls, will be held at the Thief River Golf Club starting at 4:15 p.m.

A group of 12-to-14 workers is needed to fill various race day positions, noted Karboviak. Those interested in volunteering can call him at 686-5417 (home) or 683-4367 (work).

RLCC volleyball team on a roll

Momentum was on the side of Red Lake County Central entering the 28th annual Northern Lites Invitational high school volleyball tournament today (Saturday) in Thief River Falls.

The Mustangs opened the 2005 season with a 3-0 loss to Lake of the Woods and a 3-2 setback at the hands of Fosston. It wasn't exactly an easy first-week draw: the Bears are ranked No. 1 in Class AA; the Greyhounds are the defending state champions in Class A.

Since then, Red Lake County Central has posted five straight (non-tournament) wins over Thief River Falls, Warren-Alvarado-Oslo, East Grand Forks, Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke and East Grand Forks Sacred Heart.

This week's results included back-to-back 3-0 sweeps over the Wolverines Monday in Oklee and the Eagles Tuesday at Plummer.

"The team played well tonight," said head coach Nancy Bray following the Mustangs' 25-11, 25-12, 25-11 win over Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke. "Everyone contributed to the win."

Red Lake County Central had its moments, too, in the 25-14, 25-23, 25-11 next-night victory vs. Sacred Heart.

TRF Northern Lites Invitational

■ Where: varsity teams at two Lincoln High School gyms, junior varsity at two Franklin Middle School gyms
■ Participating teams: (Pool A) Thief River Falls, Northern Freeze, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzko, (Pool B) Warren-Alvarado-Oslo, Stephen-Argyle, Red Lake County Central, Roseau.
■ Time: pool play matches start at 9 a.m., fifth and seventh place matches at 3 p.m.; third place and championship matches at 4 p.m.

"The girls played well in the first and third games," said Bray. "Our passing wasn't as good in the second game as it was in the first and third games."

Previous-week road wins at Warren and East Grand Forks had been tempered a bit, according to Bray, by inconsistent play as the Mustangs posted a 25-21, 17-25, 25-17, 25-19 Tuesday (Sept. 13) win over the Ponies and followed with a close 25-23, 25-23, 25-22 Thursday (Sept. 15) victory against the Green Wave.

"It was a win," said Bray after beating Warren-Alvarado-Oslo. "At times we played well, and other times we struggled."

Red Lake County Central overcame a 13-4 Game 2 deficit to sweep East Grand Forks.

"We fought back," offered Bray, "but we didn't play up to our potential. We pretty much sat back and played defense most of the night."

Combining those results with a 1-2 showing at the Sept. 10 Ada-Borup Invitational where the Mustangs beat Bagley but lost to Ada-Borup and Climax/Fisher, Red Lake County Central brought a 6-4 overall record into the Thief River Falls tournament.

Prowlers run in a warm, hilly Detroit Lakes meet

Weather and terrain presented challenges for runners competing in the Detroit Lakes Rotary Invitational cross country meet Tuesday.

"A very warm day for running, but we made it through the race, and ran well once again," reported Thief River Falls coach Rick Karboviak, who said the hilly Detroit Lakes Country Club course also tested the runners.

Detroit Lakes boys and Fergus Falls girls won varsity team titles. Top individuals were Travis Stadum of West Fargo and Hanna Grinaker of Detroit Lakes.

Thief River Falls boys competed with an incomplete team and Karboviak ran his girls in the junior varsity race instead of at the varsity level.

"Our boys are finding their places and racing well," said Karboviak. "I thought I would have the girls work on some team strategy by running them in the JV race, and they worked really well on their pack-running – shown by their close finishes."

Thief River Falls will run in the Sept. 29 Fergus Falls Invitational before hosting the annual Prowler Invitational Monday, Oct. 3.

Perham sweeps Thief River Falls in 8AAA contest

Perham, a small town with a big name in high school volleyball circles, visited Thief River Falls for the first time Tuesday. It was a short stay. The Yellowjackets swept the Prowlers 25-16, 25-13, 25-8.

"We played right with them in the first half of the first two games," offered Thief River Falls coach Tammy Sparby. "We played good defense, but we couldn't get our offense going."

Thief River Falls, whose 2004 season ended with a first round 3-0 North Sub-Section 8AAA tournament loss at Perham, fell to 4-5 with the setback.

"Perham has an awesome club," pointed out Sparby. "They're one of the dominant teams in the section."

The Yellowjackets picked up 12 points on service aces.

"They're a tough serving team," acknowledged Sparby. "We had a hard time picking up their serves."

A come-from-behind 21-25, 25-8, 15-11 win elevated the Thief River Falls junior varsity record to 6-0.

Nordics' offense produces win

Marshall County Central picked up a win and Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke got on the scoreboard in a Friday (Sept. 16) high school football game at Goodridge. It was the first for both. The Nordics' won the match-up of 0-2 teams 35-8. The game's final touchdown – a 55-yard run by Tim Polansky with 7:35 remaining – snapped a string of 11 straight scoreless quarters for the Blue Devils.

The Nordics put together 454 yards worth of offense, including a combined 318 yards rushing by Nick Johnson (161) and Kameron Peters (157). Johnson averaged 10.7 yards on 15 carries; Peters averaged 6.8 yards on 23 attempts.

Beaten by Red Lake County Central 26-0 and Northstar 62-0 to start the year, the Blue Devils have yet to force an opponent to punt. "The kids are getting better," said Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach John Wilebski. "They didn't quit. They played hard to the end, and that's all you can ask."

The Blue Devils' 166 yards of offense featured the running of Brady Olson with 86 yards on 16 carries.

Marshall County Central lost an early lead in 38-21 season-opening setback at the hands of East Grand Forks Sacred Heart and played a competitive game against a strong Kittson Central team before losing a 57-20 Week 2 decision.

"We moved the ball fairly well and scored the most points against Kittson Central than we have the last couple of years," mentioned Marshall County Central coach Scott Parker. "We still made some basic mistakes, but it was stuff we can improve upon."

Like Wilebski, Parker has high praise for the effort of his players. "We never gave up (against Kittson Central)," he said. "We showed a lot of pride and heart. We kept busting our tail every play. You can get better technique, it's hard to get more heart."

RLCC football team starts 1-2

In most cases, coaches know which games they can reasonably expect to win, and at the same time are aware of the games where their teams will be the decided underdog. It's the results of the toss-up contests featuring two even opponents that will make or break a season.

Second-year Red Lake County Central coach Ethan Marquis had a taste of each scenario during the first three weeks of the 2005 high school football season. The Mustangs opened with a 26-0 win over Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke and lost a 43-6 decision to defending Nine-Man state champion Stephen-Argyle before taking on East Grand Forks Sacred Heart in a Week 3 match-up. The host Eagles won the Sept. 16 encounter 13-12.

"A very tough loss for us at this point of the season," acknowledged Marquis. "This was a game that could have gone either way. They (Eagles) made the plays that got them the win. From here on in, we play very talented teams and will have to improve in many areas in order to compete with those teams."

Kyle Vettleson touchdown passes of 15 yards to Nathan Wahlen and 66 yards to Andrew Vettleson staked Red Lake County Central to a 12-0 lead.

Sacred Heart made it 12-6 at halftime on a 1-yard Tom Fontaine run, and got the equalizer when Mike Anderson recovered a third quarter fumble in the end zone. The tie-breaker was a Dan Loon conversion kick after the second touchdown.

"Fumbles and penalties hurt both teams," noted Marquis. "It seemed like the team that made the least mistakes would win, and that might have happened. Our depth also seemed to be a factor. Sacred Heart has very nice numbers this year. With our numbers, we're not able to play as many kids. Our players played well, but tired as the game went on."

The Mustangs lost senior wide receiver Matt Konickson with a torn ACL against Stephen-Argyle.

"We played a decent game (against the Storm), but hurt ourselves with penalties and mistakes," said Marquis.

With two 70-yard touchdown runs and a 59-yarder, the Storm made the Mustangs pay for those mistakes.

"There is no room for error when playing Stephen-Argyle," offered Marquis. "They made several huge offensive plays and played solid defense all night."

Gators are 2-7 in volleyball

First-year Badger/Greenbush-Middle River head coach Stacy Dahl watched the Gators' record dip to 2-7 Tuesday with a 3-0 home court loss to Warroad, 25-23, 25-11, 25-22.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River lost first-week 3-0 decisions to Roseau and Northern Freeze before picking up a 3-2 victory in a Sept. 13 match at Stephen-Argyle.

A 25-15, 25-9, 26-24 loss to top-ranked Class AA power Lake of the Woods and a 1-3 showing at the Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Invitational preceded the Warroad match.

The Gators are in Thief River Falls today (Saturday) for the Northern Lites Invitational. They will try to improved upon their earlier tournament outing that included a 2-1 loss to Thief River Falls, a 2-0 win over East Grand Forks Sacred Heart and a 2-0 setback at the hands of host Warren-Alvarado-Oslo in pool play, followed with a 2-1 loss to Northern Freeze in the fifth place match.

Wolverines win first game, but lose rematch against Warroad

It has been a tough start to the 2005 high school volleyball season for Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke. The Wolverines are 0-5 and have been swept in four of those matches.

Warroad and Lake of the Woods handed Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke first-week losses. Roseau was the only Week 2 opponent, with the Rams winning 25-13, 25-21, 25-17.

"I was disappointed," said Wolverines coach Jean Schulz. "I thought we would do better and at least win a couple of games. The covering was poor."

Monday, it was thee-and-out against Red Lake County Central, 25-11, 25-12, 25-11.

"The girls need to play as a team," said Schulz. "I have a talented bunch of athletes, but until they play as one, we will keep struggling."

A Thursday rematch with Warroad resulted in another defeat, but this time the Wolverines won a game, with Warroad notching an 18-25, 25-17, 25-5, 25-16 victory.

"I was so impressed with how the girls started," said Schulz. "Everything – our passing, setting and attacking – worked so well. Game 3 didn't go well; they had one server who was on fire. But overall, this was the first match this season the girls really stepped it up and played their game."

Lumberjacks edge TRF girls 4-3 in tennis dual

Bemidji combined three singles wins with a doubles victory Thursday to edge host Thief River Falls 4-3 in girls high school tennis.

"We had our chance," said Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanestad. "I thought we had a line-up that matched up very well. In the matches we won, our kids played some very good tennis. We showed great intensity, focus and energy on the court in those matches."

The Prowlers' winners were Ashley Leister at No. 1 singles; Kassi Sparby-Sarah Larson at No. 1 doubles and Amanda Hoard-Kelly Hanson at No. 2 doubles.

"They (Lumberjacks) were very tough at 2-4 singles," pointed out Hanestad. "We did not compete well in a couple of spots. Hopefully those kids learned that just showing up is not going to be good enough against a good team like Bemidji."

Thief River Falls freshmen defeat Red River by 40-14

A 20-point third quarter carried Thief River Falls to a 40-14 win over Grand Forks Red River in Sept. 15 freshman football action.

The winners led 14-8 at halftime on a 17-yard Myles Keefe first quarter touchdown run, an 11-yard Cody Conners second quarter touchdown pass to Zach Sorenson and a two-point conversion run by Brian Hruby.

It turned into a 34-8 game in the third quarter when Conners and Sorenson hooked up on touchdown passes covering 42 and 15 yards; Tyler Aandal broke away on a 40-yard touchdown run; and Hruby added a conversion run.

Final Thief River Falls touchdown came on a 25-yard fourth quarter run by Lucas Dillon.

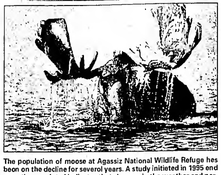
Marvin Windows dedicates training and visitor center

William S. "Bill" Marvin, honorary chairman of Marvin Windows and Doors, was honored Sept. 17 as the new William S. Marvin Training and Visitor Center was dedicated in his name. Joining Marvin and his wife, Margaret, at the ceremony of over 1,000 guests were their six children and many grandchildren, current and former employees of Marvin Windows and Doors, civic leaders, as well as members of the Warroad community.

The 30,000 square-foot facility includes a 6,000 square foot visitor center that provides visitors with an opportunity to experience the rich history and ingenuity of the company. In addition, there is also a state-of-the-art training center that allows Marvin Windows and Doors to train the over 3,000 builders, architects and distributors who visit the company each year to learn about their business and products.

"The Marvin family and company have a rich history in the Warroad community that began over 100 years ago when my grandfather, George Marvin, moved to Warroad," said Susan Marvin, daughter of Bill Marvin and president of Marvin Windows and Doors. "My father's life has been devoted to continuing the rich history that his father set forth and this building is a tribute to my father's dedication to his family, company and community."

Peggy Johnson, one of Bill Marvin's six children, dedicated the center to her father, honoring him for his vision, leadership, and unwavering commitment to Marvin Windows and Doors. "Please join me here today to dedicate this incredible building to an even more incredible man. This honor is one that is richly deserved for the endless contributions made by my father, William S. 'Bill' Marvin."



Other guest speakers at the ceremony were Nina M. Archabal, director of the Minnesota Historical Society, John Metcalf, lead designer with Design Craftsmen Inc., Bob Sweeney, chief executive officer of Nor-son Inc., and John Mrenin, vice president of Miller Dunwiddie Architecture.

The training and visitor center was designed by Miller Dunwiddie Architecture of Minneapolis and built by Nor-son Inc. of Brainerd. The exhibits in the visitor center were designed and built by Design Craftsmen Inc. of Midland, Mich.

The visitor center provides the public with an opportunity to experience the rich history of the company beginning with George G. Marvin's arrival in Warroad in 1904. The exhibits include a combination of artifacts from the company's early history, such as a replica of the first DeWalt saw purchased in 1939. Visitors can also participate in interactive presentations, including the "Depot Theater" that allows guests to see and hear a variety of Marvin's print, radio and television advertisements.

The combination of artifacts and exhibits make the history of Marvin Windows and Doors come alive for those who tour the Visitor Center. In addition to the unique exhibits, visitors also have an opportunity to meet Bill and Margaret Marvin and their six children who work for the company today, along with the fourth generation of Marvins who currently work for the company.

The Marvin Visitor Center and gift shop will be open to the public free of charge on weekdays from noon until 6 p.m. and on weekends from 1 until 4 p.m. For special accommodations, group tours or plant tours, call (218) 386-4333 in advance. For more information, visit the Training and Visitor Center Web site at http://visitor.marvin.com.

The population of moose at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge has been on the decline for several years. A study initiated in 1995 and recently completed indicates that changes in the weather and parasites may explain why the population of moose has declined. (Submitted photo)

Larger tax base eases effect of levy increase

Erskine - An additional $216 million in real estate value has been added to the base upon which Polk County property taxes will be levied for 2006. Of that new valuation total, almost $27.5 million is the result of new construction and improvements.

"This amount of new market value will go a long way toward reducing the 9 percent increase that the board has approved as the preliminary levy amount that will be collected to pay for operational expenses in 2006," Polk County Board Chairperson Jerry Jacobson said.

While it is difficult to determine the exact effect this new valuation will have on tax bills, it is expected that the net increase for most property owners will instead be closer to 5 or even 4 percent.

Most of the additional $216 million in new valuation is the result of revaluation of lands, primarily in eastern Polk County. The comparable sales of both tillable and non-tillable (pasture/hunting) lands there have regularly been well above the market values of the properties used for tax purposes. - Erskine Echo, Sept. 29, 2005

County taxes may rise 9.8 percent

Hallock - Kittson County taxpayers may see a 9.8 percent increase in the county's property tax levy for 2006.

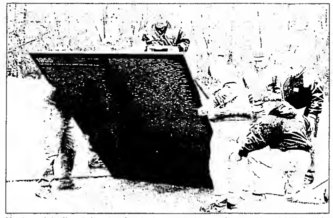
Commissioners voted Sept. 6 to approve a proposed tax levy of $2,295,554, a $205,002 increase over last year's levy.

Prior to formal approval, the amount of the levy can be lowered. However, it cannot be increased. - Kittson County Enterprise, Sept. 28, 2005, by Cindy Stewart

Beet harvester army aids Warren farmer

Warren - A massive effort, involving as many as 100 people, was carried out Wednesday and Thursday to bring in the 1,400-acre beet crop of a severely-injured Warren farmer and his family.

Mark Loeslie, who farms with his father, Ronald, about three miles northwest of Warren, was severely injured in a four-wheeler all-terrain-vehicle accident Sept. 24. He is being cared for at MeritCare Hospital in Fargo, N.D.



J. Wendell Sands of Alvarado, an uncle of Mark Loeslie, said Tuesday that American Crystal Sugar Company agreed to activate beet pilers at its Alvarado and Warren receiving stations three days ahead of Saturday's start of the regular campaign to accommodate the benefit harvest of the Loeslie family's beet acreage.

As of Tuesday morning, Sands said 14 beet lifters, 53 trucks and 12 rotobeaters had been lined up to harvest the sugar beets. An unofficial report Tuesday night from a person involved in the operation was that the number of trucks volunteered for the effort had increased to 60. - Warren Sheaf, Sept. 28, 2005

Karlstad needs city cop

Karlstad - Karlstad needs a city police officer and will start advertising, with a deadline of Oct. 17 for applications.

"We'll try for a November start," said Mayor Dale Nelson. "It will be part-time (20-hour week or 1,040 hours per year) with no benefits and $15 per hour, to start." - North Star News of Karlstad, Sept. 29, 2005, by Lori Botham

Members of the Hans E. Lian American Legion Post 444 and volunteers, erect the center panel of the Traveling Wall exhibit on Thursday morning. The Traveling Wall, a four-fifths-scale replica of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Wall will be displayed in Middle River throughout the weekend.

Wall visits Middle River

Replica of Vietnam Veterans Memorial goes on display

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Along with celebrating the 31st Annual Middle River Goose Festival and Middle River Centennial, area residents will have an opportunity this weekend, to see a smaller version of one of Washington D.C.'s most meaningful monuments.

The "Traveling Wall," one of four traveling replicas of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial wall was erected for display on Thursday morning at the Greenbush/Middle River School football field by members of the Hans E. Lian American Legion Post 444 and volunteers. It will be displayed through Sunday, Oct. 2.

At 370 feet in length and nearly eight feet in height at the center, the Traveling Wall is the largest of four Vietnam Veterans Memorial Wall replicas that currently tour the nation. Other touring walls include the "Moving Wall," the "Wall that Heals," and the "Dignity Wall," all of which were constructed between one-half and three-quarters scale and are approximately 250 feet from end to end.

The "Moving Wall," created by Vietnam veteran John Devitt, was the first Vietnam Veterans Memorial Wall replica to tour the United States. Literally half the size of the original Vietnam Veterans Memorial Wall, it was completed in 1984 and has been touring the country ever since.

The Traveling Wall, constructed at four-fifths scale of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial, was completed in 1998. The powder coated aluminum wall was designed by Vietnam War veteran, Dr. Don Pennington. Work began on Pennington's project in 1996 and since its 1998 completion, the wall

Marketing, events manager chosen for TRF arenas

by April Schelnohn
Reporter

Wednesday, the Thief River Falls City Council hired an arenas marketing and events manager for Ralph Engelstad Arena (REA) and Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center (HOMCC).

The council hired Gary Martinson of Roseau. He will start his new job Monday, Oct. 24.

Martinson, who is currently employed at Polaris, was one of eight candidates for the new position within the Parks and Recreation Department. Tammy Abrahamson of Lakeland was the other finalist. Mayor Dale Wennberg, interim REA manager, was also a candidate, but was not a finalist for the position.

"I'm just excited at this point to have this opportunity," Martinson said.

Martinson has more than 12 years of arenas marketing experience in Steele County. Of that time with Steele County, he spent six years as the county's park and recreation director. At that job, he sold and marketed dry-floor events, or those events that do not require ice. Martinson has also coached all levels of hockey.

Martinson holds a bachelor of science degree in sports management from the University of Minnesota and a diploma in arena and recreational facility management.

Gary Martinson arenas manager

"We're fortunate to have someone with a good background in marketing facilities, and he looks to be a good fit for the community," said Dave Carlson, vice mayor. "We look forward to working with him."

Prior to interviewing for the position, Martinson spoke to Thief River Falls residents about REA and HOMCC while at Crazy Days. "Everyone I spoke to was happy to have the facility in the community," he said.

Now, Martinson noted, the key is to get a different segment of the population to use REA and HOMCC, which see a lot of use as hockey arenas. Those he interviewed mentioned Taste of Home cooking shows, World Wrestling Entertainment events and concerts. However, Martinson said concerns were "very risky ventures."

"We just want to get more people in the community through the facility and using it," he added.

One venture that wouldn't be very risky would be a girls sectional basketball tournament. The Section

Badger resident makes a difference teaching in Vietnam

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

About 8,100 miles from his hometown, Corey Christianson is making a difference in Vietnam.

The Badger native is currently working in Hanoi, Vietnam, where he is working on humanitarian projects as well as teaching English. He has lived there for more than a year.

"The people have been really friendly, especially to Americans," Christianson said. At first, he didn't think the Vietnamese would be friendly to Americans given the history the two countries share.

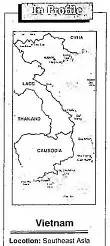
Here in the U.S., Christianson began working with Vietnamese community organizations once he moved to the Twin Cities. Most of his friends were Vietnamese, and through them, he began working at the community organizations. His work with those organizations then led to a job in Vietnam.

Christianson works for Humanitarian Services for Children of Vietnam (HSCV). He also teaches English as a way to supplement his income.

Christianson's primary job is to work on the HSCV's programs. HSCV has a number of programs, including one that enables children to attend school and another that enables needy families to receive food. HSCV has auditory and heart assistance programs as well. It also has a sister school program in which American schools can adopt Vietnamese schools.

In addition to those programs, HSCV builds homes for needy families. The group recently built a home for a family of nine who was living on a boat, Christianson noted.

Besides his primary job of working for HSCV, Christianson teaches English. Twice a week for about two hours each class, Christianson teaches English to young women who have HIV. When they gave birth, they discovered they had HIV. Some of them are learning English to share their story and reduce the stigma associated with HIV, Christianson said.



For an hour twice a week,

Township studies mega fertilizer plant near TRF

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Plans for Northwest Grain to construct a mega fertilizer plant in rural Thief River Falls moved a step closer to becoming reality on Monday.

During Monday's public hearing, the North Township Planning Commission recommended, by a three to two vote, that the North Township Board of Supervisors rezone a portion of North Township Section 21 (northwest of Thief River Falls along Highway 32) from urban/residential to industrial.

The request to rezone was made by Northwest Grain, whose general manager, Tim Miller, formally announced his company's plans to construct a $3.5 million mega fertilizer plant on the 27-acre property during Monday's meeting.

The planning commission's decision to recommend rezoning did not sit well with most if any of the 11 township residents in attendance. Residents raised concerns ranging from health issues like potential ground water and runoff contamination from fertilizer spillage, to a loss of property value for homes and land in close proximity to the prospective fertilizer plant.

During his opening statement, Miller outlined several safety measures that the company currently takes with its plant in Thief River Falls. They include a large, concrete-lined pit that is used to collect dry fertilizer from train cars and engineered stainless steel tanks to store chemical fertilizers like Roundup. Miller said there will be no contamination from the plant.

"We won't be manufacturing anything in the plant, it's essentially a storage facility," Miller said.

Northwest Grain is proposing to build a fertilizer plant-storage facility with 20-24,000 ton storage capacity. Miller noted that it will be more of a warehouse than a plant. The plant will process between 65 and 75 train cars at a time, with trains arriving once a month. Miller said Northwest Grain will have 24 hours to process train cars.

Northwest Grain also plans to move its offices to the North Township location. Miller said Northwest Grain would likely close its current Thief River Falls fertilizer plant, dismantling and selling that location's equipment.

Miller estimates that 300-500 rail cars will be processed annually at the new fertilizer plant, with individual trains arriving about once a month. He said most of the product will leave the facility by truck, though some could be transported by rail car.

"You're going to unload all those

Easy as pie, you'll love this lasagna any time:

EGG NOODLE LASAGNA
6-1/2 cups uncooked wide egg noodles
3 tablespoons butter
1-1/2 pounds ground beef
2-1/4 cups spaghetti sauce
6 ounces process cheese (Velveeta or similar), cubed
3 cups (12 ounces) shredded mozzarella cheese

Cook noodles according to package. Drain. Add butter and toss to coat.

In skillet, cook beef over medium heat until no longer pink. Drain. Spread 1/4 of the spaghetti sauce in an ungreased 5-quart slow cooker. Layer with 1/3 of the noodles, 1/3 of the beef, 1/3 of the remaining sauce, and 1/3 of the cheeses. Repeat layers twice.

Cover and cook on low for 4 hours or until cheese is melted and lasagna is heated through. Recipe serves 12-16 people.

Cranberries make this salad special, and it would taste great with any of the casserole dishes here:

HOLIDAY TOSSED SALAD
1 (10 ounce) package Italian blend salad greens
1 (5 ounce) package spring mix salad greens
2 (11 ounces each) cans mandarin oranges, drained
1-1/2 cup dried cranberries
1 medium red apple, cored and chopped
1 cup chopped nuts
1/3 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1 (8 ounce) bottle raspberry vinaigrette

In large salad bowl, toss greens, oranges, cranberries, apple, nuts and cheese. Drizzle with vinaigrette just before serving and toss to coat. Serves 12.

Another main dish meal that's really quick to fix:

CHILIGHETTI
1 (7 ounce) package spaghetti
1 pound hamburger
1 small onion, chopped
1 (16 ounce) can kidney beans, rinsed and drained
1 (14 1/2 ounce) can diced tomatoes
1 (4 ounce) can mushroom stems and pieces, drained
1/3 cup water
1 envelope chili seasoning
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
1/4 cup shredded mozzarella cheese

Cook spaghetti according to package.

In large skillet, cook beef and onion over medium heat until meat is no longer pink. Drain.

Drain spaghetti and add to beef mixture, along with beans, tomatoes, mushrooms, water, chili seasoning and Parmesan. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Sprinkle with mozzarella. Recipe serves 8.

Here's a tasty veggie casserole that is great alone or with your favorite meat:

SPINACH CASSEROLE
1 (10 ounce) package frozen chopped spinach, thawed and squeezed dry
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup cubed process cheese (Velveeta or similar)
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup soft bread crumbs
4-1/2 teaspoons butter or margarine, melted

In large bowl, combine spinach, eggs, milk, cheese, onion and salt. Pour into greased 1 quart baking dish.

Combine bread crumbs and butter and sprinkle over top. Bake, uncovered at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes or until a knife near center comes out clean. Recipe serves 4.

And for dessert, who could resist this dish, especially with pears on sale right now:

PEAR CARAMEL CRUMB
1-1/4 cups flour
1 cup quick cooking oats
1 cup packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup butter, melted
20 caramels (approximately)
1 tablespoon milk
3 medium pears, peeled and sliced
Whipped topping and additional cinnamon, as desired

Combine flour, oats, brown sugar and cinnamon in bowl. Stir in butter. Set aside 1 cup (mixture is crumbly). Press remaining mixture into ungreased 9-inch square baking dish.

In small saucepan over low heat melt caramels and milk until caramels are melted and mixture is smooth. Remove from heat. Arrange pears over crust and spoon caramel mixture over pears. Sprinkle with reserved crumbs.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30-35 minutes or until pears are tender and top is golden brown. Serve warm. Garnish with whipped topping and sprinkle with cinnamon. Recipe serves 6-9.

Here's something you can enjoy even if you are watching your diet:

MAGIC BUNS
1 (1 pound) loaf frozen bread dough, thawed
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1/4 cup each diced mushrooms, broccoli and sweet red and yellow peppers
1 tablespoon chopped green onion
1 garlic clove, minced
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder

Divide dough into 8 pieces. In bowl, combine cheese, vegetables, garlic and garlic powder. Roll each bread piece into an 8-inch rope. Roll in cheese mixture, pressing mixture into dough. Tie into a knot and press vegetables into dough. Tuck ends under.

Place 2 inches apart on greased baking sheet. Cover and let rise until doubled, about 30 minutes. Bake at 375 degrees for 15-20 minutes or until golden brown. Serves 8.

Warren man receives injuries in ATV accident

A Warren man suffered injuries Sept. 24 after an all-terrain-vehicle (ATV) accident in Beltrami County.

Mark Loeslie suffered what appeared to be severe injuries as a result of the accident, according to the Beltrami County Sheriff's Department. However, it was not known what injuries he had suffered. Loeslie was taken to Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls. He was later airlifted from the Thief River Falls Regional Airport to MeritCare Hospital in Fargo, N.D.

A MeritCare employee said Thursday that Loeslie is still a patient at the hospital. However, she said Loeslie's family had requested that no other information be released.

At the time of the accident, Loeslie was driving a 2005 700 Suzuki ATV on Rapid River Road, approximately 10 miles east of Fourtown. The sheriff's department was dispatched to the scene at 6:40 p.m. Sept. 24. The accident remains under investigation.

Community breakfast set for Sunday

First Street bridge work affects westbound traffic

In Thief River Falls, drivers will encounter a three-lane First Street bridge all of next week.

On Wednesday, workers began repainting casing for a gas line underneath the bridge. The work is expected to continue for a week and a half, Public Works Director Ron Lundberg said.

As a result, westbound traffic will be restricted to one lane from 5:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. At night, both westbound lanes will be open. Eastbound lanes will not be affected by the project.

A maintenance project to clean and lubricate the bridge's bearings was originally scheduled for this year as well. However, that project has been rescheduled for 2006. There wasn't any money in the budget for the project, Lundberg said. Municipal State Aid monies will be used for the bridge bearing project.

Mandy Thompson tried, but couldn't come up with a Thief River Falls block on Moorhead hitter Sam Bourcy during Tuesday's Section 8AAA high school volleyball match on the Prowlers' court. The Spuds won 3-0.

Moorhead wins volleyball encounter...

Spuds handle Prowlers, 3-0

Moorhead's status as a big school with a strong program gave the Spuds an edge before the first serve was launched in Tuesday's Section 8AAA high school volleyball match against Thief River Falls. And the visiting Spuds lived up to the billing by dominating play early in a 25-10, 25-11, 25-15 sweep.

"We were definitely intimidated," admitted Thief River Falls coach Tammy Sparby. "Moorhead has a very respectable team. Some of our kids said they were nervous before the match. They need to develop some confidence to be able to play with the big schools."

The only apparent flaw in the Spuds' game was at the service line, where 11 misses gave the Prowlers nearly a third of their points.

Thief River Falls' best volleyball came in the third game when the Prowlers overcame an early 4-0 deficit to tie Moorhead at 7-7.

A Thief River Falls block that went out of bounds, a hitting error by the Prowlers, a kill by Jessie Bourcy, an ace by Sam Bourcy and a kill by Kate Grogan added up to a 5-0 run and a 12-7 lead for the Spuds.

Defense kept the Prowlers in the game, with a Brittany Wiseth block making it 13-10 and a Mandy Thompson/Becca Larson double-block putting the score at 14-11.

"We didn't give up," said Sparby. "We started to get some confidence back in the third game."

Moorhead, however, pulled away down the stretch, finishing the night with a block by Jessie Bourcy and a kill by Grogan.

The loss dropped the Prowlers to 6-9. They are 0-3 against Section 8AAA competition.

"We did some good things on defense," mentioned Sparby. "We broke out of our slump as far as blocking, and we kept the ball alive a number of times with digs."

Offensively, it was another story, acknowledged Sparby, whose team often had trouble getting a playable pass to the setter. "The setters have a hard time getting the offense started when the ball is going all over the place," she explained.

The Prowlers host Win-E-Mac Monday, visit East Grand Forks Thursday and entertain Detroit Lakes Thursday.

Thief River Falls junior varsity improved its record to 7-0 with a 27-29, 25-15, 15-13 win. Moorhead was a 25-22, 25-21 winner in the C squad match.

Scoring

■ Kills - (Moorhead) Kate Grogan 11, Jenny Corar 7, Megan Jones 7, (TRF) Becca Larson 1, Brittany Wiseth 2.

Relay points lead TRF to swim win

Three relay wins helped carry Thief River Falls past host Crookston 111-70 in Tuesday girls high school swimming.

Both teams won six events. The Prowlers had a 7-5 edge in the second place finishes, and padded their point total by sweeping the higher-scoring relay races.

First place Thief River Falls relay teams featured April Peterson, Casey Engelstad, Allyson Helling and Katie Pribula in the 200 medley, Peterson, Pribula, Ashley Meunier and Helling in the 200 freestyle, Meunier, Dani Simenson, Kailey Bakken and Helling in the 400 freestyle.

Individually, Bakken won the 200 freestyle; Peterson took the 100 freestyle; and Pribula captured the 100 backstroke.

A full Thief River Falls junior varsity line-up overwhelmed a limited Crookston squad 135-6.

Thief River Falls is 3-2 in dual meet competition. Three invitationals in a week's span will have the Prowlers swimming at Fosston/Bagley today (Saturday), Grand Rapids Thursday and the University of North Dakota Saturday, Oct. 8.

Gloves and stocking cap were part of the attire for the Prowlers' Mauri Gonsorowski during the Thief River Falls Quad girls tennis meet Thursday. Cool temperatures and a strong wind made for uncomfortable playing conditions. Gonsorowski played No. 2 singles.

Northwest Quad is won by Crookston

Winning five of the seven individual titles, Crookston took top team honors Tuesday during the annual Northwest Quad girls high school tennis meet at East Grand Forks.

The Pirates finished the day with 18 points, followed by Thief River Falls with 12, East Grand Forks 7 and Moorhead 5.

Crookston's Amy Burke, Crystal Engebretson and Molly Simmons won at first, second and third singles, respectively, with Amanda Schlenker-Danille Gasper taking the title at No. 1 doubles, while Rachel Erickson-Janae Conuette-Brittney Morris combined on a first place finish at No. 2 doubles.

The two remaining titles went to Thief River Falls players – Carli Sandal at No. 4 singles; Mauri Gonsorowski-Kristine Sletten at No. 3 doubles.

Thief River Falls was coming off a 6-1 Monday dual setback at the hands of Crookston.

"I thought as a team, we underachieved on Monday," said Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanestad. "We did not serve well as a team, and we lacked confidence."

Hanestad juggled his line-up Tuesday and was pleased with the results. "The quad went pretty well," he said. "We have a lot of matches in the next week, so we played some people in positions they do not play very often, and the girls responded very well. Mauri and Kristine played very aggressive doubles at No. 3 and had a nice win. Carli made her second varsity appearance and played some great tennis. She did a nice job of keeping the ball deep and played well at the net."

There were others who also caught Hanestad's eye. "Our No. 1 and No. 2 doubles teams both had a great day and lost in the finals to

Wrestling clinic will be conducted for students in grades K-through-5

Prowler Takedown Club-sponsored free youth wrestling clinic will be held Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, Oct. 10, 11 and 13, in the Lincoln High School wrestling room.

No previous wrestling experience is necessary. The clinic is designed as an introductory program for students in grades K-through-5.

Sessions are planned from 6:30 to 8 p.m. each evening.

Participants should have a pair of shorts, t-shirt and gym shoes.

The clinic is designed to teach basic techniques while also offering a form of exercise for the participants, who will learn what the sport is all about, both on a team and individual basis. Program officials say it's also an opportunity to enjoy a new experience and meet new friends.

Darrin Looker is named UND hockey announcer

Local fans attending University of North Dakota men's hockey games at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Grand Forks this season will hear a familiar voice over the Ralph Engelstad Arena public address system.

Darrin Looker, a 2005 Lincoln High School graduate, was recently chosen to be the new announcer for UND games. He will succeed Scott Hennen, who elected to leave the position he's held for the past 16 years.

Looker, currently a student at Northland Community and Technical College, announced games for the Prowlers in a number of sports while an LHS student. He is employed part-time at Thief River Falls radio, where his duties include sports play-by-play coverage.

UND filled Hennen's position through a try-out attended by Athletics Director Tom Buning, REA General Manager Jody Hodgson and North Dakota men's head hockey coach Dave Hakstol.

"Darrin is an extremely mature young man who has both the passion and skills we were looking for," Buning told Brad Schlossman of the Grand Forks Herald. "We were all extremely impressed with not only the clarity of Darrin's voice, but also the enthusiasm in his delivery."

Itasca is 3-0 winner over Northland

Itasca competed a home-and-home regular season series sweep against Northland Wednesday with a 30-11, 30-10, 30-7 Minnesota Community College Conference volleyball win at Grand Rapids.

The Vikings beat the Pioneers by the same 3-0 margin in a Sept. 7 match at Thief River Falls.

The Pioneers are 0-12 for the year and 0-8 in MCCC Northern Division play. Northland began a weekend home stand Friday with a 6:30 p.m. match against Rainy River. The Pioneers face Hibbing today (Saturday) at 11 a.m.

Ponies edge Prowlers 3-2

Warren-Alvarado-Oslo outlasted Thief River Falls 3-2 in Thursday high school volleyball.

The host Ponies won the see-saw match 23-25, 25-17, 23-25, 25-13, 15-11.

Shawna Rogalla reached double figures in kills for the Prowlers with 10.

Jessica Gustafson (15/15) and Stephanie Brekke (14/14) were a combined 29-for-29 at the service line for the Prowlers. Brekke served three aces; Gustafson had two.

Thief River Falls JV is a 23-21 winner at Roseau

A 70-yard drive that began with less than five minutes remaining on the clock led to the game-winning touchdown as Thief River Falls edged Roseau 23-21 Thursday in junior varsity high school football.

The two teams played to a 7-7 first quarter tie and a 14-14 halftime draw. The 3-2 Prowlers went ahead 17-14 in the third quarter on a 22-yard Tom Loe field goal.

A 54-yard touchdown and conversion kick put the host Rams up 21-17 to start the fourth quarter, but the Prowlers answered with a 7-yard Aaron Langan touchdown run with two minutes remaining.

First half Thief River Falls scoring included a 64-yard Jordan Swanson touchdown pass to Langan, a 52-yard Swanson pass to Loe and two Loe conversion kicks.

Plan needed to address major disasters

During the past 10 years, our elected officials have been telling us that government can't be, and shouldn't be expected to do everything. As government program after government program has been cut in an effort to reduce taxes, we've been told entrepreneurs and local citizens can do it better, anyway. It took Katrina to blow holes in part of that theory.

On a massive scale, such as the effort required to address damage and chaos caused by Hurricane Katrina, the response requires an organization of individuals willing and capable of taking orders and responding in a professional manner - like the military. Our government's initial response to the damage and loss of life caused by Hurricane Katrina was woefully inadequate, which raises the question of whether we in the Midwest are prepared for massive disasters?

Minnesota, its cities, counties and responders have invested thousands of dollars in equipment and training to prepare for disasters. They constantly practice and rehearse. Last week, in fact, some of our local schools practiced mock drills.

Minnesota Department of Public Safety announced last week that September is National Preparedness Month, a federal initiative designed to remind us that emergency preparedness is a "personal responsibility," too.

Don't play with fire. Common sense should tell us that when an expert tells us to get out, to evacuate to a place of safety, then we ought to pack a few belongings and get out, or at least let someone know we need transportation to get out of the way of danger. Unless we lack the ability to reason, there is some personal responsibility to get out of the way of danger.

Most disasters that might occur in the Midwest don't require us to pack our bags and leave. Most situations that we could face would simply require that we take cover, and "hunker down."

In presenting its exercise "personal responsibility" plan, Barbara Fonkert, disaster planner for the Minnesota Department of Public Safety, division of Homeland Security and Emergency Management, reminds us of some things we can do to prepare for a disaster. Fonkert suggests putting together a kit for basic survival. The kit could include fresh water, food, blankets, matches, and battery-operated radios, lights and tools. Families should also make a plan that includes escape routes, meeting places and contact persons. These are all great suggestions. The key to this message, of course, is that you should be involved in planning for your own safety.

Minnesotans approach to weather resembles much about the way we approach life. The skies may be clear and the temperatures warm, but we all know, it could be worse. So we are prepared, but do we need to be prepared for when and if our first responders are victims, too?

Our local officials are our first line of defense, and generally, our best hope. Our own experiences with disasters tell us that in most cases, that's adequate. But what happens if that first line of defense falters? What happens when our first line of defense - our emergency responders, our friends and neighbors - are victims, too?

Let's hope someone has a plan somewhere for that eventuality.

Visit Lee Plumbing and Heating in Thief River Falls and take a look at these different sink styles in their display room.

Bath tubs that provide an additional measure of comfort are gaining in popularity. This model is featured in the display room at Lee Plumbing and Heating, Thief River Falls.

Give your bathroom an interesting look with this sink. The display room at Lee Plumbing and Heating in Thief River Falls features several different styles and models of sinks and bathroom fixtures.

Budget baths with beautiful results

While you may envision your ideal bathroom with a sunken tub, steam shower and marble floors, many homeowners don't have the budget for these dream rooms. However, a modest budget doesn't mean you can't create a bathroom that is stylish, updated and enjoyable.

No matter what your budget, there are many things you can do to add design and style to your bathroom. Celebrity designer Vern Yip offers a few ideas for ways you can add these elements while still following a $5,000 budget:

• Vanity and countertops – Since it is the working area of the bathroom and often the focal point, you may want to replace the current vanity with a pedestal sink or a new vanity. This will automatically add an updated, new look to the bathroom.

Pedestal sinks often make the room look larger and more upscale than a vanity, but if storage is a concern, a new vanity is the wiser, more functional choice. Or, if the vanity is in decent shape, try working with what you have and just replace the countertop with an updated material such as ceramic tile. Also, don't forget to update or add coordinating knobs and pulls on the vanity.

• Faucet and accessories – Once you have added a new vanity or countertop, be sure to complete this focal area with a new faucet. Faucets today are available in a variety of designs and finishes to match your decorating style as well as meet your functional needs.

Additionally, companies have designed an endless variety of bathroom accessories to coordinate with their faucets. These coordinating accessories can instantly update the look of your bathroom, tie your design together for a cohesive look, as well as provide functional storage tools, such as shelving, toothbrush and soap holders, and towel bars.

• Paint and color – Inject color and style into a bathroom with new paint. Since it is a smaller space, especially for a powder room, choose a color that you love but might not be brave enough to use in a larger, more prominent room. Be sure to tie your color together with coordinating towels and even a shower curtain.

• Flooring – Since the bathroom is one of the most used and abused rooms in the home, try updating the flooring with ceramic tile or a higher density, more upscale tile called through-body porcelain tile to add style and functionality to your bath. Or, you might even try natural stones, such as granite, which offer a more luxurious and sophisticated look. Today's natural stone floors come in a variety of colors and patterns that can add a unique and upscale look to your bathroom.

• Water closet – While you may not think of a toilet adding style to a room, a shiny new toilet (perhaps to match a new sink) can give your bathroom a fresh new feeling for you and your guests to enjoy as well as a coordinated look.

• Window coverings – Remove old valances and let in more natural light with simple, open window treatments. Replace old vinyl blinds with two-inch faux wood blinds that offer the designer look of genuine wood blinds without the associated cost.

The perfect shower every time

Ahh, the shower. It can wake you up, soothe your senses or relax your body – and it starts the minute you step into the water. But, do you prefer a powerful spray, a gentle rainshower or a pulsating massage? With so many options to choose from, today's showers do more than get you clean.

"It's about physical well-being and a pleasant experience," said Gary Pember, director of wholesale marketing for Moen Incorporated. "Personalizing your shower to meet your needs will give you that experience every time. Being good to yourself is a great reason to customize your shower. It can make getting clean fun and relaxing."

But not all showers are the same. Learn more about today's showering options, from showerheads to body sprays to temperature controls, and transform your shower into the shower of your dreams.

Fixed showerheads

The most popular of all showerheads, fixed showerheads are attached to a shower stall wall or ceiling. Hundreds of new designs give you the option to create a luxurious, spa-like feel or a contemporary look. The benefit of these showerheads is that many can be adjusted for different types of water delivery to suit any mood. Plus, many consumers are adding two fixed showerheads – creating a shower built for two – or a shower that can provide great front and back coverage at an affordable cost.

"An intense pulsing spray is what people usually look for when shopping for a fixed showerhead," said Gene Groff, showroom manager of Edelman Plumbing Supply Inc., a wholesale kitchen and bath design center in Cleveland. "The massage function is great for stress relief, but a good showerhead also offers a wide, even spray pattern for washing and rinsing off."

Rainshowers

In the fastest growing category of showers, these unique showerheads feature an enlarged spray face and simulate the look and feel of a natural rainfall for a gentle, soothing experience. Since most rainshower showerheads are gravity-fed, they can have a "drooping" water pattern, similar to a watering can. Often they don't provide enough water pressure to wash the shampoo from your hair or the shower gel from your back. But new Immersion technology from ShowHouse by Moen has changed all that – providing a more powerful, rain-drenching experience.

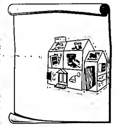
Hand-held showers

Many consumers will supplement their tub or fixed showerhead with a handheld shower. Often, these hose-mounted handheld showers are attached to a holder that can be adjusted up or down on a wall-mounted bar. This height adjustment capability, combined with the shower's hand-held operation, makes this setup suitable for anyone.

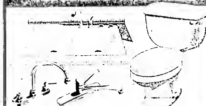
"You can shower without getting your hair wet or detach the showerhead from the holder to wash your child's hair, bathe the dog and even rinse the far corners of your tub," said Pember. "Most importantly, a handheld shower provides a safer showering experience for the elderly or disabled, who may need to sit while showering."

Vertical spas

Imagine enveloping yourself in water from every angle and you can begin to see the appeal of a vertical spa. This shower offers a combination of a fixed shower head, adjustable body jets and even a handheld shower. The body jets can be aimed in any direction, so the water flow isn't just falling from above. In addition, the water can be directed all over you, making it easier to rinse soap and shampoo while creating a truly invigorating full-body experience.



Control your personal experience



After identifying your ideal showerhead style, there are other ways to tailor your shower to meet your needs. Many showers are available with pressure-balanced thermostatic valves that allow you to set your own personalized water temperature.

Additional valve systems can maintain temperatures within plus or minus two degrees Fahrenheit, so the shower temperature is consistent, comfortable and safe. There are also special temperature limit stops in some shower systems that prevent children from turning the handle to full hot.

As you evaluate the showering products offered today, consider the space you have available and the needs of those who will use the bathroom. Include the basics and add some luxurious extras if space and budget allow. After all, a shower should envelop you in soothing water away from the rest of the world -- refreshing your body and relaxing your mind. Make yours the shower of your dreams.

Secret to great-looking drywall surfaces

(HIT) – Whether building a new home, adding a new room or finishing a basement, homeowners can ensure a top-quality drywall installation by following a few basic – but very important – gypsum board application and finishing guidelines.

Installing drywall panels isn't an overly complex process. The panels are available in a variety of sizes, with four-foot by eight-foot sheets and four-foot by 12-foot sheets being the most commonly used.

Drywall panels are most commonly available in half-inch and five-eighth-inch thicknesses. The half-inch panels are ideal for most wall surfaces while ceilings generally require a five-eighth-inch thickness to protect against sagging. However, there are half-inch-thick sag-resistant gypsum board panels available.

Drywall panel installation techniques are fairly standard. The real trick to achieving great-looking results lies in how well the panels are finished.

A poorly finished drywall surface may show visible "joint banding" or "photographing" problems. These terms refer to a noticeable difference in appearance between the drywall panel and the treated joint areas. The problem stems from the fact that the drywall face paper and the joint compounds used to finish panel joints have different porosities and textures. That means they accept paint differently, and those differences can remain visible even after the surface has been painted.

These problems are especially a concern in larger rooms with an abundance of critical lighting (lighting that strikes wall and ceiling surfaces at an angle) or when semi-gloss or eggshell paints are used.

Priming or sealing the drywall surface prior to painting often doesn't solve the problem. Conventional primers can help equalize the texture differences between the drywall face paper and treated joints, but they may not equalize the porosity differences. Sealers, on the other hand, are typically effective at equalizing porosity differences, but often do not correct texture variations.

To completely eliminate drywall joint banding and telegraphing, drywall contractors use a technique called "skim coating," which involves covering the entire gypsum board surface with a thin coat of joint compound. This process leaves a film thick enough to fill imperfections in the joint work, smooth the paper texture and provide a uniform surface for decorating. After the skim coat has dried, a high-quality drywall primer is applied prior to painting.

Remember there are no shortcuts for creating great-looking gypsum board walls and ceilings. Each step of the installation process must be done carefully and correctly, including board finishing, which has a major impact on how well the finished drywall surface will look.

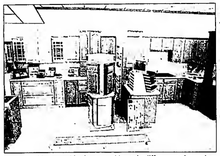
Minimize the risk of mold

(HIT) – According to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the New York City Health Department, individuals can minimize the risk of mold in their homes by keeping these tips in mind:



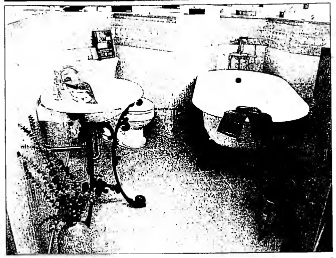
• Fix any water leaks.
• Reduce indoor humidity (to 30 to 60 percent) to decrease mold growth.
• Clean and dry any damp furnishings within 24 to 48 hours to prevent mold growth.
• Clean hard surfaces with water and detergent. Dry completely.
• Prevent condensation on cold surfaces (ie. walls, pipes, roof and floors) by adding fiberglass insulation.
• Do not install carpeting in areas where there may be a perpetual moisture problem in a home.
• If constructing a new home or building an addition, ask the builder about products to minimize the potential for moisture and mold growth.

Crestline Windows and Doors are among the featured products displayed at United Building Center in Thief River Falls.

There are several kitchen and cabinet displays at United Building Center in Thief River Falls. The displays provide a good example of what homeowners can do to change the look of their kitchens.

Kitchen cabinets and bathroom cabinets in different styles, colors and shapes are displayed along with a wide variety of accessories at Home Lumber in Thief River Falls.

What to know when buying a deck



(HIT) – When it comes to home improvements, deck systems top the list with an estimated four million new decks built annually in the U.S. and 40 million remodeled decks gracing today's homes. This rising trend has led manufacturers to offer a wider variety of deck materials, styles and options, but choices can be overwhelming.

While wood has traditionally won the popularity contest for decks due to its natural appearance, vinyl is becoming a choice material for outdoor home entertaining due to its combination of carefree maintenance, aesthetics and value. Vinyl isn't just for windows and siding anymore.

Vinyl decks are virtually maintenance-free, requiring only a yearly power-wash to maintain, whereas wood fades and deteriorates with costly regular stain and sealant applications. Unlike wood or composite, vinyl is color-fast and nonporous, so dirt and stains don't collect to compromise appearance.

"Consumers are also choosing vinyl to save money. While vinyl has a higher up-front cost than wood, it lasts longer and delivers a total return on investment in just five to seven years versus wood, which delivers no payback due to its prohibitive maintenance costs," said Deron Manwaring, national marketing and sales manager for Royal Crown Limited. "Busy customers who want to enhance their home's value feel vinyl is well worth the investment."

When shopping for the right deck supplier, keep several things in mind. Not all vinyl deck systems are the same. Find a supplier with a complete vinyl package that includes not only basic deck materials, but compatible vinyl rails, posts and trim to create an integrated look that adds curb appeal to a home's exterior.

Bathroom sinks and tubs come in many different styles. Though modern, this style takes a cue from antiques. The display room at Lee Plumbing and Heating in Thief River Falls features several different styles and models.

Five improvement mistakes to avoid

If you're set on improving your home, you may have already started to calculate the improvement's positive effect on your home's value - especially if your short-term or long-term plans include selling your home. Before you pound your first nail or call that contractor, check this list to make sure you can avoid some common "homeowner mistakes."

1. Unrealistic expectations - Most homeowners assume that a dollar invested in home improvement will yield a dollar in home value. If you invest $20,000 in a new kitchen, you'd expect your home's value to increase by $20,000 too, right? Wrong! Dollar for dollar returns are a common misconception. Studies reveal that most home improvements yield a lesser percentage of money returned at time of sale (kitchens and baths are on the high range at about 80 percent). The good news is that the longer you live in your home, the more its overall value increases.

2. Improving before you move - If you plan to sell within a year, making a major improvement such as family room, or attic makeover can often be a mistake. Because most improvements don't yield a dollar for dollar return in the short run (under two years), you should focus on "must improves" that are quick, easy and cheap. Consider high-impact items that are limited in scope, such as new countertops, or cosmetics, such as a new mailbox and house numbers or minor landscaping, such as new shrubs or trees.

3. Failure to maintain - Failure to keep up on maintenance can have a direct effect on your home's value because a new homeowner expects everything to be in "working condition." Exterior paint jobs may help increase the "curb appeal" of your house, but don't expect a $5,000 paint job to translate into $5,000 more in home value. After all, proper maintenance is part of home ownership. On the other hand, it is a common occurrence that failure to maintain your property will reduce you home's sale value by the cost it will take to repair the damage or implement necessary maintenance. Think of maintenance improvements as a way to prevent your home's value from going down.

4. Beware of over-improving - Before you commit to any big projects, ask, "Is this three-car garage or pool out of character for my neighborhood?" If the answer is yes, you may be consigning your house to an "oddity" status. If you "improve" your house beyond and unlike the entire neighborhood that surrounds it, you are very unlikely to realize the value when it comes time to sell.

5. Not keeping up with home values. If you know the house down the street sold for $325,000 with a slew of home improvements, you can get an idea of your home's value (if your home is comparable), or more importantly, whether or not you should install those same kinds of improvements. Looking at comps and neighborhood sales gives you the best idea of your home's value. You can look at exact home sale prices online and keep track of values in your neighborhood by visiting www.domania.com

Brilliant driveways – An easy do-it-yourself project

Every homeowner wants a beautiful, maintenance-free blacktop driveway, but most asphalt driveways suffer from pavement discolorations like skid marks and oil stains, or damage like rock salt pits, scrapes, gouges and cracks.

A small crack can easily overtake entire driveway slabs and petroleum stains may give the impression of a run-down property. Simple do-it-yourself maintenance can repair damage, improve property appearance and eliminate the costly and often inconvenient process of hiring and managing a contractor.

Professional grade driveway resurfacing products are now available for homeowners at home centers like Home Depot and hardware stores nationwide. These professional grade products are easy to apply, can improve driveway traction and make virtually any driveway look brand new.

To restore the rich black color of an asphalt driveway in one easy coat, homeowners need to select a premium driveway resurfacing product rather than a driveway sealer.

Be sure to follow all included instructions on any resurfacing product, and select products that have the application steps printed on the package. Follow these basic steps for a perfect driveway resurfacing job:

1. Clean the driveway: Sweep off dust, dirt and loose stones. Remove grass and weeds from edges and cracks. Scrub oil and grease spots with soap and a stiff wire brush. Rinse and let dry.

2. Repair minor damage: Remove loose debris, fill surface voids to just above the pavement surface, tap down and allow patches to cure. Cracks and holes (up to half-an-inch wide) should be filled with crack filler, and patching mix should be used for areas with significant damage (half-an-inch to two inches wide).

3. Resurface and seal: The weather must generally be warmer than 50 degrees and dry for two straight days. Starting in the morning, mist the driveway and sweep away excess water. Apply the resurfacing product with a squeegee only – not a brush or roller – and push excess gel into cracks and holes. Wait 48 hours minimum before driving on coating.

Window shopping: What to know before you go

While window shopping may seem as clear as glass, there are a number of things that homeowners should consider when determining the window that best meets their building or remodeling project needs. Different styles of windows and types of frames and glass create a myriad of choices. Simplify the window shopping process by understanding the three basic components of a window and how they impact the design, feel and energy efficiency of a home.

1. Styles – Determine the most appropriate style of window for a home by considering the style of the home and how the window should function given its location. First, become familiar with six basic styles:

• Picture – A large window that does not open.
• Gliding – A window with two sashes, at least one of which slides horizontally past the other.
• Single or double-hung – A window with one or two vertically sliding sashes in a single frame.
• Casement – A hinged window with a sash that cranks outward.
• Awning – A window, hinged at the top that opens outward. Similar to a casement window.
• Bay or bow – A combination of three or more windows projecting out from a room.

"A house's facade can be transformed from boring to beautiful with the right style windows," suggested Barbara Winfield, editor for Woman's Day Home Remodeling and Makeovers Magazine. "Deciding on the shape and size of your windows requires an understanding of both the style and scale of your home. For example, a casement window lends itself to a prairie, Tudor or ranch-style home, single or double-hung works well for a classic Cape-Cod or New England saltbox. Don't forget to keep the exterior view in mind as well while planning your window theme."

Finally, keep in mind the location of the new window and how it will need to function. Consider using a double-hung window for a window that will be installed adjacent to patios, decks and walkways as they remain flush with the wall when open.

2. Frames – As the most visible component of a window, the frame is a key element that shapes the aesthetic both inside and outside of the home. But there is a lot more than meets the eye when it comes to finding the right type of frame, such as its insulation, durability and required maintenance. There are four main materials used to construct frames – vinyl, wood, clad wood and composite.

Vinyl is the most inexpensive framing option and requires relatively low maintenance. However, vinyl frames may deteriorate over time and could be less durable than other materials. While requiring more of an investment and upkeep than vinyl frames, wood frames inherently offer superior insulation and strength.

Cladding allows a homeowner to have the beauty of a wood-finished interior, but with the durability of a low-maintenance exterior, like vinyl or aluminum.

Composite frames blend both synthetic and natural materials and create windows that require little upkeep.

3. Glazing – Glazing, simply put, is the glass in a window. While seemingly transparent, there are a number of different options when it comes to glass – from the number of panes of glass to special coatings – all of which make a significant impact on a window's performance and ultimately, a homeowners' energy bill.

For homeowners following historical construction guidelines for older homes, single-pane windows are often times the only option. However, given their relatively low energy efficiency, single-pane windows slowly are disappearing from the market. A double-pane window, today's standard, is made with two sheets of glass and provides better energy efficiency than a single pane because of a gas that is sealed between the two layers of glass. A third glazing option is triple-pane glass. It uses the same technology as a double-pane window but includes a second layer of gas between its second and third pane. It is generally more expensive, heavier and less common in today's windows.

Things to consider

A window worth purchasing will bear a National Fenestration Rating Council (NFRC) label. NFRC is a nonprofit organization that provides accurate, "apple-to-apple" information to measure and compare the energy performance of windows and doors. Energy efficiency of a window based on four ratings:

• U-Factor – measures how well a product prevents heat from escaping. The lower the number, the more the window will help reduce heating bills.
• Solar heat gain coefficient – metric for how well a product blocks heat caused by sunlight. The lower the number, the more it will help reduce air conditioning bills.
• Visible transmittance – measures how much light comes through a product. The closer to one, the more light is transmitted.
• Air leakage – measures how much air can seep through window cracks and is measured in cubic feet of air that penetrates a square foot of window surface per minute.

Other important factors

Warranty – Remember to review the warranty policy of a window before making a purchase. A quality window should come equipped with a warranty that covers all materials including the glass and frame. Some manufacturers, like Andersen, also provide transferable warranties, which can add value to a home when a homeowner decides to sell it.

Helpful resources

There are a number of helpful Web sites for homeowners on the market for new windows, such as NFRC's site at www.nfrc.com. Also, consider going directly to the source and visit a manufacturer's site, such as www.andersenwindows.com, or a retailer's site, such as The Home Depot (www.homedepot.com)

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge to hold trapping program

Furbearer trapping opportunities are available at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge from Oct. 29 through Feb. 28; however, the raccoon and red fox season will go through March 15 and the beaver and striped skunk season will go through April 30. A total of four trapping units will be awarded to qualified trappers through a sealed bid system.

Under this system, applicants make a sealed monetary bid on one or all units. Only one unit will be awarded to each trapper. All successful bids require full payment by or on Friday, Oct. 28. Minimum bids are $25 per unit. Applicants interested in bidding are not to include any money payment with their bid. Applicants must have appropriate state trapping and small game licenses and a minimum of two seasons of trapping experience, which must be written on the bid sheet form. Permittees are allowed one helper who can help trap only when accompanying the permittee on the refuge. Permittees are encouraged to trap predator mammals prior to Thursday, Nov. 3. On the day before and during the firearms deer season, Nov. 4 to 13, trappers will be allowed to drive only on roads open to deer hunters.

Inspection of the trapping units is allowed and encouraged between the hours of 8 a.m. and 3 p.m., Monday, Oct. 3 through Tuesday, Oct. 11, excluding Saturday, Sunday and Monday, which is a federal holiday. Sealed bids must be hand-delivered or postmarked no later than 4 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 11. Application forms, refuge regulations and refuge maps showing unit locations are available at refuge headquarters. Successful applicants will be notified by Saturday, Oct. 15. All successful applicants will be required to discuss the trapping program with Refuge Operations Specialist Gary Tischer prior to the first day of setting traps.

Species open to trapping include mink, raccoon, striped skunk, red fox, beaver and otter. Two otter per unit or trapper will be permitted during the otter trapping season. Otter and beaver trapping will be restricted in several areas. All other wildlife species are protected.

Additional information relative to special permit conditions should be obtained before bids are submitted by contacting Refuge Operations Specialist, Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge, 22996 290th St. N.E., Middle River, MN 56737 or phoning (218) 449-4115, extension 214.

Community Education offers guitar workshops

Two guitar workshops will be offered this fall through Thief River Falls Community Education.

A beginning guitar workshop will be held Thursday, Oct. 6 from 6 to 7:30 p.m. at the District Service Center, 230 LaBree Ave. S., Thief River Falls. The cost is $20 each session. A playable acoustic guitar is required.

In this "Teach-to-the-Music" course, participants will learn the basics and the fast-track drills that lead to playing the music they like.

A blues guitar workshop will be held Thursday, Oct. 6 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the District Service Center as well. The cost is $20 each session. Bring guitar and riffs to share or come to listen.

In the blues guitar workshop, participants will experience a high-tech method of guitar instruction complete with drums and accompaniment. This is a "Teach-to-the-Music" session.

Mark Hendrickson, luthier, is the instructor for both workshops. He is a guitar instructor with more than 30 years experience. His method has been to make beginning guitar fun by teaching chordal accompaniment and then going directly into music of the students' choice.

For more information, call him at Stringtime Music at (218) 694-3752. To register, go to the Community Education Department, 230 LaBree Ave. S., Thief River Falls between 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays.

Co-sponsored by People Connection Inc. and the Northwest Regional Small Business Development Center (NRSBDC), the interactive program will cover such topics as the basics of the business plan, feasibility, legal requirements and such personal decision-making factors as credit, lifestyle and aptitude.

For more information, contact the NRSBDC at (218) 755-4255.

Three Medicare Part D seminars scheduled

The Land of the Dancing Sky Area Agency on Aging and Middle River-Thief Lake Living At Home/Block Nurse Program will host three Medicare Part D information seminars in the Middle River and Gatzke areas. Every Medicare beneficiary, regardless of income, will need to make a decision regarding prescription drug coverage and should attend an information seminar to learn more.

These seminars will be offered at the following locations:

• Wednesday, Oct. 5 at 10 a.m. at the Spruce Valley Community Center in Middle River; 12:30 p.m. at the Gatzke Senior Citizen Center.
• Friday, Oct. 28 at 12 p.m. during the Middle River Senior Citizens Club meeting at the Spruce Valley Community Center in Middle River.

Medicare Part D is the new part of Medicare that provides a prescription drug benefit. Beginning Nov. 15, people with Medicare may start enrolling in a Medicare Advantage Plan with benefits starting January 2006.

Traveling art exhibit to appear at Roseau Library

A small, but varied sampling of the creative work of nine regional artists can be viewed during regular library hours until mid-October. The Northwest Regional Arts Council (NWRAC) is sponsoring this mini exhibit, drawn from a 73-piece April show in Ada, with funding from the McKnight Foundation and the Minnesota Legislature. Since May, the mini-show has appeared at nine libraries in seven counties. Roseau is its last stop.

The public is encouraged to enjoy the artwork the short time it will be in Roseau. Photography dominates this collection. Several other media are represented, including pastel, which was used for the only large piece. Subject matter can be deduced from a sampling of titles: "Pink Water Lily," "Quiet Water on the Bighorn," "Autumn Grove," "Evening Ascent," "Delicate Aurora," "Sisters" and "John Deere."

Both adult and high school student artists are included.

Local artists interested in participating in the 2006 spring exhibit should contact NWRAC Director Mara Wittman at 1-800-646-2240 or consult the Web site at www.nwrdc.org/arts.htm. Next year's show/contest will be in a different city.

Upcoming exhibits at Roseau Library will feature the pottery of Karen Engevik and rosemaling by Jean Hanl. Library Friends appreciate Julie Elick and her group at Focus Corp for displaying their collages in August and September.

The library opens at 9:30 a.m. each week day. On three days closing is at 5:30 p.m. On Mondays doors lock at 3 p.m. and on Thursday the library is open until 6 p.m. Funding for weekend hours is not available at the present time. Roseau Library is temporarily located in the Geroy building on the east side of town, on the north side of Highway 11, next door to the city offices.

Family caregivers concerns group to meet Oct. 3

A meeting for family members or friends who provide care and/or support to elderly persons will be held on Monday, Oct. 3, in the community room at the Warren Summerfield Apartments in Warren, beginning at 10 a.m.

Many of the group's members have a loved one diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease or other related disorders. Individuals with a loved one in the nursing home or at home are encouraged to attend.

Marshall Manor has a unit specializing in care and services for people with Alzheimer's or related disorders. It is the group's desire to provide a supportive environment for families of people with these disorders.

Recognize the messenger, but blame him not

Signals of fall's arrival on dry land are hazy and indistinct even in the best of times. The popples begin their slow turn towards yellow along the higher, drier ridges of the county, though green, healthier looking trees still dominate the landscape. The backyard doesn't seem to need a mowing this week, and the birdfeeder isn't quite as empty as it might be after a mid-August afternoon. The morning sun is a little brighter and a little later than it was before, but before when? Yesterday? Last week? July? My wardrobe is neither a pair of shorts, nor a pair of blue jeans, but an uncomfortable combination of both, hastily changed with each passing cloudbank. There is no tangible, specific line on terra firma that points me to an autumn way of life. It is all gray and indecisive, even in the best of times.

On the water, however, it's different - black and white only, no middle ground. Here is summer and here is fall, divided neatly and succinctly by a single, gut wrenching line scraped through the sands on the riverbank. No doubt crosses my mind as I witness Mother Nature's emphatic declaration that the fat and lazy days of summer have ended and the time for the pre-winter romance with fall fishing has arrived.

We caught an eelpout on the launch today.

Couldn't a more auspicious and glorious guardian frame the portals of my favorite season of the year? Why is it that all I hold near and dear to my outdoors heart has to be held in the outstretched palms of a lowly burbot? Heaven has Peter's Pearly Gates to mark the passage and even Hades (though I never understood why a guard was necessary there) has Cerberus to highlight a movement into a new life's role. And yet, it is this most dubious of fishy messengers that alerts me to the fact that the greatest of angling times is at hand. For it isn't truly fall fishing on the river until a slimy pout has made his presence known. Once he has reared his ugly head and declared his renewed stirring from the torpors of over-heated summer waters, the fun can begin. The times have changed and the eelpout is the herald to that transition. It doesn't make sense.

Imagine, if you will, a Pavarotti concert at the famed halls of Carnegie, complete with a packed house of the most distinguished luminaries that the civilized world has to offer. The air is abuzz with regal anticipation and the atmosphere promises no less than the greatest show on earth. Culture and refinement at their finest. And then the emcee approaches the microphone and informs the gathered gala guests that the famed tenor cannot perform until Britney Spears has sung a little ditty.

Or, perhaps, it's a wine tasting that you attend in the foothills of the Napa Valley. Only the finest of beaujolais and merlots are on the sipping list. Your palate is prepared to an acute level, having been polished, pampered and protected for months in anticipation of the perfection that is now uncorked before it. The sipping is not allowed to begin, however, before an obligatory chug of A & W rootbeer is poured down your throat.

Or how about the pageantry and pomp of a national election? The public's interests are focused and the battle lines of party politics are drawn. American interests both domestic and international are highlighted, campaigns of enormous financial significance promise an electoral process of equal importance. And, yet, not a single, earth-changing issue can be addressed nor a long-studied vote cast until the candidates offer up the obligatory childish name-calling session. Can you imagine such a farcical start to the most significant of our political events?

But, much like the standard Shakespearean drama, which can't propose the power of tragedy until the release of comedy has been fulfilled, fall in the river needs its comic introduction. The yearly appearance of the first burbot, near buffoonery in its abrupt surprise, is also the telltale trumpet blast that opens the gates of the Rainy's glory. While later encounters with the eelpout are merely a call to the unwary that winter is just around the corner, methinks today's clownish catch signals good times ahead.

We caught an eelpout in the launch today.

Township studies mega fertilizer plant

cars without any spillage? There's not going to be any spillage when you unload all those cars?" asked Verna Hvidsten. "I don't think so."

Miller responded that fertilizer is unloaded from rail cars directly into a large concrete pit that sits beneath the rail cars.

"The conveyors we use are huge, we move the stuff at 800-ton an hour," Miller said. "It's a pretty clean operation, the ones we've visited are pretty clean."

Hvidsten again questioned Miller, asking him if he could guarantee that fertilizer would not be spilled and thus contaminating ground water.

Miller responded that there are no guarantees that there will never be any fertilizer spillage, but stated, "This fertilizer is expensive stuff and every effort will be made to make sure it goes where it is supposed to go."

Dave Strong, North Township Planning Commission chairman also responded to discussion about the threat of ground water contamination. He stated that he spoke with the Thief River Falls city administrator, who reported that Thief River Falls never had any complaints or problems with the plant in town.

"I never set foot in that plant until today (Monday) and I found out what they are doing here in Thief River Falls, in the city limits, is going to be going on out there, in a bigger scale...that's all," Strong said. "The city clerk said they have had no complaints, no problems, no noise, no pollution. They had no problems with it."

Residents argued that the comparisons were inaccurate because the city of Thief River Falls doesn't have wells or ground water near the current plant. Discussion turned to the potential construction of wastewater holding ponds like the ones constructed a the new Wal-Mart site.

Miller said holding ponds might be considered but plans are still in the works.

Wendy Lehrer, another resident in attendance, stated that the fertilizer plant would unfairly lower the value of homes and property that are located near the proposed plant.

"Just because the city never had any problems, doesn't mean that there's not going to be any out here," Lehrer said. "New Orleans hasn't flooded before for 500 years either. Things happen and we really don't want to take that chance."

Miller responded, "We feel confident that we can design and build a facility that can handle..."

"But you don't live there," Hvidsten interrupted.

"And its not in your back yard," Lehrer responded. "You've got your life-long savings invested in that home and land. You don't want to see the values go down the drain."

Discussion continued for approximately 30 minutes, with most residents in attendance voicing their opposition of the proposed facility.

Strong asked board members if there were any motions, once discussion was complete. Planning commission board member Gerry Jenson moved to deny the rezoning request. No one seconded Jenson's motion and it died on the table.

Minutes later, a second motion was made by Dan Henning and seconded by Trevor Swanson to recommend approval to the North Township Board of Supervisors. Gary Clow and Jenson opposed the motion, while Strong gave the deciding yes vote.

Northwest Grain's rezoning request will now be heard by the North Township Board of Supervisors. The North Township Board has 60 days from the date of the planning commission's recommendation to respond to Northwest Grain's request.

The next meeting of the North Township Board of Supervisors will be Monday, Oct. 3, at 7 p.m.

Badger resident makes a difference teaching

Christianson also teaches English to about 20 kids ages 4 to 16. "It's a lot of fun," said Christianson. "You know those kids are just as rowdy as kids here."

Despite teaching kids and young women English, Christianson doesn't consider himself to being "even close to fluent" in Vietnamese. "I know enough to get by, but I intend to take classes over the next year," he said.

In addition to becoming accustomed to another language, Christianson had to get used to some other things. "I didn't expect it to be as technologically advanced as it is," he said in reference to the number of people who ride on motorbikes.

Christianson also didn't expect the temperature to sometimes be as low as 38 or 40. Living in a brick house with no insulation, Christianson felt the chilling sensation associated with those temperatures. Plus, he didn't have any sweatshirts or jeans with him in Vietnam. On a recent trip home, though, Christianson grabbed some sweatshirts and jeans to bring back for those occasional chilly late evenings and early mornings.

Christianson intends to work in Vietnam for at least the next year. He is currently looking into going to graduate school for public policy or foreign affairs at the Hubert H. Humphrey Institute of Public Affairs in the Twin Cities.

has toured the country, making 25 to 30 stops per year. The wall will make four more stops this year, with its final 2005 stop coming on Veteran's Day.

Besides the obvious size difference, there is another noticeable difference between the Traveling Wall and its counterparts.

"The names on this one were etched in metal," said Norm Bergsma, head of operations for the Traveling Wall. "At the time this was built, it was the largest engraving job in the country."

Names of the more than 58,000 American servicemen and women who gave their lives during the Vietnam conflict were silkscreened on black aluminum panels during construction of the first three traveling replicas. The Traveling Wall's unique use of engraving allows visitors to make rubbings or tracings of loved one's names.

Bergsma started touring with the Traveling Wall in 1998, showcasing his own art exhibit of combat art. Bergsma, along with Norm Pennington and Steve Doty, purchased the Traveling Wall two years ago when its tour was to be discontinued and has since operated both exhibits simultaneously.

"They were going to put it into a museum," Bergsma said, noting that he wanted to continue showcasing it.

The Traveling Wall continues to operate through the Traveling Wall Foundation, a non-profit corporation based in Mount Vernon, Wash. Founded in February 2004, the non-profit organization schedules all of the Traveling Wall's 25 to 30 annual stops.

Bergsma said most of the tour stops are hosted by veteran's organizations like the American Legion Post 444. Setup time for the 370-foot wall depends on the number of volunteers and varies based on the crew installing it.

"If we have professional carpenters it takes about six hours," Bergsma said. "High school kids, three hours," he said, specifying that professional carpenters have their reputations at stake and spend much more time aligning the aluminum panels than high school kids.

A closing ceremony has been scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 2, beginning at 6 p.m., at the Greenbush-Middle River School football field.

Marketing, events manager chosen for TRF arenas

8A girls basketball tournament's east and west semifinals were played at REA in late February. Martinson noted those games "went over well."

Since April, Parks and Recreation Committee members, who include several City Council members, have been discussing what the arenas position would entail. Then discussions were precipitated by the resignation of REA General Manager Tom Goddard. Since Goddard's resignation, Wennberg has served as interim REA general manager.

In July, the committee recommended and the council approved changing the position's title to arenas marketing and events manager. As a result, Martinson will report to the Parks and Recreation Committee and be responsible for marketing REA and HOMCC. He will also coordinate events and hire temporary employees for those events. Those temporary employees include security personnel, ticket personnel, parking lot attendants and others.

In July, the council also approved the creation of an arenas advisory committee. According to the plan presented to the council, the committee will "offer input on vision and management of arenas." Committee members will include representatives of arena user groups as well as interested citizens.

DNR reviews Northern pike regulations

Roseau - The Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) recently held several meetings – one in Roseau and one in Baudette – about Northern pike regulations.

Tom Heinrich of the Baudette office explained what the DNR is considering for regulations. "What we are looking at for a regulation is one Northern pike longer than 40 inches may be possessed, and possession of limit is three Northern pike, and the season is continuously open," he said.

The proposed regulation is intended to maintain the high quality size structure of the Northern pike population while allowing maximum angler participation in the fishery.

Written comments on the proposed regulation will be taken through Monday, Oct. 10 and can be submitted to Mike Larson, 204 Main St., Baudette, MN 56623; or mike.larson@dnr.state.mn.us. - Warroad Pioneer, Oct. 5, 2005, by Marlene Schmitz

Kittson Central students meet the challenge of college level classes

Hallock - Juniors and seniors at Kittson Central High School are up to the challenge of the High School to College program. With its widely independent study and course work, the curriculum is tough, but effective for students looking to pursue any type of secondary education.

Started a few years ago with the help of interactive television, college level courses like Probability and Statistics, Calculus, and Modern Novels were offered to help students start on the road to better grades and, thus, better standardized test scores. Broadcast over the television with a teacher from Stephen/Argyle Central, students are able to learn without the addition of a staff member with the necessary credentials to teach the advanced classes.

However, this year, some of the Kittson Central teachers have earned the credits to teach these classes, in-person, to qualifying juniors and seniors.

Working with the University of Minnesota, Crookston, the district has to work with the university's rules and the students have to follow the syllabus provided for each course. - Kittson County Enterprise, Oct. 5, 2005, by Louise Money

Amb to dance in Moscow Ballet's Great Russian Nutcracker

Karlstad - Two years ago, 9-year-old Kelli Amb watched the California Ballet perform the Nutcracker Ballet in Grand Forks, N.D. Since that day, her dream was to someday dance in that same ballet. Now that dream is coming true for her.

On Sept. 15, Amb was in Grand Forks trying to make her dream come true. And that she did! She will be one of the 60 local children who will have a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to dance in the Moscow Ballet's production of The Great Russian Nutcracker. Local children were selected to play the supporting roles of party children, mice, angels, snowflakes and dancers portraying the countries of Russia, Arabia, France, China and Spain. Amb was chosen to be one of the angels. - North Star News of Karlstad, Oct. 6, 2005, by Marcia Heath

It was a time to hug, kiss and cry Tuesday as family members and friends wished National Guard soldiers well before their departure from Thief River Falls. With a tear streaming down his cheek, Spc. Matthew Linder of Middle River, was hugged by (from left) Kristi Haugtvedt of Strathcona; his mom, Jenell Ness, of Middle River; and Britt Melin of Middle River. Approximately 45 Guard members based in Thief River Falls will spend up to six months training in Mississippi before leaving for Iraq. Their deployment is expected to last 18 months. Even though they will train in Mississippi this holiday season, it is expected that they will be allowed to return home for Christmas.

So long!

Local and area families say "so long" to guard

by April Scheinoha

Hugs, kisses and tears were on the agenda Tuesday afternoon before National Guard soldiers left to train in Camp Shelby, Miss., prior to heading to Iraq.

Approximately 45 soldiers from Company B Detachment, 2-136th Mechanized Infantry Battalion in Thief River Falls have been deployed. As of this time, it is expected the deployment will last 18 months. Even though the unit will be training stateside during the holiday season this year, it is expected that the unit will be allowed to return home for Christmas.

Family members, friends and well-wishers gathered before the soldiers left the National Guard Armory in Thief River Falls. A group of about 10 people gathered in a circle to pray.

As the minutes ticked away until his departure, Sgt. Chris Lemke said it was starting to hit him that he was about to leave. "There's a million things you want to say, and you don't know where to start," said the Bismarck, N.D., resident.

With tears in his eyes, Lemke had an arm around his wife, Jessica, as she held their 16-month-old daughter, Macy. "It's the hardest thing I'll ever have to do, but he's trained to do this and this is his job," said a teary-eyed Jessica Lemke.

Relatives of other soldiers felt that same mixture of pride and anxiety. "Well, I'm proud. At the same time, I'm worried," Lynn Carr said about her son David Hagen's deployment. Nearby, Hagen played with his 3-year-old nephew Donavin in the National Guard Armory.

Hagen joined the National Guard four years ago at the age of 17. Prior to his departure, he said he felt "pretty good" about the mission, but he was "kind of scared."

While he's deployed, Hagen will receive many care packages from his mom. Carr, a Thief River Falls resident, is a professional when it comes to making care packages for relatives serving in the military. Her nephew is currently serving in Iraq. Her brother, who is a Marine, has also served in that country. In December, he will leave for another tour of duty in Iraq.

Carr will no doubt send care packages to all three relatives while they're in Iraq. One care package was ready to be mailed and sitting in her vehicle as she watched her son board the bus for Mississippi.

In addition to the family members and friends wishing the soldiers well, members of American Legion Post 117 and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2793 also gathered for the send-off. Members of the Lincoln High School (LHS) Band provided music. LHS students lined sidewalks in Thief River Falls to wave to the soldiers as they left the city.

The deployment will be the unit's second in recent years. In September 2003, the unit was deployed to Bosnia and Herzegovina. It returned home seven months later in April 2004. Some other members of the unit were deployed to Kosovo.

The soldiers are among the more than 2,600 Minnesota National Guard members who will be part of this latest deployment. The deployment is the Minnesota National Guard's largest overseas deployment since World War II.

Families affected by the deployment will be able to receive help from two organizations – the Thief River Falls Family Readiness Group (TRFFRG) and Guard Family Help at Home (GFHAH). To donate to or receive help from TRFFRG, call Julie Bolduc at 686-1877 or access www.bravofrg.com. To receive more information to donate to or receive help from GFHAH, contact Shannon Olson at the Heritage Center at 681-2793. Donations for GFHAH can be sent to the Heritage Center, 301 Fourth St. E., Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

Early Childhood Coalition has big plans, new programs

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

The Thief River Falls Early Childhood Initiative, a collaboration between early childhood educators, childcare providers and the community is in the midst of its second year of operation. Just like the program's first year, the Thief River Falls Early Childhood Initiative Coalition has big plans for the 2005-06 school year.

With assistance from the Northwest Minnesota Foundation, the Thief River Falls (TRF) Early Childhood Initiative began in 2004. It along with other community early childhood initiatives, is committed to the belief that early childhood care and learning pays big dividends for communities and businesses.

New for 2005

Last week the TRF Early Childhood Coalition's leadership held a meeting for members and community leaders to hear how the TRF Early Childhood Coalition is progressing.

Lin (Wahlberg) Backstrom of the Northwest Minnesota Foundation presented a legislative report on the status of Ready4K programs. Backstrom reported that Ready4K had an ambitious legislative agenda, that saw increased funding for many programs.

Head Start received $4 million in new funding, taking the state funding of Head Start beyond its 2003 pre-cut level. Early Childhood Family Education (ECFE) also received an increase in funding. ECFE's $5.5 million increase restores two-thirds of what was cut in 2003. One program, School Readiness, did not receive any new funding. School Readiness' funding remains at its 2003 cut level.

Backstrom reported that the legislative session also produced no increases in some childcare programs that will have the affect of cuts. The most damaging may be a $6.5 million freeze to childcare rates, which will effectively cut revenue.

Some changes were made to the Thief River Falls Early Childhood Coalition's leadership. Kathleen Possai is the organization's new chairperson. She recently accepted the chair position after former chairperson Heidi Hoks accepted at job in St. Cloud. Possai served as vice chairperson during the coalition's first year.

Building Language Together

This year also marks the beginning of the Building Language Together Program (BLT). Joyce Froschheiser, Challenger ECFE coordinator, described the BLT program during an Early Childhood Coalition Meeting at the Black Cat Bar and Grill last week.

The program, according to Froschheiser, is based on research done at Harvard University, that showed the biggest developments come from working with parents.

The BLT program uses a series of children's books complete with parent scripts and take-home activities. The program is intended to help both the child's comprehension and the parent's ability to lead a child's development. Noted Froschheiser, "When it comes to reading books to children, some parents are very comfortable, others are not."

The BLT program consists of four units. Unit one begins vocabulary development. Development continues with unit two, stories and

Brian Steenerson of St. Hilaire battles debilitating disorders with his faith and sense of humor

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

He may have reached superhero status in at least one hospital worker's eyes, but he probably doesn't want to be known as "Clot Man."

St. Hilaire resident Brian Steenerson laughs when he recalls a hospital employee who looked for clots during one of his many hospital visits and at the next hospital visit said, "There's Clot Man."

Brian and his family try to keep their senses of humor. They also hold onto their faith.

"If anything is learned through all this is God has been good to us even through all this," Brian said. "We have so much to be thankful for. I'm just so thankful to be here."

Brian has two disorders – Protein S deficiency and Factor V Leiden. Explaining Factor V Leiden, Brian noted that blood continues to clot even when it doesn't need to.

Protein S is the protein the body sends to a cut to tell Factor V to stop clotting, Brian said. However, Brian's body is deficient in that regard. As a result, the two disorders work together and Brian's blood clots more than someone who does not have both disorders.

About one in 20 Caucasians have Factor V Leiden, and many don't know they have it, Brian's wife, Deb, said.

About one in 20,000 people have Protein S deficiency, according to the National Institutes of Health.

Regarding his disorders, Brian said, "It's scary. It's frustrating."

Coughing up blood

Brian learned he had the disorders earlier this year. One morning in March, he coughed up blood. It was the reddest blood he'd ever seen, he said. And he was in pain.

Brian was hospitalized for three days at Northwest Medical Center and 20 days at Altru Hospital in Grand Forks, N.D.

Doctors found he had a pulmonary embolism or a blood clot in an artery in his lung. It starts out in the lower half of a person's body – the groin or legs – goes through the heart and lodges in the lung, Brian explained.

Brian actually had several blood clots in his lung. A major blood clot settled at the bottom of one of his lungs. It destroyed or deadened part of Brian's lung, he said.

"We didn't know what a pulmonary embolism was at the time, and the doctor said, 'You're lucky to be alive,'" Brian recalled.

Brian had lived with a pulmonary embolism for five days. Little did he know, he could have died suddenly from the major blood clot.

"It's been a long year," Brian said.

"We try to keep our wits about us," Deb said.

Brian was released from the hospital and placed on Coumadin, a blood thinner. He will have to take the prescription drug for the rest of his life.

Since March, Brian has been in constant pain. He went to the Mayo Clinic in Rochester four or five times. Doctors used a scope to look at his lungs and check whether he had cancer. He doesn't have cancer, but the doctors told him they've never seen a case like his in which someone has suffered the amount of pain he has.

Since his pulmonary embolism, doctors have also been trying to make Brian's blood therapeutic. That means they're trying to make sure Brian's blood is not too thin or thick, he explained.

Even if Brian's blood is therapeutic, his body could still develop a blood clot. "Once you have a pulmonary embolism, it's easier to have another one," he said.

Questioning whether he'd leave alive

Brian may have had another blood clot in one of his lungs in August. He was at work as an assistant registrar at the University of North Dakota (UND), and then his lung collapsed. "I pretty much thanked the Lord for my family and kids, and I didn't think I'd be leaving alive," Brian remembered. The next time he awoke, Brian saw an emergency medical technician standing over him.

Along with the collapsed lung, Brian had suffered from internal bleeding. His blood was therapeutic at the time of his collapsed lung. "To this day, they can't tell me if I had a clot or not," Brian said.

Brian was in the hospital for

A benefit will be held Oct. 9 for St. Hilaire resident Brian Steenerson and his family, which includes his wife, Deb, and their kids, Mariah, 12; Carly, 8; and Blaize, 6. Brian has two disorders, Protein S deficiency and Factor V Leiden. The benefit will be held at the Evangelical Free Church, 211 Arnold Ave. N., Thief River Falls. The dinner will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. A silent auction will also be held. Donations may also be sent to the church. (Submitted photo)

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere
email: lacours@mncable.net

It's fall for sure. Here are some fall-type recipes you might like.

Someone dropped off the following recipe at the Times. You might want to try them - I bet they'd put a little zip in almost anything:

HORSERADISH PICKLES
1 quart of dill pickles
1 cup white sugar
1/4 cup horseradish

Drain all of the juices out of the jar and rinse the pickles. Cut the pickles in half-inch slices or lengthwise in quarter spears. Pack them back in the jar.

In large saucepan, stir sugar and horseradish. Bring to a boil for about 2 minutes and then cool. Pour the brine into the jar over the pickles. Recap and place in refrigerator for at least 2 weeks.

Got the urge for soup? You can make this one in no time for a quick lunch or supper:

WHITE BEAN AND HAM SOUP
2 cans (15-1/2 ounces each) great northern beans, rinsed and drained
2 medium carrots, diced
1 small onion, chopped
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 1/4 cups water
1-1/2 cups fully cooked ham, cubed
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 to 1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf

Mash one can of the beans and set aside. In a large saucepan, sauté carrots and onion in butter. Stir in water, ham, seasonings and whole and mashed beans. Cook over medium heat until heated through. Discard bay leaf before serving.

Make weekend breakfasts special with this delicious treat:

ORANGE BREAKFAST RING
1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese, softened
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
2 (8 ounces each) tubes refrigerated crescent rolls
1/3 cup chopped almonds, toasted
1/2 cup confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon orange juice
Sliced almonds

In small bowl, beat cream cheese, sugar and orange peel until blended. Set aside.

Unroll both tubes of dough and press perforations and seams together to form two rectangles. Overlap rectangles at one end and press the seam to seal. Spread cream cheese mixture over dough to within 1/2 inch of edges. Sprinkle with chopped almonds.

Roll up jelly-roll style, starting with a long side. Pinch seam to seal. Place seam side down on a greased baking sheet and pinch ends together to form a ring. With scissors, cut from outside edge two-thirds of the way toward center of ring at 1 inch intervals. Separate strips slightly and twist to allow filling to show.

Bake at 350 degrees for 15-18 minutes or until golden brown. Cool for 10 minutes before carefully removing from pan to a wire rack.

Combine confectioners' sugar and orange juice. Drizzle over warm coffee cake. Garnish with sliced almonds.

A breakfast bake would be perfect for a buffet:

CHEESY EGG SCRAMBLE
1 package (28 ounces) frozen O'Brien hash brown potatoes
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 can condensed cheddar cheese soup, undiluted
1 pound sliced bacon, cooked and crumbled
12 eggs, lightly beaten
2 tablespoons butter
2 cups shredded cheddar cheese

In large skillet, prepare hash browns according to package directions. Sprinkle with garlic salt and pepper and place in greased 2-1/2 inch baking dish. Top with soup. Set aside 1/2 cup of bacon and sprinkle remaining bacon over skillet.

In another skillet, scramble eggs in butter until nearly set. Spoon over bacon in other skillet, then sprinkle with reserved bacon. Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes or until cheese is melted. Serves 10-12 people.

The family will love a hearty dish this weekend, and you won't have to fuss making it because it cooks in the slow cooker:

BRATS AND STUFF
5 bratwurst links (about 1-1/4 pounds), cut into 1 inch pieces
5 medium potatoes, peeled and cubed
1 (27 ounce) can sauerkraut, rinsed and well drained
1 medium tart apple, chopped
1 small onion, chopped
1/4 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt

In large skillet, brown bratwurst on all sides. In a 5 quart slow cooker, combine remaining ingredients. Stir in bratwurst and pan drippings. Cover and cook on high for 4-6 hours or until potatoes and apples are tender.

Firewood cutting permits available at Agassiz Refuge

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge is issuing woodcutting permits valid from now through the 2005-2006 winter season. Woodcutting is used as a management tool to promote habitat diversity and to enhance oak, ash, and elm tree growth on the refuge.

A refuge map shows the designated cutting area and access trails. The map and a list of permit conditions are available at the refuge office.

Individuals who obtain a woodcutting permit are requested to cut all standing girdled aspen and balsam poplar trees. The standing aspen and poplar trees were girdled two years ago and have been dead for one growing season. This wood is dry and will make excellent firewood for immediate use. All other dead or live standing tree species are not authorized to be cut and removed. All species of down and dead trees laying on the ground in the designated cutting area are permitted to be cut and removed for firewood.

Access to the permitted areas will be limited to when the soil conditions can support a vehicle, which prevents tire ruts. Access will not be allowed during wet conditions. Woodcutters should know that refuge trails and mowed firebreaks that provide access to the woodcutting areas are usually not plowed. Normal amounts of snow usually make access to these areas difficult. Prior to traveling on access trails, permittees should check with refuge personnel to learn what conditions exist on the access trails.

Woodcutting and hauling are permitted during daylight hours. The permittee must be present during any woodcutting or hauling activity and have in his or her possession the woodcutting permit. Safety on the refuge is of utmost importance, so helpers are allowed and encouraged.

Only the assigned access trails may be travelled upon while on the refuge for woodcutting and hauling purposes. Firearms, bow and arrows, alcoholic beverages and any other illegal items are not permitted.

There is a 10-cord limit for each permittee. The wood is available for personal use only. The cost of each permit is $25.

Individuals interested in obtaining and woodcutting permit should contact Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge at 218-449-4115, extension 214 or 213, or stop at refuge headquarters, located 12 miles north of Thief River Falls on Minnesota Highway 32 and then 11 miles east of Holt on Marshall County Road 7. Inspection hours are Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., excluding holidays.

"Living the Faith" meetings to be held at Badger Creek

"Living the Faith" special meetings will be held at the Badger Creek Free Church on Sunday, Oct. 9 through Wednesday, Oct. 12.

Special music will be performed by Tom and Julie Fugleberg, Sunday; Rhonda Rothenberger, Monday; Ben Deiter, Tuesday; and Rose Strandland and Bill Wagner, Wednesday.

A spaghetti supper will be served prior to services on Sunday, Oct. 9.

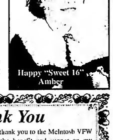
Four people injured after accident in Roseau County

Four people were injured Monday evening after a two-vehicle accident in Roseau County.



Kathy Grahn, Mark Grahn, Lyle Peterson and Mike Werman, who all reside in the Roseau area, were injured in the crash, according to the Roseau County Sheriff's Department. The Grahns were both treated and released from Roseau Area Hospital (RAH). Peterson and Werman were taken to RAH and later transferred to Altru Hospital in Grand Forks, N.D. On Friday morning, Peterson was listed in satisfactory condition and Werman was listed in serious condition, an Altru nursing administrator said.

At the time of the accident, Kathy Grahn was driving a vehicle southbound on County Road 31, about one mile south of Highway 11. Peterson was eastbound on 300th Street. At the intersection of County Road 31 and 300th Street, the two vehicles collided. Werman was a passenger in Peterson's vehicle, and Mark Grahn was a passenger in Kathy Grahn's vehicle.

The sheriff's department noted charges are pending in connection with the accident. It declined to say what charges are pending.

The department was dispatched to the scene at 5:40 p.m. Monday. The Roseau Police Department, Roseau Fire Department and Roseau Ambulance were also dispatched to the scene.

Bovine TB informational meeting set

Minnesota's bovine tuberculosis (TB) eradication plan is quite simple: Find the disease and eradicate it. Until 2005, the state hadn't seen a case of bovine TB in 34 years. In order to make sure the disease isn't here long, state and federal animal health officials need the help of Minnesota's livestock producers.

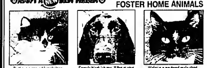
In an effort to inform northwestern Minnesota livestock producers of the state's bovine TB investigation, the Minnesota Board of Animal Health (BAH), the University of Minnesota Extension Service and the Minnesota Department of Agriculture will host a free informational meeting at Roseau High School on Oct. 18 at 7 p.m. All area livestock producers are welcome to attend the meeting.

State and federal officials will be on hand to answer questions regarding the investigation, wildlife, indemnity, food safety and the state's TB status. BAH Executive Director and State Veterinarian Dr. Bill Hartmann said this meting will provide producers with an opportunity to get first-hand information about the investigation.

"By working together, the livestock industry and government officials will be able to complete the investigation as quickly as possible," said Hartmann. "The investigation, testing and indemnity process can be extensive, but we've had a successful eradication program in the state of Minnesota since 1917, and we plan to maintain that tradition."

On July 12, officials declared a Roseau County beef herd infected with bovine TB. On Sept. 20, the BAH announced that cattle from two operations bordering the first herd with bovine TB had also tested positive for the illness. With these fenceline contact herds, Minnesota has detected bovine TB in three beef herds in Roseau County.

As a result of the bovine TB investigation, 21 Minnesota herds are under quarantine in Beltrami, Goodhue, Polk, Marshall, and Roseau counties. Three herds have completed the required testing and been removed from quarantine. Four operations have had animals exposed to TB removed for testing.



For more information on the meeting, contact the BAH at (651) 296-2942 or the U of M Extension Beef Industry Center at (218) 327-4490. Additional details on the state's TB investigation and the disease are available online at www.bah.state.mn.us.

The First Time Is Always The Best?

Bear encounters are rare and unplanned events and, when man and beast do meet, even less frequently add up to the savage and macho interaction that embellish the coffee table tales of the north woods. We're not talking about hunting bears here, where an armed hunter and a stealthy omnivore dance a delicate and deadly ballet through the pine forests and cedar swamps of Minnesota. We're simply discussing those moments when a thin-skinned, thick-witted, hairless human and a timid, unsuspecting, scavenging bruin intersect. Such meetings usually occur in the fall, when the bears migrate to the edges of their normal habitat in search of domestically provided, pre-hibernation sustenance and humans stumble to the periphery of their range in search of personal proof that they have not become totally domesticated. These chance get-togethers usually end with one or both participants throwing their hands/paws into the air and screaming their way back towards wherever it was they came from. There they concoct a fabulous accounting for friends and den-mates to hear that, predictably, highlights the courageous actions of whatever species is doing the telling and reassures all that evolution has most assuredly left the finest of animals at the top of the dung heap.

"Firsts" with bears, probably not unlike "firsts" with dating or deer hunting, are reconsidered in a softer and hazier light than ensuing episodes. My initial bear experience came in the company of two other intrepid outdoorsmen. Keith, a seasoned Lake of the Woods area veteran, was the owner of the lodge I worked for and had assured a visiting National Geographic photographer that he could locate a bear for him to take pictures of. The photographer was putting together a pictorial of the Canadian-US border and needed wildlife and fishing shots to portray the remote and untamed character of this region. Because I was curious, and from Rhode Island, and figured I could run faster than either of them, I tagged along that evening.

Keith explained to us that a bear had been hanging out behind the lodge, rummaging through the garbage cans each evening. He said he'd seen the pattern before and was sure the bear would be sleeping during the day a little ways into the woods on the backside of a ridge that cut through the property. This was riveting news to me, especially when I remembered that I was the one who dumped the trash each night.

We began our search at the garbage enclosure and quietly followed a well-worn trail into the woods. Torn cereal boxes and mangled coffee cans scattered along the trail made it clear that we were headed in the right direction. Our pace slowed when we reached the bottom of a rocky incline and Keith turned and whispered an admonition to stay quiet from here on out so as not to disturb the sleeping creature just over the hill.

Once again, I'm from the East Coast and the only bears I'd ever seen were on TV either riding a tricycle or gnawing on people. And I didn't see any bike paths nearby. My heart began that painful pre-date thump.

Halfway up the slope, Keith motioned to the photographer and I to get down and silently crawl the rest of the way up. The bear, he mouthed, was just over the crest.

I crouched down and looked back quickly in a last minute effort to calculate the length of the inevitable sprint back to the safety of the lodge. As I did so, I noticed a dark, black, furry blob sitting a short distance to the right hand side of the trail we'd just used. I suppose I could have blinked and rubbed my eyes in disbelief, but what would be the point? There was most certainly a bear sitting there not 50 yards from me and he was chewing on a milk carton. In fact, it was a Land O'Lakes milk carton because I distinctly remember seeing the body of that pretty Indian maiden on the side as it dangled from the bear's jaws, except her head was missing because he'd already chewed that chunk off. I had a fleeting image of a headless me wearing a loincloth.

"Hey," I hissed at the two oblivious woodsmen belly-crawling their way over the ridge in front of me. "Hey."

"Shhh" came the scolding, "he's just ahead."

I looked back at the bear who continued sitting and chewing, perhaps thinking he was watching a "Three Stooges" rerun.

"Hey," I said, more audibly and reached and grabbed the cuff of the photographer's pant leg. At first, he tried to kick my hand free, but when he recognized the panicked strength in my grasp, was forced to turn and recognize my needs.

"There's the bear," I blurted and pointed a shaking index finger at the ravenous carnivore behind us.

Startled by my outburst, the bruin bolted. Unfortunately, it was not back to the safety of the lodge, but rather to the sanctuary of his woods, which were on the other side of us. Never, in all my years of watching "Gentle Ben" did I recall a sequence in which a bear ran at anything but a comic shamble. This bear, apparently, had no TV. I know he covered the ground between us and him in less time than it took for me to gurgle out a helpless Hail Mary. And while I'm probably exaggerating when I say that he passed so closely that I felt the wind off his back, I'm not stretching much when I claim that he ran a little more than 10 yards from us.

I still to this day believe that the only thing that saved us was the fact that the panicked jumble of arms and legs that presented itself to the sprinting beast after the three of us fell into such a heap of disorganized humanity offered no head to sever. Keith and the National Geographic photographer saw it differently later on at the lodge. Something about action photos and intimidating stares. I suppose one tells whatever story he wants when he returns to his den.

I wonder what the bear related.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

It's coffee-stained and full of information

Every day in northwestern Minnesota, residents line up at counters like patients at a clinic waiting for their medication - a black, steaming cup of coffee. Family friends - Norwegian, of course - like it very black and church-coffee smooth. Of course, you can't have a cup of coffee without a cookie or donghnut. And, their morning isn't complete without looking at the local weekly newspaper.

This week, many area newspapers focused on local Minnesota National Guard units and soldiers heading for Iraq. It's the largest deployment of the Minnesota National Guard since World War II. Minnesota Governor Tim Pawlenty even travelled to northwestern Minnesota on Sunday after running the Twin Cities Marathon to bid them farewell. Yes, Gov. Pawlenty, these young soldiers and their families are amazing people. We are proud of them and we will miss them.

Our festivals are important, too. It must be a requirement of all weekly newspapers to print at least five parade photos because they all do it. Smirk and point all you want, we know the events and pictures are important. They chronicle the events that celebrate the relationship we have with each other and nature. Interestingly, they often coincide with a change in seasons. Last week, it was the Goose Festival in Middle River. What better sign of the changing season exists than flocks of geese heading south?

OK, there are lots of signs, but geese flying south is as good as any reason to hold a celebration.

The local weekly newspaper is also your town crier. It functions like a town hall informing residents of what happened at the city council meeting, the school board meeting or the county commission meeting. Nothing gets locals more worked up than news about work on city streets, a tax increase or drainage and ditches.

There have been lots of high school Homecoming Courts pictured on front pages lately. In homes I have visited, the photos almost always start discussions about whose son or daughter is in that picture, and who they are related too. It's the type of discussion that drives me nuts because I can never keep up with the flow of the conversation. Long-time residents seem to gravitate toward those discussions though. I think when they get to those discussions it's a sure sign that the caffeine is finally kicking in. Next thing you know, they're reminding each other about the church supper or smorgasbord, and heading off to work. By the way, the story about the church supper was in the local weekly newspaper, too.

At home, or the local cafe, local weekly newspapers chronicle our lives, inform us of what's taking place in our communities, and can generate discussions and debate that make us laugh or make us cry. Somehow, weekly newspapers seem to make our lives complete.

RLF schools plan Red Ribbon Week activities

Each year, schools in the Red Lake Falls School District hold activities for Red Ribbon Week (RRW). RRW is observed to celebrate and educate students about living drug and chemical free. This year, RRW will be observed the week of Oct. 23.

One of the planned activities is a volleyball tournament between students and local emergency service professionals. The Second Annual Red Ribbon Week Volleyball Match will be held Oct. 24 at 6 p.m. at Lafayette High School in Red Lake Falls. The teams are grades nine and 10, grades 11 and 12; firefighters and emergency medical service; and social services and law enforcement.

Besides the volleyball tournament, other activities are planned as well. Elementary school students will decorate grocery bags for the local grocery store. Posters will hang in the community. Car ribbons will be provided to students and staff. There will be a "wear red" day.

The Red Lake County Sheriff's Department will make a presentation with its canine officer. Other activities will be planned as well.

Northland running back Steve Stene went eight yards for the game's first touchdown on this second quarter carry in the Pioneers' 24-13 Thursday Minnesota Community College Conference football win over Itasca.

Northland defense gets best of Itasca

Northland remains in the Minnesota Community College Conference football playoff picture today thanks to its defense. The Pioneers forced five turnovers and made two goal line stands Thursday in a 24-13 win over Itasca at a chilly Lowell T. Swenson Field.

Having lost three straight games, including their Northern Division opener to Vermilion the previous Saturday, the Pioneers could ill-afford to start a five-game regular season-ending divisional run 0-2. Now they can clinch a top-two finish and a post-season berth by finishing with wins over Rainy River, Mesabi Range and Hibbing.

Three of the four Northland touchdowns scored against Itasca were short-field micro drives that followed takeaways by the Pioneers' defense.

A fumble recovery by linebacker Alfred Boyd at the Itasca 22 led to the game's first touchdown three plays later as running back Steve Stene went off right tackle on an 8-yard run with 4:47 remaining in the opening half.

The Pioneers' doubled their 6-0 edge when linebacker Devin Tolstad returned a midfield interception to the Itasca 37 and five plays later quarterback Calvin Tolliver scrambled to his left before finding receiver Marcellous Frizzie on a crossing pattern in the end zone for a 9-yard touchdown pass just 35.3 seconds before the intermission horn.

Clinging to an 18-13 fourth quarter lead, Northland all but clinched it when defensive back Russel Dorvil came up with an interception at the Itasca 40 and returned it to the Vikings' 11 with just 1:25 remaining. Two Stene runs took the ball into the end zone as he powered his way through the middle to make it 24-13 with only 73 seconds on the clock.

The Northland defense also stood tall by twice stopping Itasca at the Pioneers' 5-yard line. The first goal line stand stymied a promising-looking game-opening Itasca drive. The second one came in the last minute of the third quarter, enabling the Pioneers to take their 18-13 lead into the final period.

Itasca cut a 12-0 deficit in half when linebacker Bob Nelson blocked a Northland punt and put his offense on the field at the Pioneers' 13-yard line 2 1/2 minutes into the second half. Three plays later running back Jon Koranda went off left tackle on a 5-yard touchdown run.

Northland answered with its only true touchdown drive of the game, a 9-play, 61-yard series that featured a 40-yard Tolliver-to-Frizzie pass for a first down at the Itasca 2. Tolliver took the next snap into the end zone on a keeper to the left for an 18-6 advantage at the midway mark of the third quarter.

A short kickoff gave Itasca the ball at midfield and the visitors gobbled those yards up in four quick plays as Koranda stepped through tacklers on the left side for an 11-yard touchdown run and an 18-13 game.

A David McKee interception at the Northland goal line with 5:45 remaining turned back one Itasca shot at taking the lead and a Giovanni Gonzalez pickoff at the Pioneers' 10 with 38.2 seconds to play sealed the win.

The Vikings' 1-1 Northern Division record matches the Pioneers, but Itasca is now 2-4 overall, while Northland climbed to .500 at 3-3.

Detroit Lakes sweeps 8AAA match vs. TRF

Detroit Lakes handed Section 8AAA foe Thief River Falls its fifth straight high school volleyball setback Thursday, 25-17, 25-13, 28-26.

Hally Wolf registered 10 kills for the visiting Lakers, who dropped the Prowlers to 6-13 heading into the Perham Invitational today (Saturday).

The Prowlers will take on Lake of the Woods, the state's top-ranked Class AA team, Tuesday in Baudette before closing out their 2005 regular season home schedule Thursday against defending Class A state champion Fosston.

Thief River Falls is part of meet run at Cooperstown, N.D.

First-year Thief River Falls cross country coach Rick Karboviak took the Prowlers to his native North Dakota Thursday for the Griggs County Central Cougar Invitational in Cooperstown, where he previously served as an assistant coach.

"This was kind of a homecoming for me," admitted Karboviak. "It was a very fun atmosphere for all of us. It was fun seeing some kids I used to coach just a few years ago competing against the ones I now coach."

Runners had their choice to compete at various distances in the Open format.

"The older kids had a chance o run at a shorter distance, and the younger ones wanted to give the longer distances a shot," explained Karboviak. "The shorter races were nice speed workouts for us, while those who chose to run longer got a taste of what those feel like."

Poor weather predicted for the area never materialized as runners covered the scenic Sheyenne River valley course at the Cooperstown Bible Camp in breezy cool weather instead of snow/rain/sleet.

Red Lake Co. Central wins 3-0 over Pirates

Crookston, East Grand Forks and Thief River Falls – three of the area's larger high schools – have something in common this fall. They have each lost volleyball matches to Red Lake County Central.

The Pirates fell to the Mustangs Tuesday, 25-17, 25-20, 25-14 at Plummer.

"Any time you beat the larger schools, it's a good win," mentioned Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray. "The girls played well."

The win pushed the Mustangs' overall record to 12-6.

Bench keys Freeze win

A spark off the bench carried the Northern Freeze past Kittson County North 24-26, 25-22, 25-10, 25-14 in a Tuesday high school volleyball match played at Karlstad.

"They (Cougars) came out very strong early in the match with some nice net play and very scrappy defense," reported Northern Freeze coach Missy Thompson. "We weren't hitting the ball well in the first two games. We lost confidence. What really got us going were the subs. They put some fire back into our team and gave the team the boost that it needed."

A balanced Northern Freeze attack found Jaci Heath (12), Chelsea Boen (8), Sasha Magner (7), Alycia Dahl (7) and Lacey Peterson (4) combing for 38 kills. Dahl was credited with 24 assists.

"It was a total team effort," said Thompson.

Two Tom Loe extra-point kicks completed the scoring for the Prowlers, who led 7-0 at the end of the first quarter, held onto a 7-6 halftime edge and had a 14-6 third quarter advantage.

Thief River Falls is 5-3 for the year.

Wolverines beat Eagles

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke spotted Red Lake Falls a one-game lead before coming back for an 18-25, 25-23, 25-15, 25-15 Tuesday high school volleyball win at Grygla.

Justyne Larson had 20 kills and Nicole Schulz collected 24 assists for the Wolverines.

Prowlers' depth wins swim meet

Depth was the difference between first and second place at the Saturday (Oct. 1) Fosston/Bagley Invitational girls high school swim meet.

Thief River Falls and Detroit Lakes both won five events, but the Prowlers' stronger line-up from top to bottom added up to a sizeable 74-point victory margin over the Lakers at the Fosston pool.

The Prowlers out-pointed the Lakers 306-232, followed by Fosston/Bagley with 214, Perham 180, Roseau 152, Crookston 111 and Staples-Motley 107.

"The girls had a great meet with over 20 best times and no disqualifications," reported Thief River Falls coach Lacy Knott.

It was a near-sweep for the Prowlers in the freestyle races. Allyson Helling was a double-event winner in the sprints with first place swims in the 50 and 100. Katie Pribula came close to duplicating those results in the distance events with a victory in the 200 and a second in the 500.

Ashley Meunier had the fastest time in the 200 backstroke, and the Prowlers added a win in the 200 freestyle relay.

Second place Detroit Lakes had a double-winner in Emma Lawrenz (200 I.M., 500 freestyle) and a pool-record-setter in Melissa Paakh (100 butterfly).

DNR seeking input on deer population

How many deer should be on the landscape? Residents of northwestern Minnesota will have an opportunity to express their views on that question at a public meeting from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday, Oct. 10, at Northland Community and Technical College, room 201. The college is located at 1101 Highway One East in Thief River Falls.

This year, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources has opened discussions to help determine deer population objectives for northwestern Minnesota. Current deer population objectives (the number of deer per square mile in a given area) were set nearly 20 years ago.

"We would like to know how many deer people today are willing to accept on the landscape," said Lou Cornicelli, DNR big game program coordinator. "Residential housing, land use, agricultural patterns and habitat have all changed significantly since we last evaluated deer population objectives."

Many factors affect deer populations in northwestern Minnesota. The DNR's primary tool in influencing deer populations is through issuing licenses for the fall deer hunting seasons.

Recently the DNR convened a group of stakeholders representing a variety of interests, including hunters, landowners and business owners, to help set a benchmark for deer population objectives in northwestern Minnesota.

The objective of the October meeting, said Cornicelli, is to outline the goal-setting process and present stakeholder recommendations to the public. At the conclusion of the meeting, attendees will be asked to complete a brief survey.

"At this meeting, we plan to focus solely on deer population objectives," Cornicelli said. "While alternative deer management strategies, quality deer management, and buck-to-doe ratios are of great interest to people, the intent of this meeting is to talk about how many deer should be in local populations."

Thief River Falls is 49-0 JV winner vs. Warroad

It might have been a slow start, but Thief River Falls nevertheless went on to beat Warroad 49-0 Tuesday in junior varsity high school football.

A scoreless first quarter was followed by a 14-0 halftime score and a 35-0 third quarter spread as the Prowlers improved to 4-2.

Aaron Langan scored on runs of 6, 32 and 7 yards. Chase Haviland had touchdown runs of 1 and 34 yards, Sam Mattison broke away on a 79-yard scoring play; and lineman Travis Bach wound up with a touchdown when he recovered the ball in the end zone following a Warroad punt into a strong wind that hit the ground and bounced backwards across the goal line.

Family members, friends and well-wishers waved Tuesday to about 45 soldiers of Company B Detachment, 2-136th Mechanized Infantry Battalion as they left the Thief River Falls National Guard Armory for Camp Shelby, Miss. The soldiers will train for up to six months in Mississippi before leaving for Iraq. As of this time, their deployment is expected to last 18 months. Despite training in Mississippi this holiday season, they expect that they will be allowed to return home for Christmas.

comprehension and unit three, phonics. Unit four concentrates science and mathematics.

Book sets were purchased and recently presented to 15 childcare providers who attended training sessions last year. Eight new providers also attended training sessions. The coalition plans to provide BLT materials to each of them as well.

Pennington County Daycare Association

The Pennington County Daycare Association (PCDA) was founded in July 2004 with the primary goal of creating licensed quality childcare in the Thief River Falls area community. Like the Thief River Falls Early Childhood Initiative, it is operating in its second year.

Michelle Jesme, licensed daycare provider and Kari Olson, PCDA chairwoman, presented an update on several PCDA programs.

Jesme said there is a high turnover rate within the childcare field. She added that research shows children learn better with consistent care. The PCDA is intended to help providers cope with the stresses involved with childcare and create stability in the childcare industry. Also, the PCDA offers local training in various programs, including CPR re-certification at a reduced rate for members.

Olson also commented on the benefit of a childcare provider joining the PCDA. She also said that non members can also benefit from the network that is created by the association. Both members and non members have the opportunity to talk with other providers in situations that may cause burnout.

The PCDA is currently recruiting newly licensed providers to join what is currently a group of 24 licensed providers. The PCDA is in the process of becoming a 501c3 non profit organization.

Early childhood family advocacy program

The Early Childhood Family Advocacy Program is one of Thief River Falls' newest programs. It has been created to cross the boundaries of the various childcare programs in Thief River Falls. During Wednesday's meeting, Stacy Fougner, was introduced as the new Early Childhood Family Advocate.

Coalition meeting

A short Thief River Falls Early Childhood Coalition meeting was called to order following the Early Childhood Initiative update meeting. Nancy Tofte and Michelle Jesme accepted positions as treasurer and co-chair respectively.

A new project proposal for additional BLT program books was introduced and unanimously approved. BLT program book sets will be awarded to daycare providers after they attend three training sessions.

MCHS to host pumpkin festival October 16

The Marshall County Historical Society will host a pumpkin festival from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday Oct. 16 at Old Mill State Park near Newfolden. The whole family is invited. The event is free; however, a vehicle permit is required to enter the park. Permits are available at the event.

This event celebrates and honors a fall favorite – the pumpkin. Guests are invited to express their artistic flare by painting or decorating a free pumpkin they select from the "pumpkin patch." Markers will be provided for participants, and the finished works of art can be taken home to display for Halloween.

If participants' creative energies run more toward scarecrow making, the festival offers something for them, too. Leaves from the park will serve as the stuffing. All participants have to do is bring old clothes for the scarecrow's outerwear. Participants will be able to take their scarecrows home.

Other afternoon events include games for the kids, fall hikes, interesting facts about the pumpkin and a bake sale of pumpkin treats, including pies, bars and other goodies. In addition, free refreshments, including hot chocolate, cider and coffee, will be available.

The pumpkin festival activities will take place in the heated picnic shelter at the park.

Old Mill State Park is located between Newfolden and Argyle, one mile off of County State Aid Highway 4, 12 miles west of Newfolden or 13 miles east of Argyle.
